Fred Palmetier Pleaded Guilty to Altering Cheque at the Police Court This Morning—Was Employed at the C.G.E. Works.

WAS REMANDED

For changing the figures on his cheque from $8.65 to $18.65, thereby committing forgery, Fred Palmetier, an employee in the brass department of the C. G. E. works, was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble at the police court this morning. Crown Attorney R. E. Wood was present on behalf of the Crown and the prisoner was not represented by counsel. When the charge was read to him he elected to be tried summarily and pleaded guilty. At the request of the Crown Attorney he was remanded for a week.

Palmetier was arrested this morning at his work at the C. G. E. by P. C. Meagher. He is a young man about eighteen years of age and has been at the works for the past five months, having come here from Campbellford. He was paid on the 8th of this month, his cheque amounting to $8.65. He altered it, adding on ten dollars, but was unsuccessful in securing the money.

ASSAULTED GIRL FOR REFUSING HER SON

Montreal, Feb. 12.—Infuriated because her son was said to be rejected by a French-Canadian girl, Mrs. Vendetti is alleged to have assaulted both the girl and her mother and to have threatened to stab them.

Mrs. Vendetti lives at 436 St. Timothee street, a thoroughfare once peopled with nothing but French people, but which has been populated by a number of the Italian colony now forming the majority.

Mrs. Marie Renaud, wife of Pierre Lepine, lives at No. 436 with her husband and four children, among whom is a pretty seventeen year old daughter. It appears that Mrs. Vendetti's son, aged twenty, who drives a coal oil waggon, was in the habit of calling frequently at the Lepine home to see the daughter.

Yesterday, as usual, he called at Lepine's to find out if they wanted some oil. Miss Lepine came to the door, said they did not want any and is said to have joked the young Italian.

A few minutes later ,according to the story of the police, Mrs. Vendetti entered the home of Mrs. Lepine and threw herself on the girl, scratching her neck and face. The mother came to the rescue, carrying in her arms a six months' infant, but the Italian woman is said to have thrown both mother and baby on the floor, shouting at the top of her voice that she would have their lives. It is declared that she then drew a long knife from her breast.

Neighbours attracted by the noise entered the place and Mrs. Vendetti fled to her house, where she barricaded herself.

The police from No. 3 station came on the scene, but could not enter the Italian house without a warrant. Captain Choquette communicated at once to the Recorder's Court. When the police finally made an entry, they found the woman hiding and took her to the station cells. Later, she was released on a $50 cash bail, providing that friends consented to take charge of her and prevent her from another outburst.

After information had been secured at the Recorder's Court, a second warrant was issued charging Mrs. Vendetti with assault on both Mrs. and Miss Lepine, and also with threats with a knife.

She appeared in court this morning, but Mr. Recorder Weir postponed the case.

Fierce Attack With Iron Bar On Police In Windsor Station

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 13.—With an iron bar about three feet in length, which he succeeded in wrenching off his cot, Frederick J. Stroyvens, whom the police had locked up yesterday as a vagrant, made a murderous attack on Night Officer William Lister in the cell block at police headquarters here shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

The officer had unlocked the cell door to transfer Stroyvens to another part of the block, when, without a word of warning the prisoner aimed a blow at his head with the iron bar. Lister received a glancing blow which laid his scalp open for several inches. Half-stunned he staggered into the outer office, but retained sufficient presence of mind to close and lock the main dor which leads into the corridor where the cells are located. Then he fainted, just as Officers Livingstone and Giles rushed to his aid.

Stroyvens, meanwhile, in a frenzy, had smashed every incandescent light in the block, and when Officer Livingston opened the door to capture him the place was pitch dark. There was no sign of the prisoner, and Livingstone fired one shot from his revolver into the darkness. As the report rang out the officer felt his weapon struck out of his hand. A moment later he received a stinging blow across the arm. Stroyvens had hidden himself behind the door and jumped out just as the shot was fired. The bullet failed to hit him, and the crazed man was about to use his iron bar again when Officer Giles rushed in and speedily overpowdered him.

The wounds inflicted will not prove serious. A wig worn by Officer Lister is probably all that saved his skull being crushed.

Stroyvens came across the river yesterday, but when he attempted to return the immigration officer stopped him, and he was later picked up by the police. He says he is a labourer and resides in Detroit. He appears quite sane to-day and apparently does not realize his position.

It was ascertained this afternoon that Stroyvens has been demented for some time, and his friends are endeavouring to have him committed to an asylum. He was turned over to a brother to-night and taken back to Detroit.

Property Secured For Manse For Pastor Of St. Paul's Church

Property has been secured by the managers of St. Paul's church for the erection of a new manse. After a careful inspection of properties that has been submitted a lot belonging to Mr. W. S. Robertson was selected. It is on Water St., north of McDonnel St., and has 100 ft. frontage, and a depth of 114 feet. It is understood that the price paid was $40 a foot. The locality is an ideal one for a manse for St. Paul's church and if possible work will be commenced this spring. Nothing definite has yet been arrived at as the advisability of going ahead now is under consideration. One of the officials stated to the Examiner that the building would be in every respect in keeping with extent of the congregation, and nothing would be stinted to make it a fine residence.

The Canadian Club will hold its second dinner at the Hotel National on Thursday night, when Mr. George Tate Blackstock, K.C., of Toronto, will give the address. His subject has not yet been decided upon, but Mr. Blackstock has recently returned from the old country, w here he had been campaigning in the British elections. He is a very forceful and interesting speaker. Dinner tickets can now be procured from the secretary, Mr. D. Hughes Charles.

WINTER CAMP

Kingston Regulars Will Campaign Out in the Snow.

Special to The Examiner.

Kingston, Feb. 14.—A decided innovation in Canadian military tactics will be tried this week, when the two local batteries of R. C. H. A. will take to the snow clad hills in Northern Frontenac county and do several days' route marching to give soldiers practical experience in winter campaigning. The force will consist of 150 men with 140 horses and 6 quick firing guns. All are specially equipped and will have nothing but canvas shelters.

THE NAVAL IDEA IS NOT A NEW ONE.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

It is contended by those members of the Conservative party who are pressing for a reference of the naval question to the people that it is a new issue, that the people have had no occasion to express their opinions thereupon, and that it is not constitutional to press the proposals until a verdict has been passed upon them.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier answered this contention when, in his speech of February 3, he pointed out that the question had been decided at the Conference of 1902 and had been before the people for eight years, during which there had been two general elections at both of which the verdict was in favour of the Government, which laid down the principle at the Conference of 1902 that "the Canadian Ministers fully appreciated the obligation of the Dominion to make expenditures for the purpose of defence in proportion to the increasing population and wealth of the country."

But Mr. Foster asserted in the House on Thursday night, that, although the policy was contained in that memorandum, he denied that "it has been before the country." Here, once more, Mr. Foster is not speaking by the book.

In August, 1903, there was held in the City of Montreal a congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, attended by several hundred delegates from all parts of the widely-separated British dominions. On that occasion the very first topic discussed was "Defences of the Empire." It was brought forward by Mr. George E. Drummond, then first vice-president alike of the Montreal Board of Trade and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who moved this resolution:

"That this Congress hereby affirms the principle that it is the duty of the self-governing colonies to participate in the cost of the defence of the Empire."

In moving that resolution Mr. Drummond said, and it is important to bear this in mind when considering the demands now being made by the Conservatives in Parliament:

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that, whatever arrangement be made for Canadian participation in the defence of the Empire, it must preserve independence of action to the Canadian Parliament."

The naval question was not a public issue, according to Mr. Foster, yet Mr. Drummond provoked great cheering from the delegates present when he said:

"Our representatives in Parliament cannot settle this question one moment too soon for the right thinking people of this country."

Again he said, in reference to the question as to where the Canadian navy should be built:

"I am convinced that our contribution to Imperial defence should be based upon the idea of relieving the central authority of all cost of defending Canada, and I hold that in undertaking this duty a magnificent opportunity will be afforded our Government and people to establish in Canada the enterprise of shipbuilding, to foster the production of armour plate (for which, with our wealth of nickel and iron we are equipped by nature in a very exceptional way.)"

Since then the Canadian Government has assumed the dockyards at Halifax and Esquimalt and now it proposes to relieve the central authority of all cost of defending Canada.

Mr. Drummond outlined a plan for a navy which differs only in detail from that now before the country. He proposed the expenditure of $2,000,000 a year for fifteen years to construct in Canada warships to replace those composing the present British fleets. At that time Britain had 13 warships on the North Atlantic and seven on the Pacific station, all of which have since been removed. He asked that British shipbuilding firms should be invited to establish a plant in Canada, laid down the principle that the vessels should be built upon specifications to be made by the British Admiralty, and maintained that the Canadian-built vessels should be manned as much as possible by Canadian seamen under British officers until such time as Canadian officers could be secured.

Mr. Drummond was followed by Mr. Edward Gurney, of Toronto, than whom there does not breathe a more ardent Conservative or a more intense Imperialist. He did not speak so definitely as had Mr. Drummond, but he said that what Canada needed was "a man who would have the courage of his convictions in Parliament who will come forward and declare what the public sentiment of Canada is."

Then came two delegates from the Montreal Chambre de Commerce, Mr. D. Masson and Mr. H. A. Brault, the former of whom moved an amendment which said:

"The colonies claim the privilege of keeping their own initiative as to the nature and mode of help which they may agree to offer in future to the British Empire."

Both the French-Canadian speakers expressed the then current opinion of Quebec that Canada was by developing her own resources doing her share towards the defence of the Empire and they did it with the eloquence which is characteristic of their race. Mr. Masson, while opposing expenditure upon a navy at that time, also said:

"Canada will always do all that the situation may demand for the prestige and strength of the British Empire, should its interest ever be menaced."

Eventually a compromise resolution was carried in these words:

"That this congress hereby affirms the principle that it is the duty of the self-governing colonies to participate in the cost of the defence of the Empire—but the colonies claim the privilege of keeping their own initiative as to the nature and help which they agree to offer."

And the man who moved the compromise resolution was no less a man than Col. G. T. Denison, of Toronto.

This is not all. There was a similar congress in London, England, in July, 1906. On that occasion Mr. Drummond, then president of the Montreal Board, moved the resolution adopted at Montreal three years ago, and it was seconded by Mr. Catelli, of Montreal, and unanimously adopted. On that occasion Mr. Drummond repeated the arguments and revived the plan outlined at Montreal, but added a reference to the assumption of the garrisons and said:

"It might be taken for granted that Canadian statesmen would before long decide upon a much more ambitious programme, and if it could be made plain to all classes of the Canadian people that participation in the naval defence of the Empire would mean no sacrifice of Canadian independence and entail no danger to their being involved in foreign quarrels without their own consent; that, in short, the Canadian parliament should always retain the right of deciding how much Canada should contribute and how the amount should be expended, there would be no opposition whatever to any reasonable proposal that might be made, and the British people would no longer have occasion to feel that Canadians were shirking their duty to the Empire."

The question may thus be new to the Conservative members of the House of Commons; it is not new to the business men of the Dominion who have by their antecedent action endorsed the very policy which the Government of to-day is now asking Parliament to sanction.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT BY CANADA LIFE.

Profits Allotted Policyholders This Year Over $2,000,000 Materially Greater Than at Former Divisions of Surplus.

The prediction made some years ago that the strengthening of Canda Life reserves would mean larger future dividends to policyholders is amply sustained in the announcement made at that Company's annual meeting yesterday, that dividends on a cash basis at the allotment of surplus will be from 30 per cent. to 40 per cent. greater than those on the same policies five years ago. The amount now to be allotted policy-holders exceeds $2,000,000.

In other respects the report is highly satisfactory. The volume of new business paid for, over $10,000,000 is greater than that of previous years, but notwithstanding this the expenses are less than those of 1908, which, in turn were lower than those of 1907. The total business in force is now nearly $125,000,000.

A year ago the increase in surplus for the year just ended, $1,060,000, was stated to be the largest in the Company's history. The increase in 1909, $1,194,000, breaks another record, exceeding that of 1908 by $134,000. A material portion of this belongs to deferred dividend policies.

Still another record is broken by the increase in assets of nearly $3,000,000. The Canada Life's total assets now stand at $39,688,063. A detailed list of them, showing a very high class of securities, was laid before the annual meeting.

THE STORY OF ST. VALENTINE

I wonder if all the Mr. Postmen in the world look forward with as much pleasure and delight as we do to the coming of St. Valentine's day? Long before he arrives on that eventful morning we are up and watching for him and sure enough, presently we catch sight of his red cap far up the street, zig-zagging from one house to another, dropping a fat package into this letter box, and a lean one into that—a big bundle of many-sized envelopes here, and a solitary little envelope there, but something for everybody, for who so friendless that they are forgotten on good St. Valentine's day? And they are not all light affairs either, these messages of love, as you might expect, for Postie will tell you that it is one of the heaviest loads of the year.

And now, I wonder if we all know how the day originated? Here is a little story which tells us why it is celebrated, and how it came to receive its name.

Long ago there lived a priest by the name of Valentine. This good man was noted in all the country round for his kindness. He nursed the sick, comforted the sorrowing and was always ready to give help to anyone who was in need. Valentine dearly loved the children, and those who went to him for food or clothes were never turned away. After this kind priest became too old to go about among his people he was very sad because he thought he could no longer be of any help to them. Then he remembered that he could write loving messages to the sick and sorrowing. Soon his friends began to watch for the kind words which were sure to come whenever sorrow or gladness entered their homes. Even the little children would say when they were sick, "I think Father Valentine will send me a letter to-day." But after a time no more letters were received, and soon the news went abroad that good old Valentine was dead. Then everyone said that such a kind man was good enough to be called a saint and from that day to this he has been known as Saint Valentine.

It was not long before people began to keep his birthday by sending love messages to their friends. The notes and letters containing these messages were called Valentines.

This all happened years ago, but good Saint Valentine is still remembered, for every year we keep his birthday on the 14th of February.

STOMACH DISTRESS IS ENDED FOREVER

Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gas or Indigestion Vanish in Five Minutes.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis, or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fulness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

THE CALL OF THE FIELD

Back to the farm where the brownstone mansion's rearing; back to the farm where they still afford fresh eggs; back to the farm where the rooster, chanticleering, knows well the wealth in his pair of yellow legs; back where the cow, in the distance softly lowing, brings up fresh milk that is rising every day; back where the steak grows that keeps on going, going higher and higher and melts away our pay; back where the hens lay at sixty cents a dozen, charging for overtime and Sundays when they do; back to the land of the dear old Country Cousin—now is the time that he has the edge on you.

Back to the farm where the money's all congested; back where the pork grows at twenty cents a pound; back where the Nation's cash is all invested; back where a dollar goes but half way 'round; back where the joys are that poets cannot utter; back where the corn shucks fifty cents an ear; back where they charge you forty cents for butter; back where there's wealth at a hundred plunks a steer; back where the pies are of ripe and yellow pumpkin, retailing now at some fifty cents a wedge; back to the home of the dear old Country Bumpkin—I guess we know who's the fellow with the edge.

Back to the farm where the turkeys strut and hobble, listed up strong at full thirty cents a pound; back where they weigh legs and charge you for the gobble; back where the bank bills litter up the ground; back where Hi Hayseed opens wide the throttle, puts on more steam and crowds you in the ditch; back where the cream grows at forty cents a bottle; back where the squabs hatch, but only for the rich; back where the lucks in their arrogance are quacking, knowing their price tags keep them safe from harm; back where the farmhands all are busy stacking bank checks and greenbacks—back to the farm!

Back to the farm there is riches in the flour, wealth in the beef, and money in the whey; back where the mutton's rising every hour; back where they measure money up like hay; back where the bees get overtime for working; back where the sheep grow golden fleece for wool; back where the lard sells at seven plunks a firkin; back where the old sock's stuffed and running full; back where good fortune's never false nor fickle; back to the land of the strong highwayman's arm; back to the jam and the silver-plated pickle; back where our money goes—back to the farm!

They Keep The Brakes Set

And So Can Never Do Their Best

Many men, and more women, go through life like a train with the engine tugging, but the brakes hard on. They never get anywhere near top speed, because they are never really well.

Probably they do not own even to themselves that they are sick, but they scarcely known what it is to really "feel good". Always there is Headache, or that "dragged out feeling" which makes good work, either mental or physical, utterly impossible.

The most common trouble with all these people is that they have Constipation. Their systems are poisoned with the waste matter, which stays in the blood, instead of being promptly removed by the bowels. Harsh purgatives are worse than no treatment at all, because they weaken and irritate the bowels, instead of curing the trouble.

"Fruit-a-tives" combines the well-known laxative principles of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. So perfect is the combination, that "Fruit-a-tives" acts like the fresh fruit, by stimulating the sluggish liver to supply the proper amount of bile to move the bowels regularly.

The most stubborn cases of Constipation promptly yield to the curative and corrective effects of "Fruit-a-tives".

OFFICERS OF THE SODALITY ELECTED

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin which was established at the Church of the Sacred Heart a week ago Sunday, held its first meeting yesterday afternoon. The occasion of its organization by Bishop O'Connor, was marked by a sermon to the young ladies, encouraging them to emulate the virtues of Mary. The society in the new church begins with a strong membership and it will be the endeavour to enrol all the young women of the parish. The first meeting of the Sodality was held yesterday afternoon, when the following officers were elected:

President—Miss Annie Fagan.
Vice President—Miss Florence Brion.
Secretary—Miss Eugenie Picard.
Treasurer—Miss Ada Meagher.

An executive committee of twelve was also appointed.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

THE PASSING WINTER

The winter's passing slowly, and we shall let it go; its course has been unholy; with sleet and ice and snow; with threats and maudlin ravings; with wild and weird behavings; and we've blown in our savings, to keep the stoves aglow. The hoary old forecaster who does the goosebone act, predicted no disaster: he made us think, in fact, the winter would be mellow, the kind to please a fellow, not wild, insane and yellow; the prophet should be sacked. The winter's slowly going, and we shall let it pass; the green will soon be showing upon the trees and grass; cold blasts no more will grate us, and spring to compensate us, will bring us new potatoes and other garden sass. The birds will soon be singing among the whiffletrees, and, after honey winging, will go the wasps and bees; and so there is no wailing, that winter's strength is failing, that he, with banners trailing, is wobbly in the knees!

Suggestions To Want-Advertisers

USE your own name in "Want" Advertisements unless there is some particular reason why you wish it kept confidential.

Advertisements, the answers of which must be sent to an unknown party, are never as resultful as those where the advertiser is known. For instance: Workmen desiring to make a change, do not care to answer a "blind" advertisement, fearing that they may be writing to their own firm, and on the other hand, manufacturers or wholesale dealers can usually secure a better class of applications by publishing their own name.

This is a suggestion for the good of the users of The Examiner "Want" columns. If desired, however, avdertisements may be addressed care of the Examiner Office, in which case they will be forwarded promptly to advertisers.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

What God Asks

Text, "What Doth Thy God Require of Thee, But to Do Justly, and to Love Mercy, and to Walk Humbly With Thy God?" (Micah vi, 8.)—Every Sincere Aspirant Should Practice at Home.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 13.—Are the words of our text true? Is it possible that the true religion of the Bible demands nothing more of us than is expressed in this text? What about the Jewish Law? What about its sin-offering, its burnt-offering, its thank-offering? What about the ten commandments? What about the digest of those commandments approved by our Lord Jesus, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, with all thy mind, with all thy being, with all thy strength; and thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself"? What about Church attendance? What about our responsibilities to our families? To the Church? To the poor? What about study of the Bible to know God's will? What about our responsibility for the heathen? What about baptism and the Lord's supper?

Indirectly, dear brethren, all the matters included in our questions and many more are included incidentally in the provisions of our text. Sometimes a whole sermon is preached in a few words. No one will dispute the reasonableness of the Divine requirement as stated in our text. Our Creator could not justly or with self-respect ask less than this of his creatures who would enjoy his favor. The interests of all demand that these principles should be required of every creature permitted the enjoyment of Divine favor to the extent of eternal life. Whoever fails to come up to these conditions would thus evidence his unworthiness of life eternal; his prolonged existence would merely be a prospering of sin and a menace to the happiness and righteousness of others.

But now let us see the scope of this Divine requirement, whose justice we have already acknowledged. We note the natural division of our text into three parts:

(1) Doing justly;
(2) Loving mercy;
(3) Walking humbly.

The requirement of justice in all our dealings with our fellows, commends itself to every rational mind. It includes the whole Law of God. A brief statement of that Law which had our Lord's approval reads, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and all thy mind, all thy being and all thy strength; and thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two propositions hang all the Law and the Prophets. It is but just that we should recognize our Creator as first; that we should glorify the One who gave us our being and all the blessings that come therewith; that we should be obedient to his righteous requirements that make for our own happiness and that of others. It is also but right that we should recognize the rights of others, as we would have them recognize our rights. The Golden Rule is the barest of justice. Not a hair's breadth less would come within the requirements of our text. Do Justly. Come, then, let us reason together. How many of us do justly in all of life's affairs—in our relationship to our God and to our neighbor?

Begin at home. Let each one criticise his words and his deeds toward his parents; toward his children; toward his brothers; toward his sisters; toward husband; toward wife. Do we in all of our relationships of life treat these who are so near and so dear to us according to the standards of justice, according to the Golden Rule? Do we do toward them as we would have them do toward us? If not, after making a beginning with the Lord, striving to render to him our homage and obedience, let us closely scrutinize every word; every act of the home life and see to what extent these can be improved upon and made more nearly just. The majority of people, we feel sure, will be surprised to know how unjust they are toward those who are of the very nearest and dearest of fleshly relationships.

Follow the matter up and consider the justice or injustice of your words and deeds in daily life with your neighbors and daily associates. Do you invariably speak to them in the same words and with the same tone and gesture that you would approve if they were in your place and you in theirs? In matters of business do you drive a closer bargain with them than you would think just for them to make with you? Or, on the other hand, do you ask of them higher prices for the services or materials you furnish them than you would consider just and right if you were the purchaser and they the vendors? Do you watch your chickens that they do not commit depredations upon your neighbor's garden as carefully as you would wish your neighbor to watch his chickens as respects your garden, if you had one? Do you blow no more tobacco smoke in the face of your neighbor than you would like to have him blow in your face? Are you as careful about wiping your feet when entering his house as you would like him to be when entering your home? Do you treat all men, women, children and animals as kindly, as gently, as properly every way as you think would be just and right if you were in their place and they in yours? Do you speak as kindly of your neighbors as you would have them speak of you? Or do you hold up their imperfections to ridicule, as you would like to have them hold up yours? Do you guard your tongue so that you speak only things you would think proper for your neighbor to speak respecting you, if you changed places?

Do you not begin to see, dear friends, that what God requires of us is much beyond what the majority have been rendering? Do you stand appalled and tell me that it would be impossible to live fully up to that standard? I agree with you. And St. Paul agrees, saying, "We cannot do the things which we would." The Scriptures again agree and declare "There is none righteous, no, not one. All have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

What shall we do? Shall we say that because we are unable to live up to our own conceptions and standards of justice we will make no attempt to do so, but abandon those standards entirely? God forbid. We are weak enough and imperfect enough as it is. To ignore our best ideals of justice would be to take off all the brakes and permit the downward tendencies of our depraved natures to go rapidly from bad to worse—to carry us further and further from God and the standards of character which he approves. We can surely be content to do nothing less than our very best to live up to our own ideals and to raise those ideals as nearly as possible to the Divine standard.

Suppose we do our very best daily to measure up to our highest conceptions of our God-given ideals and standards, would God accept of this, and count us worthy of his favor and of eternal life? Surely not. The Law of the Lord is perfect. Justice is Justice. Not the hearer of a law, not the well-wishing, receives the reward, but the doer, the obedient! Here, then, we find ourselves in difficulty. With our hearts, our minds, we approve God's Law and desire to be obedient to him, but find, as St. Paul says, that many things we wish to do we fail to accomplish; and many of the things we do not wish to do we cannot avoid. "We cannot do the things that we would." We approve the excellent demands of God's Law. We disapprove the imperfections of our own flesh. Like St. Paul, we cry out, "O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from my dead body?"—this body that is imperfect through inherited sin and weakness. With our minds we serve God's Law and approve it; but with our bodies we come short. What is our hope? How shall we be delivered? Can we prevail upon God to change the reasonable requirement of our text so that it shall read, What doth God require of me but to will justly and do imperfectly? We cannot hope for such a change in the Divine Law. And we then hopeless as respects Divine approval and eternal life? (Romans vii, 17-24.)

In our moment of perplexity we hear God's message "speaking peace through Jesus Christ our Lord." The message of peace is that what we could not do for ourselves in the way of lifting ourselves up to Divine approval God has provided shall be done for us through our Lord Jesus Christ. Our failure to keep the Law marks us as unworthy of eternal life, and worthy of the wages of sin—not eternal torment, but death. God in mercy concluded to offer us eternal life as a gift—because of our not actually meriting it under his legal requirements. Thus we read, "The wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" (Romans vi, 23). What we could not obtain legally under the Divine requirements God proffers to us as a gift. But the gift is a conditional one as expressed in the words, "through Jesus Christ our Lord." Only those who accept Jesus Christ as "the Way, the Truth, and the Life," may have God's gift of eternal life. Hence it will be seen that it is wholly a mistake to suppose that the heathen at home or abroad can get eternal life, the gift of God, in ignorance of Christ. All the Scriptures confirm this and declare not only that we cannot save ourselves by obedience to the terms of God's Law, but that "there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved"—through faith in his name—through faith in his blood (Acts iv, 12).

But how is this done justly? and, when does God so limit his gift of eternal life?

God's Law represents himself and cannot change. He cannot require less than perfection. To do so would be to fill the Universe to all eternity with depraved and imperfect beings. God has a higher plan than this and declares, "As the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways" (Isaiah lv, 9). He explains that his ultimate purpose is that there shall be no imperfect creature in all his Universe. All whose hearts are loyal to him and the principles of his Government shall be perfected, and all others shall be destroyed in the Second Death. Thus, eventually, every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to the glory of God. Then every creature which is in heaven, and on the earth, and under the earth, shall be heard saying, Blessing, and honor and glory and power be unto him that sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb forever (Revelation v, 13).

Possibly God could have arranged some other way of dealing with sin and sinners which would not have required the death of Jesus as the Ransom price, the purchase price, the redemption price for sinners. But the fact that this method was adopted by our great Creator assures us that no other method would have been so wise, so just, so beneficial. No other method would have so fully demonstrated God's Wisdom, Justice, Love and Power.

In brief, then, God's arrangement is that all of his human creatures shall have opportunity of full return to harmony with himself, provided they wish to do so, provided their hearts, their wills, are fully responsive to the letter and spirit of his Law—the requirements set forth in our text. God has provided in Jesus for the satisfaction of Divine Justice as respects all of the condemned race who desire to return to his favor.

We agree with all the orthodox creeds of Christendom that only repentance from sin and an endeavor to put it away from our thoughts and words and deeds, combined with faith in the Redeemer's sacrifice and a full consecration of heart and life to do the Father's will — nothing short of this attainment will gain the salvation which God is now holding out to mankind. To such the Apostle explains that the righteousness, the full demands of the Law of God, his full requirement, "is fulfilled in us who are walking not after the flesh, but after the Spirit" (Romans vii, 4). From the moment of our consecration and begetting of the holy Spirit God deals with this class as with sons. He trains them in the School of Christ, disciplining, chastening, proving them, testing the sincerity of their consecration Vows and the loyalty of their hearts. To those who prove faithful the great reward is promised—glory, honor, immortality joint-heirship with the Lord Jesus Christ in his Millennial Kingdom and its work of blessing all the families of the earth (Galatians iii, 29; Revelation iii, 21).

Our disagreement with all "orthodox creeds" is in respect to what shall be done with the unsainly—with those who do not present themselves to God and who are not begotten again of the holy Spirit. Our creeds of the dark ages misrepresented the teachings of the Bible in respect to these and told us that they are all to be consigned for hundreds or thousands of years to Purgatory or for all eternity in hell torment. Not such is the teaching of God's Word, but the very reverse, as we have previously shown. The Scriptures do not declare, In thee and in thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be damned; but the reverse of this—that they shall all be blessed. All the sin-blind eyes shall be opened. All the deaf ears of ignorance shall be unstopped. For the blest thousands years of Christ's reign the world's uplifting or resurrection will proceed, while the knowledge of the glory of God shall fill the whole earth. The angels on the plains of Bethlehem did not declare to the shepherds, Fear greatly! for behold, we bring you bad tidings of great misery which shall be unto all people. Their message was the reverse of this: "Fear not; behold, we bring you good tidings of great joy which shall be unto all people" (Luke ii, 10). God who had a "due time" for calling natural Israel and who had also a "due time" for calling spiritual Israel, has a "due time" for making known the riches of his grace to the non-elect world of mankind. And the "elect" of spiritual Israel and of natural Israel are to be the channels of this Divine grace and mercy, which, during the Millennial Age, will flow as a river of salvation, to which all mankind will be invited to come and drink freely.

It may astonish some that God requires even more than Justice, which is his legal standard. In his recognition of sin and its wage of death he has shown the sinner his own misery or love. And it is for the sinner's benefit and for the good of all, that God requires that all who will have the full benefit of his mercy shall be required to cultivate this mercy quality in their own hearts. As the sinner attempts to conform his life to the perfect standard and finds himself unable to keep God's Law and obliged to come for mercy to the Throne of Grace, he is informed that he can have that mercy only upon condition that he will exercise similar mercy toward those who trespass against him, his ideals and interests.

Humility is a quality very necessary to every creature. Pride is a foe which besets not merely the weak and imperfect, but which overcame the great angel of light, Lucifer, and transformed him from a faithful servant of Jehovah into Satan, the Adversary of God. We are glad, therefore, that Divine Wisdom requires humility as one of the conditions of our acceptance with him. This requirement assures us of the security of the Divine Empire against all treason in the future; for none will be admitted to the eternal life conditions either now or in the Millennial Age, except the humble. Let us hearken then to the lesson of our text and conclude with the words of the Apostle, "Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time" (I. Peter v, 6).

HE FEARED TO EAT

Till "Little Digesters" Cured His Indigestion

Like many another sufferer from Indigestion, Mr. E. Thody looked forward to mealtime with dread instead of pleasure. Writing from his home at 141 Yorkville Ave., Toronto, on June 12th last, he says:

"For two years I suffered with Indigestion and obtained no relief from anything I took, including several prescriptions from prominent physicians. Every meal was followed with acute pain until I feared to eat, consequently became run down for lack of nourishment.

"'Little Digesters' were recommended to me by a friend and I tried them with remarkable results, two boxes completely curing me. It is three months since I took any and have not suffered a pain no matter how heartily I eat. I would certainly recommend them to anyone suffering with Indigestion."

Why allow yourself to be handicapped and your life shortened by Indigestion or Dyspepsia, when you can so easily avoid it? "Little Digesters" are guaranteed to cure you or your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Three Children Burn to Death.

Parry Sound, Feb. 14.—Word has just been received that the home of Freeman Carpenter, who lives at Shawanga, about eighteen miles north of here on the C.P.R. was totally destroyed by fire Friday night about 12 o'clock.

The father and mother, the five children, and a young lady who was visiting at the home retired to rest about 10.30 leaving a good fire in the stove.

Mrs. Carpenter was awakened by the flare of light and roused her husband, and the young woman who slept in an adjoining room.

All the children were asleep upstairs.

The father rushed up the stairs and succeeded in getting three out, but one of them died four hours later. The other two boys were burned to a crisp.

More Poison Found.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 14.—That strychnine was also found by Dr. Hertzoen and Dr. Haines in the contents of the stomach of Miss Margaret Swope, a niece of the late Col. T. H. Swope, and was revealed in a recent report from the two Chicago chemists, was brought out here in a deposition filed by Attorney John G. Paxton. The deposition was in connection with the $100,000 slander suit begun against him by Dr. B. C. Hyde, who is under arrest on the charge of murdering Col. Swope by administering strychnine.

Would Discuss the Navy.

Montreal, Feb. 14.—The Nationalists announce a demonstration at Longueil, over the river from Montreal, to give the politicians an opportunity of discussing the naval bill before the electors. They have invited Hon. R. Lemieux and Victor Geoffrion, M.P., on the Government side, with R. L. Borden and T. D. Monk, M.P., of the Opposition, but it is not at all probable that these gentlemen will take the affair seriously.

The man who is organizing the demonstration is Tancrede Marcel, who unsuccessfully contested the County of Chambly at a bye-election for the Quebec Legislature a few months ago, in the Opposition interest.

New Spanish Premier's Plans.

Madrid, Feb. 14.—Premier Jose Canalejas y Mendes, who heads the new Cabinet, in a statement yesterday declared that not only will he remain the most radical of monarchists, but that the King fully understands his views and program.

The Premier said that it was unfortunate that he had not a sufficient majority behind him, and consequently the country at the coming elections, in which all the old electoral machinery would be discarded, must decide whether his program was to be carried out.

He considered that his reputation would be bankrupt if he did not settle the religious questions, and he proposed to begin by Government action in the form of decrees to be followed by legislation.

Negotiations with the vatican begun by his predecessors, Senor Canalejas said, would be continued, but if they failed, he would proceed, regardless of the wishes of Rome. The second great problem, he added, to be advanced would be the cause of public education, in which Spain was so backward. He also intended to press other social reforms and obligatory military service.

"I served in the Cuban campaign," he said, "therefore I understand the inequity of the present system."

Women

Weak, lame or aching backs are the first sign of Kidney Trouble.

Under ordinary conditions they ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backaches come from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney troubles.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you in the same way as they have cured thousands of others.

Miss Alberta B. Clarke, Stoney Creek, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with kidney trouble for several years; my back was weak, I had such terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night and tried everything without any benefit. Meantime a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got four boxes and they completely cured me. I now feel as well as I ever did and would advise everyone suffering from Kidney Disease to try them."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

If all the children of this decade could be thoroughly grounded in the answer to the question, "When is a joke not a joke?" I think that rowdyism and vandalism in the next decade would probably decrease considerably.

A few months ago I believe I chronicled a case where a bride and groom were tipped out of their carriage and the groom's arm broken because some young people thought it funny to tie white ribbons on the spirited horses.

To-day's case is that of another couple in Chicago, a bride and groom of a few hours, who left their flat to escape the visitations of their hilarious friends, spent the night at a hotel and returned to find that the intruders—several of them girls—had upset all the furniture and piled the chairs, plates, pictures and other goods in a heap on the floor.

Doubtless these "friends" thought they had done an exquisitely funny thing.

Doubtless when they were children they were never impressed with the fact that anything that injures property or causes pain has not the slightest element of humour in it.

Does your child thoroughly grasp that fact?

If not, can't you assist him to?

* * *

There is a certain exasperating class of persons for whom I have been sharpening my pencil — or to speak more modernly — warming up my typewriter, for some time. And that is the people who ask you questions and never wait for an answer.

I don't mean the impatient kind who pour forth four or five questions in their eagerness before they wait to hear the answer.

Indeed I love the way in which Rosalind, when she hears that Orlando is near, burst forth—

"Alas, the day! What shall I do with my doublet and hose? What did he when thou sawest him? What said he? How looked he? Wherein went he? What makes he here? Did he ask for me? Where remains he? How parted he with thee? And when shalt thou see him again? Answer me in one word?"

But the persons I mean is he or she—who always tries to make herself work is getting on, or some such kindly question, and then either completely forgets to wait for an answer, or listens with such a vacant stare that you know she hears nothing of what you are saying.

The habit is the result of the eternal desire to seem without making the effort to be, the desire to get the reputation and the popularity that comes from being interested in other people without the unselfishness to be really interested in others.

And like all attempts to seem without being, it is readily seen through, and produces exactly the opposite result from the one desired.

MILLIONAIRE LIVES ON $1.25 A WEEK

MEALS COST FIVE CENTS

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 14.—In these strenuous days, when the prices on all kinds of foodstuffs are soaring, Andrew Jackson Seaman, millionaire, bachelor and business man, has demonstrated to his entire satisfaction that the majority of the people spend too much money catering to the cravings of their stomachs.

Seaman has not joined any anti-meat eating combines, but nevertheless he refrains from eating meat. He cut this out of his daily bill of fare many years ago.

Past fifty years of age and without a relative in the world, so far as he knows, and with an income that amounts to many thousands of dollars annually, Seaman unhesitatingly announces that he has solved the living problem and is able to get along well on from $1.25 to $1.35 per week, which sum includes his room rent.

The Seaman millionaire is a separate and distinctive type—a type that is not given to cultivating the habit of spending money for fine clothes and luxuries. This particular millionaire believes in making and saving money principally for the purpose of having the money, but he refuses to say what he is going to do with it after he is gone, though he admits that he is not going to take any of it along when he leaves this earth.

Is Buyer of Tax Titles.

Seaman is an early settler of Omaha, having been here more than forty years, but it was not until fifteen years or so ago that he commenced to attract attention. Then he got into the limelight by purchasing tax titles in Nebraska and adjoining States. He seemed to have plenty of money and his investments brought him good returns.

His hundreds of dollars multiplied into thousands, and it is said that his thousands have increased until he is now a millionaire. Still, his manner of living has not changed, and he is just as frugal as when a poor man.

To demonstrate how a man may live cheaply, Seaman gives his experience saying:

"In the first place, I get my room for 50 cents a week, which is altogether too much. It is out in Benson, an Omaha suburb. Of course, I do not have a fire, for fire in a living room is bound to shorten human life. I sleep there, but, reaching there late at night and departing early in the morning, I do away with any artificial light, which is expensive. When the weather is bad I usually ride, most times finding a man with his team coming down town or going home. This, you see, saves carfare. If the weather is fine I often walk."

Breakfast and suppers Seaman neatly always eats in his room. When he goes home at night he takes a loaf of bread along, and this will make two meals. Frequently he takes home a sack of peanuts for a relish. Then occasionally he eats dates as a desert, they being cheap and at the same time filling.

Weak Kidneys Make Weak Bodies.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Mrs. R. Duncan, of 115 McDonnel street, Peterborough, Ont., says:

"Some thirteen years ago I suffered with a severe attack of La Grippe that had up until this spring left me in a weakened and miserable condition. The kidneys had been disordered through this and became so inactive that doctors had pronounced Bright's disease and termed my case incurable. My back was very weak and the pains across the kidneys were most excruciating. I was unable to sleep through the night, and the desire to urinate was so frequent and irregular. The urine was highly coloured and contained a quantity of whitish sediment. I became so discouraged through my years of suffering that I had no care for anything. Booth's Kidney Pills were advertised at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy, and I tried them. The first box convinced me of their merits. I used three boxes of Booth's Kidney Pills and have been entirely cured. I am like a new person, well and strong, and can sleep through the night and awake refreshed and ready for the day."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

KITTY GREY.

George P. Huntley, the famous English comedian and a splendid company paid a visit to the Grand on Saturday in that musical comedy classic "Kitty Grey" and thoroughly pleased a very large audience who found the drollery of Mr. Huntley the charm of the music and the excellence of the presentation most enjoyable.

Nothing funnier than the work of Mr. Huntley has been seen here, and he had his audience with him from his first appearance on the stage. His mannerisms, his accent, everything about him was mirth producing and every word drew a laugh. He was on the stage often, but never too much for the audience.

The supporting company was of the calibre necessary in support of such a star. Miss Gladys Claire made the title role a thing of beauty and joy for ever by her clever acting and her dainty singing and dancing, and Miss Eva Kelly (Mrs. Geo. Huntley) won laurels for herself by her splendid work as Lady Binfield. Charles Angelo as the King of Illyria exhibited a splendid tenor voice and ability to use it and won favour in his songs. James McElhern, who will be remembered by his work here in "Sergeant Kitty" some years ago, gave a very clever characterization of the part of waiter and shared part of the honours of the evening.

Some of the song hits were "The Tract," "Have You Got Another Girl Like Mary," "If the Girl Wants You," "King Hal's Girls," and "Kitty's Not Built That Way."

The chorus was large and exceptionally well favoured, while they sang nicely. The costumes and scenic effects were of the standard expected from such an organization and altogether "Kitty Grey" is a gem.

STATEMENT BY MR. DYER

My attention has been called to a recent article in a New York daily newspaper which has been widely copied, and wherein it stated that the future of the phonograph was not very bright. This article is entirely misleading and does not accord iny any way with the views of myself or anyone connected with the Edison Companies. The future of the phonograph was never so bright as at the present time; in fact I feel that the surface has hardly been scratched. Orders are coming in so rapidly at the present time that we are not able to fill them promptly and the sales are entirely satisfactory. The fact that we are just starting in with the Amberola and a full line of Grand Opera Records is certainly an indication that so far as we are concerned the future does not have to be questioned. If any one of us had the slightest doubt as to the future of the business, why should we be spending hundreds of thousands of dollars each year in advertising and a corresponding amount in the development of new lines and in experimental work?

In connection with the very article under consideration, it is interesting to inquire why, if Mr. Edison has any doubt as to the future of the business, he should be willing to spend $155,000.00 in cash to acquire a minority stock interest. The whole transaction was simply this, that in the early days of the phonograph business this particular minority block of stock of the Edison Phonograph Works was acquired by outside interest, and was later put up as collateral to secure the issue of bonds of another independent company (not controlled by Mr. Edison.) having rights in certain foreign countries, and on which the interest payments were defaulted. These bondholders were anxious to realize something from their investment and Mr. Edison was willing to buy the stock, so that the transaction was consummated.

The Edison Phonograph Works, as persons familiar with the business know, is a separte company located at Orange and engaged only in the manufacture of machines, which are turned over to and are distributed by the National Phonograph Company. The National Company manufactures all Edison records and sells directly to the trade. The National Company in assets, property and amount of business done is immeasurably larger than Edison Phonograph Works.

The purchase of this block of stock by Mr. Edison was a personal matter and has no direct bearing on the future of the phonograph business, other than showing his confidence and a desire to withdraw the stock from litigation.

EARLY TRIALS OF WEDDED LIFE

It is an old saying that great results spring from seemingly insignificant causes, and so the newly married couple, while avoiding such barrier reefs as ill-temper, jealousy and the like, would do well to look out for, and steer clear of, the many small rocks which they are pretty sure to encounter.

Strange as it may be to say so, it is well known that comparatively few in the early days of wedded life seem at home with one another. The house is often new, the furniture and the surroundings are newer, but palpably the newest of all are the couple who have just been married. This is one reason why, in some cases, it is painful to visit one's friends who have taken the plunge until, perhaps, six months have elapsed. As one cannot stay away so long without offending them, one goes and suffers. One is more than anxious to tell them not to do this, and another is burning to beg them to do the other, but a word dare not be uttered.

There are a thousand daily joys for which thanks might be given if only their realization could be obtained, but many let them pass by. They vaguely recognize them as bits of happiness which if duly woven into the woof of life would brighten it as no jewels ever could.

A short time ago a friend called to see a married lady of a few months' standing, and was, naturally, received with pleasure. She, however, mentioned Edwin as "teasing" at his mother's, and asked her visitor to partake of the cheering cup with her. She did so and was given bread and butter and bride-cakes. And then ensued the following conversation. Looking at the bride cake, the visitor said:

"Not eaten it all yet?"

"Oh, no, not eaten yet! We have it every day for tea," she responded in the most cheerful manner.

"Why not keep it for Sundays, birthdays and Christmas?" was the next suggestion, and the reply was:

"What's the use of letting it get dry, or buying other cakes, when we have this in the house?"

Certainly that was one way of looking at it, but the friend of the newly wedded one understood why Edwin had gone to his mother's for tea.

In another case a friend had over two hundred presents when she married. They pretty well filled the drawing room in her little villa—in fact, a very large table, half the size of the room, groaned under them; others were on chairs, the sofa, and even the floor. They were on view for several weeks, and they may be there yet. It was nearly as depressing to live in that room as it would be to camp out under a bazaar stall. The presents and things continually in evidence emphasize the situation, and prevent them feeling at home. If newly married people want to settle down quickly, they should use the packing cases for firewood, and to try to forget they are married.

What causes the most friction between the young married couple is perhaps the indifferent cooking. A thoroughly domesticated wife is a jewel and she can turn herself out as bewitching as anybody. It is well known, however, that a vast number of men hate twice-cooked meat, but the careful wife decrees that her husband should frequently live upon stews and hashes. It sometimes happens that these dishes are watery, greasy, flabby, and anything but appetizing. This would be avoided if only she had taken a course of instruction before marriage, or a few pence had been expended on a cookery book. She would then have been able to have turned out delicious entrees, capital sauces, and truly lovely afternoon tea cakes. The best thing to be done is to banish every bit of white ribbon, silver decoration and orange blossoms.

It is good to teach young people to appreciate the infinite, everyday pleasures that surround them; and another secret of happiness in daily life is the appreciation of the friendship and affection which some are inclined to hold out lightly until threatened with their loss. To awake to a full sense of its value is to learn to appreciate it as it never had been before.

Many young wives hold the idea that to be domesticated is a middle class characteristic. Far from it. The daughters of the well-to-do middle class are the idlest and most empty minded and think it smart to be able to do nothing. This is a grand mistake in more ways than one, for idle people are never happy, and frequently their lives bring a sting of terrible remorse in their train.

PRAISE FOR OPERA HOUSE ORCHESTRA

Members of "Kitty Grey" Company Pleased With Their Playing of the Score.

The Opera House Orchestra received not a few compliments from various members of the "Kitty Grey" Company upon the finished manner in which they handled the music for the production. Those who enjoyed the various numbers could not but remark the difference from the music of American productions. It was tuneful and pleasing, and possessed a distinction that stamped it as English. The music, to say the least, was as difficult a score as has been placed before the orchestra of the Grand this season, but it simply served as an opportunity to demonstrate their ability. Mr. Huntley remarked that the orchestra played it better than any he had met on the road since leaving Chicago. The musical director congratulated the men on their playing, and members of the company voiced their pleasure with the confidence with which the orchestra struck into the music, and with the fact that it was played without an error or hitch.

WHY YOU ARE THIN; HOW TO GET FLESHY

Prescription Accomplishes Wonders

A treatment which anyone can prepare cheaply at home, has been found to increase the weight, improve the health, round out scrawny figures, improve the bust, brighten the eyes and put new colour into the cheeks and lips of anyone who is too thin and bloodless. It puts flesh on those who have been always thin whether from disease or natural tendency on those who by heavy eating and diet have in vain tried to increase; on those who feel well but can't get fat; and on those who have tried every known method in vain. It is a powerful aid to digestion, nutrition, and assimilation. It assists the blood and nerves to distribute all over the body the flesh elements contained in food, and gives the thin person the same absorbing qualities possessed by the naturally fleshy.

Everybody is about the same, but certain elements and organs of blood and nerves are deficient and until this is corrected, thin people will stay thin. The nutrition stays in the body after separation by the digestive functions instead of passing through unused, when this valuable treatment of blending medicines is used. Practically no one can remain thin who uses it, for it supplies the long felt need.

Mix in a half-pint bottle, three ounces of essence of pepsin, and three ounces of syrup of rhubarb. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol. Shake and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before and after meals. Drink plenty of water between meals and when retiring. Weigh before beginning.

On behalf of the Company,

W. C. Austin, Secretary.

Peterborough, Feb. 14th, 1910.

"THE MAN FROM HOME"

One of the most attractive features about the new play, "The Man From Home," written by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, which will be seen here at The Grand next Friday, Feb. 18, is the humorous blow to strikes at the folly of international marriages, a theme that is handled without gloves from the rise of the curtain until its fall. The authors have deliberately set forth, it is understood, with the idea of heaping ridicule upon this form of republican insanity, and, according to the success the play has achieved in Chicago and New York, have made good their object. The consensus of opinion in both cities is that no more delightful, entertaining play has been seen in recent years, and that its success is due as much to the homely spirit of truth as to its clean, wholesome nature.

The four acts are laid at the Hotel Margherita Regina, at Sorrento, Italy, and the chief figure, that of a lawyer from Kokomo, Ind., stands forth with unusual brilliancy, by the very reason of his foreign setting. Messrs. Liebler and Company are responsible for the production in its every detail, and this is a guarantee of no small nature, as those who have witnessed such plays as "The Squaw Man," "Salomy Jane," "The Battle," "The Dawn of a To-Morrow," etc., are aware. The cast is one that has been carefully selected in its every detail. The underlying spirit of the piece is a true republicanism that should come as a distinctly refreshing note amid the plays of the present day, and the high position of the authors in the world of literature would seem to indicate that its lingual construction is perfect.

WHICH WILL BE FIRST?

Asquith Is Said to Have Yielded to the Demands of the Radicals In His Following, and to Have Consented to Deal With Lords First—Signs of an Early Election—Rumors of Changes In the Cabinet.

London, Feb. 14.—Rumor is busy with the Prime Minister's visit to the King at Brighton on Saturday, but Mr. Asquith went immediately for the week-end into the country, and neither the names of the new Ministers nor anything authentic regarding the Government's policy has been allowed to leak out. It is believed that a final decision will be taken when the Premier communicates the King's views to the Cabinet Council to-day.

It is said, however, that at the last moment Mr. Asquith yielded to the extremists and the Redmondites, and, on the ground that discussion of the address of the budget would postpone the question of the veto of the House of Lords until after Easter, had consented to introduce the veto bill before the budget, even though this course endangers the budget and may bring about another general election in a few months.

According to the latest report, Winstone Spencer Churchill will succeed Mr. Gladstone at the Home Office, Augustine Birrell and John Burns retaining their present posts as Chief Secretary for Ireland and President of the Local Government Board respectively.

The writers on the Conservative side exaggerate the evidence of discord in the Cabinet itself and in the Nationalist and Labor factions, on which the Government must depend for a trustworthy coalition majority. They easily convince themselves that Premier Asquith's downfall is inevitable in the course of a few weeks, that both the budget and the veto bill will fail, and that the restoration of A. J. Balfour to power is indispensable if the disordered finances are to be straightened out this year.

Fatally Hurt by Snowplow.

North Bay, Feb. 14.—Frederick Hartley, who lived 12 miles north of this town, died Saturday morning from injuries received by being struck by a snowplow while walking along the T. & N. O. tracks Friday night.

Hartley stepped from the rails to allow the train a pass, but not knowing that it was a snowplow, did not move far enough away, and the flanges struck him, fracturing two ribs and inflicting internal injuries.

Not realizing the seriousness of his condition, Hartley walked two miles to his cabin, on a veteran land grant, which he was working with his daughter of 15 and son of 8. Medical aid was not summoned until the morning, on account of the distance.

Hartley was 45 years of age and came from Brantford, where his father resides.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations.

Defends Beliefs

Rev. L. S. Hughson of Windsor Baptist Church Gives Out Letter, Charging Rev. Dr. Stewart of Toronto With Having Accused Him of Unsound Doctrine In Order to Get Pulpit For Another.

Windsor, Feb. 14.—Rev. L. S. Hughson, pastor of Bruce avenue Baptist Church, made a public statement from the pulpit at the service last night in which he replied to recent criticism from Dr. William Stewart of the Toronto Bible Training School. Dr. Stewart had declared that Mr. Hughson was not straight on the Bible.

Mr. Hughson declared in his statement that Dr. Stewart made these criticisms because of his (Stewart's) zeal in trying to get a student of his school into the position as pastor of Ossington avenue Baptist Church, Toronto. Mr. Hughson declared he was not an applicant for the pastorate of the Toronto church.

If his view of God's word were ever brought into question, he held the historic Baptist position on that matter, while recognizing the possibility, but not the belief, that subsequently the views of all may be modified.

Mr. Hughson was on the senate of McMaster University and signed the report of the McMaster senate committee of seven, countenancing the views of Prof. I. G. Matthews. This is the alleged cause of trouble with Dr. Stewart, and Mr. Hughson said that, as a result of his signing the report, that efforts had been made to prevent the church in Toronto and St. Thomas from extending a call to him, on account of his alleged unsound views on the Bible.

Such people, he said, had been guilty of bearing false witness against a brother in the faith, in addition to whatever other wrong they may have done.

He also read a letter to his congregation, which he had sent to Dr. Stewart.

Mr. Hughson's statement was well received by his congregation, and they will undoubtedly stand loyal with him in the affair. Mr. Hughson himself feels the matter keenly.

The letter to Dr. Stewart follows: "When in Toronto last week, I was credibly informed that you had voluntarily gone to a prominent member of Ossington avenue Baptist Church and told him that I was not sound concerning the Scriptures. Mindful of the fact that you do not know me, have never to my knowledge seen me, certainly have never conversed with me and, in this case, have never sought to know where I stand concerning that or any other matter, I will not, in view of your age and my desire to speak evil of no man, characterize your conduct. I have no doubt that you were sincere and zealous for the eternal truth of God, and thus far I pardon you.

"What I do regret is that, in this day when all who value the Scriptures as the word of God should strengthen one another, some people have, by you, been lead to believe that I have very loose views concerning the Bible, and, insofar as they respect my views of things, may be led to positions which it is one of the great purposes of my ministry to move men from.

"I regard all Scripture as it came originally, to be inspired of God and given for our sufficient guidance and understanding in His things. If you had enquired of any one who sits under my ministry, or ever had sat under my ministry, you would not have made the error you have.

"I fear lest, in the suddenness with which you reached out to steady the ark of God which you fancied to be trembling, you unwittingly smote a servant of God, and that the heaviest weight of the blow fell on the Lord Jesus Himself."

Leonard May Resign.

Montreal, Feb. 14—There is a report going the rounds of the railway world to the effect that J. W. Leonard, general manager of the C.P.R.'s eastern lines, will soon resign and will be replaced by George Bury, who is now general manager of the company's western lines, while the Winnipeg position will be filled, so it is said, by F. P. Busteed, now general superintendent of the Pacific division.

DEATH OF MR. J. CHARLTON

Hon. John Charlton, For 32 Years a Member of Commons For North Norfolk, Passes Away at the Age of Eighty-One — Labored as Independent Liberal to Improve Trade Relations With U. S.

Delhi, Feb. 14.—Mr. John Charlton, a former member of the House of Commons and one of the best known men in Canada, passed away Saturday night at his home in Lynedoch. He was eighty-one years of age, but, although forced to retire from public life six years ago on account of ill-health, he was able to get about until the day before his death. On Thursday he was out for an hour, but following that became seriously ill, and sank rapidly. On Friday night it was seen that the end was near, and a telegram was sent to his brother, Mr. W. A. Charlton, in Toronto, but death came to the veteran statesman before the summons could be answered. The funeral will be held at Lynedoch on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Charlton's name will long stand as that of a man apart in the history of the Dominion's statesmen. He was a rugged man, turned from a large mould. His eyes were bright, alert and active; his speech was forceful and his principles strong. For thirty-two successive years, until 1904, he sat in the Dominion House as a member for North Norfolk, working hard in all that time, and when he retired it was only because physical necessity demanded rest. As a public man he was famous, now for his tariff policy toward the United States, now as a moral reformer, and again as a leading lumberman of the Ontario woods.

He was the eldest son of Adam Charlton, from Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, and was born at Garbutts-ville, New York, on Feb. 3, 1829. His education he found in New York state.

Leoncavallo Ill.

Milan, Italy, Feb. 14.—Ruggiere Leoncavallo, the composer, is seriously ill from heart disease, and his death is feared. His brother has been summoned to Milan by telegraph.

Leoncavallo is best known by his opera "Il Pagliacci." He was born in Naples in 1856. He was trained to music in the Conservatory at Naples, and made a tour as a pianist at the age of 16. He is a man of letters, as well as a musician, and is a Wagner enthusiast, having done much to make that composer popular in Italy.

Others of his operas was "Medici," "Savonarola," "Cesare Borgia," "Tri-by," and "Zaza." He first visited this country in 1906.

Paris Suffragettes Get Busy.

Paris, Feb. 14.—The French suffragettes promise to enliven the general elections in May. Mlle. Durand, their leader, who is the editor of Les Nouvelles, has issued a plan of campaign.

There will be a woman candidate in every constituency in Paris, each belonging to a profession or possessing a degree of some sort. Mlle. Durand herself will oppose Deputy Paul Escudier, who is strong opponent of woman suffrage.

That it will be impossible to vote for these ladies does not deter them. The campaign is intended to call attention to the cause.

Gooderich Carries Bylaw.

Goderich, Feb. 14.—The two bylaws voted on Saturday to grant a fixed taxation to the Western Canada Flour Mills Co., and Goderich Elevator & Transit Co.'s two new elevators of half a million bushels each, to be erected this summer, were carried by large majorities.

Smallpox In Hastings County.

Belleville, Feb. 14.—There is an outbreak of smallpox in Monteagle Township, Hastings County, and a number of families in the vicinity of No. 9 school house are infected.

Shoveling Snow Kills Two.

Lewiston, Pa., Feb. 14.—Two well-known men of this vicinity dropped dead yesterday after shoveling snow from the sidewalks of their homes. They were John A. Waream, a retired hotelkeeper of this place, and Wm. A. Moore of McVeytown, retired farmer.

Such Bread Crust, Madam, Saves the Children's Teeth

In the halcyon days of yore, as the Poetical One might ejaculate, when we were much smaller in physique than appetite and loved pie better than virtue—

We remember yet how desperate we were to corral the bread crust before Georgie's milk teeth began operations.

The golden crust of the loaves that Mother's hands had fashioned had a particular palate-pleasing quality for which we would then have freely sold our birthright.

It's like this, you see.

When you have mixed your dough and kneaded it to your entire satisfaction, the oven must do the rest.

And when you peep into the oven to see what's doing, as all good housewives will do, you joyfully note how the loaves are getting browner and more golden on top, more appetizing every minute.

Till at last, if you use FIVE ROSES flour, your baking triumph is complete and you take from the oven a delicious batch of dainty gold-crusted loaves, warning away the round-eyed young cannibals whom a far-off whiff hath attracted.

* * * *

The heat of your oven, Madam, has changed the starch of the crust into sugar and other desirable palate ticklers while drying out the moisture.

The golden color, by the way, is due to chemical changes in the oven, known as "caramelization"—what a big word!

This makes your crust very nutritive and digestible and palatable—in fact, the most appetizing and nutritious part of the loaf.

* * * *

Which brings us around again to FIVE ROSES flour, Mistress Housewife.

Sweet as a nut with crinkly crust, even texture and browned dome, it pleases the palate while filling that "aching void."

Best of all, Madam, it leaves no regrets — nothing but a satisfied feeling.

And the children know a good thing when they see it—for them, Madam, there's no regular article of diet so good as sweet well-done bread from FIVE ROSES with its healthy crust to compel and establish a proper habit of mastication.

Keeps the gums healthy, the teeth clean and free from decay.

If YOUR children need it, why not let them have it?

WEST ENDS AND STRATHS TO PLAY FOR THE TITLE

Wednesday Night's Game Between the Two Teams Will Decide the Championship of the League---Fans are Taking Great Interest in This Contest Which Looks the Best of the Season.

No game in the long history of the City League has caused more excitement than the play-off between the Strathconas and West Ends for the City League championship, which takes place at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday night. The two teams are tied for the title, with five wins and one loss to their credit, and the championship depends upon the result of Wednesday's game, which promises to be the classiest exhibition of the season and a game that the fans will long remember. That there will be a record crowd goes without saying. The contest is the sole topic of conversation among the fans and very few enthusiasts will miss the battle between the teams, which appear to be two of the most evenly-balanced sevens that have ever fought for the Examiner trophy.

On the form shown last week the West Ends look to have a royal chance to carry off the silverware. They outplayed the Commissioners at pretty well all stages of the contest last Wednesday, and on the play should have won by a wider margin. The team and their supporters are confident that they will repeat the feat on Wednesday, and by again trimming Manager Metheral's braves, add a new name to the City League honour role.

The Strathconas are hopeful of making a better showing than they did last week. They say that most of their men had had a strenuous campaign in the O. H. A. for two weeks before the last game, and were not on edge to travel at the pace the Westerners set. With the week's rest, however, they figure out they will be in better condition physically, and hope to give the West Ends a harder game. The West Ends finished their training for the game on Saturday night, when all the team were out with the exception of Crane, and went through an hour's workout at a lively clip. The Commissioners have their last workout to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock.

Keen interest is being taken in the game, which should be a hammer-and-tongs contest all the way. The fact that the teams are well matched is shown by the scores in the two games, the Strathconas winning the first by 5 goals to 3, while the Westerners captured the second by 6 to 4, giving each ten goals in the two games. The West End-Strathcona game will be the only fixture on Wednesday night, and will be called at 8.15 o'clock.

OTTAWA BEAT RENFREW EXCITING OVER-TIME GAME

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—Ottawa won its thirteenth consecutive match by beating Renfrew by 8 to 5, after the most exciting game ever played in Ottawa. It required ten minutes of overtime to decide the game, the score at full time being 5 to 5.

It was decided to play five minutes each way, and right after the start Hay Miller, Renfrew's right wing, was sent off for cross-checking Roberts. His absence at such a critical moment demoralized the Renfrew team, and Ridpath, after nursing the puck down the ice, flipped it across to Walsh, who broke the tie, making it 6 to 5. In the next five minutes Fraser was ruled off. Ottawa again having the odd man advantage. They attacked again, and this time it was Ridpath himself who scored, leaving it 7 to 5. Then Frank Patrick went off, and while he was with the timers Roberts scored the thirteenth and last for Ottawa, leaving it 8 to 5. Renfrew tried hard to even up, but could not penetrate the Ottawa defence Leseur making a marvellous save of Taylor's shot.

The score at half-time was 3 to 2 in favour of Ottawa. Whitcroft tied the score at three all eleven minutes after the start of the second half, and Millar pulled Renfrew ahead by 4 to 3. Bruce Ridpath got the next for Ottawa, and then Stuart gave Ottawa another one-goal lead, Lester Patrick making it five all from a scuffle. Play up to the end of the sixty minutes had been very equally divided, but in the overtime, during which they had a man to the good for the most part, Ottawa put it all over Renfrew. Both teams played great hockey, the Renfrews showing being a great surprise. Between seven and eight thousand people witnessed the struggle, the attendance breaking all records. The Ottawa win places them at the top of the league with a good grip on the championship, but the victory was a costly one, Bruce Stuart being out of the game for the balance of the season with a broken collarbone. He crashed into Taylor and was carried off unconscious, his injuries leaving Ottawa in a bad plight, particularly in view of the condition of Kerr. Fred Taylor, making his first appearance here since he deserted the Ottawa Club, got a wild reception, scores howling vile names at the once idolized cover-point, and showering him with lemons. The Ottawas made a lead set on Taylor, and while not as effective as usual, Taylor played great hockey. The crowd turned thousands of megaphones on him, but Taylor appeared to be the coolest man on the ice. Ridpath was the star of a brilliant game, scoring three of Ottawa's goals after sensational work. Play was rough and the excitement intense, particularly when with two minutes to play the score was tied. The match was finished with six men a side. Fraser being dropped to even up for Stuart's absence. Scores of bets were made that Taylor would score against his old team mates, but the famous defence man did not succeed in doing so. The teams were:

Ottawas—Lesueur, Lake, Shore, Stuart, Walsh, Ridpath and Roberts.

CONDUCTORS ARE BUBBLING OVER

On Friday night at the Auditorium rink the street railway conductors hockey team defeated the electric light men by 8 goals to 3. That is the score as handed to an Examiner reporter who missed witnessing the carnage. It sounds rather strange that the Conductors should have been able to even locate the nets, not alone run in eight straights. However times have changed and credit must be given when due. The conductors had a strong line up, including Harry Smith, who played a star game of the same class as the famous Harry, who was once a defender of the Stanley Cup. Les Sarginson who also a brilliant performer, shining brighter than any of Joe Dignault's brightest lights. Percy Doughty was likewise some class, in fact the Conductors have just awakened to the fact that they should be playing in the City League and if games are played for the city championship everybody knows where that cup will go.

There were other good men on the team, but their wives did not know that they took their lives into their hands to play in that game and their names are withheld in spite of the fact that the Associated press endeavoured to secure the names of the contestants. The Conductors enjoyed an oyster supper at the expense of their electric light friends and it has been rumoured that their caps have apparently shrunken considerably since the game. If you happen to hear any of the men with the little boxes talking hockey you will know the reason why, but don't ask them about it. They think they were playing hockey, but if it was not the old style shinny personified, then the part that handed in the report is a direct relation of Ananias.

ST. PETER'S SCHOOL LOST TO CENTRALS

Fast Game of Hockey Among Youngsters —Score Was 4-3.

A fast game of hockey was played at Brock Street Rink on Friday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock, when the Central School seven defeated the boys from St. Peter's by the score of 4-3. It was an interesting game from the fact that it was clean throughout, and back yard tactics were missing. The referee, Principal O'Brien, of St. Peter's, gave entire satisfaction.

The teams lined up as follows:

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

A to H Section of Ladies of Murray Street Church Entertained on Friday.

The A to H section of the Ladies' Aid of the Murray Street Baptist church gave their entertainment Friday evening to an appreciative audience. Mr. V. Eastwood presided in a most pleasing manner. A piano solo by Miss Elcome, of the Conservatory, was the first and a most excellent number, which was well received. Miss Hill gave a most delightful recitation. Mr. F. Whitehouse, of the Nordheimer Piano Co., Toronto, gave a most delightfully rendered violin solo, which was vigorously encored. As an encore he gave a most perfect bagpipe selection on the violin. His two other numbers during the evening were accompanied by Mrs. Greenslade. Mrs. Rehill and Mrs. Greenslade sang a beautifully rendered duet and were accompanied by Mr. Whitehouse on the violin, and Miss Goodenough on the piano. Mr. Johns contributed two recitations very acceptably, and Miss Walton a well-rendered piano solo.

Mr. Whitehouse is a stranger to a Peterborough audience, but is well known in the best musical circles in England and also in Toronto, as an expert on the violin, and his performances upon this instrument are delightful.

After the concert the audience retired to the basement and sat down to beautifully decorated tables of dainty refreshments.

Mr. Downey rendered several solos in splendid voice.

Boils and Pimples.

Whenever your complexion is unnatural, your skin in an unhealthy condition, your face covered with blotches and pimples, when boils and festering sores abound then your blood is bad. You can best cleanse it with that purely vegetable compound, Burdock Blood Bitters, which safely and promptly renovates the blood and invigorates the entire system.

Boils Cured.

Mr. C. A. Mussen, Bawlf, Alta., writes: "I recommend Burdock Blood Bitters as being the best blood purifier there is. About three years ago I was greatly troubled with boils and our druggist advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters and after taking two bottles I have not had a boil or even a pimple."

Pimples Cured.

Mr. J. Morehouse, Zealand Station, N.B., writes "My face and neck were covered with pimples, and I tried all kinds of remedies, but they did me no good. I went to many doctors, but they could not cure me. I then tried Burdock Blood Bitters and I must say it is a wonderful remedy for the cure of pimples."

MILLER — On Wednesday, February 9, 1910, the wife of Mr. John Miller, 377 Stewart street, of a daughter.

WRECKED IN STRAITS.

S. S. Lima on Reef in Magellan—Number of Dead Not Known.

Valparaiso, Chile, Feb. 14.—Immediately on receipt of the news that the Pacific Navigation Co.'s steamer Lima had been wrecked on a reef in the Huamblad Passage, in the Straits of Magellan, and that 38 persons had been left aboard, the Chilean Government despatched the protected cruiser Ministro Zenteno to the rescue.

Following quickly in the wake of the cruiser are five steamers, which the navigation company ordered to proceed at top speed to Magellan. The fate of those who were left behind by the British steamer Hatumet, which rescued 205 of the passengers and crew, will not be known until the Ministro Zenteno, which carries wireless, arrives there.

No further word was received from Ancud, where the Hatumet put in with the survivors. According to late despatches there is some hope that the remainder of the passengers and crew on the Lima may be able to hold out if aid reaches them quickly.

The Hatumet, after taking off 205 persons, was compelled to proceed on account of the danger of being swept upon the rocks by the storm that prevailed at the time.

The Lima was a British steamer, 401 feet long, registers 1,115 tons and was built in Glasgow in 1907.

The place where the steamer was wrecked is probably Huamblad Passage, located between the south shore of San Pedro Island and Chiclee. It is a narrow passage, full of rocks and very difficult of navigation. Huamblin Rocks, two in number and 85 feet high, mark the entrance to this passage.

Cook In South America.

Valdivia, Chile, Feb. 14.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the explorer, and his wife, arrived here yesterday on board the German steamer Osiris, having taken a cabin at Montevideo. Dr. Cook traveled under the name of T. Craig. He and his wife sailed north yesterday. He declined to be interviewed.

The steamer Osiris sailed from Hamburg Jan. 1, and from Antwerp Jan. 8 for Callao. Presumably she touched at Montevideo, where the Cooks are said to have boarded her, but her call there has not been reported.

It is estimated that the total annual expenditure on the Halifax station and the Atlantic fleet will be about two and a half million dollars, and on the Pacific fleet and station about a million dollars.

The Halifax estimate is made up from the following items: For the two Bristols with forty officers and 742 men, $708,000; Niobe, with seventeen officers and 261 men, $376,000; for the thirty officers and 546 men of the six destroyers, $763,000 a year; upkeep of dockyards, $200,000; for barracks staff, $75,000; for the pay, allowances and victualling of recruits, $200,000; for the maintenance of the naval college, $80,000 a year.

The items which make up the annual cost of the Esquimalt base and fleet are: Maintenance of two Bristols with forty officers and 742 men, $708,000; the Rainbow, with sixteen officers and 163 men, $230,000; for the maintenance of the Esquimalt dockyard, $16,000 a year.

It is estimated that the annual cost of the headquarters staff at Ottawa will be $80,000. For contingencies there is an estimate of $100,000, bringing the total annual cost to $3,680,000. The twelve vessels will require the services of 163 officers and 2,454 men.

Dr. McNulty New Chairman Of Board Of Health For 1910

Dr. Burnham Declined the Position —Very Peaceful Meeting This Morning—Dr. Young Refers to Bill He Presented for Services.

ACCOUNTS TO BE PAID

An invigorating tonic was manifestly necessary to the Board of Health at their regular meeting this morning, the members (as a Board the most part) to be in a state of coma. The real obstacle to proceeding with their usual despatch was the resignation of Dr. Burnham from the chairmanship. At the last meeting he was re-elected to that position and although he was absent it was felt that he would not decline to act for another year. To-day, however, he expressed himself as desirous of having the other members share the duties of chairman, and he asked that his resignation be accepted. There was considerable delay at this stage, but it was finally moved by Dr. McNulty and Mr. Edgar that his resignation be accepted. The former, in making the motion, stated that the Board regretted Dr. Burnham's action, but felt that he could not accept the position or he would not ask to be relieved from the position. It was then necessary to elect a chairman and, after another lapse Dr. McNulty was chosen upon motion of Mr. Murty and Dr. Young. In assuming his position Dr. McNulty said he would endeavour to give as much satisfaction as his predecessor, and to carry out the business of the Board, as did Dr. Burnham.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

Peter Connal & Son., $3.65; B. Hicks & Co., $3.40; A. W. Cressman & Sons, $3.70.

Dr. Young addressed the Board in regard to his bill against the city for services during the epidemic of smallpox last summer. He did not think that the manner in which his account had been dealt with had been fair to himself, or to any of the parties concerned. Dr. Bingham had been given two months leave of absence by the Council, and Dr. T. Young was appointed in his place. The first case of the disease, that in the Miller family, on George street, received his attention. He called upon the Mayor and Dr. Burnham in regard to what he should do, and was informed to proceed with the case, and he would be remunerated in full. The circumstances were such that it was necessary to act on the instant, and Dr. Young considered that he was employed.

Dr. Burnham asked Dr. Young what would have been the result had Dr. Bingham retained the position. Dr. Young said he had paid expenses connected with the outbreak and was asking that he be paid in the same manner, as Dr. McPherson's bill. On motion of Dr. Burnham and Mr. Murty, it was decided to send Dr. Young's bill to the Finance Committee of the Council, recommending that it be paid. The members of the Board present were Dr. Young, Dr. Burnham, Dr. McNulty, Messrs. Murty, and Edgar, and Dr. McPherson, M. H. O., and Chief Rossel.

Illuminated Address To Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., On His Birthday

To-day the 60th Anniversary of His Birth—Surprised by Employees Who Presented Him With Handsomely Illuminated Address—Has Made Good Progress Since Coming to Peterborough.

APPRECIATED GIFT

Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr., was pleasantly surprised at noon to-day by his employees, who were aware of the fact that it was the 60th anniversary of his birthday. They assembled very unexpectedly at the noon hour and presented him with a beautiful illuminated address as a token of their appreciation of the kindness that has always been extended to them, and as a congratulatory message to Mr. Turner upon the blessing he has enjoyed by passing his 60th birthday in good health, giving promise of many more years to devote to business or ease as it pleases him best. It also congratulated him upon the success he had achieved since coming to Peterborough. Mr. Henry Greene, who has been connected with the firm for seventeen years, read the address, which was an artistic piece of work, and will doubtless be prized by Mr. Turner. He said he was pleased to have the privilege of reading the address, signed by all the employees on this anniversary. He not only referred to Mr. Turner, but spoke of the firm in most appreciative terms. During his seventeen years' service he had always found them courteous, kind, and considerate, and while congratulating Mr. Turner and his sons upon their success he felt that he was voicing the wishes of the entire staff by hoping that the future would bring continued achievements. The address read by Mr. Greene was as follows:

Peterborough, Feb. 15, '10.

To Mr. J. J. Turner, Sr.

Sir,—We, the undersigned employees of the firm of J. J. Turner & Sons, wish to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your kindness to us while in your employ. this being the 60th anniversary of your birthday, we rejoice that you are so hale and hearty and hope and pray that God will be pleased to spare you to us for many years. We wish to congratulate you upon the phenomenal growth of the business which, under your supervision, has grown from its humble beginning forty years ago, to its flourishing condition.

Mr. Turner came to Peterborough 24 years ago from London, Eng., his native city, and immediately went into business as a tent, awning and sail maker. The success that has been the fruit of his efforts is known to his fellow citizens. During later years the firm has shown a splendid enterprise that has ben markedly successful.

Mr. Turner thanked the members of his staff for the kindly spirit in which the address was couched. He appreciated it very much and would always regard the address highly as the heartfelt wishes of his employees.

FIRE THIS MORNING DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

A fire broke out in one of the bedrooms of the C. P. R. Temperance House, George street, conducted by Thomas Foster this morning, and considerable damage was done before the brigade extinguished the blaze. Several rooms upstairs were gutted and the furniture and building were damaged by water and smoke, and to make matters worse there is no insurance on the contents.

The blaze originated in a room on the second floor, and it is thought that one of the boarders was smoking and dropped a match. At all events about 10.30 o'clock the occupants of the house detected a strong smell of smoke, and upon investigating, discovered that a bedroom was in flames. An alarm was sent in from Box 18, which is just across the road and the brigade responded quickly, succeeding in getting the blaze under control without much trouble, although considerable water had to be used, the chemicals not being sufficient for the task.

Some of the clothing belonging to boarders in the house was damaged and the furniture throughout is in bad shape.

House At Zion Burned To The Ground While Father Was Away

Joshua Robinson, who has resided at Zion, about nine miles south of the city, was called from his work near Campbelltown on Saturday morning after nine o'clock and arrived to find his dwelling burned to the ground. Robinson is engaged chopping wood on Mr. J. J. Howden's property near the wharf at Campbelltown. His wife was leaving the house shortly after nine o'clock, when she noticed smoke coming from the upper story. She called several neighbours to her assistance and a vigorous attempt was made to extinguish the fire, but it had gained considerable headway, apparently being in the wall. Attention was turned to the furniture, but only a few odd pieces were saved. When the husband arrived on the scene the ashes were cool and the embers had died out. The house belonged to the school section. During the progress, the flames threatened the shed of the English church, but snow and water was thrown on the roof and no damage was done. It is not known what the loss will be, but Mr. Robinson is left with little else but a stove, table and a few chairs.

A NEW MINISTER.

(Toronto News.)

According to despatches from Ottawa, Mr. Brodeur, owing to ill-health, may be compelled to withdraw from the Government. If this should become necessary, and certainly no one could be so bitterly partisan as not to desire Mr. Brodeur's early and permanent recovery, he probably will be succeeded by Senator Dandurand, of Montreal. Mr. Dandurand, and this may be said without insinuating comparisons of an invidious character, would bring strength to any Government. Although a strong partisan, he is honourable, able and courageous. There are few men in the Liberal party so well fitted to occupy high position at Ottawa, and both the Government and the country may be congratulated if it turns out that at some early day he joins the Ministry.

THE TRUTH FILTERS OUT.

(Toronto Globe.)

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Telegram has this to say of the latest development in connection with what some other and less candid correspondents still persist in speaking of Canada's tin-pot navy:

"The cruiser Niobe, which is to be purchased by Canada from the Admiralty as the nucleus of the Canadian navy on the Atlantic, is a much more powerful vessel than the opponents of the naval bill imagined, and her selection upon the advice of the Admiralty, will probably serve to consign to oblivion the charge that the Canadian navy will be a tin-pot one.

She is considerably longer and more efficient than the New York, which was Sampson's flagship at the battle of Santiago. She is heavier than the famous Oregon, which also took part in the fight at Santiago, and afterwards made the spectacular tour of the globe as the pioneer of the American girdling of the world. In fact, she has more tonnage and is more powerful from a fighting point of view than a majority of the United States ships which took part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet, and will prove a most effective sentinel at the gate of the St. Lawrence.

"The negotiations for her transfer are understood to be practically completed and the announcement thereof may be expected in Parliament in a few days."

WHO IS WALT MASON.

(Toronto Star.)

"It may sometimes be called doggerel or even something worse as poetry, but that man Walt Mason, whose prose verse adorns the editorial pages of so many Canadian newspapers, certainly tells many homely truths in an interesting and convincing way," says the B. C. Saturday Sunset. "The public interest in Mason is now so great that something about the man himself would be interesting reading. The public would like to know who he is."

The Sunset man is not the only one who has wondered about Walt Mason, whose prose poems on this page have been widely quoted and admired. Walt Mason—that is his real name—was born in Ontario County at a little village known as Columbus, some miles north of Whitby. In this little cross-roads place he worked as a boy in a woollen mill; later at Port Hope in a hardware store. At the tender age of fourteen years he began to write verse, but it was only a couple of years ago, at Emporia, Kansas, that he came into prominence as an author. Now, his readers number millions.

Mr. Mason defies all the historic laws of verse making by composing his poetry on a type-writer, and sending it out without revision. At work before eight in the morning, he devours the exchanges and grinds out smoking editorials by the yard, and before 11 o'clock has produced the editorial page of the Emporia Gazette, which is quoted the country over. Shortly after noon he is back at work, editing telegraphic despatches, writing headings, and in odd moments, making verses, a pursuit which also occupies a portion of each evening. In the late afternoon he is out with his fast horse; horses are his hobby.

Since the beginning of his newspaper career on the Atchison Globe in 1885, the poet-philosopher has worked on all papers all over the country. He is not a society man. One interviewer described him as "dressed chiefly in a pair of blue serge trousers and a vest that might have been mistaken at a distance for a comic supplement." Mason himself recalls an incident when he did blossom out in "sassiety" in somewhat similar clothes. It was in 1893, and his peregrinations had taken him to Washington, where his verses attracted the attention of Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" fame. She invited him to her house, and he went, though reluctantly. But let him tell it himself:

I had on a dinky suit of hand-me-downs, with a sack coat that barely reached below my shoulder blades and high-water pants. They had butlers and footmen and such critters at the Burnett house, and I was ushered into a room well filled with ladies and gentlemen in correct attire, and Mrs. Burnett gave me a great reception, and introduced me to all these birds of paradise, and my duds seemed to shrink all the time, and I never was so miserable in all my life.

Much of Walt Mason's success lies in his ability to get at the heart of things. He deals with subjects which interest everybody; puts his finger right on the vital spots of home life and business life. He does not get out a brass band to herald the lessons taught by his prose poems, but there is a lot of shrewd common sense in plain undestandable language in these little verselets, which give them a value apart from their pleasant "jinglesomeness."

HE IS BACK AT WORK AGAIN

Abraham Garand's Rheumatism Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Suffered for Five Years and Was Four Months off Work, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Alfred Station, Ont., Feb. 14.—(Special).—After being laid off work for four months by kidney disease and rheumatism, from which he had been a sufferer for five years, Abraham Garand, a section man on the railway here, is back at work again and he gives all the credit for his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am forty-one years old," Mr. Garand said when asked about his cure. "And have been section man here for ten years. For five years I suffered from kidney disease and rheumatism, also sciatica in my right hip, which descended to my feet. For four months I could not work. Reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills led me to try them. I used nine boxes in all and to-day I am advising all who suffer from rheumatism to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Rheumatism and sciatica are caused by diseased kidneys failing to strain the uric acid out of the blood. Cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and they will strain the uric acid out of the blood. Then you can't have rheumatism.

Constipation is the root of many forms of sickness and of an endless amount of human misery.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills,

thoroughly tested by over fifty years of use, have been proved a safe and certain cure for constipation and all kindred troubles. Try them.

THE PROCESSION OF EQUINOXES

As we read the records imprinted on the earth's crust of the so-called London Basin we find some 26,000 years ago, in the age of the sand, gravel and clay deposits, a climate about the same as Egypt, inhabited by all kinds of tropical plants (palms, cocoanut trees,) and animals, including some ten different kinds of turtles, long-nosed and short-nosed ones.

Then, as the ages rolled on, the climate changed from that of sub-tropical heat to semi-arctic cold, from that of Egypt to that of Iceland. And that was 5,000 years before Adam's time.

Gradually then the climate began to get warmer. We find, in the Pleistocene period, together with flint knives, hatchets, and implements (signs of the existence of man), bones of elephants, rhinoceroses, and hippopotami, and also glacial drifts and Norfolk boulders.

At the present day the average mean temperature of London is 50 degrees Fahrenheit, whereas the geology of the Thames Valley shows us that it has fluctuated in times gone by from 70 degrees to 40 degrees Fahrenheit, or 30 degrees from one to the other.

The reason for this astonishing state of things is to be found in what is called the procession of the equinoxes.

This is that peculiarity in the movement of our globe whereby every part of the earth's surface is subject to slow but continuous alteration of position in relation to the heat of the sun, owing to the attraction of the sun and the moon upon the earth's protuberance at the Equator.

Theoretically speaking, the line of the Equator is supposed to mark the line of the greatest heat, the effect of the solar rays being greatest where they fall on the earth perpendicularly.

But, as a matter of fact, the lines of heat are slowly, but steadily changing (entirely outside of all such considerations as altitude, geographical position, sea proximity, winds, etc.) because the earth's pole does not move perpendicularly to its path around the sun, but tilted at an angle which decreases and increases during certain fixed periods.

In other words, climate, or differences between hot and cold weather, depends primarily on the slope of the sun's rays to the earth, which is itself sloped at an angle to the line of its path around the sun.

This steady revolution of certain parts of the earth from hot to cold and from cold to hot used to be considered accomplished once every 26,000 years, but recent researches show that the complete change takes 31,000 years to accomplish, so that we may estimate that it will take London another 4,000 to 5,000 years to reach the climate of Egypt, to which it is slowly approaching.

I have no doubt that similar climatic changes have taken place in America and in other countries. I understand that New England winters, for example, are in no wise as severe as they were a couple of decades ago. There is less snow and a marked higher temperature in the winter.

In support of this theory, it is curious to note the mean average temperature of London has been slowly rising the past century, so that London of the present day is over 1 1-4 degrees Fahrenheit warmer than it was 100 years ago.

Severe cold is becoming a thing of the past. Snow is now a comparative rarity. The so-called old-fashioned winters which snowed-up stage coaches, the Thames frozen over, an ox roasted whole, and skaters on all the ponds, are only to be seen on the Christmas cards.

Allowing, of course, for a certain amount of increased heat through a larger population, with its concomitant increase in fires and heating appliances, such as electricity, we may safely say that the London temperature is increasing at the rate of not much less than one deg. Fahr. every century, which will bring us to the Egyptian temperature perhaps a little sooner than stated—in, say, about 3,000 years.

Recent research has shown that the effect of the Guf stream in bringing warmth to this country is very much less than supposed. Spreading, as it does, when it leaves the coast of Newfoundland, its temperature drops considerably, and in summer time cannot be said to have any influence in increased warmth to England at all.

It is rather to a drift of warm superficial water, called the North Atlantic drift, that the comparative mildness of this country is due. But all evidence, geological, meteorological and astronomical, points to the fact that England and London are slowly getting nearer to a warmer climate.

SECOND CHINESE DIVORCE IN THE U.S.

San Francisco, Feb. 14.—The second Chinese divorce in the history of the United States was granted by Judge Thomas F. Graham when he gave Wong Kiew an interlocutory decree separating her from Tsang Wan, whom the wife charged with desertion.

Mrs. Tsang is given the custody of her four children, Benjamin, who is now in the State of Washington; Pearl and Ruby, who are inmates of the Methodist Mission at Berkeley, and Ernest, who resides with his mother at No. 786 Jackson street.

The court in his findings, awarded the wife fifty dollars a month alimony saying that while Mrs. Tsang did not know where her husband was, she might some time learn of his having an estate and the alimony would come in handy.

COLD ON THE LUNGS

This letter gives some idea of the confidence placed in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine by people who know by experience of its exceptional merit. Mrs. E. D. Turner, Broadview, N.W.T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for them all when troubled with colds on the lungs. We buy four bottles at a time and always keep it in the house, believing there is nothing so good for coughs and colds."

BACK TO MONTREAL

The following verses were written by Mr. Max Peters of Winnipeg, a son of Mr. A. Peters, the local grocer:

With mud and dust all 'round us,
And black smoke over all,
He must be a jay when once away to Come "back to Montreal."

Through its dirty streets, bum sidewalks,
And graft at City Hall,
I thank the Lord I've turned
My "back to Montreal."

With Dagos, Swedes, Norwegians,
Jews, Russians, Poles and all,
You need no trip around the world,
Just come "back to Montreal."

I've swam the depths of Craig street,
From Main to Beaver Hall,
And I'd just as well go straight to hell
As "back to Montreal."

Through drinking typhoid water
There are folks both short and tall
Lying down behind the Mountain
With their "back to Montreal."

Should you wish to die before you hear
The trumpet's final call,
Just try the water that we drink,
And come "back to Montreal."

GOD SAVE THE KING

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

The merchant said, in caustic tones: "James Henry Charles Augustus Jones, please get your pay and leave the store; I will not need you any more. Important chores you seem to shun; you're always HE WHO FORGETS leaving work undone; and when I ask the reason why, you heave a sad and soulful sigh, and idly scratch your dome of thought, and feebly say: "Oh, I forgot!" James Henry Charles Augustus Jones, this world's a poor resort for drones, for men with heads so badly set that their long suit is to forget. No man will ever write his name upon the shining wall of fame, or soar aloft on glowing wings because he can't remember things. I've noticed that such chaps as you remember when your pay is due; and when the noontime whistles throb, your memory is on the job; and when a holiday's at hand, your recollection isn't canned. The failures on life's busy way, the paupers, friendless wan and gray, throughout their bootless days, like you, forgot the things they ought to do. So take your coat, and draw your bones, James Henry Charles Augustus Jones!"

Suggestions To Want-Advertisers

USE your own name in "Want" Advertisements unless there is some particular reason why you wish it kept confidential.

Advertisements, the answers of which must be sent to an unknown party, are never as resultful as those where the advertiser is known. For instance: Workmen desiring to make a change, do not care to answer a "blind" advertisement, fearing that they may be writing to their own firm, and on the other hand, manufacturers or wholesale dealers can usually secure a better class of applications by publishing their own name.

This is a suggestion for the good of the users of The Examiner "Want" columns. If desired, however, avdertisements may be addressed care of the Examiner Office, in which case they will be forwarded promptly to advertisers.

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—"I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering."—Mrs. GEORGE JORDY, Box 46, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

The hearing of Bob Cook, the desperado, on the charge of wounding Constable Halbert at Orangeville, was begun yesterday and adjourned till next Monday.

Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan, who has been in Ottawa for the past few days, denies the report that it is his intention to resign as Premier and accept a portfolio in the Federal Cabinet.

New Placer Gold Field.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Recent investigations into the Innoko district, the Central Kuskokwill Valley and the new Haiditared district in Alaska, now partially finished by the United States Geological Survey, disclose new placer gold districts which promise very heavy returns. The little territory, bought from Russia for $7,000,000 in 1867, has to the present time paid $160,000,000 in gold alone since 1880, when parlor mining there began. The discovery by agents of the survey of placers on the small streams in areas which are drained into the lower Yukon or the lower Kuskokwill prove that the formations of the upper Yukon belts extend much farther southwest than had generally been supposed, and that they bear gold at many scattered localities throughout their extent.

Sufficient prospecting has been done there to indicate the presence of a pay streak from fifty to seventy feet wide with gold uniformly distributed.

Veterinary Contracts Rabies.

Berlin, Ont., Feb. 15.—D. Keoun, a veterinary surgeon of St. Jacob's, contracted rabies in an unusual manner, receiving it by being bitten by a horse which he had been called to treat on the farm of Christian Schiefley, near St. Jacob's, two weeks ago. Dr. Keoun was attended by Dr. Minchin of Berlin, who pronounced it a case of rabies, and Dr. Keoun left at once for the New York Pasteur Institute.

A few days after Keoun was bitten the horse died of dumb rabies. The horse had been bitten by a dog on the road some days previous to the time Keoun went to the Schiefley farm.

AN OLD SAYING.

Showing How Cause and Effect Are Never Far Removed.

It is an old saying "Where there's honey there's bees"—not less true is one which science has coined more recently. Where there's Dandruff there's germs"—and—to push the inference still further we may truly say "Where there's Dandruff cured Newbro's Herpicide has been at work."

The reason of Herpicide isolation as a genuine cure for Dandruff lies in the fact that it attacks and destroys the root of the whole trouble—a parasitic germ which feeds upon the material which nourishes the hair follicle.

Other so-called remedies are not directed at this true cause of the disease.

Accept no substitute, there is none.

Shamfighting in Snow.

Kingston, Feb. 15—An innovation in Canadian military tactics will be tried this week, when the two local batteries of the R. C. Burstall will command, with Majors Leslie and Panet as commander of A and B Batteries, respectively. The force, 150 men, with 150 horses and six quick-firing guns mounted on sleighs, take to the road to-day, and will remain out until Friday. They will advance about 12 miles the first day, and for the remainder will advance in various formations on a supposed enemy in the direction of Ottawa. Officers and men will spend the nights under canvas. The army service corps will prepare the food, while the intelligence corps will keep in touch with Ottawa for instructions.

Kingston, Ja., Feb. 15.—(C.A.P. Cable)—Regarding reciprocal trade relations with Canada, The Barbados Agricultural Reporter says that improved steamship communication is the only thing affording any good ground for hope. The Demerara Chronicle says the same.

Trinidad cocoa planters are opposed to the idea, as the Dominion can consume only a small fraction of the cocoa produced in the West Indies. Other interests in Trinidad are equally hostile to the idea of reciprocity.

The latter company promises to employ 25 men in the manufacture of telephones and telephone appliances, and has agreed to commence at once to place its machinery in the building secured for it.

Priest's Wealth a Scandal.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 15.—Declaring that the possession by priests of any large sum of money gained from any source but inheritance, is a grave scandal, Archbishop W. H. O'Connell of the Boston archdiocese, Sunday begged the indulgence and prayers of the congregation of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross, for some grave faults which recently happened on the part of one or two of the clergy of this diocese.

The archbishop said no priest in the Boston archdiocese would amass money merely from the income of his parish, and deplored the fact that scandal had been caused by the wills of priests who had left large fortunes.

Heart of my heart, let us talk of love.
—Kipling.

And also because it is the day of the Saint of Lovers, the day on which any topic but love would be more or less an impertinence.

There is, I believe, some talk nowadays among women as to the relative value of love and a career. I have heard college girls gravely question whether a woman was happier married or in the possession of a latch-key, a profession and a greater amount of luxury than she might otherwise have had.

I wonder if any sane, normal woman really ever had such doubts.

Of course I realize that almost any woman would be infinitely happier and better off earning her own bread than eating bread earned by a man she did not love—luxury, and a latch-key—well, words fail me.

And so, to all the girls, young or old, among my readers, to whom the man o' dreams has not yet come I'm going to wish as my Valentine wish that before dawning of another St. Valentine's day he shall have found you.

And I further wish that he may bring with him a love that shall not be merely just an affection growing out of propinquity, not just fascination, or simply sex attraction, but the miraculous welding of all three and their wonderful fusing into that strange and beautiful thing, iridescent and frail as a bubble, eternal as a soul, that only lovers can feel and only poets write about.

I hope it will be so great a love that you will feel yourself abased and humbled by it until you can understand Emerson's—

"Had I a lover noble and free,
Would he were nobler than to love me."

I hope it will be the kind of love that will so reverence and exalt its object that you can understand Tennyson's—

"I had liefer ye were worthy of my love
Than to be loved again of you."

I hope it will be so plentiful a love that you will be able to chant with George Herbert—

"Love is a present for a mighty king."

I hope it will be so all-sufficing a love that you will be able to say, in substance, with Omar—

"—a loaf of bread beneath the bough,
A flask of wine, a book of verse and thou
Besides me singing in the wilderness,
And wilderness is Paradise enow."

I wonder if someone is saying that I am writing nothing of myself today, but merely making a mosaic of what poets have said.

Guilty.

But did I not confess most frankly that the poets were the only people who could write fitly on this subject?

Board Of Health Thinks City Should Take Action Re Dogs

Somewhere on the files of the City Council is a recommendation from the Board of Health to the effect that dogs should be tied up or muzzled. It was passed in December, and although the Board thought it wise to call the attention of the City Fathers to the movement that is spreading throughout the province the latter scarcely noticed it, and it is now practically forgotten. The members of the Board of Health feel that action should not be deferred until Peterborough is visited by a case of rabies, but should take such steps as will prevent the possibility of such an occurrence. The Board discussed the question this morning and it is likely that in the near future another resolution will be sent to the Council, asking that some steps, at least, be taken.

SENSIBLE SUGGESTIONS

Of Interest to Kidney, Backache, and Bladder Sufferers — Prescription Given Which Ends Misery, Restores Out-of-Order Kidneys and Brings Back the Glow of Health.

A very sensible suggestion, and one which is being more and more adopted was recently made by the eminent Dr. Lewis Baker, formerly physician and surgeon with The British Medical Institute. He said that many simple prescriptions should be published or printed in the newspapers, so that the public could use them when needed, instead of buying the much advertised patent medicines, all of which are not good for the general public. For instance, the following simple and inexpensive mixture can be made at home or mixed by any well-stocked druggist, and it is a boon and blessing to anyone afflicted in any way with kidney and bladder troubles. Mix, fluid extract buchu 1 oz., compound fluid balmwort 1 oz. and compound syrup sarsaparilla, 4 ozs. Shake well and take a teaspoonful before or after meals, and one when retiring. Quickly restores and stops all such symptoms as: Deranged kidneys and bladder are indicated by dry, parched skin, hot and cold sensations, frequent burning or scanty urination, (especially at night) with bad odour, tender spots in back, loss of weight, morning weariness, swollen feet and ankles, backache, headache, inflamed eyes, etc.

REV. H. B. KENNY'S SERVICES APPRECIATED

Last evening the Tabernacle Official Board unanimously invited Rev. H. B. Kenny to remain their pastor for the fourth year, and increased the salary one hundred dollars, making it $1,300. This is not the first increase given Mr. Kenny since he became pastor of the Tabernacle. The congregations have more than doubled and the finances steadily increased until the Board is warranted in making a yearly advancement. The membership has been augmented during these three years, and to-day there is evidence of a strong growing church. This they believe is largely due to the untiring efforts of their pastor. The Board decided to meet as soon as possible to consider fully the Laymen's Missionary Movement, and unite in a systematic canvass along the plan of the movement. This year has been the best in missionary givings the church has seen, but it is thought that the offering could and ought to be doubled next year.—Belleville Ontario.

The Laymen's Missionary banquet of the Park St. Baptist church to-night begins at eight o'clock and promises to be attended by a large number. The speakers are Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, D. D., Rev. J. G. Brown, D. D., Secretary of Foreign Missions and Mr Joseph Shenstone, Secretary of the Massey Harris Co. VALENTINE SOCIAL AT PARK STREET CHURCH

Pleasant Evening Enjoyed by Young People Last Night.

A very pleasant evening was spent last night at the Park Street Baptist Church. The programme was in charge of the Literary Committee, and was a very successful affair.

The President, Herb. Reid, occupied the chair in a very capable anner.

The pastor gave a short address about the origin of Valentine Day, and also read Charles Dickens' account of Sam. Weller's Valentine.

About twenty others also contributed Valentines, which were poetical, humorous, and otherwise. Mr. Green took the highest number of votes, for Cupidity, and it read as follows—"But that's another story."

BACHELOR IS MUCH IN DEMAND NOW

Receives Wheelbarrow Load of Letters From Women Wanting to Marry.

Spokane, Feb. 14. — The Wilson Creek (Wash.) bachelor rancher, Edwin W. Hyde, who won a homestead valued at $16,000 in the drawing for Indian lands in the Flathead reservation in western Montana, is carrying his mail home in a wheelbarrow these days, and the local postmaster threatens to resign because of overwork.

He is besieged by widows, spinsters and romantic young women who are eager for the position of housekeeper on his new ranch. He has also received a half hundred proposals of marriage from women in New York, Chicago, Boston and other large centres.

He says the flood of letters was started by the publication of his photograph in Eastern and Western newspapers at the time of the drawing, when the correspondents announced that he needed only a helpmate to make life complete.

WIFE UNKISSED FOR TEN YEARS

Judge Grants Neglected Woman's Request for Divorce.

Sedalia, Mo., Feb. 14.—"Yes, your Honour, I admit that I have not kissed my husband in ten years, but it is longer than that since he kissed me," said Mrs. Lena Hayworth in applying for a divorce. They are the parents of nine children. They lived on a farm near Houstonia until a few months ago when they disagreed. The wife wanted the farm in addition to the decree, but Hayward objected and opposed her in court.

Mrs. Hayowrth told the court that her husband never went to town until he was out of whiskey, compelling her to attend to all business except such purchases. The defendant is a brother of the Rev. Louis Hayworth, a respected Baptist minister. Mrs. Hayworth was granted a decree, but the matter of alimony was deferred.

ARE NOT WANTED AS WAITRESSES

Chicago Managers Say Patrons Waste Time Instead of Eating.

Chicago, Feb. 14.—Beauty is a bar to the waitress in Chicago!

Managers of the quick service resturants, as well as many of the other cafes, now demand the plain, courteous and neat, but homely girls.

"Where is the pretty blonde who used to be here?" a patron demanded of the manager of a downtown cafe last night. He had just given his order to a plain looking waitress.

"Why?" persisted the guest.

"Because of her looks,' answered the manager.

"Looks?" repeated the man, "why she was the best looking girl you had and"—

"That is why I discharged her," broke in the manager.

The patron seemed dumfounded.

"Business will be better without her went on the manger.

"Why so?"

"Because too many patrons waste fifteen minutes' time 'jollying' the pretty, golden-haired, big-eyed creatures of her type before they so much as glance at the bill of fare."

"But these homely girls don't suit."

"Our patrons like the plain girl. They come here to eaat, and our reputation is built on quick service. It will do away with the 'please give me some angel food' foolishness when the plain girl comes to serve them?"

"What then?"

"Patrons will simply say "Gimme a bowl of half and half, an order of pigs feet and onions," and the plain girl will answer, 'Yes, sir,' and away she goes. We will serve twice as many people, and our patrons will go away better satisfied."

THEY ACTUALLY CURE RHEUMATISM

Gin Pills Prove It

It is one thing to claim to cure Rheumatism. It is quite another to do it.

Gin Pills bear out every claim we make for they are not a "favorite prescription" or a "marvellous discovery" or a "wonderful secret preparation."

They are simply a common-sense, scientific combination of medicines that have proved their value in Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, and Disorders of the Liver, Ogden, N. S., July 1st, 1909.

"I have been troubled with Rheumatism so bad that I could not work. A doctor tended me and advised me to go to the hospital but all of no good until a friend told me to try Gin Pills. I did so and after using a few boxes, I am perfectly cured. I am recommending Gin Pills." D. J. LAWLER,

There is no reason why Mr. Lawler's case should be any different from yours. He took Gin Pills and cured himself of Rheumatism. Why don't you take them and cure yourself?

We will let you test them free. A sample of Gin Pills will be sent you, absolutely free, if you write the National Drug & Chem. Co. Limited Dept. B. Toronto. 26

N. Y. A GRAVEYARD FOR ITS PASTORS

Congregations in American Metropolis Do Not Share Burden With Pastors.

New York, Feb. 15.—"The city is a graveyard for preachers," said the Rev. Wm. Carter, pastor of the Madison Avenue Reformed Church, in his sermon on Sunday.

"After two years' work, I had to go abroad for a year's rest, broken down, I met there three other New York pastors, abroad for the same reason, and one of them took his life from melancholia.

"Three of the prominent Fifth avenue churches paying the largest salaries are without pastors, after extending call after call. Clergymen are avoiding rather than seeking New York.

"The reason for it is that a minister here is compelled to bear his whole burden alone. The congregation says in effect, "We're paying your salary, now go ahead!"

"There must be active co-operation between pastor and congregation if the church is to do its best work."

"A TRIP THROUGH THE BRITISH ISLES"---SUBJECT OF ESSAY

Read by Miss Ethel Hayes at Regular Meeting of Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S.

A trip through the British Isles was the subject of a most interesting paper written by Miss Ethel Hayes, and read at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Literary of St. Peter's T. A. S. at the regular meeting on Friday night last, February 11th. Miss Hayes is to be congratulated on her choice of such an interesting subject no less than on the able manner in which she dealt with it. The essay in part was as follows:

The feeling of man to-day are exultant at the thought of whaat is commonly called, "A trip to the old country." The feelings of pleasure or amusement should not, however, reign supreme when starting on such a journey. We should hahve before us the more lasting effects to be derived, from an educational standpooint, and thus our trip will become an asset almost infinitely valuable.

The 4:30 a.m. gong sounded its awakening notes as indifferently as ifit were noon, but having retired at a late hour the time seemed decidedly different to us. We had concluded arrangements the night before, so, after hurriedly partaking of a slight lunch, our appetite having been satisfied with the excitement, we reached the depot just in time to have our baggage checked. The train rattled along at a tremendous speed, but even this failed to satisfy a crowd so eager to embark on the palatial steamer Lusitania of the Cunard line bound for Liverpool.

The ocean trip was uneventful. Before reaching Gravescend the activity of the shipping impressed us with a conviction that we were approaching the greatest commercial market in the world. Steamers pouring out clouds of smoke are crossing in what seems a maze. Sailing vessels are passing upward, and other vessels with sails furled are being towed down the river. On our left is the Medway and on the right the Thames Harbeor. Entering this great marine gateway London shows us. at a glance that it is the great heart of human activity. After giving our keys to the Customs House official who is satisfied with a pretence of search, we left the steamer and studied, as we drove along the scenes of low London life, not the illustrations of Cruikshank but the actual charactera portrayed by Bos. We went on through the city turned up Bishop's Gate street, passed St. Paul's Cathedral, through crowded Cheapside and Charing Cross until we stopped at Fenton's Hotel. Who would have expected to see all London before reaching his lodgings.

The first place we visited was the noted Westminster Abbey. It was sweetly solemn to feel its venerable quietude, its long-enduring peace and yet to observe how kindly and cheerfully it receives the sunshine of today. Our visit to St. Paul's Cathedral was a rare treat. What a noble monument to the lofty minds of our Catholic ancestors. What they thought of and accomplished in their endeavor to build a dwelling worthy of the Lord of Hosts.

One bright afternoon we drove to one of England's loveliest ruined castles, Kennilworth. The radiance of the sunlight lit the ruined towers and walls till they glowed like shofts of jasper. The castle is built of old red sandstone and in its prime enclosed a space of seven acres, while nearly half a million was spent in decoration. Even now, though utterly dismantled it is stil lbeautiful ,whilst the historic memories attaching to it make it appeal more powerfully to the mind than any other ruined castle in England.

Our next visits were paid to those far-famed seats of learning, namely Oxford and Cambridge, where the leading politicians, nay, the very makers of Empire and dozens of literary stars received their education.

Our stay in England was rather short, so anxious were we to get a glimpse of the bens and lochs of Scotland. In Scotland heroism and romance go hand in hand. Its heroism is like a medieval castle still haughtily defiant of the wintry storms; its romance is the ivy which covers the historic ruin with a mantle of protection, caresses it with countless clinging fingers and tenderly conceals the ravages of time and man.

We entered Scotland by the delightful Clyde river route. The shipyards of the Clyde, what a view they present! The river for miles is lined with half-built steamers. Who would suppose in looking at their uncouth forms that they could ever be developed into the marvellous specimens of strength and beauty which are subsequently seen riding the waves and bearing thousands from one land to another. The little town of Ayr abounds in quaint reminders of the poet who has given it such fame. The old bridge of Ayr is little changed since the time of Burns and casts its shadows on the stream below just as it did when the inspired ploughman used to lean upon its time-worn parapet, now, however, a new bridge has been erected a little further down the stream. From the haunts of Burns a journey of a few hours a journey of a few hours brought us to the very heart of Scotland, the country of the Trossachs. The special charm of this enchanted land is not alone its mountainous scenery. Its greatest fascination lies in the fact that Walter Scott has made it immortal by his writings. Leaving here, we passed on to Edinburgh, the Athens of the North. The monument which this city has erected to Scott is probably the greatest and noblest tribute to purely literary genius the world possesses. A few hours journey brought us to Melrose Abbey. There are few traces of its elegance of architecture left. The windows are bare and desolate and few parts of the ornamentation exist. The beautifully carved roof has also disappeared as well as the many statues that once adorned the walls. In one part of the Abbey lie buried the remains of Robert Bruce one of Scotland's greatest and grandest heroes.

A drive of three miles distance through a pretty undulating country, brought us to Abbottsford, the home of Scott. It is delightfully situated just above the Tweed. In the long library of Abbottsford the bust of Sir Walter Scott looked upon us from the dark background of his favorite books.

Our destination now was dear old Ireland. When we looked around that exquisitely beautiful and naturally fertile land, capable under cultivation of supporting twenty millions of people, and thought of the industries which might be profitably managed, and the many other sources of prosperity and happiness, we wondered what was the cause of the poverty, starvation, cruelty and massacre, which have for centuries stained the annals of this lovely section of the earth's surface. Ireland is beautiful in her sadness.

Dublin is often spoken of by Englishmen as being ugly and dirty. But we did not find it more lacking in beauty and cleanliness than the world-metropolis three hundred and thirty-five miles away. In the matter of street railway service Dublin is greatly in advance of London. An admirable system of large, comfortable, electric cars connect all parts of the city with the suburbs. Dublin also boasts of a number of handsome edifices, chief among them being the Bank of Ireland in front of which stands a statute of Henry Grattan.

The monument of Daniel O'Connell, in Sackville street, is a fine thing. In the most prominent street in Dublin, among the people whom he loved and sought to elevate, stands the white marble figure of Father Mathew, the Apostle of Temperance. St. Patrick's Cathedral is not only attractive in point of architecture, but as the burial place of many persons intimately associated with the development of Ireland.

Old Trinity College, Dublin, is famous for the illustrious men who have been educated there and for the literary treasures in its possession. It is an imposing structure, 300 feet long, and ornamented with Corinthian columns. The form of Goldsmith stands at the gate. The pose is natural and well expresses the character usually ascribed to Goldsmith.

On one of the mounds that crown the hill of Tara a statute of St. Patrick stands, which, although of little value as a work of art, recalls the memorable episode of St. Patrick, expounding the Christian faith before the Irish sovereigns, their attendants and the Druid priests.

One of our excursions brought us to the county Wicklow. A view from any of its elevations reveals luxuriant vegetation of great variety. We noticed that many localities had Satanic titles, such as the Devil's Glen, the Devil's Bridge and so on, and we remarked to an Irish peasant that Satan seemed to have a number of possessions there. To which he replied: "Yes, Sir, but he is an absentee landlord and lives in England."

Sweet almost beyond words, were the hours we spent in floating on the Killarney Lakes. There is hardly in the whole unrivaled natural panorama a spot more beautiful than the "Meeting of the Waters." Old Weir Bridge is an antique structure of two arches, through which rushes the river or channel that connects the upper with the middle and lower lakes of Killarney. This region has the lights and shadows of a world more than earthly. There is a loveliness about the Upper Lakes than no pen can describe and our trip through Killarney formed a fitting and delightful close to our visit through beautiful Erin.

On our return journey our minds were, of course, constantly going back to the scenes we had visited, and looking into ourselves for the results of our trip we found that, not only had we profited from the merely sight-seeing point of view, but that our minds had been broadened and our likings and tastes elevated. We had seen the various stages of culture from the lowest to the highest. In comparing our own people with those of the lands we had visited, we were convinced that we had the material here to achieve that prosperity and culture with which we had been impressed in so many of the places we had visited.

The programme for the evening was as follows:

Instrumental—Misses C. Delaire and O. Tangnay.
Reading—Miss Beatrice Malane.
Vocal solo—Miss Bergetta Conroy.
Instrumental.—Miss E. Hill.
Essay—Miss E. Hayes.

PRESS EVERYWHERE LIKED "THE MAN FROM HOME"

The extraordinary reception recorded "The Man From Home" at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, last September, is the reason of its returning eastward from its California tour through Canadian territory. Less than half a dozen cities will be played between the Pacific coast and Ottawa, of which Winnipeg is one, and Peterborough another.

"The Man From Home" is under the direction of Liebler & Co., who have so brilliantly conducted tours of Miss Eleanor Robson, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Miss Ellis Jeffries, Albert Chevalier, Miss Viola Allen, Wm. Faversham, Dustin Farnum and other distinguished stars ,the telling of which would require Sunday newspaper space.

"The Man From Home" is the particular joy and pride of the firm. Its three years' run in New York and Chicago has no parallel in stage history. The United States has gone wild over this play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, authors as well as dramatists, and the Toronto papers summarized it as follows:

The Globe: House had standing room only. . . . A clever,bright and altogether entertaining comedy. . . . Company an admirable one. . . . Piece beautifully mounted. . . . Its many merits insure crowded houses for teh week.

The Mail and Empire: Seldom indeed has a play got such a half-Nelson on the attention of an entire audience and ke pt it all evening. Imagine a house so crowded and carried away that half a hundred people stood up during the two and one half hours' length of play. . . . In the title role Henry Hall was really splendid. . . . By all means if you enjoy bright lines, taut situations and romance, order your seats early at the Royal Alexandra Theatre. . . . If not, you lose out.

The World: For the Royal Alexandra last night were turned away over a thousand people who wanted to see Liebler & Co.'s production of "The Man From Home." . . . The play possesses strong situations, epigrammatic dialogue and sustains continuous interest and hilarity. . . . The singing was all that could be desired.

The News: "The Man From Home" is an entertaining and noval treatment of a very fascinating subject. Company scored brilliantly.

The Daily Star: Gales of laughter swept over the house. Piece handsomely staged and scenery very beautiful: . . . Henry Hall in the title-role and his associates, one and all, command especial notice. . . . Hundreds were turned away.

And this is the play, the production, and the same cast in its entirety which is announced to appear here.

PLEASING COMMENDATION FROM OUTSIDE SOURCES

The President of the Buffalo Camera Club writes to Mr. Roy, of the Roy Studio:

"Evidently you are out for first in figure studies. Send me a copy of your print 'Tobico, the Indian guide.' It is the finest figure study I have ever seen. Also a copy of your print, 'The Children at the Fireside,' another gem from your studio."

Recently Mr. Roy had the pleasure of a visit from Mr. J. C. Eaton, of the T. Eaton Co., Toronto, who came down to the city in his private car, accompanied by his wife and children for the special purpose of sitting for a number of photographs. This is Mr. Eaton's third special visit to the Roy studio within the past few months and goes to show the particular satisfaction he receives from the artist hand of Mr. Roy.

It is a pleasure to be able to refer to the excellence of the work done in our city for outside sources. Recently the Roy studio has received strong testimony of the superiority of its work from some of the best judges. In connection with these, may also be mentioned the flattering success which they are having with their new Cameo portraits.

PREACHED IN THE WESLEY CHURCH

Special to The Examiner:

The Ladies' Aid Society of Wesley church has had the church renovated inside and varnished. The work done reflects credit, both to the ability of the ladies, who had sole control of the work, and the painter, Mr. Milford Dever. On Sunday last the church was re-opened, when sermons of a very suitable and instructive character were preached by the Rev. J. G. Brown, pastor of Saint James 'church, Peterborough. In the morning he took for his text Genesis, 28th chap., and 16th verse: "And Jacob awaked out of his sleep ,and he said: Surely the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not," and in the evening Genesis, chap. 32, and the last clause of verse 29: "And he blessed him there."

The rev. gentleman delivered two eloquent sermons, and drew very helpful lessons for every day life, from the above as he describes Jacob's early life and training.

Mr. Jas. O'Brien, Manager Of Bank To Be Opened At Bridgenorth

The opening of a branch of the United Empire Bank of Canada at Bridgenorth, with Mr. Jas. O'Brien, son of Mr. M. O'Brien, Gilmour St., as manager, was announced to-day. Mr O'Brien arrived in the city at noon to-day from Toronto, and, accompanied by one of the Bank Inspectors, drove to Bridgenorth to complete the arrangements which were instituted a short time ago. A location has already been secured, and it is expected that the branch will open for business next Monday. Mr. O'Brien will have as his staff a teller and junior, and will have a thorough equipment for carrying on the usual banking business. The locality is considered a good one, being, as it is, the centre of a wealthy farm district, and it is expected that the people of the district will take every advantage of the establishing of a bank in their midst. Mr. O'Brien, who, the Examiner learns upon good authority, has been entrusted with the managership, has made rapid progress since his first clerkship. He entered the local branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, and a few months ago was removed to the Toronto branch. His success will be a source of pleasure to his many friends who will extend to him every wish for success in his new position.

Negro Murderer Kept Posse Of Toronto Police At Bay Three Hours, Finally Suicided

William Withers, Barricaded in House, Took His Own Life After a Long Battle—Had Murdered His Wife and Mother-In-Law When a Stray Shot Was Heard.

SENSATIONAL FUSILADE

Toronto, Feb 15.—Barricaded in a three-storey brick house at 27 Elliott street, with two dead victims, blood-spattered and desperate, William Withers, an undersized negro, fought off a detachment of police with a fusilade of bullets for three long hours yesterday afternoon. Crouching behind the protecting window-sills, gliding from room to room to cover every point of approach, the murderer held officialdom at bay. There was then a pause, a last sharp report from within, and silence.

The dead:—
Mrs. Victoria Davis, aged 55 years.
Mrs. Matilda Withers, her daughter, aged 35 years.
William Withers, aged 40 years.
The wounded:—
Police Constable Gordon H. Morris, now in the General Hospital.

The tragic drama was perpetrated in the crowded districts of Toronto. Hundreds of awe-stricken and excited spectators watched its progress — a scene of the early lawless wilds transplanted into the heart of modern life-loving civilization. Stern squads of police, armed with revolvers and shotguns, speeding forth their leaden messengers, surrounded the house. The rattle of their musketry, the broken windows, the pierced woodwork, the battered door — all bespoke the grim resistence of the law. It would not be denied.

Jealous rage, which amounted almost to insanity, is believed to have been the motive which led Withers (colored) to shoot to death his wife Matilda, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Victoria Davis, both also colored, who were members of one of the most widely-known families in the east end of Toronto. When there were none but women in the house the jealous husband went there at about two o'clock in the afternoon, rang the bell, but was denied admission, his wife having refused to have anything to do with him. Becoming enraged, he forced open the front door and shot his wife who was just inside, the bullet entering her eye. She is thought to have died immediately. Proceeding upstairs he met his mother-in-law in the upper hall, and shot her near the heart. Death followed in her case in the course of a couple of hours.

Mrs. Wynn, 376 Margueretta street, another daughter of Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Sheppard with her baby were also in the house at the time, but were ordered out of the house by the murderer. Not delaying, they went, taking refuge in the house of A. E. Tomlin, butcher, at the corner of Bosedview avenue. The commission of something desperate by Withers was not altogether unexpected by other members of the family, for he is said to have on several occasions threatened to come and "raise fireworks." He is believed to have been jealous of a man named Joshua Miller, who has been living in the house, for about a year. Miller was out at the time of the crimes.

Elliott street is a short thoroughfare running from Munro street to Bolton avenue, crossing Broadview avenue about half-way between Queen and Gerrard streets. The portion of the street in which the tragedy occurred is rather narrow. The house is on the south side, and opposite is a lot on which lumber is stored. Despite its proximity to the house scores of people gathered in this lot, while others occupied points just as near. Early in the siege, and before a heavy fire was directed on the windows by the police to prevent a possibility of such action, Withers could easily have killed or seriously wounded numbers of these people. The wonder is that none of them were hurt.

WHO GETS THE JOB?

Hon. J. J. Foy's Newest Bill Suggests an Appointment.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—"Who is the Appeal Court judge who is slated for a move to Ottawa and the Supreme Court bench?" is the question suggested by a bill introduced by Hon. J. J. Foy in the Legislature yesterday afternoon entitled "An Act to Amend the Judicature Act."

Mr. Foy's bill makes provision that when a judge of the Court of Appeal is appointed to the Supreme Court he shall be given eight weeks to decide on cases which have been heard before his appointment. In view of the fact that a similar bill of Mr. Foy's last session regarding the advancement of judges of the high court antedated only a few days the appointment of Mr. Justice Anglin to the Supreme Court, the inference suggested above is not unreasonable.

A bill by C. N. Anderson (South Essex) to amend the division courts acts, increases the maximum of division court accounts from $100 to $200 and of notes from $200 to $400.

Hon. J. J. Foy introduced a bill to allow religious institutions to convey to missions the property on which they stand, in the case of their becoming independent congregations.

W. H. Hearst (Sault Ste. Marie) brought in three new bills: "An act respecting the City of Fort William," "An act to amend the Municipal Act," and "An act to amend the Public Health Act."

The debate on the budget will be resumed this afternoon by C. R. McKeown (Dufferin), and Sir James Whitney swears by all the gods there will be an evening session, as too much time has been lost already.

Had a Bad Cough For a Number of Years.

Was Afraid of Consumption.

Mrs. A. E. Brown, Ottawa, Ont., writes "I have had a very bad cough, every winter for a number of years which I was afraid would turn into consumption. I tried a great many remedies but only received temporary relief until I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after taking two bottles my cough was cured. I am never without a bottle of Norway Pine Syrup."

Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that when a person catches cold it must be attended to immediately or serious results may follow.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It strikes at the foundation of all throat and lung complaints, relieving or curing all Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Asthma, Sore Throat, etc., and preventing Pneumonia and Consumption.

Its great has been the success of this wonderful remedy it is only natural that unscrupulous persons have tried to imitate it.

CABINET CHANGES

He Will Take the Post of Home Secretary, Left Vacant by Herbert Gladstone—Buxton Heads the Board of Trade, and Samuel Becomes Postmaster-General — Pease Chancellor of Lancaster.

London, Feb. 15.—The following appointments were announced last night: Secretary for the Home Department—Winston Spencer Churchill.

Postmaster-General—Herbert Louis Samuel.

J. A. Pease, who was the chief Liberal whip, was defeated at the general elections, but it is expected that a safe seat will be found for him in Lancashire. Herbert Louis Samuel is Under Secretary for State for the Home Office.

The most important change is that of Mr. Churchill, from the Board of Trade to the important post of Home Secretary. It marks another stage in the career of this young politician, whose rise has been one of the most remarkable in recent British history.

Mr. Buxton, who succeeds him as President of the Board of Trade, has been very successful as Postmaster-General, and is associated with several important improvements and extensions in that Department. The changes do not indicate any alteration in the composition of the Cabinet, or in the policy of the Government. As they stand, they rather strengthen the moderate section of the Cabinet.

Big Bird Attacked People.

Quebec, Feb. 15.—A monster bird of the buzzard genus, was killed at Armagh, Bellechasse County, after terrifying many persons, tearing their clothes and injuring them with its claws. The bird had a spread of four feet eight inches.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 14.—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Feb. 12 were 2400 cattle, 800 sheep and lambs, 1800 hogs and 400 calves. Of the above receipts of cattle, over 700 head came from Toronto for export account via Portland and Boston. The supply of stock on the market this morning for local consumption was 575 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 950 hogs and 200 calves. The undertone to the market for cattle was strong, and prices, as compared with those of a week ago show a further advance of ¼c per lb. This was attributed to the somewhat scarcity of stock on account of the blockades of some sections of the railway lines by the recent snowstorm, but more so in sympathy with strength which was displayed in the Toronto market at the latter end of last week, and the advance in prices caused by the active buying on the part of American export firms, owing to the very high prices ruling in the Chicago market for export cattle.

The attendance of buyers was large, but owing to the higher prices demanded by dealers and drovers, butchers did not show a disposition to operate Friday, and trade on the whole was rather slow.

Choice steers sold at 6¼c to 6½c; good at 6¼c to 6c; fair at 5¾c to 5½c; medium at 5¾c to 5c, and common at 4½c to 4¾c per lb. There was no demand from local exporters, owing to the fact that cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday noted a further decline in prices of ½c to ¾c per lb., making a net drop of 1c to 1½c within the past two weeks.

On account of the continued small supplies of sheep and lambs coming forward and the keen demand for the same for local consumption, the feeling in the market remains strong, and prices are steadily tending toward a higher level.

Lambs were strong, with sales at 7c, and sheep were ½c per lb. higher, at 5c per lb. There was no change in calves, for which the demand was good, and all the offerings met with a ready sale at prices ranging down $3 to $12 each, as to size and quality.

The undertone to the market for hogs is strong on account of the limited supply coming in and the high prices being paid at country points by drovers, who claim that even at present values ruling in this market they are losing money. The demand from packers is not keen, as they state that the high prices for pork have curtailed the consumption about 25 per cent. Sales of selected lots were made at $8.25 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

CANAL IS DISCUSSED

Hon. W. S. Fielding In the Commons Makes an Important Announcement —The Cost of Financing It Is Too Big to Be Taken on at Present —Is Canada on the United States Minimum List?

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—The advocates of the Georgian Bay Canal had their annual opportunity of sounding the praises of that project in the House of Commons yesterday, when the whole session was given over to a debate on the familiar theme.

Hon. W. S. Fielding announced at the conclusion of a debate on a motion by Gerald V. White of North Renfrew, for papers in connection with the scheme that it was "not good finance, not good politics and not wise at present." No harm would come if they had to go a little slowly.

He granted that the project of a deep waterway, all British, all Canadian, was an attractive and a fascinating proposition and important as a matter of military and naval defence. He gave it his cordial support as a question of the future.

Mr. White said Canada was not keeping up with Europe in the matter of water transportation, and cited Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Sir William Van Horne and J. J. Hill as authorities of the statement that the development of navigation would not militate against the railways. The report of the engineers had stated that the canal could be built for $100,000,000 in ten years and could be operated for $900,000 annually.

T. A. Low (South Renfrew) thought the day was coming, and coming shortly, when Canada would cease to export wheat, but the canal would transport the wheat to manufacturing centres which would grow all along the route.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) urged the Government to proceed as fast as possible with the Welland Canal first, and when it was finished then the work of the Georgian Bay Canal could be entered upon.

F. D. Monk declared that until the Georgian Bay Canal is constructed Canada would stand infinitely inferior to the United States in transportation facilities. The Government had made no move towards carrying out this canal scheme, though the survey had been finished for some years.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley said personally he was inclined to the view that there was a good deal to be said in favor of the idea of company construction. He informed the House that the Government had not received any proposal from a company which was ready to build the canal without Government assistance. As a matter of fact, assistance to a large extent was asked, so that whether the Government built the canal or assisted a private company, the outlay would be heavy.

Hon. G. E. Foster enquired of Mr. Fielding when the promised amendments to the banking act would be introduced.

Mr. Fielding replied that the amendments were engaging the attention of the officials of the Department, but he hoped to make a statement in the course of a few days. In view of the large amount of business before the House, no harm would result from a little delay.

Mr. Foster enquired as to the inclusion or otherwise of Canada in the operation of the United States minimum tariff. He noted that Great Britain and Germany were included, but not the colonies.

Mr. Fielding expressed the opinion that Canada was not included in the proclamation which had been issued in respect to Great Britain, but would be dealt with separately.

Mr. Foster wanted to know if any negotiations were going on.

Mr. Fielding said that nothing more was known than what appeared in the press. There had not been any negotiations.

Houghton Lennox (South Simcoe) asked when the committee which had been named to deal with the Lumsden charges would commence to sit.

Sir Wilfrid said that there was no reason why it should not proceed with the enquiry on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mr. Foster said that it appeared from a statement made by Sir Frederick Borden in his speech in the House that the Government had actually purchased the cruiser Niobe at a cost of over one million dollars without consulting Parliament, which had been in session for three months. He did not think the Government should spend the money of the people without consulting the House.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in reply that when the correspondence was laid on the table, which might be to-morrow, it would be seen that the purchase was made subject to the approval of Parliament.

F. L. Borden asked if the Government had anything new to announce in respect to the International Waterways treaty.

Sir Wilfrid replied in the negative.

Hon. Mr. Graham informed Mr. Lennox that at the time of the collapse of the Quebec bridge, there were no funds in the hands of the Quebec Bridge Co.

Col. Hughes was informed by the Minister of Militia that it was not proposed to sell the Government military barracks at St. Johns, Quebec.

Col. Worthington was told that the Government was considering the question of erection of barracks and other buildings for military purposes at or near St. Lambert. That the Government was not considering the question of removing the Royal Canadian Dragoons from St. Johns to some other point, and that the question of transferring the barracks at St. Johns to Meriwale College was not under consideration.

Ito's Assassin Sentenced.

Port Arthur, Manchuria, Feb. 15.—Inchan Angan, the Korean who assassinated Prince Ito, former Japanese resident general of Korea, was convicted yesterday and sentenced to death.

ECZEMA

"For three long months I was not able to attend to my own needs; and for three weeks the eczema on my hands was so bad that I was unable to feed myself. I had to be fed as one feeds a baby, because I could not hold knife, fork, spoon or cup."

So says Miss Violet McSorley, of 75 Gore Street, Sault Ste. Marie, in telling how Zam-Buk cured her of eczema. She adds: "Hands, wrists and arms up to the elbows were covered with eczema. The itching and the soreness were nigh unbearable. As the disease developed, the skin actually peeled off, leaving raw sores. The palms, fingers, backs of my hands and wrists were all in this shocking state, and I was forced to sit in agony all the while. The raw sores were soon in a foul condition, and my finger nails, all except two, fell off. During the different stages of my trouble, I sought the advice of three different doctors and received treatment, but although getting slight relief at first, there was no cure. Amputation was at one time thought necessary, but the timely introduction of Zam-Buk prevented this fearful ending.

"Zam-Buk was recommended by a friend and we bought a supply. The first few applications gave me a little ease, but it was not until I had continued with it for some time that I felt a decided improvement. After that my cure went on quickly. Zam-Buk did what everything else had failed to do. Now my hands and arms are quite freed from the terrible eczema."

HOW ZAM-BUK IS SUPERIOR

Zam-Buk is entirely different to other balms, and as superior as it is different. Most salves are nine-tenths animal oil or fat. Zam-Buk hasn't a trace of animal fat in it. Most salves contain mineral coloring matter. Zam-Buk is absolutely without! Many salves contain poisonous astringents. Zam-Buk doesn't.

Zam-Buk is actually more powerfully antiseptic than crude carbolic acid. Yet it stops, instead of causing smarting when put on a wound.

ZAM-BUK'S MANY USES

Zam-Buk heals more quickly than any other known preparation: eczema, ulcers, piles, bad leg, rashes, ringworm, festering sores, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, stiffness, poisoned wounds, face and lip sores, chapped hands, cold sores, etc. Best balm for baby's skin sores! Used as an embrocation, it cures rheumatism, sciatica, etc. All druggists and stores 50c box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

The grocer who gives the greatest number of pounds of granulated sugar for a dollar, naturally won't give "the best Montreal granulated."

The only way you can be sure of getting the best, is to insist on having

SPORTING NEWS

The Fans Are Guessing Over To-morrow's Game

Hard to Dope Out the Result of the West End-Strathcona Contest Which Decides the City League Championship ---Biggest Crowd of the Year Will See the Game.

The biggest event in local sporting circles for many moons will be the City League final between West Ends and Strathconas at Brock St. rink tomorrow night, which decides the City League championship and ends the season's rivalry between the two clubs admittedly the best matched pair that have ever fought for the honours. The guessing and dope as the result beats anything that has happened heretofore in any City League campaign and the fans are having a great time trying to settle the matter in advance. The Westerners seem to have the call owing to their victory last week and they expect to repeat handily to-morrow night, while their supporters are not a bit backward in proclaiming that it is the Examiner Cup for theirs when it is all over.

The Straths on the other hand say that they had an off night last week and did not play up to their usual form. If the same slump comes on Wednesday night and West Ends are keyed up to the same concert pitch as they were last week the Oldhamites should win. With the Straths hitting their stride, too, it will be one grand game, crammed full of sensations and spectacular work and there seems no reason why it should not be the premier ice event of the season. Lawson Whitehead, of Toronto, who gave so much satisfaction last week, will in all probability handle the game, which is called for 8.15 o'clock. Despite some rumours to the contrary the prices will remain the same. You will be able to see the game of the season at the usual popular prices.

The weatherman promises colder weather and as both teams claim to be at their best on the slippery going there should be no complaints if the cold snap comes along as promised.

DECIDING GAME IN MERCANTILE LEAGUE

Will be Played Between Auburn and C. G. E. Teams on Wednesday Night at Brock Street Rink.

The deciding game in the Mercantile League will be played at Brock Street Rink on Wednesday night, immediately after the Strathcona-West End fixture. The Auburns and C. G. E. sevens are tied for the championship, and the play-off should be of the most exciting. Both teams have played strenuous and fast hockey since the league opened this winter, and the deciding duel should attract a crowd to see it, particularly as the City League final goes with it.

HIGH-O-ME

That's the Way to Pronounce Hyomei, The Money-Back Catarrh Cure

As doubt exists in the minds of many readers of the Examiner, let us say that the above is the proper pronunciation of America's most wonderful catarrh cure. Wm. Madill is the agent for Hyomei in Peterborough and he will sell you an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and full instructions for use, for only $1.00.

And if it fails to cure acute or chronic catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, croup hay fever, or coughs and colds, he will give you your money back. The person who suffers from catarrh after such an offer as that, must like to snuffle, spit and wheeze, and be generally disgusting.

Read what Mr. Higginbotham, a respected citizen of Guelph, Ont., says of Hyomei:

"I have the best kind of reasons for giving Booth's Hyomei my hearty endorsement. I had suffered with an itching sensation in my throat, swelling of the nasal glands and glands leading to my eyes, in fact a genuine catarrh for several months. I used several remedies but received no relief until I used Booth's Hyomei. I am glad that there is on sale a remedy that relieves like this one and also glad to endose the use and speak a good word for Booth's Hyomei."—N. Higginbotham, 63 Queen St., Guelph, Ont.

MI-O-NA Cures Dyspepsia.

Your money back if it don't. Gives immediate relief from heartburn, sour stomach, stomach distress and sick headache. 50 cents a large box at

WINNIPEG BANKERS MAY PLAY IN PETERBOROUGH

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

The Northern-Crown Bank hockey seven start on a trip next week, having arranged a number of games in the east. Arrangements were being made for them to play the bank champions at Toronto, but the game is off as the easterners wired they were unable to raise a team.

A match will instead be played, if all goes well, with the Bank of Montreal, of Montreal, and should they win the Winnipegers will lay claim, as they appear justly entitled to do, to the bank championship of Canada. The Northern-Crown will leave the city either Monday or Saturday next, the date of their departure depending on the wish of the Montreal seven.

They will also play games with Toronto Argonauts, Lindsay, Galt, and one or two others, among the likely cities where they will line up being Minneapolis or St. Paul.

The Northern-Crown seven is a purely amateur team and is a bunch of fine fellows, both as regards character and as hockey players. They are all in the game for fun and the result of their trip will be followed with interest.

The cleverest player of the whole lot is undoubtedly Claude Borland, the rover, whose fame as a star on the blade is known far and wide. This year he is captain of the Victorias and for many years in the past the little fellow has refused all kinds of tempting offers to go into the professional ranks, all of which he has declined. A few years ago Borland was a member of the Winnipegs when they challenged for the Stanley Cup. On that occasion he had gone along as spare, but he was pulled into the game and was the sensation of the team. Pacer White is another senior player, also being on the Victorias senior team, and at cover he has few equals, while Gardiner on the forward line is another star of the Vics team. The balance of the seven are also rising players. There is D. Clark in goal, who was with Fort William last year; Paterson, the star of the Knox church team; Barclay, who was with the Wanderers and Crescents, of Halifax, and Sydney and Watson, of Peterborough.

Two spares are being taken along in Vic Colquhoun and Bert Fowler, the latter a member of the intermediate Victorias.

CURLING.

Looking back over the Tankard series, one is forced to confess that Lindsay are not as formidable as they once were. They still seem to get most of their backbone from that grand old curler, J. D. Flavelle, and he can't play on both rinks. The little rink, with Flavelle at third that was the strong rink last year. This year it was the O'Connor rink, skipped by Flavelle himself, that was Lindsay's main string. Of course, the veteran got one bad beating, but that was on soft ice, where anyone is liable to go bad.—Telegram.

The games in connection with the Peterborough-Lindsay cup will be played in the course of a few days, the first series having been played some days ago at Peterborough. The cup has fell to the following rinks in the following order since 1889:

1889-90—Lindsay.
1890-9—Peterborough.
1891-92—Peterborough.
1892-93—Lindsay.
1893-94—Lindsay.
1894-95—Peterborough.
1895-96—Lindsay.
1896-97—Lindsay.
1897-98—Lindsay.
1898-99*—Lindsay.
1899-00*—Lindsay.
1900-01*—Lindsay.
1901-02*—Lindsay.
1902-03*—Lindsay.
1903-04*—Lindsay.
1904-05*—Lindsay.
1905-06—Peterborough.
1906-07—Lindsay.
1907-08—Peterborough.
1908-09—Peterborough.

—Lindsay Post.

SPORTING NOTES

The Toronto Star hands out the following insinuation to Lindsay: Trenton's victory over Lindsay will be a popular one among O.H.A. referees. Trenton has a team of good players. They never whine over a close decision or whimper under punishment, and their followers and backers are just as game as the players are.

MONEY CHANGED HANDS.

As a result of Lindsay's defeat in Trenton it is estimated that over $1,000 was lost on the game by Lindsay sports. One well-known sport lost $100 and several others $50. Many of them staked their money that Lindsay would defeat Trenton on their own ice.—Lindsay Warder.

PLAY FOR A CUP.

Peterborough and Lindsay hockey teams will likely meet in home and home games during the next couple of weeks as a couple of local sports and a couple of Peterborough men are arranging for the games to be played for a silver cup.—Lindsay Warder.

The local Collegiate Institute team may play the Orillia Collegiate in Lindsay on Saturday afternoon. Negotiations are on foot for the game, and it may be pulled off.

The Strathconas had their final practice in preparation for to-morrow night's game with the West Ends last night. Nearly all the team were out. West Ends had their last practice Saturday, but most of their players skated last night to get loosened up.

Sporting Editor of The Examiner.

Sir,—It looks to me as if the Peterborough Hockey Club should now be playing against Cobourg instead of Trenton, who has reached this stage by the Lindsay knockout route. To any one who saw the last game between Peterborough and Lindsay there was no doubt as to which was the superior team. If the Peterborough team had known at the outset that goals were to count I think they would have made a far better showing and would have beaten Lindsay out, I think, too, that they could have disposed of Trenton, and it was unfortunate that there should have been such a tangle, by which Peterborough had to retire from the fray when they had shown that they were the better team. It seems very hard luck that such a well-balanced team should have to quit now when they had just gotten into their stride. Every fan in Peterborough seems to be of the opinion that the Petes should have beaten Lindsay, and that they would have gotten further into the next round than did the Midgets.

Yours,

HOCKEY FAN.

Could Not Sleep.

DOCTOR SAID HEART AND NERVES WERE RESPONSIBLE.

There is many a man and woman tossing night after night upon a sleepless bed.

Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Some constitutional disturbance, worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system, that it cannot be quieted and causes nightmare, bad dreams, starting in the sleep, twitching of the muscles, restlessness, etc.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all people troubled in this way. They have a soothing and calming effect on the nervous system.

Mrs. Calvin Stark, Rossmore, Ont., writes:—"About two years ago I began to be troubled with a smothering sensation at night when I would lie down. I got so bad I could not sleep in the dark, and would have to sit up and rub my limbs, they would become so numb. My doctor said my heart and nerves were responsible. I saw Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills advertised and got a box to try them. I took three boxes and can now lie down and sleep without the light burning and can rest well. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women."

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FINE DISPLAY OF FANCY WORK

In Mr. T. Harry Adams Store—Work of Miss Sisson.

The display of ladies' fancy work in Mr. T. Harry Adams store is attracting much attention this week. Some very beautiful examples of the art of fine needlework are shown. The display includes centres, five o'clock tea cloths, d'oyleys and fancy cushions. One large centre piece for a table is particularly attractive. Large American beauty roses in shades of red and pink are worked on a dark linen with an edge of lace to match. Another very pretty one is done in clusters of grapes, in a blue shade. A beautiful creation of art is exhibited in a table cover done in Wallacian work. The color is all white. Some very fine cushions are also on exhibition. One depicts a river scene showing a canoe and two canoeists.

All these articles of embroidery and fancy needlework are owned by Miss Sisson and are fitting tributes to her skill and efficiency in this line of art. Miss Sisson is conducting classes at Mr. Adams' store all this week and many ladies of Peterborough are taking advantage of the opportunity offered by their attendance.

OBITUARY

IDA J. ACKINSON

The death occurred early this morning of Ida Jane Ackinson, the nineteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Ackinson, lot 5, concession 3, Smith, township. The deceased young lady had only been seriously ill since Sunday and her death came as a great shock to her relatives and friends. She was a girl of many estimable qualities and was highly respected by all who knew her. She was a member and regular attendant of the Presbyterian church at Omemee. Her parents, six sisters and one brother all residing at home, are left to mourn her loss. The sisters are Misses Ethel, Maud, Florence, Hazel, Gladys and May. The brother is Mr. Archie Ackinson.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

JOHN TROTER

The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Mr. John Trotter, at his residence, 498 Park St. The deceased had been ill for some time. He was in his 75th year and had resided here a number of years where he was well known and highly respected. To the surviving wife and family, much sympathy is extended.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 2 o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery:

DAVID BRECKENRIDGE.

Word has been received in the city of the death in Wardner, B. C., of David Breckenridge, a former well-known resident of Peterborough, whose death will be everywhere regretted in this city, where he had a host of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Breckenridge lived in Peterborough until about a year ago, when he removed to the Pacific Coast to live. He was very popular with those who knew him, and they will be shocked to learn of his death.

Mr. Matthew Breckenridge, 498 Charlotte street, is a brother of the deceased, and Mrs. G. C. Irwin and Miss Maggie Breckenridge, also of Peterborough, are sisters.

The remains will be brought to Peterborough for interment. The announcement of the funeral will be given later.

THE PROPER ETIQUETTE TO TEACH CHILDREN

Etiquette is too often considered as a system of good manners to be conformed with only after a person has reached the age when he or she may appear in public—at dances or at dinners, in the reception room or in the parlour. Etiquette has no such limitations, and thoughtful, refined parents will not wait until their children become youths before they will instill into them the elementary principles of politeness.

There is no doubt that the early training of children, small children, is frequently neglectedin this respect. There can be no question that a great deal too much overindulgence has become the fashion, with the result that one often sees families where the over-spoiled and adored little darlings rule the household, both parents smiling with foolish delight on many tiresome and objectionable faults, and sowing the seeds of many a bitter harvest.

Such indulgence is a great mistake. To most young mothers a little child is a very precious one, worthy to be wrapped in fondest love, and surrounded by all that can contribute to its happiness. But it should be realized that the selfishness of love sometimes produces grave consequences, and one of them may be selfish children. Parents should, if at all possible, personally teach their very young children; and as soon as a child can understand it should be taught consideration for others. This is, in fact, the key note of all good living. The boy who is kind and good to his mother is invariably kind and good to his wife; but who is to give him his first lessons in self-government? His mother, of course.

Obedience is an absolute necessity, and it should be gently but firmly taught — not with the smacks that bring tears into the little mite's eyes, but with kindness and patience.

Respect to parents can be shown even by the tiniest child if encouraged from the first dawn of intelligence. As soon as babies are able to sit at the table they should be taught to fold their hands while grace is said, and not snatch at things nearest them, as little ones will do. Some will say this is teaching them etiquette very early in their career, but the earlier the better.

There is no doubt that very great harm is done to young children by the foolish habit of teasing. In the first place it is rude to do so — it shows a want of consideration for the feelings of others; and children who are laughed at and baffed on every occasion are apt to become shy and awkward. Boys, then, should be taught early to treat their mothers and sisters courteously; to do all that is asked of them promptly and pleasantly. They shoud not have one manner for home and another for their friends' home. The same suggestions may apply to girls, but in a different way. In their case the early inculcation of habits of gentleness, forbearance and unselfishness is most desirable.

The Valentine Social held under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission band of St. Andrew's Church last night was a great success. The attendance was large and the programme was thoroughly enjoyed. The hall was tastefully decorated by the young ladies with strings of hearts and other decorations suitable to the spirit of the occasion.

The first part of the evening was taken up with the playing of games devised by the young ladies and the second part consisted of a musical programme. Mrs. F. A. Kerr and Miss Ethel Tully presided at the piano and gave a number of enjoyable duets. Miss Laura Logan was heard to advantage in a violin selection and Miss Bessie Reid delighted the audience with vocal selections. Mr. D. D. Galletley of Banff, Alta. sang a couple of Scotch songs in a very pleasing manner.

"MARBLE" MONUMENTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Which Broke Out in Holy Trinity Cemetery Brooklyn—Firemen Surprised.

New York, Feb. 16.—City Firemen are still talking of the freak fire among the "marble" tombstones of the Holy Trinity cemetery, Brooklyn, which destroyed a row of monuments and was well on its way to set fire to the entire burial place when discovered by a small boy and an alarm turned in. The firemen found that the "marble" monuments were in reality frames of wood, which had been treated with some preparation that looked like marble and granite. Four hundred dollars' worth of the tombstones had been destroyed.

Preacher Says Godless Schools are Responsible for Most of Crime in U.S.

Boston, Feb. 15.—Rev. Dr. Cortland Meyers, pastor of Tremont Temple, in a sermon recently, blamed the 'Godless schools' of America for the greater part of the country's crime and vice. He said: "There are 120,000 fallen girls in this country, and every month 12,000 more are going to ruin. In the past ten years 300,000 girls have taken up lives of sin. With the rottenest political system in the world, we are building institutions to damn. "Ninety per cent. of 300,000 girls I have mentioned were in the public schools and were being educated and cultured. We are educating boys to be sharpers and thieves. Walk down the corridors of the jails and you will find any number of these so-educated men. We have Godless schools in America.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN CLAIM FOR DAMAGES FOR DROWNING OF HORSE

Legal Committee of City Council Met Last Evening—City Grocers Petition for Early Closing.

OTHER MATTERS

The Legal Committee of the City Council met last night, Ald. Duffus in the chair. There were also present Alderman Turner, Gillespie and Buller. In the absence of City Clerk Armstrong at the Court of Revision, City Solicitor E. H. D. Hall acted as clerk of the proceedings.

Mr. Griffin appeared before the committee regarding his recent appearance in the police court, when he was fined on a charge of trespassing on his neighbour's property. It seems the case was one of line fence dispute between the two citizens, resulting in Mr. Griffin being fined by Magistrate Dumble to the tune of $19.85. Mr. Griffin thinks he has been unjustly dealt with and hoped the Council would remit him the fine. He contends that the fence put up by his neighbour is on his property, according to accurate survey.

The Committee had no power to deal with this matter.

The Review Printing Co. tendered for printing an illustrated pamphlet, replete with valuable information for visitors to Peterborough, and setting forth the advantages of this city as an excursion point. The price tendered was 1¼c. for 5000 eight-page pamphlets, and 1c. for 10,000.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that a request be made to the Council for an appropriation of $200 for legal and reception purposes.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, that the chairman be authorized to make arrangements for having printed 10,000 of the above mentioned pamphlets, the cost not to exceed $100.

Mrs. Cadigan's communication re damages for the pollution of her well by sewage was referred to the Board of Works.

Ald. Gillespie moved, seconded by Ald. Turner, that the petition from city grocers for an early closing by-law, be referred to the city solicitor for advice as to whether it is properly drawn up or not, and also to the Chief of Police for certification that the required number of signatures are appended.

Thos Mitchell's claim for damages to his crops on the Hilliard farm by reason of the smallpox tent being located there, was, on motion of Ald. Gillespie, referred to the City Trust.

Mr. Sharp's claim for damages for the drowning of his horse at Pigeon Creek bridge again came up for discussion.

Ald. Buller moved, seconded by Ald. Turner, that acting on the advice of the City Solicitor, no action be taken, and that the clerk write to the county clerk to that effect.

Christine L. Smith complained that her name had been left off the voters' list, and asked that the matter be investigated. This matter was left in the chairman's hands to investigate, and report back to committee.

Gore's Landing Farmer Struck By Street Car At Noon To-day

Was Trying to Control Frightened Team When, In Spite of His Efforts, They Crossed in Front of Car—Four Barrels of Russets Spilled on the Road—Conductor Made Quick Stop.

NOT INJURED HIMSELF

Harry Waldon, a farmer from the neighbourhood of Gore's Landing, was unable to prevent his team of horses from crossing the street railway tracks in front of a George St. car at noon to-day and in the resulting collision he had a rather wonderful escape from serious injury, while four barrels of apples were spilled over the road and his horses were shaken up in the runaway which ensued.

Mr. Waldon had four barrels of russet apples on his sleigh which was standing in front of W. J. Oke's store and he himself was trying to quiet the restless team which were showing signs of uneasiness at the noise of the approaching car. It was just at 12.25 when the George St. car going south is followed by the Edison car which makes the trip to Smith St. with employees from the C. G. E. works. The horses were facing south and as they struggled against the tight line they swerved out across the street and directly in front of the white car, which was forunately not travelling at a high rate of speed.

The car struck the sleigh about the whiffle trees and liberated the horses, which dashed down the street to the Simcoe street corner. Waldon was hurled from his seat, being struck by one side of the front of the car. He lay close to the rail until the car was stopped and luckily escaped but with a few bruises.

To an Examiner reporter he said he felt all right but was a trifle lame in his left hip and also in the ankle. "It was a wonder I did not go under one of those wheels," he said. He picked himself up from one side of the car, limped around in a half dazed condition, as if he was not sure of what had struck him and immediately started off to get his horses.

Apples All Over.

It was a shame the way these golden russets were treated. As the car struck the sleigh one of them turned in on the fender but the rest were thrown out into the roadway, where they were spread around in every direction. A crowd quickly gathered and helped to pick up the apples. The street railway men and others put them into the barrel, but in the most cases bulging pockets suggested an explanation of the interest and industry that had been manifested. The small boys vied with the girls from the surrounding stores who know a good russet as well as any boy and they must have appreciated Mr. Waldon't, ofr they have been kissed by the winds from Rice Lake possessing a lusciousness that could scarcely be excelled. Wherever they disappeared to it was not long before they were all gone.

The horses on finding themselves free started down the street one on the sidewalk and the other on the gutter. They were cutting a 2.40 clip when they struck the first telegraph post. The cross bar snapped and the horses separated from each other. Pedestrians scurried into doorways and many stood waiting to see one of the crased brutes crash into a plate glass window. Both horses were stopped at the Simcoe St. corner and were practically unhurt. The harness was broken here and there, but the damage was not very great. The entire affair was over in a few moments.

Who's to Blame.

The George St. car was No. 11 with Motorman Spence in the front vestibule and Conductor Stabler at the rear. A number of eye witnesses of the accident come forward and gave their names to the street railway men, offering to give evidence in the event of an investigation. A prominent horseman said the farmer seemed to have lost all control or he did not know how to handle horses. Another stated that a line was caught over the tongue and they were thus turned across the street. It was Spence's first accident of this kind, but from the statements of disinterested person he was clearly not to blame for the accident.

Grand Lodge Officers Paid Visit To Marathon Lodge

The visit of the Grand Lodge officers and the third rank work team from Toronto to Marathon Lodge, No. 39. K. of P., last night, marked one of the most important events in the history of the lodge. A class of sixteen candidates were given their third rank and knighted. The work of the team was excellent, and brought forth many expressions of admiration. The ceremonies were watched with interest by Grand Chancellor Geo. Geddes, of St. Thomas, and Grand Prelate J. G. Wilson, of Toronto, while Deputy Grand Chancellor G. E. Barnes, of Toronto, assisted the team.

The degree team was composed of members of Miccas and Riverdale Lodges, and they are two of the best in the Province. The visit here meant a great deal to Marathon Lodge, which is by no means among the weaker lodges. When Grand Lodge meets here next July the local Pythians will promise a record to be proud of.

Officers Installed.

Before the rank of knight was bestowed upon the candidates, the new officers of the lodge were installed by the Grand Lodge as follows:

P. C.—Dr. Middleton.
C. C.—V. Hamilton.
V. C.—Bruce Paterson.
M. of W.—Dr. Middleton.
Prelate—Thos. Savigny.
K of R. and S.—T W. Wilson, P.O.
M. of F.—J. T. Squires.
M. of A.—F. A. Jacobi.
J. G.—M. D. Lake
O. G.—J. D. Armstrong.
Representative to Grand Lodge—T. W. Wilson.

The following visitors were present: L. J. Pettit, M. G. Hay, Rathbone Lodge, No. 12, St. Thomas; Al. Ingles, C.C., Toronto Lodge, No. 30; Charles Perkins, Lindsay, and H Wilson, Toronto.

Presentation.

While the new-born knights were being registered, Grand Chancellor Geddes called P.C.C. D. Middleton to the chair, and on behalf of the officers and members of Marathon Lodge he addressed the retiring Chancellor Commander, and presented him with the P.C.C. jewel. Dr. Middleton made a fitting reply, in which he stated that while he was not in office now, he would continue to exert himself in the interests of the lodge.

Banquet.

In the banquet hall adjoining the lodge room supper was served and between sixty and seventy sat down to the tables and partook of a splendid repast, served by the Peterborough Lunch. Bro. Wilson was the chairman and toast maker, and a very interesting toast list was run off. The speeches were bright and for the most part instructive, especially so were the remarks of the Grand Chancellor. As a result of the night, Pythianism in Peterborough will boom. The officers and members are enthusiastic, and they are striving to make a record showing when the Grand Lodge meets next summer.

Grand Lodge Officers.

The visitors present were:
Grand Chancellor, Geo. Geddes, St. Thomas.
Deputy Grand Chancellor, G. E. Barnes, Toronto.
Grand Prelate, J. G. Wilson.
Degree Team—E. Armstrong, Chas. Hewlett, S. H. Staughtom, Geo. Perry A. G. Donaldson, J. D. Wood, J. Lander, W. Craig, Chas. Powers, Carl Berkholder, Fred Grant, Chas. Liscomb.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

THE NAVY AND THE OPPOSITION.

Last night in the House of Commons, Mr. E. M. McDonald, Picton, N.S., resumed the debate on the second reading of the Naval Bill. His address proved to be what was expected of one of the most eloquent forcible and effective speakers on the floor of the House, one of the best contributions to the debate of any great questino yet delivered in the present session. It must be admitted that the bi-straddle stand taken by the principal leaders of the Conservative parliamentary party on the question of a Canadian naval policy left him a splendid opening, which he took advantage of with all the skill of forensic fence. Both had voted unanimously, for the resolution of March 1909, affirming the principal embodied in the government bill before the House. Mr. Monk, the leader of the Quebec section of the Conservative opposition took some time ago the stand that Canada should take no part whatever in the way of any sort of contribution to imperial navy defence. On the second reading he modified his position so far as to move a sub-amendment to the amendment moved by Mr. Borden, deanding the submission of the bill to a popular vote. Mr. Borden's amendment was in this respect of the same tenor as Mr. Monk's One clause provided that no permhanent naval policy should be entered upon until it had been submitted to the people. Another clause was founded upon Mr. Borden's contention that the British Empire was in hourly danger of being blown to pieces by German guns; and this clause demanded that Canada should at once send to Britain an amount sufficient to construct two battleships or armoured cruisers of the latest Dreadnought type, giving the Admiralty full discretion to spend this sufficient amount—twenty-five or twenty millions—in any form of naval defence they preferred. Mr. McDonald effectively exposed Mr. Borden's inconsistency by pointing out that he (Mr. Borden) did not require this unrestricted gift of millions to be spent without any voice of the Canadian people and which did not provide that Canada should have any direct share in the defence thus provided, should be submitted to the people. But he demanded that the proposal of the bill to build a Canadian navy, with Canadian materials, by Canadian men, to be manned by Canadians ,to be a defence to Canad's commerce and to co-operate with the Imperial navy in time of war, should be compelled to run its gauntlet of a plebiscite. This weakness and untenability of the position of Mr. Borden and the Opposition so far as their differences of opinions had been revealed was scathingly exposed. He aroused great enthusiasm by his ringing appeals to Canadian patriotism by emphasising how their loyalty to the empire could be shown in a dignified and worthy way by adopting the policy called for in the government bill. At the close of his great speech. Mr. McDonald received an ovation. It will be of local interest to know that the public will have an opportunity of hearing Mr. McDonald at the meeting in the Opera House on Friday evening next. Those who attend this meeting with great expectations will not be disappointed.

CANALS STILL DEMANDED.

Those who think that the days of canals are over are somewhat out in their reckoning. Canals in Canada are daily assuming new importance as the development of the country calls for expanded means of transportation. This is shown by the extraordinary increase in volume of waterborne traffic. In 1909 the canal traffic tonnage increased 93 per cent, or from seventeen and a half million tons in 1908 to thirty-three and three quarter million tons in 1909. Such an increase in one year, added to the sevenfold increase that has taken place in the past ten years indicates a most gratifying and rapid development of Canadian resources. With the opening up of the Northwest the existing canal routes will soon, as in fact they are being now, be taxed beyond their capacity, and new routes will have to be opened. It is true that the building of the Hudson Bay Railway will bring some relief, but the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific and other railways in the northwest, by increasing crop production, will soon create the demands for traffic relief. When the wheat crop of the Northwest shall have become five times greater with no enlargement of the spout great will be the glut. This will give point to the question of deepening the Welland Canal, completing the Trent Canal, and the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal. This matter has come within practical range. It was made the subject of an interesting discourse in the House on Monday. It was introduced by a motion of Mr. Gerald White, of North Peterborough, for the production of all papers, not previously produced, in connection with the proposed canal. The discussion was conducted by members representing every section of the Dominion, those from the west and the maritime provinces uniting with those from, or contiguous to, the Ottawa valley, in acclaiming the great advantages, if not the necessity of completing this waterway. It was pointed out that though the expense would be great—something in the neighbourhood of a hundred million dollars—the country would be recouped by the immense stimulus it would give to national development—by its value to the farmers of the west in finding a larger outlet for their crops at a greatly reduced freight cost. This, it was argued, would, in a very short time, amount to a saving that would far more than balance the interest on the cost of the canal. The country would of itself develop immense resources along its route, bring dormant resources, of almost infinite extent, under commercial and industrial conditions. The only obstacle to the immediate undertaking of the work is that arising from considerations of the national finances. And it is a question of how far that should weigh. Considered as an investment the expenditure of public money upon the provision of needed transportation facilities, is an investment sure to bring large returns. Transportation, adequate to the conditions is all that gives value to natural resources, otherwise inaccessible and valueless—valueless because inaccessible and out of touch with industrial and commercial conditions.

THE NUISANCE AND DANGER OF DOGS.

(Toronto Globe.)

Dog sentiment, even if indulged by high civic officials, must not be allowed to subject the people of Toronto to a continuous nuisance or expose them to a serious danger. This city has outgrown the dog stage, and the present is an opportune occasion to end it. The people who love dogs with all the kindness of their hearts, who do not mind being bitten occasionally, who, as we sometimes read, take their pets to bed and feed them at the table, have a perfect right to indulge their tastes. Nobody has any right to interfere with them. But they have no right to expose the public to the danger of an unmuzzled dog on the street. It is questionable if the muzzled dog should longer be tolerated. We do not allow cows on the street, even if wearing eye boards that would keep them from crossing fences. The cow is certainly more useful and less of a nuisance than the dog. A dog fancier has died in New York of hydrophobia. He was a lover of dogs, and had often been bitten, but did not mind it. But that is a far different matter from exposing people to danger who do object. The physicians who have never heard of a case of rabies should read the newspapers. They will find it even more instructive to investigate the records of cases suppressed by the profession and never reaching the public.

It is absurd to say that the order prohibiting the freeing of unmuzzled dogs cannot be enforced, and it is an absurd and intolerable situation if the public must be exposed to a danger until the formality of a by-law is carried out. This is only equalled by the American city official who wanted to advertise for tenders for the services of a tug to haul an engine to a fire. No offence could be more easily detected and punished than that of allowing dogs at large. Any official unable to enforce such a law is glaringly unfit for his position. He might as well say he could not enforce the law against the use of firearms on the streets. That is a practice no more dangerous than the turning loose of dogs and no more easy of detection. Anyone so unmindful of public safety as to leave a dog at large is a dangerous citizen, and must be restrained in the interest of public safety. We have many such, and many who are regardless of the safety of their fellows in other respects. All must be effectively restrained. It is not the dog that is the offender, but the man who would expose his fellows to danger. The present outbreak of rabies must be used as an opportunity to rid Toronto forever of the dog nuisance. The great loss and suffering that have ben entailed will in that way bring some measure of compensation.

CONSERVATIVE NAVAL POLICY.

(Toronto Globe.)

To the insistent question, what Conservative policy proposed after two Dreadnoughts had been presented to the British Government, the Mail and British Government, the Mail and Empire essays a reply. The question that arises from the very nature of Mr. Borden's resolution is whether the gift of these two vessels is all that the Conservative party intends doing for Imperial navy defence. The Mail and Empire comes to hand in the nick of time, and hints that a gift of two Dreadnoughts every four years would be about the right thing. That would be in the neighbourhood of $7,000,000 a year. And after ever so many years of this expenditure we would be no further forward in the line of doing our clear, manly, self-respecting duty with respect to naval defence than we are now. After a hundred millions of expenditure, all spent abroad, we would have made not one step of advance in the matter of establishing a ship-building industry, and we would not have trained a single sailor or gunner. If the day of crisis, of which the Conservative papers still speak so confidently, ever came, there would be no Canadian sailors at sea to share in the toils and dangers and triumphs. They would be gathered around the telegraph offices waiting to hear the result or would be voting on Mr. Borden's referendum.

There are but two sincere sides in this controversy—those who oppose doing anything towards increasing the Empire's power at sea and those who favour the establishment of a Canadian navy. There may be an extreme third section which favours both a contribution and the establishment of the nucleus of a navy. This section is doubtless also sincere, but we quite refuse to believe in the sincerity of the contribution party. Talk about a separatist policy! If they have any knowledge of human nature they know that nothing could be more promotive of separatist tendencies than the handing of $25,000,000 to the British Exchequer every four years. The British people would take it shamefacedly and the Canadian people would give it with constantly diminishing self-respect. And when at length they were compelled to undertake the establishment of a navy they would feel as if they had been bunco'ed out of what they had already given away, besides having lost precious time.

Ontario Power Minister Summarizes Work and Aims of the Government in Putting Through the Transmission Lines—They Are In Earnest and Mean to Put the Proposition Through.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—The growing indignation of Hon. Adam Beck at the charges arising out of the budget debate in the Legislature burst forth in a torrent last night and in a thorough summing up of the Hydro-Electric power easement work he replied to his critics in the Opposition. The Power Minister has been making notes of the Opposition criticisms for some days and the result came last night.

An air of intense expectation ran through the House when Mr. Beck rose to reply.

The Government and the members of the commission, he said, were grateful for the discussion of the methods of the commission in furthering the power policy of the Government. They were more than grateful for the information given the House by the member from South Wenworth. "We have heard nothing," he declared, "to militate against the Government's policy or the power scheme."

"Nothing had been heard," he continued, "of any farmer being singled out for preference on account of his political party. If in 30 years a Liberal Government were in power, perhaps the farmers would have a chance to deal with them and see what they would do."

"I make the statement," he declared, "that not a farmer has been paid under the value of his land. I admit that some have been paid more.

"We had been dealing with 2,000 owners and we have only had 60 disputes. I rather think, in justice, we should pay a high tribute to the farmers of Ontario. They are not the wolves we have been made to believe by the members of the Opposition.

"I want to know, if, with the conditions we have had to contend with, with the attacks of the paid agents of the corporations, with the paid articles in the press, such as The London Advertiser, urging and instigating the farmer not to settle with the commission, I should ask, should we hear any suggestions, such as have been made, of organization of the farmers?

Turning to the question of the issue of a flat, Mr. Beck declared it was not intended to baulk any man from his just rights. It was only against "the fake man" that the power would be used. There had never been one in the case of the T. & N. O. Why should it be suggested in the case of the Hydro?

"And what about Port Arthur?" he queried. "Probably never have we met with such a contest, fathered by Mr. James Conmee, 'the friend of the people'." Notwithstanding this, the people had refused by a vote of 2 to 1 to enter into a contract with him, and had approved of the Hydro contract and policy. "A Liberal mayor, I am proud to say," he added, "next day signed the contract with us.

"The Niagara transmission line, we were told would cost at least $7,000,000, probably $10,000,000. We have done everything in our power to protect the man on the land, to ensure continuous service, we have installed all the best electrical equipment, and all within our estimate of $3,500,000.

"We have an eye single to the interests of the small manufacturer, the small user, the small village, not the large corperations. May he live to see the day when the farmer will reap the benefit. Give the farmer the telephone, give him the electric light, and the farm will be, not only a place of comfort, but of profit as well. The modern farm will be a wonder. They are doing it in Germany.

"We have done our best; we will continue to do our best; we have no fear we shall fail. When we have criticisms such as have been advanced in this House in the last few days."

Gold Medal for Peary.

Washington, Feb. 16.—A gold medal and the thanks of Congress for R. E. Had Weak Back.

Would Often Lie in Bed for Days Scarcely Able to Turn Herself.

Weak back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know of the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

They begin by heaping the kidneys to flush of all the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages and carrying away the uric acid, the chief cause of rheumatism, from the blood.

Mrs. Arch. Schuare, Black Point, N.B., writes: —"For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have lain in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."

GAS, INDIGESTION AND HEARTBURN GO

Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach, or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odours. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,
Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

CAUSE OF ECZEMA EXPLAINED

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by germs in the skin. Myriads of microscopic animals gnaw the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased. Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin.

The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly, as salves and ointments clog the pores without reaching the inner skin.

The remedy that will search out and destroy the disease germs, stop the itch and soothe the healthy tissue is that mild, clean, compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., known as D. D. D. Prescription.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this.

Write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P. E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto, for a free trial bottle, and prove it yourself.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

When you run across an expression you do not understand, a word whose exact definition you are uncertain of, do you simply remain in your state of ignorance or do you look it up?

I often hear people say, "I do want to be well educated but I have so little time I cannot keep abreast of things as I would like to."

Very few of us who have our living to earn can do it. Our days are spent in bread winning and our nights in recuperating for more bread winning. Except for the man in ten who has a one-in-ten physique and brain, any deep study, any systematic course of reading, or any thorough attempt to keep abreast of the political situation, the scientific discoveries, and the new things in literature and the arts, is incompatible with a six days in the week job.

But there is one thing that most us can do, and that is, "look it up."

It wouldn't take such an appalling amount of time to jot down the little expressions and allusions and scientific terms which you do not understand that crop out from time to time in your reading, and spend an occasional hour in looking them up, would it?

Each bit of information would be only a very little thing, to be sure, but it's infinitesimal insects that slowly form the beautiful coral reef and LITTLE drops of water, LITTLE grains of sand that — well, you know the rest.

And the finished product in this case would, of course, be some store of education.

I know a man who had to leave school and go to work before he had completed his first year of high school, and who yet kept up his efforts of self-education so faithfully that now, at the age of twenty-five, he is constantly taken for a college man.

And one of the chief features of his self-education is a little custom he has of looking up every word he hears or reads, which he does not fully understand, and writing the word and its definition down on a blackboard in his room.

He does not try to learn the definitions, but having them continually before him in this way he says he gradually absorbs them.

The other day I was visiting in a home where there is a very bright little school girl. Her older sister who, despite her three years' seniority is not half so well informed or interesting a girl, looked up from the book she was reading.

"What does 'condign' mean?" she asked. "Condign punishment?"

Her father confidently started to define it, and then decided that, although he had probably read the word a thousand times, he didn't know exactly what it meant.

"Oh, never mind," said the older girl, going back to her reading, but my bright little girl was already at the dictionary.

"Condense," "Condescension," "Condign," she ran her finger down the page. "Condign—deserved, merited, suitable. Condign and worthy praise," she read.

And after that I didn't wonder so much at the difference between the two girls.

Of course, looking things up is something of a bother.

A musician's finger exercises are too, I suppose.

But if he wants to be a great musician he usually does them.

Do you really want to be a well-educated man or woman?

Then supposing the next time you strike a word or expression you don't understand, you do the finger exercises of education and look it up.

Ruth Cameron.

Legal Committee Discussed — Rabies Scare But Took No Action

Ald. J. J. Turner, Jr., brought before the Legal Committee's notice last night, that it was high time something was done in this city to safeguard citizens against being bitten by dogs, especially now that rabies was spreading so rapidly amongst canines as to create a general alarm throughout the country. Every day, he urged, municipalities were taking steps to restrict the running at large of dogs, and it behooved Peterborough authorities to follow suit. In these days of rabies hundreds of citizens were scared of meeting a dog on the streets. There were four dog by-laws, but none of them appeared to meet the requirement. Something should be done by the Council to protect citizens, and that at once. He offered several amendments.

Ald. Buller said he was a friend of dogs, but he admitted that they should be more fully restricted from running at large.

Ald. Turner introduced suggestions for amending the present dog by-law so as to thoroughly restrict the running at large of dogs. He thought no dog should be allowed on the streets, tagged or not tagged, unless under control of its owner, muzzled and with leash if necessary.

Ald. Gilleapie thought it would be better to draw up a new by-law than to amend the old one.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall offered that no doubt the legislature would shortly adopt some measure to allay the present rabies scare, in which event it might be well to await such action.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Buller, that no action be taken in this matter until the committee have an opportunity of ascertaining in what manner the government was going to respond to the public agitation against dogs so general throughout the country.

SPREAD OF PROFANITY

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 10.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—Some time ago an Ontario judge had occasion to deal with a man who was brought before him for using profane language. He severely reprimanded him. The judge stated that the common use of profane and blasphemous language was far worse in Ontario than in Quebec. I do not think that this statement in any way was misplaced, and I think it can be fully substantiated by anyone who happened to visit the City of Toronto at the present time. It is only too true that there is no part of the country which is free from the vice of profane language, but as to the Puritan City of Toronto with all its churches, colleges and other educational institutions, it is hardly creditable that such a vice should be allowed to go on and increase to the proportions it has, with so little being done to check it. It matters not what direction you may go, whether in a hotel, restaurant, or on the street, it is impossible to escape hearing the name of the Almighty or the Saviour used in a blasphemous way. This is not done in temper or in anger, but cold bloodedly in all forms of conversation. It is not only confined to the race track and betting men or those in the slums, but it seems to be increasing amongst people in all walks of life, and it can even be heard among some people who are taking active part in church work. This is corroborated by two visitors who attended one of the churches and came in contact with an usher at the entrance. While he was ascending the steps he stumbled, and to ease his feelings he called on the name of the Saviour in the same blasphemous way it is heard on the street. Whats may account for the great increase of profane language in Ontario, is that it is an easy access to American cities and that it is overrun with race track and betting men, and low class actors. These sow the seed of profanity, and they are aped by others, who think it smart and witty. When in Toronto I happened to visit a restaurant and sat at a table opposite another table, where not four well dressed men. It seemed almost impossible for them to open their mouths without calling on the name of the Almighty and interlarding this with other bad language. It is only too true that this class of language is becoming common amongst the children of all ages throughout the land. We have heard much of late about the great lack of reverence amongst the people. I think this can be chiefly placed to the low form of our language, and the great disrespect shown for the name of the Supreme Being. It is really surprising that there is not more being done to stamp out this most unnecessary evil which is doing so much harm. In Toronto some time ago, steps were taken and meetings called to take some action against it, but they seemed to be spasmodic and not followed up. There are many newspapers in Canada and the United States, that have done a great deal by printing articles and trying to enlist the police in having the law enforced. Occasionally we hear of an offender being brought before the court and fined, but the police who should be looked to to stamp out the evil seem to give but little attention to it, and in many cases have become offenders themselves. I think Halifax some years ago was as bad as any other city in that respect, and that the benefit of the enforcement of the law was well demonstrated here, as the police were instructed to arrest the offenders, and there were dozens of them arrested and brought before the court and punished, the flow of profanity around the streets and public places had decreased seventy-five per cent. This is the only course which can be taken to rid the country of it. I think the time is ripe when such steps should be taken in all cities and towns and have the laws which exist against profanity vigorously enforced. This common use of profane and low language is gradually lowering the better instincts of the people, and goes far to prompt to crime.

ELECTRIC DEVICE FOR SEWING MACHINE

Great Labour Saver For Women—Can be Attached to Switch in House—Made in Peterborough.

The application of electricity to lessen the labour of the housewife and womankind generally is daily being brought forcibly to our attention. Vast sums have been expended by manufacturers to perfect various devices whereby for a nominal sum laborious tasks in woman's sphere of life are reduced to comparative pleasure.

From the electric iron, with all its comfort and convenience we are led to the many cooking and heating devices operated by electricity. The electric washer has also come into great prominence of late. Then in the dirt-chasing game of the housewife comes the vacuum cleaner, with all its wonderful advantages. Finally we are brought to the latest device, a special motor designed to operate the sewing machine.

Of course in factories and large shops sewing machines by the hundred are operated by power. But in the home no such arrangement is applicable. This new device is for the home machine particularly.

This new device called the Bissell Motor, is a small affair about the size of a saucer, and is attached in a few minutes to any make of machine, being directly connected to shaft where the little hand wheel is fastened. From the pedal below a strap reaches to the lever on the motor. With the electric wire from any lamp socket convenient, and the machine is ready for operation. By a slight pressure of the foot and the machine stitches slowly. By increasing the pressure the speed is increased, five different speeds being possible until 1,500 stitches a minute are reached.

The advantages of such a device are apparent when one realizes that both hands are always free to arrange the material for sewing. And as there is no physical strain or labour in operating the machine far more work and probably better work, is accomplished, and in comparative comfort.

The little motor is about the size of a saucer and in fact does not appear to take up as much room as the little hand wheel which it replaces on the machine. So that on the modern drop-head sewing machines the motor and all disappears completely.

The Collier-Cunningham Co., Limited, of this city, have shown considerable enterprise in securing for Canada the control of this article and will manufacture it here in Peterborough along with their other well-known lines.

PEARY DENOUNCED AS A BRAGGART

Capt. Osbon Congratulates Committee Which Refuses Him Rank of Rear-Admiral.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 16. — Denouncing Robert E. Peary, the explorer, as a selfish egotist and a "braggart," Captain B. S. Osbon, secretary of the Arctic Club of America, has written a letter to the sub-committee approving the latter's action in voting dawn the proposition to make Peary a rear-admiral. The committee has received a large number of letters, some condemning and some approving its action. Captain Osbon says in his letter:

"The action of the sub-committee on Naval Affairs in the matter of the civil engineer, Robert E. Peary—not Peary, for that is an assumed name—deserves the heartiest commendation of every American citizen who values justice and respects the United States navy.

"To have given this selfish egotist, this braggart, the rank of rear-admiral, would have been a foul blot on the records of Congress and an insult to the navy of the United States. It would have disgusted millions of our citizens, who have no confidence in this alleged Pole hunter, and Arctic fur trader and story-teller, who, for nearly a quarter of a century, has been living off the people and sailing under a naval rank to which he had no legal right, and for which he should have been severely reprimanded by the Navy Department long ago."

MISSION NIGHT

Enjoyable and Profitable Meeting of Knox Young People.

At a meeting of Knox church Young People's Guild Monday night, Miss Warren, the vice-president of the Missionary departments, in the chair,

A paper was read by Miss Williamson about the gathering of the Young Peoples' Movement at Lindsay.

Fifty years ago Japan doors were closed against missionaries, now, today they are wide open. China today is the richest country in the world, with its minerals and wealth underground. They are a thrifty and industrious people, where the white man works his ten hours a day, the Chinese work all day, happy and contented.

A solo was favoured by Mr. Miller.

Mr. Andrew Robertson gave an interesting paper on Oxford College, Formosa. He told how that it has fifty students, a museum, library, etc. It was built in 1880, subscribed in Ontario, the sum of $6,215, being amount raised for its erection. The Chinese people wonder and admire this splendid building with its avenues of trees and beauty surrounding. Showing to us how we should follow the order of God's nature. The bible is the great text book used. Studies are made of the great men of the bible. Hours are devoted to theology, the catechism, etc.

Miss Warren read a piece how that they read the bible, morning, noon and night. They simply preach Jesus Christ. One man is placed over a people, one million in number. Sixty are preaching the gospel, four are ordained.

Rev. H. J. Keith referred to the removal of the Oxford College to a better centre, to carry on this work.

Next Monday the young people go to Lakefield, meet at the church at 6.30. The Guild is to be entertained on arrival, when a programme will also be given by Knox church. The tickets are 50c. for men, 25c. for ladies.

THE PHILOMATHEAN

Regular Meeting of the Collegiate Society Was Held on Monday Evening.

The regular meeting of the P. C. I. Philomathean Society was held in the Assembly Hall Monday evening, and proved very successful as usual.

Mr. A. Primeau opened the meeting in his usual acceptable manner, and after the reading of the minutes by Miss Maysie Armstrong, the following numbers were given:

Piano Solo—Miss Ruby Cunningham.

Speech, "Halley's Comet"—By Mr. Allan Brown. This speech was especially well delivered. Many important facts were dealt with and explained in a very clear manner.

Vocal Solo—Miss Jennie Harvey.

The next item on the programme was a spelling match, the leaders being Miss A. Fessenden and Mr. Mowat. The words were given by Mr. Hoffert. After many crooked words were given, the fort was again taken by Miss Emma Derocher, of Commercial 2, who deserves much credit.

The next number was an instrumental duet by Miss Genevieve Sanderson and Miss Amy Hall, speech, "Architecture," by Miss Irene Brown, much applauded. Piano solo—Miss Minnie Squair.

Mr. Merritt was to act as critic, but as it was getting late the criticism was dispensed with and the meeting came to a close in the usual manner by singing the national anthem.

MARVELLOUS HEALING POWERS

The most severe test to which a healing ointment is ever put is the cure of eczema. So successful has Dr. Chase's Ointment proven in the cure of torturing itching eczema that many people refer to its effects as magical and marvellous. After the first few applications it positively stops the dreadful itching and then gradually and naturally heals up the sores.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Feb. 16, 1910.

Sir,—The lecture at the T. A. S. on a visit to the British Isles is interesting, but why give publicity to such things as the statement that Englishmen say Dublin is dirty and ugly. I never heard of it until I went to Dublin. It may be true, but Englishmen have enough to do to mind their own business. All cities are more or less dirty and ugly; Peterborough is. But qui s'excuse, s'accuse.

Post card column

In reading over Miss Hayes' very interesting lecture at the T. A. S., as reported in last night's Examiner, I notice she says Sackville St. is the principle thoroughfare of Dublin. This, however, is not so. Dublin's leading street is named after the great Catholic emancipist, Daniel O'Connell.—Yours, etc..

SIR WILFRID'S NAVAL BILL.

Sir Wilfrid's Naval bill is not so bad,
As far as I can see;
It's time the colonies should give some help,
To Britain on the sea.
Why should we talk about autonomy,
In this great Naval bill?
Our Empire's ships, have been at our command;
And we must have them still.
Why should we talk about independence,
What better could we be,
While our Empire's ships are at our command,
The sea's freedom on the sea.
And for this freedom, let us do our part,
And do it with good will.
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

WHAT IS THE MEANING OF ?

Some people are already so worked up over the fear of hydrophobia that they are actually wondering if the mystical query-marks to be seen all over town have anything to do with the subject. One gay youth went so far as to say that he had come to the conclusion that it was a far-fetched joke of the Examiner with regard to giving the boys "the hook." That young man has a fertile imagination and should apply for a job on the Montreal Star's staff of humourists. But really, seriously speaking, the amount of interest that those same query marks are creating is something wonderful. One hears the matter discussed in hotel corridors, in the street, in the club. Several particularly charming solutions of the enigma have come to our knowledge. One person came to the conclusion that the Salvation Army had struck up an evenevangelistic scheme with the Examiner, and that the cryptic sign stood for "Are you saved?" That genius would have been as near the mark if he had jumped to the other extreme and thought it to the work of some physician anxious to gain an unprofessional advertisement with the question "How's your liver?" if you've got one, apply to Dr. so and so."

NAVAL BILL UP AGAIN

He Wants to Know If Mr. Borden Is Willing to Go to Nova Scotia and Advocate Sending Money to Britain Instead of Spending It at Home — Conservatives After Sir Wilfrid Once More.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—In another round of the naval bill debate yesterday all the vigor of previous discussions was maintained and more pasts were delved into. E. M. Macdonald asked the pertinent question, "Would Mr. Borden care to go to the people of Nova Scotia with a proposal to send $25,000,000 to England instead of building up a local shipbuilding industry?"

The Premier's early speeches were again dismembered and fragments adduced to show that he is disloyal.

Dr. Roche professed to name some E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, N.S., started out yesterday by condemning the Conservatives for partisan speeches.

He devoted a considerable portion of a two and a half hours' address to R. L. Borden. He claimed that the leader of the Opposition was opposed to the whole scheme of a Canadian navy, including the proposal to build a naval college in his own constituency of Halifax.

Dr. Roche of Marquette resented this statement and pointed out that Mr. Macdonald had put words into Mr. Borden's mouth which he had never uttered.

Mr. Macdonald stated that the question of naval defence was never broached until the Liberal party came into power. The Canadian policy was laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1902 and that policy was now being adhered to. Mr. Borden and Mr. Foster, on the other hand, wanted to pay tribute. He charged F. D. Monk with attempting to stir up race prejudice. Mr. Monk denied this in strong terms.

Dr. Roche described Mr. Macdonald as a good actor speaking to the gallery. He had been incubating for the last five days to reply to Mr. Foster, but two-thirds of his speech was made up of a distortion of facts. He had accused the Conservatives of making partisan speeches. Who had made the first partisan speech? Was it not the Prime Minister?

As to the unanimity in the Liberal party which Mr. Macdonald claimed to exist, he could only say that outside of the House the Liberals were far from unanimous. Inside the House there was cohesion, of course.

Commenting on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Boston speech, Dr. Roche remarked that his utterances had never been repudiated by his party and never retracted by himself. As a Conservative he disagreed with Mr. Monk, but would members on the other side of the House be equally honest regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Until Sir Wilfrid repudiated his anti-British sentiments expressed in Boston they had a right to refer to them. The people of this country would honor a man who admitted his error.

Dr. Roche gave some instances of Liberals who in their public utterances had declined to be committed to the policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier regarding the navy. Senator Domville, Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Mr. Warburton of Queen's, P.E.I., Mr. Roy of Dorchester, Mr. Turcotte of Nicolet and Mr. Congdon of the Yukon, and many more had expressed themselves in similar, but unpublished, terms.

British Columbia Legislature.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 16.—Premier McBride announces that the budget will be presented Thursday or Friday, the budget speech being delivered by Finance Minister Bowser. Immediately thereafter the bills embodying the arrangements made by the Government with respect to the construction through British Columbia of the Canadian Northern and for the building also of the Kettle River Railway was also presented.

The railway legislation as the House was advised yesterday will be presented at the beginning of next week.

C.N.R. Telegraph Line.

Montreal, Feb. 16.—It is announced here to-day that Mackenzie and Mann will soon begin the construction of a commercial telegraph line from ocean to ocean along the line of railway from Fort William to Edmonton, and at other points in the different provinces as far as the roads are built.

J. N. Greenshields, K.C., will leave for London in a few days to do some legal work in connection with the Canadian Northern's telegraph flotation.

Crisis In Alberta.

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 16.—The Rutherford administration is evidently now face to face with a political upheaval, which may even mean its overthrow. Following the resignation of Hon. Mr. Cushing, which has been placed in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor, his deputy is also out and and sensational developments may be expected within the next few hours.

TREATY IS NOW SIGNED

For the First Time Since 1898 the Dominion and the Fatherland Will Deal Without the Surtax That Resulted From the Estrangement —Permanent Commercial Compact Is Again Postponed.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—A provisional trade agreement between Canada and Germany was signed yesterday by Dr. Karl Lang, Imperial German consul for Canada, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance. This agreement evidently brings to an end the unfortunate differences between the two countries which arose in 1898 and have continued until the present time. The German Government concedes to articles, the produce of the manufacture of Canada, enumerated below, upon their importation into Germany, on and after March 1 next, the conventional or minimum tariff rates of duty. Hitherto Germany had penalized Canada by subjecting Canadian products to the higher duties of the German tariff instead of the conventional tariff duties which had applied prior to 1898.

The question of a general convention for the regulation of commercial relations between Germany and Canada has been deferred for consideration to a time that may be found mutually convenient. If, after a reasonable time a commercial convention, such as is contemplated, has not been entered into, then either of the principals may terminate the concessions on giving two months' notice.

The story of the differences between the two countries is brief. After the granting of a preferential tariff to Great Britain by Canada in 1897, the British Government denounced a number of favored nation treaties, including the treaty with Germany, which provided that no other or higher duties should be levied in the British colonies on the products of Germany than on the products of the United Kingdom. These treaties were terminated on Aug. 1, 1898. After that date German goods were entitled to admission into Canada under the general tariff.

Germany resented this state of affairs and imposed upon Canadian products the higher duties of the German tariff.

The Canadian Government remonstrated against what was deemed to be an injustice to Canada.

Germany, however, refused to accept and Canada retaliated by applying to the products of German the surtax authorized by the customs tariff of 1897. This surtax of one-third over and above the duties specified in the general tariff was brought into effect on Nov. 28, 1903. Recently the commercial relations of Canada with foreign countries assumed a new phase owing to the making of the Franco-Canadian commercial convention, which has now gone into operation. Germany naturally desired to be admitted to the benefits of this treaty on the same terms as France. The moment, however, appears to be an unfavorable one for entering upon negotiations for a comprehensive commercial treaty with Germany, but it has been deemed expedient to enter into this partial arrangement, which will bring about a better understanding between the two countries.

The agreement means that the surtax imposed by each country on the other's goods has been removed and that trade conditions existing before 1903 have been restored.

Four Teachers Resign.

Almonte, Feb. 16.—As the result of the action of the Board of Education, in passing a resolution that a young girl be allowed to return to school without taking chastisement, Miss M. J. Thompson, principal of the Almonte High School, and three assistant teachers have tendered their resignations.

The child coughed violently in the schoolroom. The teachers said it was done for disturbance, hence was a breach of discipline. Parents of the child said she had a cold.

Clark Charges Conspiracy.

Brantford, Feb. 16.—J. S. Clark, formerly president of the Grand Valley Railway, preferred a charge of conspiracy in the Police Court against A. J. Pattison, Toronto; Alex. Easson, John H. Couch and James Cottin. Couch is in Saskatchewan, and wrote stating he would not come unless his expenses were advanced. Clark asked for a bench warrant, which Magistrate Livingstone refused, and adjournment was taken to allow Clark to appeal to the Attorney-General.

Local Option In Guelph.

Guelph, Feb. 16.—A preliminary organization meeting, at which representatives from all the city churches, the W.C.T.U., and the Ministerial Association were present, was held to arrange for a definite plan of campaign in favor of either license reduction or local option in this city.

SEND ME ANOTHER BOX OF "LITTLE DIGESTERS"

Such what Mr. E. S. Glassco, of Toronto, wrote us last May, after he had tried and proved "Little Digesters" for Indigestion. He said:

"I wish you would send me another box of your "Little Digesters." All the members of my family have been using them and have obtained the most satisfactory results.

"I congratulate you on your success in putting up a tablet for the cure of Indigestion. I suffered for years and tried everything that was recommended to me. Nothing gave me relief until I was persuaded to try "Little Digesters." Now I never suffer from Indigestion. I enjoy my meals and am not afraid to eat, because I know a "Little Digester" after each meal will digest my food.

"I recommend them to all my friends who suffer from indigestion and would further say that you may publish the above if you wish. I know there are thousands of people suffering from Indigestion who will be glad to know there is a safe and sure cure for them."

"Little Digesters" are positively guaranteed to cure or money is refunded.

U. S. OFFICERS IMPERTINENT

Windsor, Feb. 16.—Complaints have been registered over the insulting and arrogant methods adopted by the U. S. immigration officers stationed at Windsor ferry dock. They are allowed to take up their position on the Canadian side, and keep tab on people crossing the river. They may ask questions, but are not allowed to take any action till the object of their enquiries reaches the American side. It is alleged that they have fallen into the habit of insulting Canadians who make the ferry trip.

The matter came up in council on Monday night, when Ald. Trumble waxed wrathy, and suggested throwing the offending officials in the river. Milder counsel, however, prevailed, and it was decided to place the question in the city solicitor's hands, and find out if U. S. immigration officers have a legal right to stop Canadians on their own soil and ply them with questions. Townsmen await developments with decided interest.

MAY BE HIS SECOND VICTIM

Windsor, Feb. 16.—In St. Mary's Hospital, Detroit, Theresa Hintz, 21, is hovering between life and death. The authorities say that if Dr. Geo. A. Fritch, the Canadian charged with the murder of Maybelle Millman is liberated on the charge of causing the death of Miss Millman, he will be immediately rearrested on a charge of being responsible for Miss Hintz's condition.

The house physicians informed the prosecuting attorney yesterday that Miss Hintz is slightly improved, but they cannot hold any great hopes for her recovery.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kilpatrick has taken a statement from the girl, and it is understood that she said that it was at the office of Dr. Fritch that she received treatment on the evening of Monday, Feb. 7. This would make it on the date that the work of drawing a jury in the Millman case was being brought to a close in the recorder's office. "I took the young woman's statement," admitted Assistant Prosecutor Kilpatrick, "but beyond that I can say nothing. The matter has been placed before the prosecutor."

GOES DRY FOR FIFTY YEARS

Hudson, Ohio, Feb. 16.—This village voted, 169 to 97, yesterday that it was worth while to remain "dry" for fifty years in order to obtain a waterworks plant, electric light and sewerage system and kindred improvements.

James W. Ellsworth, a native of Hudson, but at present a wealthy resident of New York, offered the village the improvements if it would vote "dry" and stay so for fifty years, paint its houses white with green blinds and put on red tile roofs, grow hedges to replace the popular picket fence, plant shade trees and clean up.

When the offer was first made, two years ago, the village promptly voted "dry" and painted itself white. Ellsworth built a boys' club and a new Congregational parsonage.

Discontent arose, however, among the "wets," and petitions for a return of the saloon were circulated, resulting in yesterday's election. Ellsworth served notice that he would continue his portion of the improvements if the town went "dry," but that, on the whole, he was rather disgusted.

Great Ice For To-night's City League Final

Conditions are Suitable to Both Teams and the Battle Should be the Hardest in the History of the League---West Ends and Strathconas Hook Up in the Final "Go" for the Championship---Crowd Will be Record Breaking.

With a great sheet of ice as hard as hammered metal ready for to-night's City League final between West Ends and Strathconas the teams will be able to perform to their best advantage, and the result should be the fastest game in the history of the League. Both sevens claim to be at their best on the fast going, and the conditions to-night will be just as they asked for, so that there can be no complaint from either.

The game will start at 8.15 o'clock with Lawson Whitehead, the most popular referee on the O. H. A. board in charge, a guarantee that the teams will have to play hockey all the way.

The biggest crowd that ever saw a City League contest is expected as the fans have been talking of little else all week. Last week's game between the two teams was a rattling contest without a moment's let up from start to finish, and there is every reason to expect that to-night's game will be even faster and more exciting as the ice is in much better shape.

There will be only one change on the lineups over last week's teams. Moore replacing Campbell on the Strathcona's defence. Moore is no stranger to City League hockey fans, having played with the champion Charlotte Street Guild team, and his weight and checking ability is expected to strengthen the Commissioners' defence. The rest of the team will be the same as before, while West Ends will have identically the same line-up, and expect to win. Their chances are favoured by the majority of the followers of the game. The Strathconas are not saying very much but will work like demons against the yellow and black to-night with the championship at stake.

It will be a game that the fans cannot afford to miss, even if it were not the final game of the League, and it is not likely that any one who is able to walk will be found missing when Referee Whitehead drops the puck between Dobson's and Burritt's sticks to-night.

Goal—Halpin.
Point—McWilliams.
Cover—Seymour.
Rover—Crane.
Centre—Dobson.
Right wing—Short.

The Strathconas will have the following:
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Moore.
Cover—Denison.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Burritt.
Right wing—McMillan.

COBOURG-TRENTON GAME WAS A FUNNY PROPOSITION

Trenton, Feb. 15.—Trenton intermediates were beaten by Cobourg 9-8 in one of the most peculiar games of hockey ever played in the east. It was the first of a home and home series in Round Three of the Intermediate O.H.A., and Cobourg went down on an excursion with about 300 people and the town band, and they certainly did make things lively. About $800 changed hands as the result.

The game to half time was marked with lightning fast hockey, and an accident to Powers, the Trenton right wing, who retired with a deeply gashed knee, the result of an accidental kick from Moffatt's skate. Powers took Leo Doheney off with him. The big ice, a sheet of glass, started the boys away the first half at top speed, and they kept at it without an instant's let-up until half time, when the score was 4-3 in Cobourg's favour. Cobourg had been deprived of three goals scored on offside passes to Bentley, who persisted in leading his forwards down the ice, and the Cobourg crowd was clamouring for a sample of the referee's scalp.

Nothing rough had cropped up, though Crossen had been off for slashing a man who chopped his arm, and for an attempted trip. There didn't seem to be much to choose between the two teams. Cobourg had a world of speed up forward, and a nice "com." but the Trenton lads were doing some pretty stick handling and were shooting more often than Cobourg. Art Armstrong, at right wing, was playing a whirlwind game, and three of his shots had struck the Cobourg goal, else Trenton would have finished the half in the lead.

The Fun Starts.

In the second half the game changed its character entirely, and but for the earnestness of the players would have been a burlesque. Just after the half opened Crossen bodied A. Armstrong into the fence, the Trenton boy was carried off the ice with a badly bruised shoulder. Crossen got 15 minutes for his nasty check, and Moffatt went off to even up for Trenton's loss.

A Bad Mistake.

Right there is where Trenton lost the game. Instead of tearing in with every ounce to pile up a score while Crossen was off, they dilly-dallied around doing fancy stunts with the puck in mid-ice. Once in a while they would make up and bore in, but half the time it was a ragged one-man rush instead of a combined foray, and big Dick Turpin and Goalkeeper Patton easily beat them. Then Turpin got a jab in the eye with a stick during a goal melee and dropped off, taking Jim Cumming, who was just out of a sick bed, and who had been staying on the ice on his nerve, with him., This left Cobourg with only Patten, Bentley and Payne on the ice, against McGiffen, McGraw, Armstrong and Croft.

Then Trenton did wake up and for a while the devoted seven made things sizzle. Time after time Croft or McGraw or Armstrong broke away, and it looked as if the ywould surely score on the unprotected Patton, but Bentley and Payne checked back like little hornets, and when they were so tired that they could scarely stand up, took running dives at the puck time after time spoiling shots right in the goal mouth. Just to vary matters they stole the puck from the Trenton two and pushed it upon the solitary McGiffen, but "Mac" was there with horseshoes and nerve and saved his nets marvellously.

Great Goalkeeping.

Time and time again he came out 20 feet and took the puck from both Cobourg men, but once they dribbled the gypsum through his legs, and with six of the seven men on that ice kicking, slashing and scrambling for it, the wily disc eluded the entire force and rolled just inside the net. It was the most aggravating thing of the evening.

Goalkeeper's Rush.

Then when Bentley and Payne tired Patten came out to quarter way, checked the Trenton man with the puck, and rushed on the Trenton goal. Nothing daunted, McGiffin came out and checked Patton, and taking the puck from him, sailed in on the open Cobourg net. Patton couldn't get back and McGiffin looked to have a sure tally, when Payne hooked his stick off. Not once, but a dozen times, did the rival goalkeepers take the puck from end to end, but neither scored, though one of Patton's rushes resulted in a score by Bentley, to whom he passed.

Crossen Back.

Then Crossen came back to the ice, and with the sides even, four all, Trenton woke up and there was lively hockey for a period until the forwards tired. Then Cumming came back with Moffatt. A little later Bentley, whose legs are weak, was compelled to retire, and he took Cumming off again, and so the game went on. The last ten minutes saw only four men aside on the ice, and the game finished with Trenton shy their goalkeeper, who Payne put through a series of acrobatics that would make a hit on the stage. The final socre was 9-8 in Cobourg's favour.

Trenton Crippled.

Trenton is in tough luck. At Port Hope Fletcher, their centre man, had his shoulder broken, Cumming another player, was put out with a broken nose in the Lindsay game, and last night they had to drag J. Cumming out of bed to make up a team, and now Powers has a badly slashed knee, and A. Armstrong a sore shoulder. How they will get a team for Wednesday night at Cobourg is a mystery.

Fuel and Cartage Team Bottled up the Pill Pounders and Won in a Walk by 12 to 3.

The Fuel and Cartage Company and the Pill Pounders hooked up in a lively game at Brock Street rink last night, the F and C combination winning out by 12 goals to 3, they having all the best of the game after the first few minutes. The Druggists scored first, but the Cartage bunch came back with two. The Pill Pounders tied it up again, but the Cartage men scored twice in less than a minute and a half time, and were leading by five goals to two at half time. In the second half the winners had always the best of it, scoring seven goals to one by the Druggists.

Norman Laing was a satisfactory referee.

PARIS FLOODS

Special to The Examiner.

Paris, Feb. 16.—The flood situation in Paris and its suburbs again assumed a serious aspect to-day, forcing a second evacuation of the houses at Alfortville and other of the suburbs and undermining a large part of the repairs that have been done since the former crisis was passed. A further rise of four to five feet in the Seine is predicted as a result of the general rains and swollen head waters of the Seine and the authorities do not conceal their fears that the new flood crest may equal if not surpass that of the two weeks ago.

What Canadian Laymen Have Already Done For Missions

Interesting Addresses at Park Street Church Last Night—Statistics Presented by Rev. Mr. Stackhouse Demonstrate the Splendid Accomplishments Achieved up to the Present.

THE OBJECT OF MOVEMENT

The Laymen's Missionary Movement was presented in practically every detail to a large assembly of men at a banquet in the schoolroom of the Park St. Baptist church last night by Mr. Jos. Shenstone, and Rev. W. T. Stackhouse, D.D., of Toronto. The splendid success that has already been achieved, the glorious object that has been chosen for accomplishment, the beauty of the work and the noble responses that have greeted the call wherever the movement has been carried were touched up by the speakers. Its potentiality, its capability of reaching men and of bringing them to a clearer understanding of their duty to God and their neighbour were shown by concrete examples that spoke volumes. The fact that the aim of the movement is to obey God's precept, to preach the gospel to every man, to evangelize the entire world, makes every individual who joins hands in the work a better man. He realizes his deficiencies in the fact and determines to wipe them out by his future efforts. Laymen are given a greater scope for active endeavour with the result that their religious life is entirely affected and they are brought to a true realization of what is expected of them.

Rev. Mr. Stackhouse in his address briefly reviewed the address of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. The evangelization of the present generation of mankind is, in short, the goal that a great effort will be made to reach. While plans are under way for the carrying of the gospel into every quarter of the globe, where Christ's word has not yet been sounded, arrangements are also commenced for the extending of missions in the Dominion. The Christian church in Canada has accepted the reponsibility of implanting the gospel among forty millions of people. One missionary for every 25,000 will be sent out and will be assisted by natives. Sixteen hundred evangelists will be required. At present there are only 900 from Canada. The gifts toward foreign missions will have to be increased from the present sum of $550,000 to $3,200,000 per annum until the work is accomplished and native churches become self supporting. A portion of the work has been accepted as follows by three of Canada's churches: The Presbyterian Board has decided to provide for the carrying of the gospel to fourteen million, the Methodist Board has accepted a similar number and the Baptists are determined to provide for six millions. This entails upon the Baptist churches the increasing of the number of its missionaries by 175 to make 240. Three hundred and sixty thousand dollars per annum will be required for their maintenance. Added to this is $316,000 for home missions in Canada and the total, $676,000 is required from the Baptist church in the Dominion. The membership of the church is placed at 130,000, thus placing the amount from each member per annum at $5.20.

As a comparison of the amount of money devoted to the spreading of the gospel with ordinary luxuries of life, Rev. Mr. Stackhouse presented the following figures.

In the year in which the United States gave $7,500,000 to Missions, $15,000,000 was the bill for chewing gum, $75,000,000 for patent medicines, $75,000,000 in confectionery, $449,000,000 in tobacco and $1,949,449,000 for wine, whiskey and beer. In the year in which Canada gave $500,000 to missions, the tobacco bill ran into 25 millions of dollars.

"Ought we not to treat the claims of Almighty God, our Creator, to whom we owe our existence and all the blessings we enjoy, with at least the same measure of efficiency as we treat the supply of that within us that calls for luxury."

The duty is before the men of the day who are rapidly awakening to a full realization of their possibilities as laymen. The men of the Christian church control the situtlon. The present generation will pass down and out of existence without the knowledge of the gospel unless it is given to them at once.

Effect on the Church.

Every church that is not a missionary church has no right to existence, Mr. Stackhouse said. The church that will thrive in the work must study missions, pray for their success and systematically support them. The church will receive a corresponding benediction from the standpoint of its local affairs in sympathy with the foreign missionary movement. This is by no means a theory but is substantiated by actual facts and Mr. Stackhouse mentioned many cases that had been brought to his attention. These exemplary cases were of great interest to his hearers as they were not only interesting, but also very encouraging. One of those mentioned was the Dovercourt Road Baptist church in Toronto. In 1907 the Laymen's Missionary Movement was introduced and the total amount raised for foreign missions during the first year was $5191, compared with $1460, the total offering of the previous year. During the same year the offering for local affairs of the church was increased by $2,800. Similar cases were referred to. In Fredericton, N.B., Sydney, N.B., Stratford, Calgary, Saskatoon, in fact, throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion the same achievement has attended the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

Our Stewardship.

Mr. Joseph Shenstone, of the Massey-Harris Co., Toronto, was the other speaker. To him was given the honour of making the first address, which, from the subjects dealt with, were in their natural and most impressive sequence. The stewardship, Mr. Shenstone considered, was that which has been entrusted by God to each and every individual whom he has blessed with the breath of life. The faculties we possess—our health, our wealth, in fact everything we call ours has been placed in our care by God. Stewardship involves three things, occupancy, i.e., the possession of anything, as the duties we have to perform, responsiblity and lastly accountability. It is comprehensive. It embraces all we are, all we do and all we acquire. As we are trustees of the things God has given us, he is the trustor. As between God and man, all we have belongs to Him. It is a mistake to think that stewardship has to do with giving only. That is the last duty. It begins with our power to do things to earn. The first requisite is that every cent must be honestly and fairly earned and every transaction governed by this standard. The men of the churches are strong enough to do that which He has intended for us, to carry the gospel to the ends of the earth. The great question that confronts the individual man is what can I do or how much should I give. It remains with the man himself. The speaker said that when he looks back at what he has done it seems an effrontery to think upon the little he has done. Man ought to give until he feels that it is a sacrifice. Stewardship means God will and it is therefore a matter of obedience. It becomes a question of what does God wish me to do with my money, my ability, my time, my talents. The most important stewardship of all is the care of the gospel. We are not to shut it in our hearts. Christ died in vain unless some one tells about it. He cannot save the world without the help of men. We can send the gospel throughout the world and thereby show ourselves true stewards.

MERCHANTS AGAINST CO-OPERATIVE IDEA

Retailers and Wholesalers Will Go to Ottawa to Oppose Bill.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—The Dominion Board of Retail Merchants' Association will send a delegation to Ottawa to oppose legislation for the establishment of a co-operative system of stores in Canada. Arrangements have been made to have an interview with the cabinet Friday February 25, at 12 o'clock. The association is doing its best to get together a very large delegation, representative of the best element in the trade. The special train to Ottawa leaves Montreal at 7.50 o'clock on the morning of the 25th, from Bonaventure station.

"It is of the highest importance for the retailers as well as the wholesalers to prevent the adoption of the two co-operative bills, now before the House of Commons," said Mr. J. A. Beaudry, Dominion Treasurer, to the Herald, "The object of the co-operative stores is to substitute everywhere it is possible a co-operative store for a retail or a wholesale merchant. These features, if passed, would grant special privileges to those who seek such incorporation. The responsibility of the members of those societies will be limited to an amount as low as $1.00, and will not offer to the public even the investors, any guarantees of securities of good and sound administration. This will, of course, give schemers and promoters advantages over the bona fide merchants."

WENT WEST WITH NOTHING, IS HOME ON VISIT WITH $20,000

Mr. Samuel Spry Was the Pioneer of Town in Saskatchewan—Has Spent Thirty Years in the West and Has More Than Made Good—After First Struggle the Rest Was Easy.

INTERESTING DETAILS

Peterborough people have often seen cars on the various sidings in the city being loaded with settlers' effects for the West, and the question has, no doubt been suggested at times as to what success will be gained by those persons who start out into the broad acres of the western provinces in an endeavour to wrest a fortune from the fertile unbroken land. These cars, laden with the bare necessaries to make a beginning, are like ships that start out on the ocean, except that the journey over the deep has been stripped of the danger in passage, and the doubt as to the vessel reaching its destination.

Thirty years ago Mr. Samuel Spry, a nephew of Mr. Louis Spry, Stewart street, found his way into Saskatchewan with the effects he had brought from the east. He was the pioneer of that section of the country, and was largely responsible for the development it has undergone. To-day, he is worth more than $20,000, is influential, respected, and has everything that the average man could possibly desire. Mr. Spry is home on a short visit to his uncle, whom he has not seen in 26 years.

How He Made a Start.

Thirty years ago Mr. Spry, with several other families, piled their effects into ten cars at Kinmount, and set out for the West. Mr. Spry had two carloads of goods, and on arriving at his destination—Prince Albert—prepared to look around for a good location. The country was not even surveyed, and the settlers arriving were only in occasional groups. Mr. Spry applied to the Dominion Government for the survey of 21 townships and the request was immediately granted. The work was done in the winter and by Spring nine counties had been subdivided into townships. After considerable executive work he found 45 families who were prepared to go on to homesteads and in the Spring they started out, hoping for the best and prepared for any circumstances. The territory they occupied was 100 miles long by 50 miles wide.

Town is Born.

It was a long, hard struggle. The land, of course, was cleared, but Mr. Spry had to drag his goods eighty miles to the land he had obtained. It was pioneer life with all its realities, and many of them personified. The trip took a week and other journeys had to be made to draw lumber, machinery, etc. Mr. Spry was determined not to give in if conditions were at all suitable, but he soon found that the land was rich, and the harvest, after a few years began to double and treble itself, the farmers as a result, being placed in an independent position. About five years ago, in this district, the little town of Melfort sprang into life. It proved a lusty infant and was on its legs in record time to the surprise and delight of its progenitors. It now boasts of over 1,000 inhabitants, five big elevators, a school, with a staff of five teachers, three hotels, an agricultural park of 25 acres, with a half-mile track; five churches; two newspapers, two banks, and another in course of construction; in fact a modern town with stores of the best building material and a progressive people, who can afford to spend money on their local improvements. Electric light, telephone, telegraph, in short, a miniature New York, with a pocket edition of Broadway as the main street.

Price of Land.

Mr. Spry paid $10 for his homestead of $160 acres, and three dollars an acre for 480 acres, which were needed to complete his section of 640 acres of splendid land. He paid, in short, $1,450 for his land, and a few weeks ago he was offered a price of $30, which would total $19,200 for his farm. Mr. Spry sniffed at the offer, and still holds possession. During the past fifteen years he has dealt more or less in real estate, and is now located in Milfort, devoting his time mostly to that business, while his farm is worked by a man engaged for that purpose. On his land he built two houses, one for himself and one for the "hired man," but for years he has lived in the town and for the most part has lived in comparative leisure. Real estate has advanced with great strides and the men who were first on the ground realized the profits from the land, of which they were the first owners, and which was made valuable by their labour.

How to Succeed.

There is no particular method to follow if one desires to succeed in the West. An earnest effort, which is simply hard work, is an absolute necessity. Labour is well rewarded, no matter what work he takes up and the industrious young man who can see an opening when presented is bound to prosper.

A feature of western business is that credit is rarely asked by customers, and the merchants are not willing to allow that system to creep in. The farmers are all well-to-do, and are practically the owners of the town. In fact, Mr. Spry states, almost all the merchants own land, which is worked by hired men. They visit it once a week or as often as necessary.

The one great question that is occupying the attention of the farmers is the building of the propesd railway to Hudson Bay. It is looked upon with general favour, and the hope is practically universal that it will be adjudged by the engineers to be practical.

Mr. Spry is returning to the West in a few days and during his visit here is meeting some of his former friends.

Gymnasium For Collegiate Institute Required For Grant

As soon as Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, recovers from the indisposition that has compelled him to retire from his office for a short time, a deputation from the Board of Education will, it is learned, wait upon him in regard to securing a grant for a gymnasium for the Collegiate Institute. The intention is to erect a separate building at the rear of the Collegiate, in order that the students may have it close at hand, and also that the Government grant may be secured in full. As it is, owing to the fact that there is not a "gym" in connection with the Collegiate the entire grant from the Government may not be secured. Besides it is felt that a gymnasium should be provided. The deputation, it is understood, will make a strong attempt to secure aid from the department.

CANADA AND GERMANY.

There was something significant, if not dramatic, in Hon. W. S. Fielding, Finance Minister, laying on the table of the House, at eleven o'clock on Tuesday night a commercial agreement between Canada and Germany, signed that day. The walls of the chamber were still echoing with the partizan clamour of the Conservative Opposition declaring the deathly hostility of Germany to the British Empire, as excuse for the Opposition volte-face on the naval bill—as something that denoted urgency for Canada at once shipping to Great Britain the force of two Dreadnoughts. In the midst of these strains the submission of the treaty of commercial peace between Canada and Germany came as a rebuke to the alarmists who represented Germany as thirsting for British gore. The story of the commercial tiff between Germany and Canada is a short one. In 1897 Canada gave a trade preference to Great Britain. Germany claimed a similar preference through its trade treaties with Great Britain. The latter sustained Canada in its position of protest in this claim, and the treaty with Germany was denounced, leaving Canada free to give Britain a trade preference. When Germany found that her goods would have to come under the general Canadian tariff it brought Canadian goods under the highest rate of duty imposed by the German tariff. Canada vainly objected to this form of reprisal, and, in self defence, placed on German goods a surtax of one-third over the general tariff rate. Thus in November, 1903, the state of trade war arose. Of course such a condition was not to the advantage of either country, but Canada, feeling that it was not responsible for the situation, submitted to it with becoming dignity. Germany, realizing that it had made an unwise move in precipitating the state of trade tension, opened negotiations looking to a change that would bring trade peace.

Canada met Germany in a fair spirit with the result expressed by the terms of the agreement, which Hon. Mr. Fielding placed before the House at the conclusion of the debate on the Naval Bill on Tuesday night.

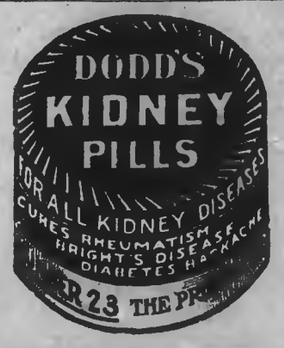
After the first of March, 1910, the surtax ceases and German goods entering Canada will come under the general tariff. In return Canadian goods entering Germany will come under the German "conventional" or minimum tariff rate, upon a specified schedule of goods comprising those which Canada can ship to Germany.

This is a decided trade advantage to Canada, as it places this country in a precisely similar position towards Germany as that occupied by the United States, under the recent trade treaty between that country and Germany. Canada will be a considerable gainer by the new agreement. A large number of articles she is best qualified to produce and for which she seeks good markets can be sent to Germany without fiscal penalty.

The German market is a good one, and Canada lost by the action of the former country, in practically closing it to us. In 1903 Canada-German trade amounted to fourteen millions of dollars; it dwindled during the state of trade war till in 1908 the trade fell to a little over seven millions.

The fact of the agreement being negotiated and concluded solely between Canada and Germany is another evidence of Canadian natural development, in the exercise of the treaty making power which Great Britain practically conceded in the matter of the French treaty which is resulting in so large and important an increase in Franco-Canadian trade that, according to a London despatch, the Allan Company has chartered a C.P.R. steamer for the direct Havre-to-Montreal service, the terms of the treaty requiring that all exports from France come directly to Canadian ports, to secure the benefits of the intermediate tariff.

Trade is the supreme factor in mutually advantageous international relations, and international peace is the only possible condition of trade. Can Germany, which is credited by some alarmists with a desire to destroy the British Empire, and thereby destroy an annual trade with the empire amounting to nearly four hundred million dollars be so foolish? Will she risk the destruction of an annual trade enough to build thirty or forty Dreadnoughts a year to justify an invasion scare having its chief origin in the desire to influence the fortunes of a political party either in Britain or Canada?



REBUKED BY A FRIEND.

(Ottawa Free Press).

The Montreal Gazette, undoubtedly the most influential as well as the most fair of the Conservative press, administers a rebuke to its friends in the House of Commons, both of the Borden and of the Monk school, when it reminds them that "whatever be the issue of the present controversy, in whatever way Canada's contribution to the naval defence of the Empire be made, there can now be no recoil from the keeping of a solemn engagement." The Gazette does not belong to the schoil of politicians who will bind themselves to a certain course one year and within a twelvemonth make a complete reversal of position.

It also bestows a stinging castigation upon its leaders at Ottawa when it says:

There are some, doubtless, who would prefer that this new stage in our growth as a Dominion had been attained without the drawback of a parliamentary contest. Perhaps for some reasons it would have been better if the naval question had been kept aloof from party politics. It was undoubtedly desirable that the controversy (since it had to be) should be conducted without the employment of rude challenge and harsh names. But that is a kind of militerism that seems to be almost inevitable on Parliamentary field-days, and is sometimes hard to exclude from the platform, and the newspaper and the club-room. The British Constitution, said a great statesman, "leaves open doors which lead into blind alleys." Kings, lords, commons are legally empowered to do what wisdom forbids them to do.

If the naval bill has been thrown into the arena of party warfare it is the fault, not of the Government but of the Opposition, and it is quite apparent from the attitude of the Gazette that in that policy the parliamentary Opposition has not the support of the sober, level-headed members of the party in the commercial metropolis.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

"I'll take a gun," the sad man said, "and pour some shot in my tired head, and then curl up and die; this weary life upon me palls; I'm tired of prunes and codfish balls, who used to live on pie. The flour, the hay, the bread, the meat, and everything a man must eat, would break a plutocrat; my salary's a nice amount, but when I pay my grub account, you see me busted flat. And so, my dear and precious wife, the joy and sunshine of my life, I think it's up to me, to take the shotgun from the shelf and with it go and hang myself and be from trouble free." The wife replied. "My dearest hub! You noble, handsome, sawed-off dub! You're talking through your hat; it's true the price of bread and meats, and cabbages and beans and beets, would break a plutocrat; but if you end the beastly grind, and leave your little wife behind, with grief I'll soon be gray; the coffin trust will seek this spot, and levy on the house and lot, and garnishee my pay. It's hard to work without your pie, but then it costs so much to die, you can't afford it yet; to slumber in a graveyard ditch is something for the idle rich—the poor must live and sweat!"

EXPRESSIVE BOTH WAYS

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETTIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

Allan Studholme of Hamilton Says Far Too Much Attention Is Being Paid to Higher Education, and Far Too Little to Technical Schools —Mr. Godfrey Present a Striking Measure — Bread Act.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Tumultuous and prolonged applause arose from both sides of the House when Hon. Col. Matheson resumed his seat in the Legislature for the first time after the accident to his arm. A vase of white roses stood on his desk.

Sam. Clarke (N. Northumberland), in resuming the debate on the budget, congratulated the Provincial Treasurer on his convalescence.

In a week-end trip to the rural portions of his constituency he had found that the dog question was more discussed than the budget. The dog was the friend of the young and of the old. He hoped the Government would see fit not to go to the extremes in this matter of muzzling.

But if they wanted to do some effective muzzling, there was a dog at large, the whisky dog, the liquor dog. Hardly a family in Ontario but had had a member bitten by it. Yet the vote of 60 out of 100 was required to muzzle it.

Turning to the public accounts, he objected to the size of expense accounts. Then he read "25 portraits of Indians of the American race, $2,500. They had seen the same item last year.

"What's the use," retorted Mr. Clarke. "They all look alike, I could bring you down a carload of live Indians at a less cost. Five thousand dollars of good hard cash for 50 portraits of Indians of American race! One good portrait of old Oronyathekha was all that was needed."

A. E. Donovan (Brockville) defended the Government on the Gillies limit question. The Opposition seemed to forget that they still possessed 60,000 acres of the limit.

He taunted the member for South Wentworth (D. Reid) on writing the letters from farmers about the Hydro Electric, which he read to the House on Tuesday. Why didn't he let the farmers write their own letters?

What did the people of the country care whether the name of T. Eston, or Gage, or any other name were on the school books, so long as they got cheap books?

Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) complained that in all the talk of the last two weeks not a word had been said about the wage-working class. They never got a square deal.

He had no objection to $10,000,000 expenditure, but how was it being spent? The recent deputation asking a paltry $30,000 increase to the $70,000 grant to agricultural societies should never have been turned down.

More attention to technical education had been asked for again and again. Higher education was getting an undue share of the expenditure.

The cry was "back to the land." In the cities to-day were thousands of the pick of young Canada who should never have left the farm. Young men had told him they would never go back to the farm to work for another, but they would on a profit-sharing basis.

If the United States were able to entice our men to their dairy farms by profit-sharing, there was surely something for the Government of Ontario to do. It might be called "Socialism," but it was what the C.P.R. was offering in the Northwest.

Hon. Col. Hendrie presented a petition from 700 Hamiltonians asking for the repeal of the McNaught Bread Act.

W. H. Hoyle (North Ontario), chairman of the standing orders committee, stated that 25 private bills would be thrown out if time of presenting and introducing were not extended. An extension was made to Wednesday and Thursday next.

Hon. Adam Beck, in answer to the question of Hon. A. C. MacKay, explained that up to Oct. 31, 1909, $495,984.46 had been expended by the Hydro Electric Commission, $230,973.29 of which was for transmission lines. The commission builds all transformer stations.

In the private bills committee yesterday morning the application of the Toronto General Burying Ground trustees for permission to sell land not required for cemetery purposes, and to invest moneys held in trust for the perpetual care of lots, met with approval.

Mr. Godfrey—"Bill to prevent procreation of confirmed criminals, idiots and rapists."

Hon. A. G. MacKay—"Bill to amend the Power Commission Act and the Power Commission Amendment Act 1909."

To Develop Newfoundland.

New York, Feb. 17.—W. D. Reid, son of Sir Robert G. Reid of Newfoundland, says that plans are under way for a great development of the interior of Newfoundland. The Government has contracted for the construction of five branch lines of railroad, which will bring many parts of the colony which are now isolated or reached only by steamer into direct communication with St. John's.

Love-Sick Swain Attempts Suicide.

Kingston, Feb. 17.—George Green, aged 22, of Sharbot Lake, took carbolic acid Tuesday evening, and his life is despaired of. It seems he had been keeping company with a young woman and that his family had strongly objected.

CHAMBERLAIN TAKES OATH.

"Fighting Joe" Is a Mere Wreck of His Former Self.

London, Feb. 17.—For the first time since he was stricken with paralysis years ago, Joseph Chamberlain put in an appearance in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and took the oath as a member of the new Parliament. Mr. Chamberlain walked with marked difficulty, being assisted by his son, Joseph Austen, and Lord Morpeth. When the membership roll was placed before him for his signature, he required the aid of Austen, who signed the name of his father, the latter appending his mark.

The whole scene was painful to those who recalled the vigor exhibited by the statesman on his last previous appearance in the House. Yesterday his frame was shrunken and his features were ashen. He was unable to move without assistance, and haltingly spoke the words of the oath while the son had spoken them in his father's ear.

It was evident to those who witnessed the scene that all hope of a recovery from physical infirmities must be abandoned. There was perfect silence throughout the trying ordeal.

Mr. Chamberlain, it is announced, accepted the presidency of the Imperial League, formed by Norton Griffiths, M.P., with the object of assisting in emigrating unemployed workmen and their families to Canada.

Conservative Wins Bye-Election.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 17.—For the first time in thirty years, a Conservative was elected yesterday in Queen's County in the bye-election to fill the vacancy in the Legislature created by the translation of Hon. E. M. Farrell from the Speakership of the local House to the Senate at Ottawa.

W. L. Hall, a Liverpool barrister, has a majority of 230 over his Liberal opponent, A. W. Hendry, the leading business man of the county. Farrell's majority at the last general election was about 300.

This is the first bye-election in which a Conservative has captured a seat in the Legislature since 1878.

As the present Liberal Government must appeal to the people before the end of 1911, the present turnover in the county represented federally by Hon. W. S. Fielding, has caused consternation in the ranks.

Politics In Quebec.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—The contest now going on in the County of Gaspe is attracting a great deal of interest as Mr. Perron, the prominent Montreal lawyer, is encountering stiff opposition from Dr. Gauthier. It is believed, however, that Perron will be returned, and that after entering the Quebec Cabinet without portfolio, will subsequently become Attorney-General.

It is also thought that as soon as the election is over G. Langlois, M.P.P., will be appointed to the Legislative Council.

Tragedies of a Day.

New York, Feb. 17.—Two women dropped from the roofs and met death on the pavement below yesterday. One of them, a young shirtwaist maker, is known to have leaped purposely to her fate. She was Jennie Shrolsky, 17 years old, and a note she left, showed that it was because of melancholy over a love affair. Her body, falling from a six-storey roof, struck a passing baker carrying a basket through Second street.

The other death was that of a woman of 73 years, Mrs. Bridget O'Toole.

Evidence for Eight-Hour Day.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Victor Dubreuil, fair wage officer of the Labor Department, gave evidence yesterday morning re the movement for an eight-hour day before the special Commons committee. He stated that there was a general tendency to a reduction of hours of labor, especially in the west, and that in British Columbia and Alberta the building trades had already secured the eight-hour day.

Scows Were Overloaded.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Chief Engineer Lafleur of the Public Works Department, yesterday told the public accounts committee the reason the figures for the amount of dredging done in the Gaspereaux River, New Brunswick, exceeded the normal capacity of the scows, was because the latter were always overloaded. The contract price, 90 cents per cubic yard, was above the average.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Don't send my boy where your girl can't go,
And say, 'There's no danger for boys, you know,
Because they all have their wild oats to sow';
There's no more excuse for my boy to be low,
Than your girl. Then please don't tell him so.

"Don't send my boy where your girl can't go.
For a boy's sin or a girl's sin is sin, you know,
And my baby's hands are as clean and white
And his heart is as pure as your girl's to-night."
—Anonymous.

There is one great moral reform that I hope the twentieth century will see at least started, and that is the abolishment of a dual standard of morality for the two sexes.

Not long ago I wrote an article on the old-fashioned mother and the wisdom of listening to some of her old-fashioned advice.

Shortly afterward, one of this sisterhood of mothers wrote to me to say that she thought that some of the things in the article applied to her son, but that it had rolled from his shoulders like water off a duck's back, because he was sure it was meant only for girls.

It wasn't meant only for girls by any means. On the whole, I think that most young men need a conservative mother's advice much more than their sisters.

But you'd need Diogenes' lantern to find the man who would admit that.

A woman can't possibly understand the peculiar temptations a man has, or the peculiar standards he lives by, think most boys. Of course, they expect their sisters to be refined and careful and straight. The very thought of anything else makes their blood boil. But as for themselves—that's different. They're men.

I am an ardent suffragist, but I would rather see women get their rights in this matter than at the polls. I would rather see the time when a man's sin and a woman's sin would be regarded in just the same light, than the time when women will have free access to the ballot box.

I realize, of course, that women are their own worst enemies in this thing. It is a sad fact that a man will forgive an erring woman far more quickly than her sisters will. It is they who harshly condemn the woman who "loved not wisely, but too well," even while they forgive the man who has deliberately led a fast life.

She has lost caste forever. He has merely been "sowing his wild oats"

And yet it's the same sin.

Isn't it abominable? Isn't it absurd? Isn't it shortsighted?

For we are doing ourselves far more harm than we realize.

A prominent woman physician recently made the prophecy to me that the woman of the next decade was going to begin to demand of her lover the same clean record she brings him.

I am not so hopeful of that. It seems to me the next century will be nearer the mark. The most I hope for is a gradual tendency in that direction.

But I do hope for that. And I do think the woman who is working for complete justice for her sex can do something better than to try to abolish this dual standard of morality, and put in its place one standard of right and wrong for both sexes, one attitude towards the same weaknesses whether they be found in man or woman.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S MEETING.

The public are requested to keep in mind the public meeting in the Opera House on Friday night, Feb. 25th, which will be addressed by Mr. E. M. McDonald, of Picton, N.S., and Mr. Henri S. Beland, of Beauce, P. Q. Mr McDonald is one of the most able, eloquent and effective English speaking members of the present Parliament and Mr Beland is one of the most eminent of our parliamentary capitalists of French origin. His outstanding ability is shown by the fact that he was chosen as one of the commissioners sent to Washington to represent Canada at the International conference on conservation. The speeches will touch upon matters of present day national interest—at a time when this country is considering an undertaking that marks an epoch in her national development.

WHAT IS THE MEANING OF ?

What is the meaning of ?

Yes, what is the meaning of it? Why is it that in front of every billboard throughout the city people are to be seen gazing in perplexity at what even to the dullest intellect in the whole range of human existence can be and is nothing more than an interrogation mark? The answers that have been received and are still coming in in tremendously increasing volume to The Examiner office prove that Peterborough people possess a full share of curiosity and originality of thought. Some of the solutions received to-day are given herewith. One writer, evidently a lady, says she thinks the query is meant to stand for "Who is W. A. B."? She adds in a postcript (that is why we think she is a lady), "I do like W. A. B.'s postcards—they are so funny." Another writer, who is somewhat hazy in his caligraphy, excuses his shortings in this respect by starting off "Deer Frend

If my spellin's bad, lay it to my pen. It's broke and kind of spittin'. He thinks that the Examiner is making a joke of the public, and that the question mark stands for "Ain't yer makin' a lot of blamed fools of yerselves tryin' to find out?" But this is really altogether too serious a subject and certainly the Examiner would never try to make a fool of anybody.

None of the answers received are correct. Let those now guess who never guessed before and those who have had a guess now guess some more.

MILK SPILT

Horse Ran Away On Reid Street Yesterday—Frightened by Street Car.

A milkman named Dummitt fared as well as the man from Gore's Landing in a little experience on Reid St. yesterday. He had left his horse standing, untied in front of a house on Reid St. just north of Dalhousie, when the C. G. E. car noisily made the turn at Sherbrooke St. and drew near. The same animal is said to have never before paid attention to the car, but for some reason known only to itself it statred to run away when the car was a few yards behind it this morning. It swerved out on the track and although Motorman LeGrandeur applied the brakes immediately the vehicle did not make good its escape. One corner of the fender barely tipped one side of the sleigh but it was sufficient to overturn it, and the cans were thrown out into the snow. The sleigh was undamaged but the most of the milk was lost according to a report.

ZAM-BUK CURES PILES

EVIDENCE FROM ALL SOURCES

There are so many so-called "remedies" for piles that sufferers are often at a loss what to try. Piles are caused by distension of the hemorrhoid veins, and the tissue becomes highly inflamed, dry and sore. Zam-Buk cools and soothes the inflamed tissue and the healing essences in Zam-Buk penetrate the diseased parts, giving ease quickly and eventually curing the most obstinate case of piles.

Mr. George Harris, of Virden, Man., says: "I suffered acutely from piles, but I am glad to say Zam-Buk gave me ease and brought about ultimate cure."

Mrs. S. Cooke, 468 Pacific Ave., Winnipeg, says: "A month ago I was cured by Zam-Buk of a bad attack of bleeding piles, to which I had been subject for a long time."

Mr. William Kenty, of Upper Nine Mile River, Hants Co., Ont., N.S., says: "I suffered terribly from piles. The pain from these was at times almost unbearable. I tried various ointments, but everything failed to do me the slightest good. I was tired of trying various remedies, when I heard of Zam-Buk, but thought, as a last resource, I would give this balm a trial. I procured a supply and commenced with the treatment. In a very short time Zam-Buk effected what all the other ointments and medicines had failed to do —a complete cure."

Wherever there is inflammation or ulceration, there Zam-Buk should be applied. It heals ulcers, abscesses, festering sores, cold cracks, scalp sores, cuts, burns, scalds, bruises and all irritated, inflamed or diseased conditions of the skin and subjacent tissue. All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse harmful substitutes.

ALASKAN WEATHER

Travellers Reaching Seattle Tell of Terrible Suffering.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 17.—Three merchants just arrived in Seattle, having travelled from Nome to Fairbanks and Valdez on snowshoes and by stage, report that the winter in the north is the most severe ever known. They left Nome December 7, and encountered continuous bad weather and temperature often 70 degrees below zero. On the Valdez trail they reached a roadhouse just before the climax of the storm, and on entering found four corpses, the deaths being due to cold.

After a brief respite the blizzard is raging again according to cable advices.

The body was supposed to have been identified last July by a peculiarity of the feet, and Edward E. Simons, Adams' uncle, claimed it and buried it.

PARIS NEWSPAPERS FERRET OUT CRIME

Mysteries Unravelled While the Police Are Content With Theories.

Paris, Feb. 17.—The hostility of the Paris police to the newspapers which assist them in hunting up perpetuators of sensational and mysterious crimes is intelligible enough from one point of view. When the police would glady have placed the Syveton and Steinheil cases on the list of closed incidents these enterprising publications would have none of it and leagued together to continue their researches

In th Steinheil case it was solely on account of the persistence in volunteer detective work by the Matin that Madame was finally brought face to face with a judge and a jury.

It was the same with the murder of Mme. Gouin. The police had virtually confessed to being beaten in the pursuit of the criminal, but the newspapers kept pegging away at the mystery ,and now two soldiers are in custody. They are said to have confessed the crime. Mme. Gouin, a middle-aged woman, the widow of a director of the Bank of France, was done to death in the most brutal manner in a tram between Fontainebleau and Paris. The body was found beside the track minus a leg and an arm—which have never been found. The car door was half wrenched off, the compartment was spattered with blood, and blood was found on the footboard.

When last seen Mme. Gouin was wearing four valuable rings, which were missing from the mutilated fingers. Her handbag, cut clean through was picked up nearly half a mile from the body in the direction in which the train was going.

This was conclusive against the theory of suicide, even if all the other surrounding circumstances were not equally incompatible with it.

The crime was passing into the realm of unsolved mysteries like the "Mystery of Train No. 826." The police theory, even in face of this evidence, was that the woman was subject to fits and that she died in one. For ten days the police set themselves to elucidate the mystery on this theory, during which period the murderers were covering up their tracks.

The newspapers insisted that the theory of a natural death or accident was untenable, and presented their proofs of murder, so that the police were reluctantly forced to accept them. Inquiries were then instituted about certain soldiers who travelled in an adjoining compartment, with the result already stated.

WEDS AT 15, WANTS DIVORCE AT 16

School Girl Dodged Truancy Law by Plunging Into Matrimonial Sea.

Holland, Mich., Feb. 17. — Miss Hazel Rockwood, who stole a march on her school chums last spring by announcing her marriage to Lee S. Cummings, is getting ready to spring a still greater surprise by instituting divorce proceedings after an unhappy matrimonial career.

Miss Rockwood was led to the altar as a bride of fifteen years last March as the only way of escaping the truancy law. She fairly hated to go to school and she had not completed the eighth grade, an early marriage was the only alternative. Mr. and Mrs. Cummings separated over two months ago, and the latter, having passed the "sweet sixteen" limit, is now employed at the factory of the Holland Shoe Company in this city.

CURE FOR WHOOPING COUGH

Mrs. William Ball, Bracebridge, Ont. writes: "My three boys had whooping cough and we could get nothing to help them until we used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. This was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

CONSERVATORY NOTES

There was a fine practice of the Conservatory of Music Madrigal Club last night, and the next will be held on Tuesday, February 22nd. About forty were present and the required number has been almost reached. A few more tenors and sopranos will be welcomed. The chorus has taken up the work well and the results up to the present have been most gratifying.

The concert by the orchestra, assisted by Mrs. Scott Raff, which was to have been held this week, has been postponed until Monday evening next.

BONSPIEL MAY BE HELD IN PETERBOROUGH

Local Curlers are Trying to Make Arrangements for Big Meeting.

The prospects of a bonspiel being held at the Curling rink this season are rather promising according to one of the officers and from the present outlook it is likely that arrangements will be made to assure the bonspiel. The players have been talking in favour of the proposal and to bring to a climax a very successful season a bonspiel suggests itself most favourably. In the event of its being held there will be a large number of curlers come to Peterborough and the rink will be at its busiest for a number of days.

DANCED IN NIGHTIES

Young Pittsburg Heiress Announced Engagement in Novel Fashion

Pittsburg, Feb. 17.—It has taken Miss Gertrude Wilson, whose engagement was announced recently to James Franklin Clinton, to awaken Pittsburg society from its London ennui by giving a nightdress and pajama party to a select coterie of her friends to announce her withdrawal from the gay surroundings to the more humdrum married existence.

Miss Wilson belongs to the horsy set ,and some months ago declared that when she got ready to be married she would announce the fact to here friends in a startling manner. About one week ago twenty of her intimate friends, ten men and a like number of women, received invitations to a ramble to the Wilson mansion. The men were instructed to bring pajamas and the women were cautioned to be sure and have their nighties in readiness. When the guests arirved they were sent to the retiring rooms, where they attired themselves in their night garments, not, however, disrobing.

There was a grotesque dance, following the costuming, after which a luncheon, dinner or supper, was served. The first course was cocktails served in medium-sized water pitchers.

When the time came for the first course an immense tank was wheeled into the dining hall. In this sunfish perch and suckers were swimming around and the guests had to do their own fishing, after which the females with their own dainty hands, had to sever the heads, scrape the scales, roll the carcases in cracker dust, which had been prepared, and fry the fish over electric heaters.

HAVE INSTALLED CANDY BOXES

Patrons of Grand Opera Will be Supplied With Candy in Their Seats.

The patrons of the Grand Opera House will not require to carry boxes of candy to the theatre in the future. To-morrow evening for the first time, on the occasion of the presentation of "The Man From Home" those desiring candies will be provided with them right in their seats. Mr. E. R. Reid, representing McClure and Langley, sole agents for Tabler's Swiss milk chocolates, Toronto, has been in the city for the past couple of days, installing these candy boxes in the local playhouse. One has been placed on the back of every seat. By dropping ten cents into a little slot and pressing a button the box is opened and the patron is supplied with some of Tabler's milk chocolates.

This device was invented by Mr. W. Martin and was first installed in the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto. Since then, it has been placed in fifteen other houses and requests, Mr. Reid states, are continually coming in to have them installed in other cities. Mr. Reid left this evening for Brantford, where he will fit out a theatre there.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Feb. 16.

Sir,—What nonsense all this is about the dogs! Not one dog in a million has hydrophobia. It is all a bluff. Of course they should not be let to run about the streets without some one in charge, but there are two-legged brutes who require more looking after and, as in Montreal, the nearer they get to the civic authorities the safer they are. W. A. B.

Feb. 17, 1910.

In reading over your post card column of the 16th inst, I see Miss Hayes' statement regarding Sackville St., Dublin being the principal street of Dublin is contradicted by Gael, who says it is not so. Well, I should like to say that I know that it is and that Daniel O'Connell's statue stands in the middle of the road and he is looking at O'Connell bridge, which crosses the river Liffey in a direct line. Nelson's Column also stands in Sackville St., and it is the principal street of Dublin. I lived there.

J. G.

Peterborough, Feb. 7.

Sir,—Referring to Gael's statement in last night's edition that Miss Hayes said Sackville St. was the main thoroughfare. While he gives the valuable information that it is called O'Connell St., I would like to inform him that Sackville St. and O'Connell St. are the same street. O'Connell is the newer name. If Gael would please re-read the part he is referring to he would note Miss Hayes says in the most prominent street is the statue of Father Mathew, which statement is correct. She didn't say what was the name of the street.

Again thanking Gael, for his information, I am.—Yours truly,

"DEFENDER."

HOCKEY

Peterborough, February 17th.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I see where a supporter of the Lindsay hockey team says in The Post that the Midgets can beat Peterborough anywhere at any time, and suggests a game be played on neutral ice. I think a more satisfactory way would be to have a game in Lindsay and a game in Peterborough, total goals scored in the two games to count. From what I can learn the Peterborough team is anxious to have the matter of supremacy settled as above and I know if the Midgets are game and won't back down, that everybody in the two towns can have an opportunity to get satisfaction.

If Lindsay is agreeable to this all they have to do is to say so.

NEW WRITING DESK TO BE INSTALLED

A new writing table is being installed in the Hotel National. Mr. E. D. Wilde, of St. Paul, Minn., is in the city looking after the work, and it will be a most attractive table. The top will be marble and it will be laid out in blocks of advertising of local business firms. The work will all be done by Peterborough people, Mr. John Coughlin supplying the marble, Mr. Fred Cook the ad. writing, and Lane and Eano the woodwork.

The addition of this handsome table to the National is but another evidence of the enterprise of the management.

WEDDING BELLS

MOORE—MANN.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday at high noon, at the home of Mr. Thos. R. Mann in Smith when his eldest daughter, Miss Eunice Ada was united in marriage to Mr. Charles E. Moore, only son of Mr. J. K. Moore, of Smith. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jas. Bonnar, pastor of Gilmour Memorial church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Ida Jackson, of this city, the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father. She looked very charming in a beautiful dress of white liberty satin with trimmings of lace. She wore a bridal veil with wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid Miss Sadie Mann, sister of the bride, looked very pretty in a gown of pale blue. She carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. George Adam, of the Bank of Commerce, Guelph. After the ceremony and hearty congratulations had been bestowed on the young couple, the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the 4.38 train on an extended trip to New York and Bermuda, followed by the best wishes of a host of friends. Mrs. Moore travelled in a suit of brown, with hat to match.

City Anglican Sunday Schools To Hold Summer School Here

Enthusiastic Meeting in St. John's School Room Last Evening—Work Outlined by Rev. J. Russell McLean.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The meeting of the city Anglican clergy, Sunday school superintendents and teachers, was held in St. John's guild room last night, to form a committee in connection with the S. S. convention to be held here next June.

The meeting was very largely attended and was characterized by considerable enthusiasm for the work in hand.

The Rev. J. Russell McLean, rector of Colborne, was present, and outlined the work proposed to be undertaken by the committee for the deaneries to be represented at the convention. On the Sunday preceding the convention, the Anglican pulpits will be occupied by Bishop Sweeny, Archdeacon Cody and Rev. Canon Powell. Papers will be given by Mr. Barlow Cumberland, Rev. Mr. Burns Rev. Mr. Holdsworth and others. Wednesday and Thursday of convention week will be devoted to a summer school conducted by expert S.S. teachers. A city committee was formed as follows: Mr. Edgar of All Saints', chairman; Miss Birdie Dawson, and Mr. R. J. Devey, secretaries, the three local superintendents, conveners, with five representatives, from each congregation, will form the executive of the committee.

In the course of the discussion that followed strong emphasis was laid upon the fact that merely academic discussion at the coming convention would be useless and consequently the committees were requested to take up subjects that would be of real practical assistance to Sunday school teachers.

The object of the work to be taken up, both at the convention and the summer school will be to specially help Sunday school work in purely rural districts.

Winnipeg Free Press Pays Warm Tribute To Late Capt. Kennedy

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

Capt. John W. Kennedy, one of Winnipeg's pioneers passed away in his 66th year Saturday at his residence, 965 Portage avenue. He was the last of the Kennedy brothers, who were so prominent in military affairs in this city, and indeed in Ontario before moving to the west. The older of these brothers, the late Colonel W. N. Kennedy, was the chief mover in the organization of the 90th Rifles and the first commander of that corps. The late Capt. Jas. Kennedy accompanied his brother, and died in this city only a couple of years ago. The late Capt. Joseph Kennedy commanded a company of the 91st in the second Riel rebellion.

John Wesley Kennedy was born in Peterborough, a little over 65 years ago, being a son of Colonel John Kennedy, of the 57th Peterborough light infantry. He joined his father's battalion at 14 years of age as bugler, and at 17 took his place in the line. At 19 he went to the military school and was gazetted ensign on graduation. At 22 years of age he became captain of No. 2 company, and no less than three of his brothers were officers of the battalion under the command of their father at the Fenian raid at Ridgeway in 1866.

Mr. Kennedy came to Winnipeg about 1880 and in the following year was a member of the home guards at Fort Osborne barracks. In 1885, when the second Riel Rebellion broke out, he recruited a company for the 91st battalion and was made its captain, going immediately to the front.

He was married in 1866 to Sarah Elizabeth Newman, who survives him. The family consists of two sons, Wm. N. and John H. N., both married and residents of this city, and one daughter, Lulu, the wife of Geo. A. Brown, M.D.

The deceased with his brothers opened up business in painting and decorating and for a number of years were a prominent firm in that line. John W. afterwards went into the life insurance business and for a time was manager for Manitoba and the west of the North American Life. For some years he has held a position in the land titles office.

The Kennedy family were all active Methodists and John W. was for many years a prominent and official member of Grace church, transferring later to Young church, which was nearer his residence, and still later he transferred to St. James Park Congregational church, which was more convenient to his home. A memorial service will be held in that church on Sunday morning, Feb. 20, when Rev. Ernest E. Weeks will conduct the service.

Mr. Kennedy was a great lover of music and possessed a fine tenor voice which he used most generously in connection with religious services, always associated with the church choir.

He was particularly prominent as a temperance advocate, proud of the fact that he was a life long abstainer and had joined the cadets of temperance when only eight years of age. He was a member of the Good Templars and of the Sons of Temperance but for the last twenty odd years was regarded as a leader in the Royal Templars of Temperance. He was at one time the presiding officer of Aurora council No. 1, of this city, and prided himself upon the remarkable recording of initiating 111 members during the year of his incumbency. He passed through the chairs of the provincial body and won the honours of the past grands councillor, representing Manitoba in the national body. At the time of his death he was one of the grand trustees and only a few days before was making preparation for the annual convention of this week. He took a particular interest in the reception of the Dominion Banner, which this year was awarded to his mother council, Aurora No. 1. He was the president of the Glee Club of this society. Without a doubt a memorial service will be held during the annual convention, probably on Thursday evening.

He was a member of the Masonic order, of the Orange order and of other fraternal societies.

John W. Kennedy possessed all the elements that make up an enterprising and useful citizen. He was ever ready to give a helping hand to every movement that made for the betterment of society and was particularly devoted to social reform and Christian work. He was an exemplary Christian, a loving husband and a kind father, whose passing will be sincerely mourned by his own family and by a very large circle of friends.

The interment will occur to-day at St. John's cemetery. Services will be held at the residence, 961 Portage avenue, at 2 p.m., Rev. E. E. Weeks officiating. Rev. Edgar Whitehouse, Rev. H. Wigle and W. W. Buchanan will assist in the religious service.

Winners Of Prizes Decided For The Best Collections Of Bugs

The winners of the prizes donated by Mr. Barlow Cumberland, of Toronto, on behalf of the Historical Society, for the best collections of bugs in connection with the Nature Study classes at the Collegiate Institute have been decided. Mr. Allan Brown, wins the first prize and Mr. Wilmot Browett the second. Mr. Wallace Armstrong had the third best and receives honourable mention, there being only two money prizes donated by Mr. Cumberland.

The winners were decided by the number in the collections and the care with which they ewere mounted. Allan Brown had one hundred and eighty, including a large number of varieties. Wilmot Browett's showed a great deal of care in mounting, but the number was not so large.

NEW CARETAKER

Mr. Geo. McKee Appointed Successor to Mr. John Hart at Collegiate Institute.

As the result of the resignation of Mr. John Hart from the position of caretaker of the Collegiate Institute, the Committee on Appointments met last night to consider the appointment of his successor. Mr. Geo. McKee was the choice of the committee, who recommend his appointment to the Board of Education. The salary is $880 a year. Mr. McKee is one of the most popular and widely-known conductors on the Peterborough Radial Railway and it is understood he severed his connection with the Company to-day. Mr. Hart, who has been caretaker of the Collegiate during the past seven or eight years was respected and liked by the pupils, who passed through the Collegiate. He had charge of the old Collegiate and his many friends wish him every success in Prince Albert, where he expects to meet with the good fortune that the West hands out with seeming lavishness.

It is a laxative tonic cough syrup which can be made at home by anyone and the formula is here given for the benefit of those who pass sleepless nights in painful paroxysms. Those who have tried it say it is magical, and beats any high-priced, slow-acting cough medicine ever sold.

in suiting the demands of exacting wearers of Glasses is that we not only use the best qualities of Lenses and Frames, but our examination of the eyes is so thorough as to investigate the irregularities and peculiarities of each case and give the greatest possible help, by powers specially made to fully correct and relieve all these irregularities. There is usually more help possible than would be supposed, and those who put up merely with what they can manage to see with, endanger the eyes and miss much comfort and pleasure. RIOTS IN GERMANY

Opposition to Franchise Bill Is Led by Socialists and Radicals and Disorderly Scenes Occur — Measure Proposes to Divide Voters Into Three Classes — Officers and Educated Get Preference.

Kiel, Feb. 17.—Further disturbances occurred at Neumanster, Schleswig-Holstein, where indignation meetings were held to protest against the action of the police in interfering with Sunday's demonstration against proposed Prussian franchise laws. A crowd gathered at the town hall and hooted and stoned the police. The latter attacked with drawn sabres, and also requisitioned a company of infantry, which with fixed bayonets, cleared the square.

Despatches from Cassel say that serious riots also occurred there, the police fighting with the Socialists for more than an hour.

A policeman cut off a man's arm with a sabre as his hand was raised to throw a stone.

The franchise bill, which the Socialists oppose, retains the "three class system," whereby electors are divided according to the amount of taxes they pay, but it provides that officers and other members of the educated classes are to be placed in the first and second classes, irrespective of the amount of their taxes. Direct, instead of indirect voting, is also provided for in the bill. The Radicals have joined with the Socialists in their opposition to the bill.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Peterborough People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which have cured people right here in Peterborough:

Mrs. M. J. Cook of 494 Aylmer St., Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I always find quick relief in Doan's Kidney Pills. They strengthen and relieve my back of a dull, heavy pain that settles in the small of it, and extends into my shoulders. For years I had suffered with these symptoms of kidney trouble, and could find no relief. I had frequent spells of dizziness and headaches. I was restless and weak and would often awake more tired than on going to bed. I never found relief for these painful and weakening symptoms of kidney trouble until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, obtained at Madill's Pharmacy. I have had little trouble since as I use Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally and they keep me in the best of health."

ANOTHER PROPOSAL

East Huron Member Favors an Annual Expenditure of a Million and a Half to Pay Interest on a Fifty Million Outlay For Seven Dreadnoughts—Mr. Congdon of the Yukon Favors the Navy.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—While the naval debate may be said to be dragging its weary way the proceedings were somewhat enlivened yesterday afternoon by two features. One was a speech by Dr. Chisholm (Con., East Huron), in which radical treatment was given the question of Imperial defence. The other was a particularly clear address by E. T. Congdon (Lib., Yukon), whose utterance has been anticipated with some interest by both sides of the House, there being prophecies that he would not support the Government. Prophets notwithstanding, Mr. Congdon supported the naval measure.

Dr. Chisholm proposed to show that Canada could give seven Dreadnoughts to Great Britain at a less cost than the present scheme. He favored the enlargement of drydocks, believing that the Government was doing the right thing in this respect for trade and commerce. He favored drydocks at St. John and Halifax and a naval college at the latter point.

He criticized the Government for doing nothing for McCurdy and Baldwin, the Canadian aviators, while they were carrying on their experiments at Petewawa. On such matters, Canada was the only laggard in this great empire of nations. Germany had brought her airship fleet to such perfection that a sham battle in the air was fought for three hours.

His chief point, however, was that as Britain had to protect her food supply she must be able to do so with Dreadnoughts. She could protect the trade route of the Atlantic from Hudson Bay with four of these monster ships. Canada could supply these four, and three more, by paying $1,500,000 annually, the interest of a capital outlay of $50,000,000, which capital could be furnished by Great Britain. As to smaller ships, Britain had plenty of these to spare, and they could be got for the protection of our coasts, thus saving an enormous expense to Canada. The sum of his argument was that Canada could build five more Dreadnoughts than Mr. Borden proposed and save Canada millions of dollars.

Mr. Congdon said he regretted that the tone of certain portions of the debate was not higher. This was particularly the case of F. D. Monk, than whom there was no man of more dignity in the House, but who had descended to a place not worthy of himself.

Mr. Borden had considered that there was nothing inconsistent in Canada contributing the cost of two Dreadnoughts to Great Britain, while declaring in the same resolution that the question of a Canadian navy should be submitted to the people.

Germany, he argued, had as good a right as Great Britain to build up naval defence. In this country it was the duty of every loyal man not to go around howling and raising prejudice against Germany, but to endeavor honestly and sincerely to allay it. He did not think the real danger to the empire would come from traitors and disloyal men, but from ultra-loyalists who were not trying to serve their own country, but to cause hostility in other countries.

He did not think there was any reason why the Munroe doctrine should not supplement Imperial defence in the defence of Canada, but no self-respecting outside people would rely entirely upon the Munroe doctrine.

An important bill was introduced by C. A. Magrath (Medicine Hat) yesterday to amend the Dominion Lands Act. Its object is to surround western water powers with greater safety than already exists. Mr. Magrath desires that the period of license should be fixed by law not longer than 25 years in organized territory and not longer than ten years in unorganized territory. Also, no license should be issued unless by order-in-council.

F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) remarked that the conservation commission was at present preparing a bill much on the same lines.

J. E. Armstrong (East Lambton) asked yesterday whether the German conventional tariff was the lowest Germany had adopted, whether the schedule contained all the articles likely to go into Germany under the favored clause, and whether German goods were to come into this country under a favored tariff.

Hon. W. S. Fielding replied that he had no information to give out in addition to what had been given yesterday. Any additional correspondence was of a confidential nature. He had been advised that the conventional tariff was the lowest. Canada had refused to Germany the advantages of the French treaty. In short, Canada had arranged to give up the surtax only, while Germany gave Canada the benefit of the lower tariff on articles prized most by Canadian exporters.

Mr. Armstrong asked if the question had been considered that some Canadian manufacturers had been built up under the German surtax.

Mr. Fielding said he did not know this. However, Canadian manufacturers were aware that this surtax was simply a commercial war tax.

F. R. Lalor (Haldimand) said that the removal of the surtax on certain raw materials, such as yarn, would affect Canadian industries built up under the surtax.

Good, Better or Best?

A VITAL DIFFERENCE IN BREADS

QUALITY you know is comparative. Just as much so in bread, as in woolens or linens.

If you make bread at all you naturally want it to be good—as good as, or better than your neighbor's.

But is your bread as good as it ought to be? Does it furnish its full quantum of health and strength? Is it nutritious as well as delicious?

Ordinary flour makes fairly good looking bread. But if you care for food value, for nutrition, for digestibility, for bone and muscle and blood building quality, you will want a flour rich in the highest quality of gluten. You will want the flour that makes bread not only good-to-look-at, but also makes it strength-producing, health-producing.

But where can you get such flour and how can you tell it from the kind that isn't nourishing?

The safe way is to get OGILVIE'S "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". Then you can't make a mistake.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is the finest flour in the world and makes the best bread in the world.

And it is just as good for Pastry as it is for Bread. It is the one flour which has proved an unqualified success for every household purpose. And its absolute uniformity guarantees you against failure—

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR isn't just ordinary wheat sent to an ordinary mill and ground by the ordinary process. It is Manitoba Red Fyfe Wheat which is especially rich in high quality gluten, scientifically milled and subjected to scientific chemical tests as well as baking tests before it comes to you in sack or barrel, etc.

No wonder "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" makes the finest and most nourishing bread. No wonder it makes the most delicious and healthful pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, rolls.

Bread made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is vastly more nourishing than bread made from ordinary flour. Also it is lighter, flakier, more delicious as well as more nutritious.

Order "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at once. Don't delay. The sooner you commence using this finest of all flours the better for your family.

OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD

MAY UNSEAT THE BRANTFORD COUNCIL

Brantford, Feb. 17.—It was stated yesterday that a move will be made to unseat the entire Brantford City Council with the view primarily of upsetting the license reduction by-law recently passed. The technicality is that the declaration of office of the alderman elect should have been taken before a justice of the peace rather than the city clerk, and it is claimed that on similar grounds the City Council of St. Catharines had to seek reelection.

The Town Council of Paris Tuesday night laid over to a special meeting the question of license reduction. A petition signed by 594 citizens asking for reduction and a petition signed by 371 ratepayers was presented against. A motion to leave the matter to the ratepayers was defeated.

Parents of Husband Sue for Annuity.

Paris, Feb. 17.—The Marquis de Castellane have instituted suit against the Princess de Sagan for $13,000 back annuities which they allege the count and countess in the marriage settlement of 1898 engaged themselves to pay at the rate of $5,800 a year.

This annuity was paid until the Count and Countess de Castellane were divorced, when the countess, formerly Miss Anna Gould, of New York, refused to contribute further to the support of her former husband's parents.

Country Not Assisting Q. O. R. Trip.

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—In the Commons yesterday afternoon, Sir Frederick Borden, replying to a question put on behalf of Geo. E. Foster, said that it was not the intention of the Government to bear any portion of the expenses of the visit of the Queen's Own Rifles to England this year.

Artillery Men Camped In Snow.

Kingston, Feb. 17.—Each man wrapped in two rubber sheets and five blankets, the men of B Battery slept Tuesday night in the snow at Murvale. The camp concluded a 15-mile journey, and the first of four days of sham campaigning. Major-Gen. Sir Percy Lake is with the force.

Aero Club Incorporated.

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The Aero Club of American, with principal offices in New York City, was incorporated yesterday to advance the development of the science of aeronautics and kindred sciences and to encourage aerial navigation, conferences, expositions, and congresses.

MUZZLES MUST BE OF METAL

Toronto, Feb. 17.—On and after Feb. 21, all dogs not locked up or chained within the premises of the owner or other person in charge of such canines must be muzzled with a metal muzzle. Even if held on a chain the dog may not go upon the street without his muzzle.

This is the opinion of one who will have to do with the enforcement of the bylaw as amended by the police commissioners at their meeting Tuesday. Further the leather muzzle will not go.

This means a land office business for the vendors of dog muzzles, and advertisements calling upon dog owners to call early and avoid the rush have already been issued by dealers who do not fail to take advantage of any wind that blows. There is likely to be a rush, too, for it is doubtful if there is now in the city, or can be had by the time the regulation goes into effect.

Nickle Theatres Pay High License.

Brantford, Feb. 17.—Local theatorium managers made a strong effort here on the City Council to have the license fee of $300 per annum, reduced to $150. Brantford, it is stated, has the highest fee in the province. The council refused to make a reduction, theatorium having other business concerns for central location and are consequently rated as well able to pay the impost.

Had Heart Trouble.

Nerves Were All Unstrung.

Wherever there is any weakness of the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will soon produce a healthy, strong system.

Mrs. M. McGann, Debec Junction, N.B., writes:—"I wish to tell you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. Three years ago I was so run down I could not do my own work. I went to a doctor, and he told me I had heart trouble and that my nerves were all unstrung. I took his medicine, as he ordered me to do, but it did me no good. I then started to take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and had only taken one box before I started to feel better, so I continued their use until I had taken several boxes, and I am now strong and well, and able to do my own work. When I commenced taking your pills I weighed 125 pounds, and now weigh 135 and have given birth to a lovely young daughter, which was a happy thing in the family. When I commenced taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I could not go upstairs without resting before I got to the top. I can now go up without any trouble."

STRATHCONAS CHAMPIONS OF CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Defeated West Ends in a Wildly Exciting Game Last Night by 9 Goals to 4 in a Garrison Finish, Scoring Six Goals in the Last Twelve Minutes---West Ends Were Ahead Early in the Second Half But Caved in When the Commissioners Tied the Score and Went to Pieces ---The Score at the Half Was 3 to 2 in Favour of the Straths---1200 People Saw the Game---Weatherstone Was a Star.

Referee—Lawson Whitehead, Toronto.

REFEREE'S OPINION.

"It was a great game of hockey" said Referee Lawson Whitehead; "as exciting as one would care to see. The West Ends seemed to give up when they lost the lead, and were a badly beaten team at the finish, while the Strathconas seemed to be going as strong as ever. Outside of a couple of senior teams there is nothing in Toronto that the Strathconas need to be afraid to go up against on their playing to-night."

THE CITY LEAGUE HONOUR ROLL.

1906—T. A. S.
1906—Charlotte St. Guild.
1907—Strathconas.
1908—Strathconas.
1909—Lakefield.
1910—Strathconas.

For the third time in four years the Strathconas are champions of the City Hockey League.

THE CHAMPIONS

W. J. METHERAL,
Manager.

The Commissioners annexed the Examiner silverware last night by defeating the West Ends after as exciting and thrilling a contest as has ever been seen in the League. The final score was nine to four, in favour of the Red and White team, which would indicate that the winners had a wide margin on the play and won easily. This was not, however, the case only a garrison finish on the part of the Straths and a blowing up of the West Ends in the dying stages allowed the Commissioners to win out by such a large majority.

With only twelve minutes to play the yellow and black outfit were leading by 4 goals to 3, but the Straths made a grand finish, running in six goals in a row, and winning in a canter what had looked like a hard gallop down the stretch. The West Ends seemed to cave in when the Commissioners forged to the front, and the stubborn opposition that they had been handing out up to that period melted away, while the Commission ers took on a new life and were all over the Westerners in the last quarter of an hour, sweeping down three and four in a line, while West Ends fell to pieces and couldn't keep them out. It was an unexpectedly easy finish to a hard-fought game and few spectators thought in the middle of the second half that the Commissioners would end up five to the good.

It was a grand game of hockey all through, played on a lightning-fast sheet of ice that suited both teams down to the ground and there was not a let up all through. Both teams played much the same style of game, the forwards combining nicely, while the defence men rushed on every occasion that offered so that the rubber was always on the move, and it was no wonder that the 1,200 people present were half wild with excitement as each goal was threatened in turn. The City League has witnessed some memorable hockey contests, but there is little doubt that last night's game was one of the greatest exhibitions the patrons have ever seen. The big crowd and the rivalry between the teams only served to work the players up to their greatest efforts, the result being a grand display of hockey. The play was lightning in its speed, the puck travelling from goal to goal with remarkable rapidity, and the terrible pace was maintained by the winners to the gong, while the Westerners slumped on end.

CHARLIE RAY.
Rover and Captain.

The first half was remarkably even, and it was anybody's game at the turn. The Straths scored first, but the Westerners soon tied it up. Back came the Commissioners with another but the yellow and black was not to be denied and once more evened matters up. Before half-time Straths drew ahead again on a sensational rush by Denison and led at the half by 3 goals to 2.

West Ends came back with a goal in one minute, after the resumption of play in the second half, and their supporters remembering last week's game, were delighted. Their joy was increased appreciably when they went ahead in five minutes. It loked like a repetition of the last game, as the Straths could not seem to score although they were hammering away. Finally Ray scored on a neat shot, tying up the game, and from then on it was all Straths, the Commissioners hanging in five goals, while the Westerners seemed to give up hope, and their chances were not increased any by a couple of penalties. Until the West Ends' slump came there was little between the teams, the Commissioners having a shade the better of the going, more so than the score up to that time would appear to show. They had more openings than the Westerners, but failed to take advantage of them at first. The Commissioners played hockey all through the piece, and the Oldhamites blew up when the crisis came, and there was the difference. The Straths braced when it was needed, while the losers had not enough left in them to hold them out when they let out the last link.

The checking was close and hard, but in spite of that the teams showed teamwork as well as individual ability, and some nice combination was shown with the winners having somewhat the best of it in this department. Again the red and white line notably Weatherstone and Ray, checked back better than did the firing line of the losers, and this had a very important effect upon the ultimate result.

The penalties throughout were numerous, no less than twenty-two being handed out, of which thirteen went to the West Ends. However, the game was not rough, most of the sentences being for tripping or heavy body checking. Referee Whitehead of Toronto, had the game well in hand all the way, and never lost track of the players, frowning on anything that was questionable, while he lost nothing in the way of offsides.

The crowd was one of the largest that ever saw a City League game, being just twice as large as that of the week before. The West Ends' supporters were in the majority, and were equipped with bugles, tin horns, tin pans, and every possible noise-producing device and they used them to advantage during most of the game although something went wrong with the orchestra in the last stages. The Strathcona rooters, like their team, came strongest at the finish. The crowd rooted until they were nearly as exhausted as the players. Every man on the Strathconas had his share in the victory, and they lasted the whole hour, too, thanks to Trainer Sam Thomas, who had his men in the best of condition. He has worked faithfully with the team, and the way the seven finished shows that he has made no mistakes.

CHARLIE RAY.
Rover and Captain.

The defence made few mistakes, as a study of the play shows that only one West End goal was scored as the result of a clean rush, and even that was a long shot from the wings. The back division checked splendidly, while their rushes relieved the pressure and assisted the forward line materially. They later returned the compliment by checking back in grand fashion.

Derocher played one of his usual good games between the flags, and blocked and cleared nicely. Moore, who jumped into the game with only one practice did good work at point. He was cool and reliable at all times and the Westerners found it difficult to get around him. Denison repeated his performance of last week and there was no one on the ice that had anything on this sturdy youngster, who blocked with the skill and nerve of a veteran, and whose rushes were always well timed and effective.

On the forward line everyone worked hard and were always going, but special praise is coming to Captain Ray and Weatherstone. The latter was moved up to right wing, McMillan going to left, and the change was beneficial. Weatherstone was a human dynamo, who never let up for a minute. His rushes from the corner near his own goal always cleared the situation, and his checking back was beautiful. Time after time he got back just in time to bump into the West End man with the puck as he was about to shoot, and he was going just as hard at the finish as he was at the beginning. The keen ice suited Ray, and his stickhandling and zig-zag rushes were always prominent. He was at it all the way and checked back splendidly. Burritt, who has been under the doctor's care for over a week, worked like a hero in spite of the handicap, and took all the bumps a light man generally gets when going in on a heavy defence without a murmur. As usual he was there in the scoring line with three to his credit, two being tallied by quick work in face-offs in front of the West End goal. McMillan played his usual hard-working never-let-up game, his checking and rushing always helping.

Crane was the pick of the Westerners despite the fact that he, like Burritt, has been ill and was hardly fit to go into such a hard battle. His shooting was deadly, three goals coming from quick shots from scrimmages by the sturdy rover. Had he stayed on the ice more, however, he would have been more effective, as his absence, when in the penalty box, was felt by the yellow and black.

THE CHAMPIONS

FRED DENISON,
Cover Point.

THE CHAMPIONS

HUGH BURRITT,
Centre.

The two West End wings, Giroux and Short, were good for three-quarters of the game, both giving a brilliant exhibition up to that time, but they tired badly before the finish. Dobson worked his head off to avert defeat and he had nothing left in him at the finish. The West End defence was not as effective as last week, principally because they failed to stay on the ice and their frequent penalties wore out their forward line, who had to be defence and attack, too, at some stages. However, when they were on together, Seymour and McWilliams were very effective. Halpin played a fine game in the nets.

THE CHAMPIONS

HERB McMILLAN,
Right Wing.

The Play.

Pandemonium broke loose when Referee Whitehead dropped the puck between the sticks of Burritt and Dobson, and the battle was on. The pace was terrific. Right from the start the players dug in with a vengeance. The puck travelled up and down with lightning rapidity. McMillan got through on a pass from Burritt, and his shot just missed the post. Giroux came back with a nice rush down the boards and his dead-on shot was lifted by Derocher. Weatherstone bumped into McWilliams and to the count, his head hitting the ice as he went down. There was a short delay until he was able to resume. Almost as soon as play started Weatherstone was penalized for tripping Dobson. Short followed for a cross-check and the teams were even. When the two were back McWilliams went off for mixing it up and Seymour followed for slashing. Both were back, however, when the Commissioners broke into the scoring column in seven minutes, McMillan scooping one past Halpin at close range.

It took the Westerners only thirty seconds to sew up the game. Crane got the rubber from the face-off and passed to Giroux, who let drive a long shot from the wings, which landed behind Derocher.

Denison drew a penalty for cross-checking Crane and Burritt followed for loafing. Two men short, the Straths held their own until they were back, and then McWilliams was sent away for cross-checking. On a face-off in front of West Ends nets Burritt put his team ahead by banging one through in five minutes.

Strathconas 2, West Ends 1.

Four minutes afterwards the West Ends evened up. The puck came back to Crane from a face-off, and his shot scored, the puck travelling into the nets off McMillan's skate and Derocher never had a chance to stop it.

Strathconas 2, West Ends 2.

Weatherstone and Crane started a fistic combat, which resulted in the pair getting five minutes on the fence. Moore rushed nicely from his position at point, but McWilliams stopped him with a body check and was again penalized. Denison drew another sentence for cross-checking, and signalized his return by a sensational rush nearly the length of the rink: McWilliams and Seymour tried to sandwich him, but he jammed through between the pair and backed into the nets with the rubber, putting the Straths again in the lead. Short was penalized for interference, and Crane followed him for tripping Ray. Both were back when half-time was called.

West Ends, as in last week's game, came back with a spurt after the breathing spell and in a minute Crane had tied the score on a long shot, which hit in front of Derocher, and bounded between his pads as he stooped to stop it with his hands.

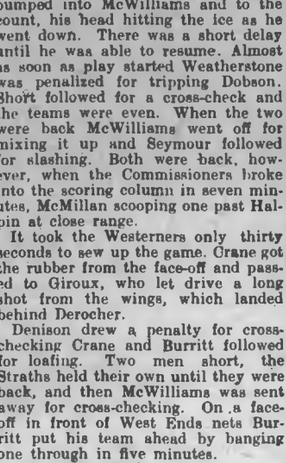
Strathconas 3, West Ends 3.

Ray was off for tripping McWilliams; West Ends seemed to be having the best of the going and hammered around at the Straths goal for a few minutes until Crane again scored after a nice rush. Derocher stopped the first shot, but Crane battered it in on the rebound, in five minutes.

Strathconas 3, West Ends 4.

This was the only period in which the West Ends were ahead, and was the most nerve-racking stage of the contest. The Straths began to rally, and although the Westerners held them for twelve minutes they were forced back on the defensive and shot after shot poured in on Halpin and McWilliams, the point stopping many heaves. Crane went off for tripping and Denison followed for slashing. Then McMillan went off for tripping.

THE CHAMPIONS



LEO DEROCHER,
Goal Keeper.

THE CHAMPIONS

BEN DUSTY,

and the chances of the Commissioners were not brightened any. However, Seymour gave Ray a bad heave into the boards and was sent away and the Straths were quick to take advantage of the opening. West Ends seemed to fade suddenly and when Ray, with a pretty waist-high shot tied the score it was all off. Before this the Strathconas had both defence men on the fence for a while, but the others held them out. Ray's shot put an end to an exciting twelve-minute period.

Strathconas 4, West Ends 4.

Moore went off for tripping and McWilliams followed for a slash. It was the beginning of the end with the Westerners, who seemed to fall to pieces. Burritt batted a goal in from a face-off in front of the nets and the Commissioners were ahead.

Strathconas 5, West Ends 4.

From this stage on there was nothing to it but the Commissioners. Ray took a pass from Weatherstone, near centre and circling around the yellow and black defence beat Halpin with a shot that hit two inches from the top of the nets.

Strathconas 6, West Ends 4.

It was getting easy. Burritt took the puck away from McWilliams, as he started a rush and walked in on Halpin all alone and scored.

Strathconas 7, West Ends 4.

Crane was chased again for tripping, and Seymour followed Weatherstone scored on a shot from the side in thirty seconds. Strathconas 8, West Ends 4.

Ray scored the last on a combination rush from close in, just a few seconds before time was called.

Strathconas 9, West Ends 4.

There was not a kick left in the Oldhamites, and if there had been any more time the Commissioners could have run up a big score in a short time.

Scoring summary:—

1 Strathconas, McMillan 7 mins.
2 West Ends, Giroux 30 secs.

The Players On The City League Champion Team

LEO DEROCHER, goal, has had probably more experience in City League hockey than any of the fourteen men in the game last night.

He has been on three champion City League teams, with the T. A. S. in 1905, the Straths in 1908, and again this season. He also played goal for the Auburns in 1907, and for the last three seasons has guarded the nets for the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team.

IRA MOORE, point, has played on two championship City League teams, having figured on the line-up of the Charlotte Street Guild team in 1906. He has been playing with the Quakers in the Mercantile League, and when asked by the Straths to turn out for the final game went out with only one practice.

ALLAN CAMPBELL, cover point, played last season with the T. A. A. C. Inter-Provincial team, and was with the Strathconas for two games this season, taking Ben Dusty's place. Hhe learned the game at T. C. S., Port Hope.

FRED DENISON, cover point, broke into the City League this season and his playing has been one of the features. Although only sixteen years of age he is a fearless and effective defence man, while he rushes splendidly. He played in all seven games of the Commissioners this season, and also captained the Collegiate Junior O. H. A. team.

CHARLIE RAY, rover and captain, has been with the Commissioners for three seasons, this being his second time on a championship team. He broke into the City League in 1907 with the Orphans, and came over to the Strathconas the next season. He has played intermediate O. H. A. for three seasons. Last year he was captain of the Junior O. H. A. team, as well as rover for the Intermediates, and this year he was chosen captain of the intermediate team.

HUGH BURRITT, centre, made his City League debut this season, and has been one of the finds of the year. Although the youngest and lightest player in the bunch he leads the League in scoring, having landed not less than twenty-eight goals in seven games, giving him the splendid average of four per game, which will take some beating. He learned the game with the Chieftains and played his first junior O. H. A. hockey with the Collegiate team this season.

HERB McMILLAN, right wing, has been with the Straths ever since they started in the League under the name of the Suicides, this being his fifth season with the red and white, and the third championship team he has played on. He and his running mate, Weatherstone, are the only members of the first team left.

PETE WEATHERSTONE, left wing, like McMillan, has been with the Strathconas since the start and has played on their three championship teams. He and McMillan are two of the hardest workers and most reliable men that ever donned skates.

BEN DUSTY, cover point, now with the Brantford professional team, has played the first four games of the season with the Commissioners, and was of great assistance. He played with the Straths for the past three years and in 1908 was with the champion Charlotte Street team.

JIM JEFFRIES HAS FORSAKEN THE STAGE

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—James J. Jeffries is no longer a Thespian. The retired champion heavyweight fighter of the world forsook the glare of the footlights and the calcium at Virginia, Minn., last night, where he closed his theatrical tour. And so for the time being he has joined the ranks of retired theatrical stars.

Jeff has quit the theatrical game for bigger game to his way of thinking. In other words, the retired champion will now devote his energies to getting into shape for his championship battle with one Mistah Johnson. Of course, Jim hasn't been letting any grass grow under his feet during his career as a Thespian, but now comes the time for actual work in the training line, he says.

With that end in view the big fellow left here last night for San Francisco, where he will get into rigorous training for the fight which he confidently expects will bring the championship back to the white race. Jeff appears to be in the best of shape and says he is ready to go into hard training for his match with the negro.

The retired champion and the members of his company attended the ski tournament at Duluth during the day. Jeff took much interest in the antics and flights of the ski men. He said he thought it a mighty fine sport, and that in a snowy country it might prove more than a useful training method.

RICHARDS AND WATSON MADE GOOD

Last night Richards and Watson concluded a three days' engagement at the Princess Theatre. These artists —and the word is well applied—were daily greeted with rounds of applause and frequent encores. Apart from the excellence of their musical act, Mr. Richards and Miss Watson deserve special notice from the fact that they were both originally Peterborough citizens, who have established a well-deserved name for [illegible] on the stage at large. Their act consists of patter, singing, and playing on many instruments, including the banjo, mandolin, guitar and Swiss hand bells. Miss Watson was enthusiastically applauded when she sang in a clear, well-pitched soprano voice a beautiful ballad entitled "Without You."

Peterborough has demonstrated in these artists that there is good, histrionic ability here, only awaiting an opportunity for showing it.

WARNING

Since its introduction into Canada the sales of Parisian Sage have been phenomenal. This success has led to many imitations similar in name. Look out for them; they are not the genuine. See that the girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. You can always get the genuine at Wm. Madill's.

Parisian Sage is the quickest acting and most efficient hair tonic in the world.

It is made to conform to Dr. Sangerbond's (of Paris) proven theory that dandruff, falling hair, baldness, and scalp itch are caused by germs.

Parisian Sage kills these dandruff germs and removes all trace of dandruff in two weeks, or money back; it stops falling hair and itching scalp and prevents baldness.

And remember that baldness is caused by dandruff germs, those little hard working, persistent devils that day and night do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and destroy its vitality.

Parisian Sage is a daintily perfumed hair dressing, not stick or greasy, and any woman who desires luxuriant and bewitching hair can get it in two weeks by using it. 50 cents a large bottle.

A communication was also read from R. Lees, Public School Inspector, for the County of Peterborough, calling the attention of the Council to the necessity of appointing a truant officer in each Township throughout the County. The Clerk was directed to forward a copy of this letter to the several school boards in the township.

Accounts were handed in from the following:

A. Reynolds, fees for burying the remains of an unknown man found near Springville last fall, $12.00.

This was carried.

The Committee of the Whole Council appointed re revision of statute labour divisions reported having considered the matter, and after going over various propositions relating to a readjustment of the statute labour system at present in force in the Township, had decided to re-divide the township into six road divisions, and increase the number of overseers from five to six. This report was received and adopted, and the Clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law accordingly to be passed at the next meeting.

An application for the office of Collector of taxes was received from Wm. Stevens.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Robson that Mr. J. McIntosh be re-appointed Collector for 1910 at the same salary paid last year. — Carried.

By-law No. 626 to authorize the Reeve and Treasurer to borrow money to meet the current expenses was then passed, signed and sealed.

The Auditors' statement and report for 1909 was presented and read. This statement, requiring a few alterations, was referred to the auditors for correction.

Council then adjourned until Saturday, the 12th of March, to meet in the same place at the same time.

REMINISCENCES OF SCHOOL DAYS ARE TOLD AT GATHERING

OTHER HAPPENINGS

Special to The Examiner.

Hastings, Feb. 12.—The friends of Mr. Eddie Magee extend congratulations on the occasion of his marriage to Miss Nettie Metcalfe, of Norwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Barrett, of Hastings. The bride was tastefully gowned in white satin de chene and wore the customary veil and orange blossoms. After the ceremony and congratulations the party, numbering about 75, repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. The gifts were numerous, including a pearl brooch and a sable muff, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Magee have many friends, who will join in wishing them many years of happy wedded life.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mr. Richard Sharpe, a young man of eighteen years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sid. Sharpe, who had only been ill a short time from typhoid pneumonia. His death seems particularly sad, owing to the fact that his mother and several other members of the family are seriously ill from the same disease.

Our local curlers are kept busy and a number of games have been arranged for.

About sixty loads of gravel per day are being hauled from Crowley Bros. by teams engaged by Randolph MacDonald Co. for use in the construction of the locks as soon as the season opens for that piece of work.

Great praise is due our snow plow manager for the efficient way in which he handles the plow after a snow storm. Always good walking on the streets.

The concert under the auspices of the Separate School on Monday evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The children performed their several parts very creditably and great praise is due those who had them in training.

On Tuesday evening of last week a most enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oakman, when a number of the old pupils of S. S. No. 5 met to do honour to one of their former teachers in the person of Mr. J. Mason, now of Cobourg, recalling pleasant memories of the old school days. After a delicious luncheon had been served a number of toasts were proposed and responded to, first in order being "The Guests of the Evening" (Mr. and Mrs. Mason) responded to by Mr. H. Collins and Mr. D. Fife. Mr. Mason made a suitable reply, referring to the kindly relationship which had always existed between himself and his former pupils. The next toast proposed was, "Reminiscences of Early School Days," which brought remarks from Messrs. H. Collins, J. Beavis, N. Beavis and D. Fife. "Our Public Schools" was responded to by Miss Stella Burgess, Mrs. N. Beavis and Mr. Mason. The "Home" was next proposed and responded to by Mr. Mason, as was also the next toast "Our Host and Hostess." The last toast "Our Young People," called forth responses from Miss Ethel Collins and Miss Hattie Reid, also Messrs. Robert Collins, R. Oakman and J. Wood. The company dispersed after singing "God Be With You," all feeling well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church was held at the parsonage on Thursday last and took theform of a farewell to Miss Ella Brooks, who is about to remove from our vicinity. A well-worded and thoughtful address was read by Mrs. (Rev.) Barrett, and the presentation of a beautiful lunch set of Limoges China was made by Mrs. R. Doxsee. Miss Brooks was deeply impressed, but spoke a few words of thanks to the ladies for their thoughtfulness. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all present.

Rev. Mr. Cree, of Norwood, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last.

Mr. Charlie Warner and Mr. Ernie Porter, of Peterborough, visited friends here last week.

Miss Hattie Reid of Peterborough, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oakman.

Mr. E. Valleau is spending a few days with friends in Montreal.

Mr. S. Fisher, of Campbellford, gave us a call last week.

Mr. Arthur Fleming, who has been ill, is improving.

Whooping cough is very prevalent in our town. A great number of children are affected with the disease.

WHEEL BROKEN IN PIECES BY SPEED

(Lakefield News.)

The village is temporarily without electric light owing to a bad accident to the electric light plant which occurred on Tuesday morning. The large belt driving the dynamo sudddenly broke, with the result that the large pulley, when released from the belt, revolved at such a terrific speed that it flew to pieces. The building was considerably damaged by the flying pieces of the pulley and the cogs in one of the crown wheels were completely destroyed. The water wheels could not be stopped until the water was shut off from the flume, considerable damage being done in the meantime. A new pulley has been ordered from Toronto, and will likely be here on Saturday, when the lights will be on as usual.

HAD AN ENJOYABLE DRIVE TO LAKEFIELD

The employees of A. W. Cressman's store spent a very enjoyable evening on Wednesday night. They drove out to Lakefield where they spent a few hours skating there. Saved Only The Clothes They Wore From Fire In Monaghan

Mr. Louis Fry Lost Entire Household Effects Yesterday Afternoon—No One at Home at the Time and Flames Were Unopposed—House Owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy.

ONLY A SEPARATOR SAVED

The residence of Mr. Louis Fry, lot 5, con. 10, North Monaghan, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon between four and five o'clock, when the family was absent from home and the entire contents were consumed.

They saved nothing but the clothes on their backs," said a neighbour this morning in a conversation with an Examiner reporter, and then suddenly remembering anitem he called: "Say, they did; if I'm not mistaken a cream separator was saved, but everything else was burned into ashes, and they have nothing but the barn to show for the home they were enjoying yesterday."

No one seems to know the cause of the fire, and that may be understood from the fact that Mr. Fry had driven into the city and Mrs. Fry was making an afternoon call at the home of a relative, Mrs. Robert Colin. It seemed an unfortunate circumstance that the smoke and flames were unnoticed for some time. The neighbours, in most cases, appeared to be away, and the flames had eaten their way through the house before anyone arrived. Mr. John Clark was the first on the scene, but the fire had advanced far by that time, and he was unable to render any assistance. The flames made a regular blast furnace of the house, which fell an easy prey to the devourer. The house was owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy, according to a report. The amount of the loss to the parties concerned is not known, but it was a sad blow to Mr. and Mrs. Fry, who have lost their entire household effects.(

HAD TO WALK THE STREETS IN THE COLD NIGHT FOR OVER AN HOUR

Black Listed Man Fined $20 or Thirty Days—Was Bound Over to Keep the Peace for a Year—In the Police Court This Morning

HIS WIFE'S STORY

That she was ejected from her home and had to walk the streets in the cold night from half past two in the morning until a quarter to four was the story told by a woman in the witness box at the police court this morning. She was giving evidence against her husband, a blacklisted person, who was charged with being drunk on February seventh and February sixteenth. Early Wednesday morning last the defendant came home the worse of liquor and began to make things unpleasant for his wife and children. The woman had to leave her house without sufficient clothes to keep her warm. She stated that she telephoned for the police to come and let her in and was told that one would be down but she said that she never saw one. She walked the streets until a quarter to four, when her husband went to sleep and her daughter unlocked the door.

The accused pleaded not guilty to both charges. However, His Worship made a conviction on the evidence adduced and fined the accused twenty dolars to be paid forthwith or thirty days in gaol. He was bound over to keep the peace for one year and was committed to the county gaol until such time as he was released by law.

The Evidence.

Inspector Stewart called, said he knew the accused. He had been on the blacklist for some time. He was put on on March 20, 1909. He served the defendant with blacklist papers. On being served he immediately left town. With the assistance of some friends the woman was supplied with a stove and she commenced keeping boarders. He came back in about six weeks and has made their home miserable ever since.

John Fair said that he went with the defendant to Millbrook on February 7th. They had nothing to drink either going or coming. He saw him on that night. They were moving scenery from the opera house.

The wife of the accused said that she remembered the 7th of February. He canie home about 9 o'clock and had his supper. He went out and did not return until 2 o'clock next morning. He was the worse of liquor and used very abusive language. Last Tuesday night she said her husband went out and did not come back until 2 o'clock next morning. He used very abusive language and was quite disorderly. Witness said that she had to leave the house and after walking around for an hour she went and telephoned for the police, but no one came. It was about four o'clock when she got in the house, her husband having kept the door locked. On other occasions he had threatened her.

The daughter of the last witness also remembered February 7th. Her father, judging from the abusive language he used, was the worse of liquor. She did not hear her father come in on Wednesday morning. Soon after she was awakened by her father's loud talk. He was very abusive and she thought he was drunk. Her mother was locked out but witness went down and opened the door.

Defendant denied having been drunk on either occasion and told a most remarkable tale of having secured a little liquor from a man going to Burketon.

Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., conducted the prosecution.

All Brands Of Sugar Went Up 15 Cents Per Hundred Yesterday

All grades of sugar advanced fifteen cents per hundred in the city yesterday. It is said to be owing to the scarcity of the raw material. This advance will mean considerable to the housekeepers of Peterborough, but it is in keeping with the rise lately in other household commodities.

SLANDER CHARGE THROWN OUT BY JUSTICE MAGEE

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 18. — On the opening of the court in the Foster-MacDonald case this morning Mr. Justice Magee gave his decision on the point raised as to the claims for damages for slander, as well as libel. He ruled there was no slander, and accordingly ruled out that part of the claim. On another point raised last night His Lordship ruled that had Dr. MacDonald, in his statement of defence, objected that written notice of intention to proceed on a charge of libel had not been given, he would have ruled the whole suit out, but Dr. MacDonald not having so objected, he thought Mr. Foster was entitled to proceed. The case for the defence then proceeded, with Col. Stevenson, Supreme Chief Ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, as first witness.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1910

A CONSERVATIVE AUTHORITY.

The factitious character of the alleged German hostility is demonstrated by the truth of a remark of Mr. W. R. Brock, of Toronto, in reference to the value of the Canadian tariff agreement with Germany. Mr. Brock is a Conservative of the ferocious school, but at the same time he is a level headedbusiness man. He represented West Toronto in Parliament, 1900-04. Speaking of the Canadian-German tariff agreement he asserted that it was "better than ten Dreadnoughts." "They are always talking," he said, "about a war with Germany, but it is not war that Germany is after; it is business. This knocks a big hole in the bottom of the German war scare. Mr. Brock describes the Germans as "the most earnest, pushing business men in the world." Will such men imperil businesses, success and trade expansion by an attack upon an empire with which it does its largest trade? If Germany sets so high a value upon Canadian trade, comparatively small as it is in her immense total, as to back down from the position she took towards Canada in 1903. Will she imperil a much larger trade by wiping out the British Empire? She found that placing Canadian goods on the maximum tariff and the consequent Canadian sur-tax on German goods did not pay and humbled herself to seek a relaxation of the rigid relations created by herself.

POLITICAL POLICY.

It has been more than once suggested during the debate on the naval bill that politics, that is political policy, was at the bottom of the German invasion scare; that it was intended to influence the British election. The Northcliffe group of journals especially fostered this idea, and they have been busy again in striving to create the idea that German aggressiveness is behind the recent agreement arrived at between Canada and Germany, that means the removal of the surtax on German imports, and more unobstructed trade relations between the two countries. It is asserted by the London (England) Daily Mail that the Canadian Governent waited to see the result of the British elections, upon tariff reform, before it made a move. This is quite contrary to the facts. The negotiations with Germany were in progress before the British elections were decided upon. The negotiations were for some time conducted viva voce and as soon as Germany showed a disposition to abandon the position of hostility she has assumed towards Canada, the agreement was arrived at. No other considerations than the merits of the matter in question influenced the negotiating parties. The Mail is wrong in saying that the Canadian-German trade rapprochement is a menace to British trade. British goods still receive the benefits of the 33 1-3 per cent. preferential tariff, a distinct advantage over German goods.

The tariff reformers not only used the fear of a German invasion of steel-clad warships, but go a step further, and denounce the plain business-like trade agreement between Canada and Germany as a form of German commercial invasion. The Standard pictures a commercial invasion of Canada by Germany—we are to get the benefit of cheap German goods—German capital is to be thrown into Canada to aid its development in German interests, and German ships are to give us the benefit of competition in the ocean carrying trade. Talk like this is not only economical but tactical folly; not empire-building, but empire-breaking in its tendency.

MANY NAVAL POLICIES.

If the debate on the naval bill now before the House continues to drag on, and it seems likely to do so, one cannot tell how many new naval policies the Conservative Opposition will develop. There are four distinct ones for which they have declared themselves. There is the policy represented by the Government Bill, founded upon the resolution of March 28th last, for which the Opposition—with the Government members—solidly voted. There is the Dreadnought policy of Mr. Borden, leader of the Opposition, embraced in his amendment to the bill, and calling for the contribution by Canada of money enough—twenty or twenty-five million dollars—to build two Dreadnoughts. There is the sub-amendment of Mr. Monk, leader of the Quebec contingent of the Conservative party, which demands that the Naval Bill should be submitted to a popular vote. This is new ground for Mr. Monk to take; for he led a strong crusade against any naval defence at all. He now admits the bill providing for naval defence, if the people vote for it, thus going one better than Mr. Borden, whose proposal sidetracks altogether a Canadian navy as called for by the resolution he voted for in March. Then there is the wonderful policy of Dr. Chisholm, a Conservative stalwart from East Huron, who, in a vigorous speech, on Wednesday, practically used the cry "a plague o' both your houses". He would have none of the Government's bill, or of Mr. Borden's Dreadnoughts. He had evolved a wonderful plan, by the adroit use of a million and a half dollars—the interest on fifty millions—to be paid by Canada, by which Britain, could build five Dreadnoughts. Canada, by opening the Hudson Bay route, would make a line of food supply so much shorter and safer that Britain could withdraw two Dreadnoughts needed to guard the larger route, and presto you had seven Dreadnoughts at a cost of only a paltry million and a half a year of interest payment.

As the debate progresses it is degenerating on the Conservative side into a rather farcical line of talk. Any amount of flag-flopping and loyalty—from the lips out—is in evidence, but never a scintilla of patriotism. Canada's interests play no part in the Conservative programme of piebald oratory. They are willing to pay millions in tribute, but opposed to spending a dollar for defence—for a Canadian navy, the beginning of justifying our status as a nation, the beginning of the establishment of a ship-building industry that will give employment to Canadian workmen, develop Canadian resources, and make Canada not only the purveyor of food for the empire, but the transporting agency.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Dominion Department of Labour is conducting a special inquiry in respect of the increased cost of living. The result of partial investigation show that in 1909 the wholesale prices of meats were nearly 50 per cent. higher than during the ten year period from 1890 to 1900 and that compared with 1908, they were fully 77 per cent. higher.

'ROUND THE STORES

Some good selections of genuine carbon pictures, are at present on exhibition in Pillsworth's picture and art store, 430 George street. They will interest all who admire good art, and when correctly framed, with appropriate moulding, make a pleasing picture for home decoration.

According to the furriers the price of fur is advancing with leaps and bounds. Anyone buying fur to-day might consider the price high, but if they wait until next year, there will be all sorts of complaints. The thirty per cent. discount sale at W. E. Lech's, 366 George St., now going on, seems to offer a splendid chance to the wise ones to make next year's purchase to-day.

The new store of the Warne Drug Co., is a store with a purpose. Yesterday afternoon, it was besieged by crowds of women, eager to share in the free distribution to take place from 3 to 5 p.m.. To each of the first 500 ladies was given a souvenir package, containing trial sizes of Talcum powders, face powders, tooth pastes, hair shampoos and other toilet articles. The crowd came so fast that before 4 o'clock the whole 500 packages were given out. About as many more ladies called afterwards, who were an hour too late, but who enjoyed the opportunity of inspecting the new and handsome premises and were shown the stock and new furnishings. No better evidence could be afforded of the watchful eye that is daily placed on the Warne Drug Co's ads, by the general public than the remarkable demonstration of yesterday. The store is furnished with polished quarter-cut oak furniture in the dispensing department, and ranges of the new crystal gem silent salesman. The show cases and cabinets are of the newest designs, while the stock of drugs and druggist sundries is most complete and very conveniently displayed. The business is expanding in a most satisfactory manner, especially in prescriptions, which is an evidence of public confidence. Palms and flowers were interspersed throughout the store, and everything looked bright, clean and attractive.

Mothers, as well as the boys, like the exceptionally good value in boys' worsted stockings, offered this week at 18c. per pair by Messrs. Merrell & Meredith. The boys like them because of their good appearance, and the mothers because of their extra fine quality and promise of long service, the fast colours and the low price. This firm are also showing the new spring fashions in men's suitings, etc.

The big stores are getting ready for the biggest of big spring business. A visit to Richard Hall & Son's spacious premises reveals a busy staff, marking off the new spring goods. Fast as the covers are taken off the packing cases the new merchandise is placed on display in their proper section. And it is a satisfaction to view and to know that the goods you want are here any time you come after them. The new wash stuffs are a gladsome sight—ginghams, crepes, vestings, zephyrs, and all the English stuffs which delight and interest the woman who roams through the aisles of spring newness in this great store. Richard Hall & Son recognize that it is their business to improve shopping conditions this season more than ever. The vital question, how to reduce the cost of living to all classes, is stirring the members of this firm to greater vigilance. Stronger claims than ever are made that they will demonstrate their ability this season to give buyers larger selections than ever of the world's choicest products, whilst selling them at lower prices than ever.

Whether you are a working man, a business man, or a professional man, the sale of trousers at H. Le Brun & Co's. is worthy of attention. The qualities, style, and models should induce the male sex to add several pairs to their pantorium collection. Men are often mistaken in pants. Such mistakes are breeches of promise; but it is safe to say that Le Brun & Co's. pants are "as advertised." See their ad. for price reductions.

Every one of our readers are doubtless already aware that the Peterborough Bookstore has changed hands, and that the new proprietors are Messrs. Trebilcock Bros., formerly of Toronto. They are experienced men in the book and stationery business, and indications point to their making good impressions and adopting the best of business methods. This week they started a special introduction sale of wallpapers and have cut the regular prices so low that they should create an opening boom. See advt.

The Turnbull establishment commenced an enormous sale of home furnishings this week, which is advertised to continue during the rest of February. Economical buyers will be glad of this opportunity to replenish their home needs for Spring in carpets, curtains, floor oil cloths, beds, bedding, linens and towelling. There are some remarkable offerings in brass beds, matresses and pillows, as well as in cottons and linens. Now's the time to provide spring wants in such lines as curtains, upholstering and draping materials. A new hair goods department has been added at Turnbull's, which will afford new interest to lady shoppers. It will be a pleasure to find all such toilet needs in abundance at decidedly reduced prices, instead of paying the fancy prices of city hair men.

Henna Leaves and Sage Will Grow Hair.

It has only recently been discovered that Henna leaves contain the ingredient to grow new hair. England and Paris have become flooded with preparations containing the extract of Henna to grow hair, and every one of these preparations have an enormous sale. All other hair tonics are practically at a standstill, and the ones containing the Henna are found in every home. Society ladies purchase them by the dozen bottles. On the streets of London and Paris can be seen women with beautiful, luxuriant heads of real, fluffy hair. The same women only a few months ago had their heads decorated with artificial hair. The first one of these preparations to reach Canada is called SALVIA, and is sold and guaranteed by McDermid & Jury. SALVIA will grow hair in abundance and Cure Dandruff in ten days, or your money back. A large bottle, 50c.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

Life is pretty cheap and yellow, and it often bores a fellow, if he thinks about his troubles through the long and weary day, if he talks about his sorrows, laying bets that all to-morrows will be just as stale and sombre, just as grewsome and as gray. Ah, the world is what we make it; if we fuss around and rake it, hustling for a crop of trouble, we'll have windrows high and wide; but it will not pay for reaping, and the thrashers will be weeping when they see the scurvy harvest that has been your boast and pride. If you fire all thoughts of sadness, and go raking round for gladness, if you just insist that worry takes its grip and trunk, and roam, you are sure to find the mowing pays for all the work and sowing, and the thrashers will be whooping on the day of Harvest Home. All my metaphors are tangled, and this rhyme is badly jangled, but you'll doubtless catch its meaning if you use a hook and line; do not mind the ills that bore you, nor the clouds that threaten o'er you; every day provides its solace, and to-morrow will be fine!

WHAT THE WOMEN THINK OF GIN PILLS

LETTERS FROM FOUR OF THEM

3 Wright Ave., Halifax, N.S.

"I have suffered with Sick Kidneys for about five years and had got no relief from various remedies which I had taken until I tried Gin Pills which gave me instant relief. I can not speak too highly of them and recommend them to my friends."

Mrs. M. LAWRENCE.

Tyneside, Ont.

"I received your sample box of Gin Pills and then got a large box from my druggist. After taking three boxes of Gin Pills, the pain across my back and kidneys has entirely gone and I am better than I have been for years. I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism and it has all left me."

Mrs. T. HARRIS.

Williamsdale, Ont.

"Before I had taken Gin Pills, I suffered dreadfully with my back for twenty years. I tried about everything but got no relief until I got Gin Pills. I have taken six boxes and now I have not a sign of a pain or an ache in my back. I am now 48 and feel as well as I ever did in my life. There is nothing that can hold a place with Gin Pills."

Mrs. Wm. P. RIPLEY.

Davisville, Ont.

"For fifteen years, I suffered continually with Kidney and Bladder Trouble. I doctored all the time but nothing gave me any lasting relief until I was persuaded to try Gin Pills. Within a couple of days, I received great relief and after taking one box, I was completely cured, and now would not be without them. I can highly recommend Gin Pills to all who suffer from any form of Kidney Trouble."

The death claims amounted to less than two-thirds of the income from Interest, Rents, etc. Without taking into account the profit on sale of securities, the Interest Rate on the Mean Ledger Assets amounted to 5.73 per cent.

In view of the great care taken in investing the Company's funds, this rate must be extremely gratifying.

CORRECTS CROCKET

Mr. Congdon and Col. Sam Hughes Introduce Oratorical Flourish Into the Discussion — Col. McLean Looks Forward to the Possession by Canada of a Couple of Indomitables In the Fleet.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The navy debate, resumed yesterday afternoon, had an unusually discursive character. The member from the Yukon quoted Scripture and the colonel from Haliburton paraded Budda. Mr. Congdon was in his best constructive vein. His message was peace. The German scare he laid quietly to rest. The tenor of his speech was strongly pro-British, without being anti-German. He denied the phantom notion that Germany's naval program contained any sinister intentions regarding Great Britain.

The debate was continued by Col. McLean of Queen's-Sunbury, and Mr. Broder, Dundas, the former, giving illuminative details as to the comparative naval strength of Great Britain and Germany. He believed that the Canadian navy, as proposed, would soon be developed into a complete fleet unit, with two Canadian Indomitables of the very latest type.

"I do not agree," he also said, "with many of my friends' action on the Government side that the German peril is a scare. The action of Germany is very serious. Germany has a large naval program. It is no use blinding ourselves to these facts. I hope that there will be no war. I hope that England, now that she is aroused, will be able to build faster than Germany. But we know that Germany is able to carry out her naval program. It is not safe to rely on the good-nature of Germany. The Germans are business people, they are a warlike people. Like England, they will not hesitate to take an advantage in war. I have no reliance in the good faith of Germany, if she thought she could get an advantage."

Col. McLean proposes that rather than the five small cruisers proposed by the Government, they should have three cruisers and an Indomitable, in other words, a fleet unit headed by an Indomitable on the Atlantic and an Indomitable on the Pacific. He was confident that before long we should have Dreadnoughts also. He criticized the opposition policy of sending money to the Admiralty. He believed in building the ships in Canada, manned by Canadian sailors, but officered first by Britishers.

Continuing his speech, which was not concluded Wednesday, F. T. Congdon (Yukon) noted that certain English newspapers objected to the removal of the German surtax. What they wanted was the greater share of Germany's trade, and cared nothing about the removal of the causes of friction between the two countries.

Great Britain never occupied a position of greater naval superiority than to-day, and to say that these stout-hearted old Britons were afraid of Germany was enough to make us dispose of those who said it. The great thing to-day, he said, was to establish about the world a circle for the protection of the commerce of Great Britain.

Col. Sam Hughes described Mr. Congdon's speech as a magnificent essay. It was philosophy, but bad history; it condemned everything that had gone to make Britain great. Dreamers such as Robespierre were dangerous. As to the German surtax, it was in the interest of Germany that the surtax had been removed; it was not in the interest of the Empire.

The opening of the House yesterday saw a lively exchange between Hon. Wm. Pugsley and O. S. Crocket (York, N.B.).

Mr. Pugsley rose to a question of privilege. He said Mr. Crocket the other day had denied the accuracy of The Toronto Globe's report regarding the Pink Rock Wharf, and had added that the Minister himself knew it was untrue.

Mr. Pugsley said Mr. Crocket could not corroborate this statement. Not a dollar of money had been spent on a public wharf. The wharf was the property of the crown, but there was an agreement which gave the public a right of way over the wharf. The crown had the right to collect tolls, except from the vessels of the Albert Manufacturing Co.

Mr. Crocket accepted the challenge with alacrity. He declared that the vote under review was for an extension of the wharf, the private property of the Albert Company. The agreement was nothing but a "colorable arrangement," the crown being allowed to collect tolls on vessels not owned by the company. But no other vessels had ever tied up there, and none other could use it for years to come. Moreover, the work had been ordered by the managing director of the company, and the bills simply forwarded to the Public Works Department.

Mr. Pugsley concluded by saying that Mr. Crocket had better devote his attention to larger subjects. He was indulging in small tactics.

During the question time Major Sharpe (North Ontario) asked if it was the intention of the Government to so amend the Volunteer Bounties Act as to enable the Canadian civil surgeons who served in the South African war to receive grants.

Hon. Frank Oliver replied that it was not considered advisable to do so.

R. L. Borden was informed by the Minister of Militia that fifty per cent. of the men serving in the Canadian permanent force re-enlist after the expiration of their term; that approximately ninety per cent. of the officers and 20 per cent. of the non-commissioned officers and men are Canadians, and that at present the force is at full strength.

Mr. Borden was told that the training ship Rainbow will cost Canada approximately fifty thousand pounds sterling, and that the cost of the new navy given to the House did not include interest on the cost of construction or provide for a sinking fund.

$8,500 In Lost Mail Bag.

North Bay, Feb. 18.—Not a little excitement has been occasioned among those directly concerned in the disappearance of a registered package containing $8,500, sent by mail from the Cochrane branch of the Bank of Ottawa, to the Toronto office. As neither mail bag or money turned up at the destination, the suspicion of robbery deepened and an investigation has been in progress. Peter T. Collican, postoffice inspector of Ottawa, has been working on the case and has located the missing bag with the money intact.

It seems that the bag went astray on Feb. 9, when the T. & N. O. Railway employes have for some time expressed dissatisfaction at the responsibility involved in handling mail bags, and it is understood that a mail car will soon be placed on the run between Englehart and Cochrane.

New Smelting Company.

Kingston, Feb. 18.—The Frontenac lead mine has been conveyed by the Gunn estate, Romaness estate and Machar estate to Samuel L. Bernhardt, as trustee, in trust for a company to be known as the Canadian Smelting Co., Ltd., capital $500,000. Barnhardt is the man who sold Barnhardt's Island for $900,000 to the Long Sault Development Co. The directors will be Samuel L. Barnhardt, capitalist; Edward J., B. Pease, Kingston; Orlando L. Cushman, head of Cushman Bakeries, New York City; Robt. E. Cushman, Kingston; W. G. Craig, Kingston; John Seeley, New York; John C. Grapeer, New York; David Murray, manager Northern Crown Bank, treasurer. One of the large stockholders is Fred L. Dewey, president of the Citizens' National Bank in the United States.

New Brunswick Judicature Act.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 18.—Premier Hazen announces that the new Judicature Act will go into effect, May 1.

It will bring about a completely new method of procedure and practice in the courts of the province. It will also create changes in connection with the Supreme Court Bench, making it so that a judge will not sit in appeal on a case that he has tried, as at present. Four judges will handle the law side of the court and two the equity side.

The act at present in force, which is down as common law procedure, has been on the statute books for about half a century, but has been somewhat modified in that time. The rules of procedure under the new act are made to conform with the New Judicature Act. Public as speedily possible.

WILL CONSIDER THE ERECTION OF CHURCH

Quarterly Board of Charlotte Street Methodist Church Pass Unanimous Resolution.

At a meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of the Charlotte Street Methodist church last night steps were taken for the preliminary considerations in regard to the erection of a new church. The following resolution was unanimously passed:

Moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by Mr. A. B. Cunningham, that in the judgment of those present at this meeting, the time has come to consider the question of building a new church, and for the purpose of further discussion, that an adjourned meeting of this Board be held at the call of the Chair. It is known that the present edifice does not meet the requirements of the congregation, and it is stated that many more seats could be let if they were to be had. The congregation has grown rapidly and the church is prosperous. The question will receive careful consideration and if a change is made to the building it will likely be that it will front on Reid street, and the present structure will be but part of the whole church. This is one idea that is entertained.

WHAT IS THE MEANING OF ?

Saturday will be the last day of guessing on this problem. If the correct answer is not received by four o'clock to-mororw afternoon, the solution of the question will be given on Monday.

It may as well be mentioned that the Examiner is no way identified with the mysterious question marks other than in paying the award offered for the correct answer.

It would be qupite, however right to infer that these question marks are being used for a mercantile purpose, the nature of which will be fully revealed to the public on Monday and Tuesday next.

The question is certainly a very live one, because one can hardly pick up a Canadian or American newspaper in which reference is not made thereto.

Keep on guessing until 4 p.m. to-mororw. Only the correct answer will be published.

MOB STORMS JAIL TO LYNCH NEGROES

Cairo, Ills., Feb. 18. — Two companies of sheriffs, armed with rifles, are guarding the county jail to-day, following an attempt to lynch two negroes accused of snatching purses off white women. The attempted lynching was foiled by Sheriffs Nellis and his deputies, who opened fire on the mob as it advanced to storm the jail, killing one man and wounding eleven others. Fearing a renewal of the mob's attack, Sheriff Nellis appealed to Governor Deneen for troops. Company K, 4th Infantry, of this city, was ordered out at once, and Company G, of Effingham, was rushed to the scene, arriving at daybreak today.

ESTIMATES FOR NAVAL COLLEGE AT HALIFAX

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The naval college in connection with Canada's naval scheme is to be located at Halifax. The building will cost $150,000, furnishings and workshops $50,000, barracks for men $300,000, battery $20,000, arming same $110,000, alteration to officers' headquarters $70,000.

The estimate for dockyard construction is $100,000 and the total of four years' upkeep, $1,130,000. The upkeep of the naval college for the same period is placed at $275,000 and barracks $275,000. The annual cost of the headquarters staff will be from $60,000 to $80,000.

At Halifax two Bristols with 40 officers and 742 men, 1 Boadicea with 17 officers and 281 men, and 6 destroyers with 30 officers and 546 men will be located. The total annual cost for pay and upkeep of the Bristols will be $708,000, of the Boadicea $376,000, and of the six destroyers $763,000. For barracks' staff, etc., the maintenance is placed at $200,000, recruits $200,000 college $80,000. The estimate is on the assumption that the Niobe will replace the Bodicea.

At Esquimault, two Bristols with 40 officers and 742 men and the Rainbow with 16 officers and 163 men will be located. The annual maintenance of the Bristols will be $708,000 and of the Rainbow $230,000; headquarters staff $80,000.

The total estimated cost of the eleven ships will be $11,015,000 and construction works $715,000.

Miss Ada Lusk returned on Saturday evening, after a lengthy visit with friends in Port Hope.

BLOOD WILL TELL!

The Complexion Faithfully Mirrors Its Purity or Impurity

Massage, cosmetics and the like sometimes improve a good complexion, and occasionally mitigate the badness of a bad one. But there is only one way to get that clear, satin skin, with the rosy tint of health glowing through, and that is by keeping the blood pure.

Impure blood will show itself. It makes the skin "muddy" or sallow, with pimples, blackheads or boils breaking out. It takes away the clearness from the eye, coats the tongue, makes the breath bad. It saps the energies and brings on headaches. It is fatal to good health or to the highest happiness or usefulness.

Purifying the blood is simply a question of keeping the four great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys, the pores of the skin and the lungs—in good working order. These organs should throw off all the worn-out tissue and other impurities which the blood is continually gathering up throughout the body, and all the waste matter from the food.

The failure of any or all of them to perform these functions should be remedied at once, and it can be, quickly and certainly, by the use of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. One of the ingredients of these splendid Pills open up the pores of the skin, another regulates the bowels, a third gives ease and strength to the kidneys and a fourth clears the mucus membrane of the lungs so that the gaseous impurities in the blood can pass freely through into the air.

Thus whatever may be the cause of the impure blood, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills remove it, and soon the veins are filled with pure, red, life-giving fluid.

Then, and only then, will you have a clear eye, a clean tongue, a sweet breath and a perfect complexion.

Mr. Richard Wilson, of Middlesex Co., Ont., writes:

"For some time I have been in a low and depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointment, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood. At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicine I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

THE STANDARD OF PURITY

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

Orange Meat and Milk is a Perfect Food

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

One of my readers has asked me to give my ideas of beauty, so I have tried to formulate my thoughts on that subject.

Beauty, it has always seemed to me, if you stop to analyze it, is a kind of triangle. That is, three elements go to make up the perfect beauty.

Any woman in whom all three elements were united would be truly beautiful, but they are so very seldom all found in one face, that we usually call anyone beautiful who posseses two or even one of them.

Most of the girls who have the reputation of being pretty usually get it, it seems to me, on account of beauty of colouring.

Think over the pretty girls of your acquaintance and see if that isn't so. See if in nine out of ten cases a clear, prettily coloured skin, bright eyes, and perhaps a certain vivacity of expression does not constitute the "pretty girl's" claim to her adjective.

Beauty of line—that is, perfect profile, a correctly modelled face—rarely wins the reputation of prettiness for its possessor. It is not a thing most people notice on the street. It is a charm that grows on one. Artists always notice it, and rave even when the skin that covers the perfect features is dull and colourless, and the expression behind them is not particularly attractive. But other people are not often apt to notice perfection of line unless one of the other elements of beauty is combined with it.

The third element of beauty—charm of expression—is at once the most desirable—from my way of judging, at least—and the most attainable.

For intelligence and character undoubtedly affect the expression of the face and give it a charm which to many people is infinitely more attractive than the most perfect Grecian nose or the most exquisite pink and white complexion.

You hear a great deal of the woman who, although homely, is fascinating. If you examine her, I think you will always find that she possesses the third element of beauty.

Real, genuine, love-thy-neighbour-as-thyself goodness also transforms a face.

Now I am not preaching. I am not uttering a hackneyed formula. I am speaking facts. I am actually thinking this very moment of two women whom I know whose faces are neither fair skinned nor correctly modelled, and yet are very good to look upon simply because their sweet souls and lives shine right out through them.

Every girl wants to be pretty.

It is a woman's natural heritage.

The beauty of colour and of line are special gifts that are not given to everyone, of course, but the beauty of expression that comes from a fine mind and a noble character anyone may have who will cultivate these things

And do not think it will be just old people, just good people, who will appreciate that beauty. All the world will admire it and be attracted by it just as much as they are by pink-cheeked charm or a perfect profile.

If you don't believe me, try it and see.

I don't believe you'll regret it.

"THE GAY MUSICIAN"

Of the many musical attractions presented here this season, the most popular was the charming comic opera, "The Gay Musician," by Julian Edwards and given here by Manager John P. Slocum's company.

Nothing but praise was heard after the "Gay Musician" was sung here, and many inquiries were afterwards made as to whether the comic opera would be heard here again.

After considerable negotiation, Manager Slocum has been induced to bring his big company to Canada again, and "The Gay Musician" will be the attraction at The Grand on Monday, Feb. 28.

An entire new scenic production and the most costly costuming will be presented, together with a superb singing company of principals, the most beautiful of show-girls from New York, a remarkable poney ballet and the best singing chorus in America. Manager Slocum is known for "doing things lavishly" and this season is no exception, for he has excelled himself in presenting to the public the best company that could be secured in the theatrical field in New York.

Lizards Ate Woman Alive

Reptile Swallowed Years Ago Bred in Her Stomach.

Trenton, N.J., Feb. 18.—As a result of drinking a lizard in a glass of water ten years ago, Mrs. Ida Dyeson is dead at her home in this city. The case is considered one of the most peculiar in medical history. Doctors declare that the scaly reptiles bred in her stomach and became so numerous that they practically ate her alive. A post mortem examination led to the discovery of the cause of her death, which was at first believed a mystery.

About ten years ago Mrs. Dyeson informed her husband that she believed she had swallowed a lizard, as she felt something wiggle in her throat after she had swallowed a glass of water. A physician was consulted, but he could find no trace of the reptile.

Since then Mrs. Dyeson had been an invalid, but her symptoms indicated no particular disease. On numerous occasions she insisted that her stomach was full of lizards, but her declarations in this respect were believed to be imaginary.

Early last week the woman could no longer leave her bed. She would not consent to undergo an operation, saying this was useless, because the lizards would kill her within a short time.

Although she was given the best of nourishment, she continued to waste away slowly. Before her death she declared the thought of many reptiles in her stomach was worse than the physical suffering. The physicians who performed the post mortem were surprised to find the reptiles to the number of fifteen. Some of these were still alive, but a majority were dead. The doctors declared it was remarkable that she survived for such a length of time. Mrs. Dyeson was fifty years of age.

YOUNG WIFE'S DEATH ENDS TRAGIC STORY

Mrs. Ulderic Cardinal, Burned While Nursing Sick Husband, is Dead.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Ulderic Cardinal, eighteen years old, who was on December 31 last seriously burned at her home on Delisle street, while her husband of a few weeks was lying ill with typhoid fever, died at the Hotel Dieu to-day, to which institution she had been removed from the Western Hospital some time since. Coroner McMahon disposed of the case.

The deceased was before her marriage Miss Clodia Riendeau, daughter of Charles Joseph Riendeau, was born at Salem, Mass., and moved to Montreal with her parents about nine years ago. On November 23 she was married at Valleyfield, and on December 11 her husband fell ill with typhoid fever, December 17, the victim lost her brother by death, and on the 31st of the same month sustained the severe burns from which she died this morning. The funeral will take place from her father's residence, 101 Tourgeon street.

RABIES SCARE IS BASED ON REASON

Fifty Per Cent. of Heads Sent to Ottawa Show Traces of the Disease.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—That the mad dog scare in connection with the outbreak of rabies in Western Ontario has seriously alarmed every municipality, in that end of the province, would seem to be the case from the flood of communications that are being received by the heads of the animals branch of the Agricultural Department every day. "We've heard of nothing but mad dogs all day," said Dr. H. G. Rutherford, director-general. About 50 per cent. of the heads sent are affected with rabies.

LAKE SHORE ROAD WASHING AWAY

Farmers Along Ontario are Suffering Great Damage From Inroads of Waves.

St. Catharines, Ont., February 18.—Waves have been doing a great deal of damage along the Southern shore of Lake Ontario, and at places the Lake shore road has been seriously under-mined, and will have to be rebuilt. Farmers along it are seeing large chunks of their farms break off and swallowed up. An application will shortly be made to the Government to see if something cannot be done to stop the destruction.

DOUKHOBORS ARE WAXING WEALTHY

Peter Veregin, However, Thinks Government Should Have Treated Them More Liberally.

Winnipeg, Feb. 17.—Peter Veregin, leader of the Doukhobors, at Veregin, Sask., is here purchasing supplies for the community.

"Our purchase," he said, "will total in value $40,000, equally divided almost between implements from the manufacturers and in dry goods.

"Last year our crop would total about a billion bushels, wheat and barley about one-third, and the balance oats.

"We would have done much better had we been allowed to retain our land as was at first arranged when we settled in the country, but of the two thousand homesteads we were to have for our community 1,500 have been taken away from us, notwithstanding the fact that we had cultivated a good portion of the land. Although we were deprived of these 1,500 homesteads, the $10 we paid for each homestead entry fee was withheld, a total of $15,000. We have already spent 150,000 in repurchasing this land from those who appropriated it after we had improved it. It would cost us at the rate wer are asked to pay now two and a half millions dollars to recover the whole, that is, 1,500 homesteads, of 160 acres each, at $10 per acre."

LOTTIE MORAY,

Canada's Leading Soprano, at the Princess Theatre.

Last night an unique event happend at the Princess Theatre. This was the absolute refusal of the audience to allow the picture following the vaudeville act to be presented until Miss Lottie Moray, Canada's leading soprano responded to calls for an encore to her song "If the Wind Had Only Blown the Other Way!" This song kept the large audience convulsed with laughter. Miss Moray, whilst possibly applauded most for her rendition of comic songs, in "Take Me, Jamie Dear," displayed her wonderfully clear, high-pitched soprano voice to great advantage. This vocalist will sing at the Princess to-night and on Saturday.

BRINGING IN THE ICE HARVEST

Late Happenings at Bridgenorth—Cold Weather Has Predominated.

Examiner Special.

Bridgenorth, Feb. 18.—We have had a variety of weather, from 30 above zero to 28 below, along with some snow storms.

Quite a number of men of the village who are working in lumber camps, paid a visit to their homes on Saturday night to see their wives and families, and returned again on Monday to resume their work.

The ice harvest is on in full swing. No less than three different parties are busy cutting, and there is great demand for it, as a great number of farmers store away ice to cool their milk with.

The Central Smith Dairying Co. is putting in 800 blocks, and Mr. Geo. Brown, the hotel keeper, is also storing away a good quantity, and others are doing likewise.

CONSTIPATION AND HEADACHE

Mrs. E. Morrow, Bracebridge, Ont., writes—"For years I was troubled almost constantly with constipation and never got anything to do me the lasting good that has been obtained from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Not only have they cured constipation but have also entirely cured the headaches from which I used to suffer terribly and have improved my health in every way."

LAKEFIELD WOMAN GOT WHISKEY FOR COLD

Became Drunk and Was Charged With Disorderly Conduct.

Court was held in the town hall on Monday afternoon last, when Mrs. Margaret Fletcher appeared before J. F. Lillicrap, J.P., to answer to the charge of being drunk and disorderly in a public place on Saturday last. The accused admitted her guilt, but stated that she had procured the whisky to relieve a bad cold, from one of the drug stores. As she had no money to pay a fine she was allowed to go with a warning.—Lakefield News.

REV. S. B. ROHOLD TO GIVE ADDRESS AT Y.M.C.A.

To a Meeting of Men on Sunday Afternoon Next.

The Young Men's Christian Association have been fortunate in securing the Rev. S. B. Rohold to address a meeting of men in the Association parlours on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Rohold, who is spending Sunday in the city, is a Missionary to the Jews of the city of Toronto. He is a native of Jerusalem, Palestine, and so is capable to deal with his subject, "The Wandering Jew." Every man who possibly can, should hear Mr. Rohold Sunday afternoon.

The male quartette, Messrs. Thornton, Miller, Nelson and Cole will sing.

WAS SENT UP ON HILL FOR MONTH

Blackfriars Man Was Found Guilty For Fourth Time Of Being Drunk.

A well known young man appeared for the fourth time this morning since being placed on the black list, before Magistrate Dumble at the police court. He was charged with being drunk. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for him and pleaded guilty. His Worship stated that as the prisoner had been fined so frequently, he intended to try another means of curing him. He sentenced him to one month at hard labour in the county gool.

Mr. H. M. Gilchrist Is New Secretary

Succeeds Mr. Hassard as General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.—Is the Secretary of Y. M. C. A. in Quebec at Present.

A VARIED EXPERIENCE

The local Young Men's Christian Association has been fortunate in securing a successor to Mr. Hassard, in the person of Mr. H. M. Gilchrist, who is now General Secretary of the Quebec City Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Gilchrist has been in Association work since 1901, and has been in his present field for three years. He went to Quebec from Paris, Ontario, where he had organized the work of the Association in the new building, which was presented to the town by Mr. John Penman, who is and has been for some years the chairman of the Provincial Committee of the Y. M. C. A. of Ontario and Quebec.

Before going to Paris, Mr. Gilchrist was Secretary of the Stratford Association, and was there when the building was erected. The Stratford Association is a combination town and railroad work, being supported largely by the Grand Trunk Railway, so that Mr. Gilchrist has had a varied experience in Association work.

Mr. Gilchrist comes to Peterborough well recommended by all who know him, and his work and the Association and city are to be congratulated on securing such a man with so little delay, since there is a scarcity of men of ability for Y. M. C. A. work.

Mr. Gilchrist will arrive in the city to take up his duties about the 20th of April.

FOR BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

There are times in the life of nearly every child when Dr. Chase's Ointment proves itself a blessing. The tender skin chafes and is irritated by the clothing. Oftentimes baby eczema developes from this very cause. In a dozen ways Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used to sooth and heal the skin and prevent suffering of the little one. No treatment is so well suited for this purpose and none is so entirely satisfactory.

NO HOPE FOR HER RECOVERY IS HELD

By Doctor Who is Attending Miss McPherson—Henderson Again Remanded.

No hopes for the recovery of Miss McPherson, the elder of the two sisters who are alleged to have been assaulted by Robert Henderson in their home near Norwood, are held by the doctor who is attending her, was the key note of a letter read by Crown Attorney R. E. Wood at the County police court this morning. Henderson was once more remanded, but according to the authorities it is believed to be only a matter of time until a murder charge will be preferred against him. He appeared before Magistrate Edmison just as nonchalant as ever, and the confinement in the jail does not seem to have allowed his conscience to have been disturbed by the charge which is confronting him. To the ordinary court "regular" Henderson's conduct is inexplicable and his carelessness strikes one as being genuine.

CONSERVATIVE BUSINESS MEN APPRECIATE THE NEW TREATY

Mr. W. R. Brock Heartily in Favour of the Arrangement With Germany—Business Treaties the Surest Aids to Peace.

OTHERS SUPPORT IT

The enclosed clipping from the Toronto Globe is worthy of publication, it being an interview with Mr. W. R. Brock, one of the leading Conservatives of Toronto. One who has a large interest in the business communities throughout the Dominion and who was formerly one of the Conservative representatives in the Dominion Parliament. Mr. Brock's interview goes to show that the efforts of the Government to arrange treaties with all countries on as favourable terms as possible for Canada is being appreciated, and the removal of the German surtax is supported by all classes of the business communities irrespective of their political views. Those dissatisfied are only those Conservatives who wish to be against the Government under all conditions. The Globe says:

"I think such agreements between countries, as this one completed with Germany, are a greater guarantee of peace than all the money spent upon armaments. Really only a business arrangement, the removal of the German surtax is, to my mind, of great importance, both commercially and politically."

This expression of opinion was made to The Globe yesterday by Mr. W. R. Brock, head of the big wholesale dry goods house of W. R. Brock & Company, Limited.

Mr. Brock deprecated the constant talk about Germany being on the verge of war with Britain. "It is business, and not war, that the German is looking for," said he. "These business treaties are the best and surest aids to peace."

"The building and maintaining of armaments is going to prove a most costly thing. If individuals, rather than Governments, were doing such a thing they would be termed fools. The Government may be to blame in this matter, but the Opposition seems to be helping the scheme along, and, in addition, expresses a willingness to go even further than the Government," said Mr. Brock.

"It is, broadly speaking, of much greater importance to Canada to have the good opinion of Germany and the United States than it is to have the great expense of this navy. This treaty means peace," said he.

Mr. Brock thought it probable that Germany would gradually work back to the place she occupied, commercially, in Canada before the surtax was put into operation. The German firms who had customers in this country would, in time, win them back. "The Germans," he said, "are the most earnest business men in the world."

Mr. C. E. Warwick of the firm of Warwick Bros. & Rutter, one of the largest importers of German fancy goods in the city, had no objection to offer to the immediate going into effect of the arrangement. "It does not affect us very much," said he, "because we buy our goods for fall delivery."

Mr. John Macdonald of John Macdonald & Company said that his firm had not handled German goods to any extent since the imposition of the surtax. He thought that its removal might prove a benefit to his firm. John D. Ivey & Company could see no objection to the arrangement going into effect at once. None of these men had heard of any concerted objection among Toronto wholesalers to the agreement coming into effect on March 1, on the ground that it would work hardship to those who had recently received goods from Germany for the coming season, and have paid the surtax thereon. It is said that some wholesalers will, on this ground, ask that the agreement shall not become operative until July 1.

Mabel Taliaferro Annoyed By Statements Against The Stage

Talented Actress Considers Giving Up the Profession in Which She is a Bright Light — Public Opinion Jumps at a Story or Two and Everyone is Included.

STATEMENT TO REPORTER

Miss Mabel Taliaferro, who is appearing with splendid success in "Springtime," by Booth Tarkington and Leon Wilson, the same authors as "The Man From Home," which appears at the Grand to-night, is much incensed about the statements made in regard to those who have taken up the stage and voiced her opinions to a newspaper reporter as follows:

"An actress has no time to be bad," said Miss Taliaferro. "We hear so much scandal concerning stage people that it really disheartens those who are really actors and actresses. Let any poor, misguided chorus girl, or even dance hall singer, get into any trouble, either fancied or real, and instanter the papers carry big headlines, 'Actress in Trouble!' Isn't it disgusting? I am glad to get away from New York with all its raucous stage scandals, and its rabid newspaper talk.

"Please don't misunderstand me, Mr. Newspaperman, and, more important, yet, please don't misquote me, just for the sake of a sensational story. You may say just this much: I am disgusted with so much quarreling, so much so-called scandal, and if things do not change I shall permanently leave the stage. I'm taking my first step now by refusing to longer play in New York under the present conditions.

"The public is gathering the impression that the stage is bad—it isn't bad—actresses haven't time to be bad—even were they so inclined. Their work is too difficult, too exacting. By actresses I mean those women who take their calling seriously, who devote their life to the sunshine and shadows of the player, who entertain and instruct, who are on the stage for just the same reason that an honoured 'varsity president devotes his endeavours to education.

What Actresses Give Up.

"Actresses give up home, family, and the hundred and two things that make life worth living to the ordinary woman, and for this a certain gratitude comes in the way of scandal mongering—it's unjust. I speak for that great body of women, noble, honest and true, who sacrifice themselves at the altar of Thespis—for myself. I shall not continue in any calling that is so bared to indecent attacks such as New York is undergoing now—if conditions do not better I shall retire from the stage forever. Mind you, I do not say one word against the serious-minded, hard-working men and women who have not yet achieved stellar distinction—there are chorus girls and men, and others slipping along the lower rungs of the theatrical ladder—they are working with the same vim, the same eagerness and for the same purpose. I know that these, too, feel the stigma that is being placed upon us all.

Conditions in New York.

"New York to-day is undergoing a crisis unprecedented in theatrical history. Of course there's a little reason for some of this. When you consider the public, you look into a kaleidoscope of colours that bewilder you. Every one wants something to his individual taste. Take, for instance, the man who lives in some small town. The man, I mean, who is respected at home, has a nice business, and a few dollars to spend in recreation. New York, of course—he wants to see the sights—to get a bit devilish, as it were; nothing particularly wrong—just out for a good time—perhaps similar if I were to go to Paris with my husband—of course I'd want to see the Moulin Rouge, and, of course, Mister Out-of-Town must do the Bowery, and a few other things—and possibly in a fretful moment he dallies over a glass of wine in a dance hall—trouble starts, and the next yellow journal edition tells the story of a horrible scandal about an actress—and there you are—I am disgusted with conditions in New Pork.'

How often do you eat this food?

A short time ago there appeared in the columns of one of the prominent magazines an article on building brain and muscle by the proper selection of the foods you eat.

A good many people were surprised to find oatmeal placed at the top of the list of foods recommended; but if the article had appeared in an English or Scotch paper every reader would have expected to see first place given to good oatmeal.

As a matter of fact Great Britian and Europe come to us for tremendous quantities of Quaker Oats because it represents to them perfect food, being the richest in flavor and best in cleanliness and purity, of all oatmeals.

Americans should eat more Quaker Oats; the results would soon show themselves in improved conditions of health and strength. 25

BURGLAR HAS BAD RECORD

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 18.—John Millen, who was caught in the act of burglarizing G. C. Dilmar's jewelry store, received a sentence of three years in penitentiary from Magistrate Fraser yesterday. He is a burglar and crook of international reputation, and speaks half a dozen languages. Born in Buffalo, he was arrested in Warsaw Russia, with a bunch of anarchists in 1904. In 1907 he was sentenced at Buffalo to five years for burglary, and was released on parole in 1909, in which year he enlisted in the U.S. army, deserting three months later. Dec. 7, 1909, he was arrested in Toronto for bicycle stealing under the name of Frank Moleski, and sentenced to 30 days. He is wanted at Hamilton for burglary.

Butcher Heavily Penalized.

St. Catharines, Feb. 18.—Magistrate Campbell fined R. J. Austin, butcher, $10 and costs for using scales that had been condemned by the weights and measures inspectors, and $100 for obstructing the officer. Austin, it is claimed, threatened to throw Inspector Clegg of Hamilton out of the store.

FRATERNAL PRESCRIPTION FOR NERVOUS WRECKS

(From "Medical Reports.")

Thousands of men, nervous wrecks, have found the following "fraternal prescription" a blessing and a boon. Such men lack aggressiveness, they are timid, nervous, easily discouraged, lacking in self esteem and confidence. They suffer from cold extremities, thin, watery blood, nervousness, sleeplessness, frightful dreams, trembling hands and limbs, unsteady gait and an absolute inability to perform the ordinary natural and rational acts or duties such as any healthy normal man can.

A vigorous man works, plays, eats and sleeps always with the keenest enjoyment. The greater his exertions are, the stronger becomes his appetite and slumber.

The nervous man, seems always tired and worn out. Retiring brings no relief. Sleep brings no refreshment, all because of an abnormal condition of the nervous system, brought about by—well, no matter what — the desire is for relief and freedom through the body supplying the sensitive nerves with all the power of sensation, so that sleep is refreshing, food is delicious, work is play and play is pleasure.

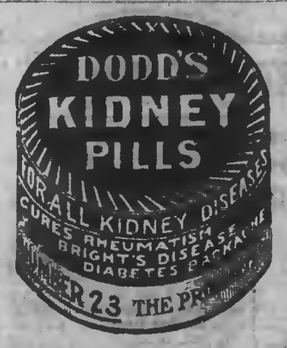
This treatment is thorough, simple and correct. The ingredients are used in filling various prescriptions and can be obtained of any well stocked druggist and mixed at home without embarrassment or questions.

Obtain three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound in a six ounce bottle. To this, add one ounce of compound fluid balmwort and let stand two hours, Then add one ounce of tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), and one ounce of compound essence cardiol. Mix, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring until a vigorous, bounding new health takes hold of the tired, exhausted nerves. Only a few weeks' treatment will astonish, and rejuvenate, because the treatment is the right thing at the right time, and contains no deceptive opiates.

CANNIBALISM NORTH OF COBALT

Montreal, Feb. 18.—A member of the provincial police of Ontario is here to try to locate a witness who is wanted to give information concerning what it is claimed to be a clear case of cannibalism in the country north of Cobalt.

It is alleged that three Americans, who were prospecting, got lost in a snowstorm. The body of one of them was found in the snow near a stake bearing the names of the other two. The body had evidently been cut up into steaks and joints.



FATAL FIRE IN HAMILTON

Henry Bawden and Robert McCullough, of Guerney-Tilden Foundry, Are Unable to Get Out of Burning Building—Car Hits Returning Hose Wagon and Occupants Are Badly Injured.

Hamilton, Feb. 18.—Hamilton was visited by three fires last night that resulted in the loss of two lives and the serious injury of four firemen.

The first alarm came at 5.30 from the Gurney-Tilden Co.'s foundry at John and Rebecca streets. Two employes, Henry Bawden, a laborer, 53 West Main street, and Robert McCullough, Port Credit 25 years of age, a stove mounter, were suffocated.

The fire started in the lacquer room in the second floor. A young woman and a boy were employed in the room, and they say that they saw a spark drop from an electric wire into a vat of lacquer. In an instant the vat was a mass of flames, and in a few minutes the building was filled with smoke so dense and stifling that it was impossible for those in the adjoining rooms to see.

The flames and smoke swept up a stairway to the third floor where some thirty men were working. All but Bawden and McCullough managed to grope their way to safety. Bawden was missed, and Fireman Murdock rush up to the third floor, and stumbled across his dead body lying near the door. A few more steps would have taken him to safety.

It was not until Bawden's body was recovered that McCullough was missed. Chief Ten Eyck, as Murdock had done, did not hesitate to risk his life, and rushed through the choking smoke to rescue McCullough. He found the senseless body on the floor near a window. He tried to protect himself from the smoke by holding his coat in front of his face. There was a spark of life when Ten Eyck staggered down stairs with him, but he died an hour later.

While the foremen were engaged at the Gurney-Tilden fire, an alarm came in from Victoria avenue sub-station of the Cataract Power Co. A transformer was burned out, and the street car system was tied up for about half an hour. Loss $400.

The third alarm came about eight o'clock from a house near the corner of James street and Charlton avenue. The fire here did not amount to much, but when the Central Station Company was returning it was run down by a Brantford car at Hughson and Main streets.

Some of the men jumped, and those in the front part of the sleigh were thrown out. Wm. McDougall received a big gash over the ear. He was taken to the City Hospital, and his condition is regarded as serious. Captain Glover's thigh was severely cut, and Lieut. Smith, 56 Colborne street, was also seriously injured. Fireman James Crawford, 69 North Wellington street, and Daniel McCarthy were also cut and bruised.

Night Riders Indicted.

Cincinnati, Feb. 18.—The first blow struck by the United States against alleged night riders was delivered yesterday when a federal grand jury at Covington, Ky., returned indictments against twelve men of Dryridge, Ky., for conspiracy in restraint of trade. One of the men indicted is John S. Steers, a member of the state Legislature.

The indictments charge that the defendants conspired to prevent W. H. Osborne from shipping four hogsheads of tobacco from Dryridge to Cincinnati. They were charged with having intimidated, by threats of violence, both Osborne and the station agent at Dryridge.

To Extend Juvenile Delinquents Act.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—There should reach the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario and the Provincial Legislature to-day a petition signed by some of Ottawa's most influential citizens. It asks for provincial legislation to pave the way for the Juvenile Delinquents' Act (now in force in the capital) going into force in all cities, towns and county towns in the province.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has a uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is bashful, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

BEST YEAR IN HISTORY OF THE CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE

Season Was Wound Up Last Night by a Business Meeting of the Executive—Gate Receipts Were the Best Ever,

BANQUET WILL BE HELD

The most successful season financially and otherwise in the history of the City Hockey League was wound up last night, when a meeting of the Executive was held in the Oriental Hotel, with President C. G. Graham in the chair.

There were present Messrs. John Oldham, vice-president; F. D. Craig, secretary-treasurer; J. Dennard, T. A. S.; Len Dobson, West Ends, and W. J. Metheral, Strathconas.

The financial statement presented by Secretary Treasurer Craig showed the largest gate receipts in the history of the League, the total for the seven nights being $514.80, which is away in advance of anything reached before. The doing away of season tickets helped considerably in attaining this big total.

The Secretary's statement, which was adopted, on motion of Messrs. Deannard and Oldham, was as follows:

FRED D. CRAIG,
Sec.-Treasurer.

On motion of Mr. Deannard, seconded by Mr. Oldham, an honorarium of $10 was passed to Secretary-Treasurer Craig for his services during the season.

The Secretary was given authority to divide the balance among the teams of the League, reserving $10 from each of the losing teams to pay for the banquet to be given by the League in honour of the Strathconas.

The champions receive $94.87 as their share of the receipts while the other teams will get $84.87.

It was decided to hold the annual banquet and presentation of the cup to the Strathconas not later than March 12th, and President Graham and Secretary Craig were appointed a committee to make the necessary arrangements.

Burritt Leads The City Hockey League Scorers

Hugh Burritt, the diminutive centre of the Strathconas, has the honour of leading the City League's scoring department, having caused the nets to bulge no less than twenty-eight times in seven games, an average of four per game, and a remarkable showing for a youngster who has played his first season in the City League. Another Collegiate recruit is second in the list in Ken Crane, rover of the West Ends, who has annexed the grand total of twenty-five. This was his first season in City League company, too, and the showing of the two Collegiate players, who, by the way, are "pals," is a splendid one. Next in the honour roll come McMillan and Weatherstone, the hard-working wings of the Strathconas, the first with eleven goals and the second with nine. Dusty, of the Straths, and Seymour, of the West Ends, lead the defence men in scoring, the former having four in four games, while Seymour has scored the same number in seven games.

Burritt, Strathconas	28
Crane, West Ends	25
McMillan, Strathconas	11
Weatherstone, Strathconas	9
Dobson, West Ends	8
Ray, Strathconas	7

Exciting Game In Church League Won By St. Andrew's

The St. Andrew's team, leaders in the Church League, won from Knox church last night by 4 to 3, but the South End team gave them a lively chace for the honours and it required over time to settle the contest. Knox church were ahead 2 to 1 at half time but in the second half St. Andrew's showed improved form, Sills tying the score five minutes before time was called. It was decided to play five minutes each way over time, and at the end of nine minutes Clarke scored on a long lift from his position at cover point, winning the game for his team, as Knox afiled to score in the remaining minute of play. The teams were as fololws:

St. Andrew's — Goal, Patterson; point, Stanton; cover, Clarke, rover, Rae; centre, Currie; right wing, Leitch; left wing, Sills.

George St. captured the other game of the double-header in easy fashion from All Saints. The Methodists had their strongest team of the season on and were always well in the lead, being ahead 5 to 0 at half time, while the game ended 12 to 2 in their favour. The teams were:

EXAMINER OLD TIME STARS SHINE

Huston and Hutchinson Play "Good" Hockey in Toronto.

While the Examiner Hockey team, which almost brought the Stanley Cup to Peterboroug several years ago, has not appeared before the public since their last great victory a number of their stellar players who have moved out of the city are making good in Toronto. The McLean Publishing Co. seven played the Hunter Rose Printing Co. team recently, at the Excelsior Rink, Toronto, defeating them by the handsome margin of 7-1. Bert Huston, and Melville Hutchinson, centre and cover point, respectively, of the great and only Examiner team, that knew not the taste of defeat, and Sam Moore, who in the play days, tried to round out a hockey team for the Review, were prominent players. Huston, in goal, stopped a thousand shots, more or less, and was offered his board and "lodgins" to play with Ottawa. Hutch and Sam Moore each scored two goals and brought down the house by the finished performance they gave. It was just like a bunch of Examiner stars to go out and pull off a little stunt of the 7 to 1 kind, and here's hoping their challenge to the Stanley Cup holders will not be accepted.

LAKEFIELD PLEASED WITH ITS JUNIORS

(Lakefield News.)

One ofthe best games of hockey witnessed at the rink this season was played on Monday night between the T. A. S. of Peterborough, and the Juniors. The visitors came up expecting an easy win, but they were badly disappointed in that respect. A large crowd witnessed the game, and a fine brand of hockey was put up. The visitors started scoring early in the game, and put a fast shot past Hill. The juniors came right back and scored three in quick succession. Each side scored another and at half time the score stood 4-2, in favur of the Juniors. Shortly after the face-off in the second half the Juniors scored two more goals, and the T.A.S. also managed to put two between the posts, the game ending 6-4, in favour of the Juniors. The feature of the game was the fine work of Hill in goal for the Juniors, who stopped shot after shot of what appeared to be sure goals. The other players also put up a good game and were a little too fast for the visitors. On the T. A. S. were four old Lakefield players. The visitors played a good game, but were checked too closely to be very effective. Following are the players:

T. A. S.—Goal, Hickey; point, M. Sabatino; cover, M. Quigley; rover, Couglin; centre, T. Sabatino; right Heffernan; left, J. Morin.

Referee—O'Brien.

Everyone Thought She Was Going Into Consumption.

Gained Ten Pounds in Two Weeks by the Use of Burdock Blood Bitters.

Mrs. Fred. Biggs, Kingston, Ont., writes:—"I was completely run down, my blood was out of order, and I used to get so weak I would be compelled to stay in bed for weeks at a time. I could not eat, was pale and thin; every one thought I was going into consumption. I tried everything and different doctors until a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I did not have one bottle used when my appetite began to improve. I used six bottles. I gained ten pounds in two weeks. When I began to take it I only weighed ninety-three pounds. It just seemed to pull me from the grave as I never expected to be strong again. I will tell every sufferer of your wonderful medicine."

The blood reaches every portion of the body to distribute nutriment and remove effete matter and waste products. Clearly then, any influence, good or bad, affecting the blood, must necessarily affect the entire system for good or evil as the case may be.

Get pure blood and keep it pure by removing every trace of impure morbid matter from the system by using Burdock Blood Bitters. It exerts a curative influence unapproached by any other remedy.

(Lindsay Warder.)

Myles Hamilton and his sturdy rink of Fenelon Falls curlers won the primary event at the Bobcaygeon 'spiel last evening, when they met and defeated William Davis, of Bobcaygeon in the final game. It was simply a walkover for the Fenelon rink and they outclassed their opponents of the game, winning by 13 shots.

Skip Hamilton entered the finals in the afternoon by easily disposing of Mayor Morrow of the electric city by ten shots, while Davis gave Alvin Gould, of Fenelon, a similar trimming. The victory was a most popular one and Skip Hamilton and his rink deserve all the credit due them, for they played a star game throughout and won all their games with ease, with the exception of one game with Neill, of Peterborough in which they won on an extra end. The prizes they received were four leather-lined hand bags, while Skip Davis and his rink were awarded second prize, four sets of military hair brushes.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Feb. 18th.

Sir,—In writing my note re Miss Hayes' lecture in the Examiner of the 16th, permit me to say that I had no intention of questioning the lecturer's veracity. Neither did I wish to pose as a critic of her interesting address to the T. A. S. I merely wished to see her right on this question of O'Connell or Sackville St. I am convinced Miss Hayes would not knowingly insult Catholic and National Ireland by ignoring the facts that the principal thoroughfare of Ireland's capital, known up to 1875 as Sackville St., was in that year re-named after the great Catholic Liberator, Daniel O'Connell. No one now calls it Sackville St., with the exception of a few of advanced Orange leanings. Miss Hayes was in Ireland only a few days, but even taking that into account I find it hard to understand how she fell into this mistake. To illustrate my point I will suppose that George St., Peterborough, was named after some German statesman. Now if the citizens of this city re-named this street after some Canadian hero, what would be thought of a person who fifty years from now still persisted in giving it the old name. The case in Dublin is exactly parallel. Sackville was an English nobleman; O'Connell was the greatest Irishman that ever lived. Imagine, then, how Irishmen resent this lack of appreciation of the emancipator's memory. Of course, people say it is but an idle sentiment. But it is more than that. There is a principle at stake. It is like one of the many points where nationality and provincialism clash. Defender's statement that Sackville and O'Connell are the same street read in the light of what I have written is a mere quibble. There is no Sackville street. O'Connell is not the newer name; it is the ONLY name. "Defender" says if I re-read the part I refer to I will see that Miss Hayes does not say Sackville St. is the principal thoroughfare of Dublin. Now, here is "the part referred to": "The monument of Daniel O'Connell in Sackville St. is a fine thing. In the most prominent street in Dublin is the statue of Fr. Mathew." Now the monument of Daniel O'Connell and the statue of Fr. Mathew are in the same street. How, then, can "Defender" maintain that Miss Hayes did not say Sackville St. is the leading street of Dublin? Now, once more I regret that I should appear to criticise Miss Hayes' lecture. Nothing was or is farther from my mind.

And as to "J. G." In the first place I would suggest he should take lessons in elementary composition before rushing into print. He persists in maintaining that Sackville is the proper name for O'Connell St. Here is a choice extract from "J. G.": "I know that it is and that Daniel O'Connell's statue stands in the middle of the road and he is looking at O'Connell bridge, which crosses the river Liffey in a DIRECT line." Which of the city schools does "J. G." attend? O'Connell bridge crosses the river Liffey in a direct line! Well, well, ain't these Irish cute! Imagine their being able to see that that was the best way to build a bridge! Who would have thought it! But why not be consistent, "J. G.", and say Carlisle instead of O'Connell bridge. It is just as much the name of the bridge as Sackville is of the street. "J. G." says he lived on Sackville St. Of course his modesty keeps him from saying he owned the place.—Yours, etc., "GAEL."

What Port Hope Times Says Re Assault In McPherson Home

A number of readers of The Times protested against the attitude taken in the matter of two tramps who beat up an aged couple of ladies near Havelock about ten days ago. It will be remembered that we took the ground that the two old ladies, living alone as they did, invited trouble when the inevitable tramp, in the right frame of mind, and with the conditions favourable, appeared on the scene. From that position we are not prepared to recede.

It would be well, however, to remind those of our readers who took objection to the position, that we are not appearing as the self appointed champion of any class of desperate thugs, who might care to enter any lonely farm house, beg a meal and then coolly proceed to select an axe and murder the old women who provided them with a meal. Such a position would be surely an absurd one; and none taking the trouble to read the item would reasonably accuse the Times of such criminal expressions of thought.

We admit, as any right-thing person will have to admit, that in this country, and under the laws of the land, any party, no matter who he or she may be, has the perfect right to live where they please, and conduct their affairs as best suits their pleasure so to do, so long as they are law abiding. That goes without saying. The law is there to see that they are protected, too, and enjoy the privileges that go with citizenship. We admit all that, and cheerfully say "amen" to that argument.

But we still maintain that those two old ladies, who lived alone in a lonely farm house, with no male help on the place, and subject to the frequent visits of many tramps, most of the likely criminal class, could not reasonably expect to escape trouble, sooner or later. In the very nature of the case, this was bound to occur. All that was needed was the favourable chance, and the thing was bound to happen. So we say the two ladies had no moral right to endanger their lives as they did.

Thousands of people will be ready to say that the tramp was all to blame and not one in ten thousand looks on the matter from the position of the desperate tramp. He ought not to have done what he did do; but he was sorely tempted and fell. They had no right to put the temptation in his way. Of course he ought not to have fallen, but remember the case. He was hungry, tired, thirsty, cold and friendless. His moral nature was at the lowest and he is confronted with two very old ladies, said to possess much money in the house. He fell.

In our opinion the two old ladies had no right to be living in the lonely way in which they were. They invited crime. It was bound to occur sooner or later, under the circumstances.—Port Hope Times.

You can't dodge them all. Mosquito bites, suburn bruises, skin injuries. Some of them will attack you this season sure. Have a tin of Davis' Menthol Salve on hand. 25 cents.

OBITUARY.

MRS. K. THROOP.

The death occurred this morning at five o'clock, at the residence of her son, Mr. Geo. K. Throop, 76 Ware St., of Mrs. Kent Throop, after an illness of a few days, suffering from paralysis. The deceased was 76 years of age and was born in Canterbury, England. She came to this country at the age of four years. Her husband predeceased her 41 years ago, and for the past 18 years she had been living with her two sons here and in Cobourg. She was well known and highly esteemed by all who know her. Two sons, Albert of Cobourg, and George K., of this city, are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning to the 11.45 G. T. R. train for Cobourg, and interment will take place there on Monday. There wil be a service at 76 Ware street to-morrow morning, conducted by Rev. Riddiford, of Park street church.

Why, Madam, Should You Buy Dirt at Flour Prices

We're all getting terribly squeamish these days.

Our great grandads cheerfully admitted that they had to eat a peck of dirt before they died.

Much of it, though unbeknown to the dear old fellows, came out of their flour barrels paid for at full flour prices.

So watch your flour barrel, Mistress Housewife.

Get what you pay for—flour that's pure, sure.

Suppose you went out into the wheatfield bringing back a bushel, and you had to crush it into flour yourself.

As is done even now by the women in Abyssinia.

You'd first sift it, of course, until it was all wheat.

Then, after a liberal application of elbow grease, you'd start the pounding exercise.

But what about the dirt and wheat fuzz, what about the wheat hairs and "whiskers" adhering to the kernels like a long-lost brother?

* * * *

We don't stop at mere "screening," Mistress Housewife.

In the FIVE ROSES hygienic mills out west, we have specialists doing nothing day and night but rub the scrub, scrape and scalp the hard wheat kernels.

Till the well-filled, wholesome, polished berries glisten in a glowing golden transparency.

What would be the use of our down-to-the-minute milling plant, Madam, if we had to grind dirty wheat?

Trying to improve the quality and color of FIVE ROSES after slightling the wheat-cleaning would be like trying to improve the pie after it is baked!

As perfect as money married to science can invent, is the wheat-preparing department at Keewatin.

* * * *

Because FIVE ROSES is all flour, it saves you a peck of trouble by side-stepping a peck of dirt.

The careful housewife using FIVE ROSES never knows what specky, pepper-like, muddy or grayish flour means—and never will know.

Never discouraged by sticky, putty-like doughs, discolored batter, uncertain and unappetizing bread consequences.

If you trust your grocer, Mistress Housewife, just say: "Give me the purest, healthiest flour you know."

If you don't, say: "Give me FIVE ROSES."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

"The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel!
But do not dull thy palm with entertainment
Of each new-hatched, unfledged comrade." —Shakespeare.

It seems to me that one of the chief things the present generation needs for its perfecting is more reserve.

Think it over and see if you don't find that the person who seldom speaks of his personal affairs, who never prates of his inmost thoughts, the person to whom you would naturally apply the adjective "reserved," is not something of a rarity in your acquaintance.

"Silas Sykes always grabs on to his thoughts an' throws 'em out, dressed or undressed. He ain't a bit o' reserve. Not a thought of his head that he don't part with. If he had hands on his forehead you could tell what time he is. I think you could, anyway," says Zona Gale of one of his characters in "Friendship Village," and it's true of a good many people outside of Friendship Village, I think.

So many people talk to acquaintances they have met but two, or three, or a half dozen times, of such intimate subjects as their ambitions, their diseases, and their love affairs.

Why, the other day a girl asked me to direct her to a certain place. I pointed it out to her, and as I was going in the same direction we walked along together. Before we had reached her destination, four blocks away, she had told actually me all about a love affair she was passing through at the time, how many times he had proposed, and why she wasn't sure she wanted to accept him.

To some people exchanging confidences seems like a sort of intoxicant. Once they get talking of themselves they will go to any lengths of self-revelation in order to keep their audience's attention.

That desire to keep people's attention seems to be the crux of the whole thing. Three-quarters of the time it is an eagerness to keep the centre of the stage that makes the babbler willing to unlock the things he should keep locked up in his heart.

He knows that by bringing out these hidden things he can startle people and thereby hold the center of the stage, and he apparently searches the corners of his mind for private matters to reveal in order to prolong the time he may hold that coveted position.

The result is, of course, that his most sacred confidences soon become cheap, and he thereby defeats his own end.

The reserved person's lightest confidences, on the other hand are carefully attended and long remembered. He may not often hold the centre of the stage, but he can command it instantly and without effort any time he wishes.

Don't think I am advising people to lock their secrets in their own hearts and never confide in any one, for I am not, at all.

I believe that an occasional hour of intimate discussion with a trustworthy friend is a healthy practice and a beautiful privilege.

I am simply inveighing against the unreserve that continually sloshes over into a discussion with casual acquaintances of subjects that should be discussed only between close friends.

If you don't need it, simply pass by the suggestion, but if you do, why not make an attempt to cultivate a bit more the fine art of reserve.

MANAGERS URGE CRUSADE TO AID STAGE CHILDREN

The Little Tots Win Many Audiences by Their Admirable Acting---Are Barred From Appearing in Several States Where Factory Laws are Applied to Them---Dwarfs and Dummies Must Often be Used for Juvenile Characters in Plays.

Pathetic little creatures, aren't they, these stage children, who appear behind the footlights to be laughed at by men and women seated comfortably in velvet chairs? Juat little waifs, forced to work for ten or fifteen minutes a day for sometimes as little as $25 a week; obliged to wear good clothes, and be sent to bed as soon as their work is over; compelled to study how to speak correctly, how to take care of their health.

Some of them have only four or five months' vacation during the year, and even during vacation time most of them have to continue studying. And their work is so hard, making believe they are somebody else. Of course, children who are not on the stage like to play at make-believe, but they get no salary for that sort of playing, and hence they do not work and do not come under the factory laws. Nor do the "little mothers" of the tenements, who spend their play-time being nurses to younger brothers and sisters, without pay, of course. Nor the little girls and boys who help at the housework, and know how to sweep and dust and make fires in broken stoves, and carry bags of coal from the basement shop to the top floor.

These children are not "factory workers," according to law, but in four States the children of the stage are, and they are protected to such an extent that they cannot act at all.

And the result is that people in those States cannot see plays in which children have a part. In Massachusetts, if the decision of the Supreme Court is taken literally, there can be no children performers in Sunday school entertainments or in charity plays, or in school exercises. Children simply cannot appear on a public stage, for such appearance is work and subject to the factory laws, which forbid a child under a certain age from engaging in any employment that may in any way endanger its health.

H. B. Warner in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Francis Wilson in "The Bachelor's Baby," Dustin Farnum in "Cameo Kirby," Mrs. Fiske in "Salvation Nell," Margaret Anglin in "The Awakening of Helena Richie," "The Barrier," most of Lew Fields's musical productions, and a number of other plays that have children in the cast, are now forbidden to appear in Boston, Chicago, Baltimore, and New Orleans, or in any other cities in Massachusetts, Illinois, Maryland and Louisiana. Child labour laws in these States, ostensibly for the purpose of protecting children against excessive work, have been constructed so as to discriminate against children on the stage. To present a play that requires a child in the company is now impossible in the cities named, unless the manager adopts the expedient of engaging a dwarf past the age limit, for the child role.

George C. Tyler of Liebler & Co., is among the managers who have recently suffered from such discrimination. When "Alias Jimmy Valentine" was produced in Chicago before coming to New York the part that is played by Alma Sedley had to be taken by a dummy figure, and most of the third act scene in which the two children appear had to be eliminated entirely. Donald Gallaher, the boy of the scene, was just past the age of 16 and could appear without interference. The forced use of a dummy made the fourth act climax, when Jimmy Valentine' are overworked They ing the door of the vault in which the child is supposed to be locked, appear almost ridiculous.

"There should be a uniform child labour law," said Mr. Tyler, in speaking on the subject the other day. "A law based on the intelligence that would not place the stage child in the same category as the factory child. No one could honestly complain that the children in 'Alias Jimmy Valentine' are overworked. They appear for about ten minutes during a performance, or for less than an hour and a half a week. Little Alma Sedley has the best of care at all times, of course. Her mother travels with the company, and is on the stage every night. The child goes to school and receives the same sort of education as other children, except those of the very poor. She is well dressed, well fed, and has plenty of play time. The fact that she is able to play the part as she does shows that she is intelligent. Isn't it absurd to try to 'protect' her and the other stage children to the extent of forbidding them to earn money almost without effort — or even completely without effort? For children enjoy acting and make-believe.

"The Chicago experience was not the first Liebler & Co. have had in the same city. Another play we put on there required a child about 8 years old. Of course, it was impossible to get permission to let the child appear. We advertised in New York for a dwarf to play the part and succeeded in engaging a 19-year-old midget, who was as small as a child of 8 but who was unsuited to the part. Other companies have resorted to the expedient of using dwarfs, a plan never satisfactory in results, for even the best-formed midgets fail to look like children.

"Here in New York conditions are not so bad, of course. We sometimes have trouble in persuading the Society for the prevention of Cruelty to Children to give their permission for the appearance of a child. There is an elaborate series of questions to be answered and final permission for the appearance of a child. There is an elaborate series of questions to be answered and final permission from the Mayor to be obtained. And at any time the permission may be revoked on complaint.

"I advocate most heartily a uniform law that will apply to all States and that will be based on an intelligent under standing of the requirements of stage children and of the mature of stage life. With the enactment of more factory laws and the continued blindness of some presumably sincere people, there is a possibility of having such plays as "A Midsummer Night's Dream,' 'The Tempest,' 'A Winter's Tale,' 'King John,' 'Richard III.' and dozens of other classic and modern pieces revised or abandoned. An effort on the part of the managers, backed by intelligent public sentiment, might have the effect that we so much desire of placing the stage child on the same basis as the little ones who help their mothers with housework, or take care of younger brothers and sisters, often much too heavy for them to carry.

"As the laws are now we cannot take 'Alias Jimmy Valentine' to any theatres in Massachusetts, Illinois, Maryland, Louisiana, unless we are willing to sacrifice the pivotal scene in the play by using a dummy instead of a real child. Managers of other plays that require children, such as 'The Awakening of Helena Richie' and 'The Bachelor's Baby,' must either employ dwarfs in these States, or arrange their routes so as to escape the 'factory law.'"

Francis Wilson, too, is making an effort to obtain some relief for the stage child. He is directing his attention to the Massachusetts law. He was booked to appear at a Boston theatre in "The Bachelor's Baby," but the decision of the Supreme Court handed down a few weeks ago, and upholding the factory law as applied to children on the stage, has made it necessary for his manager to cancel the booking. He has prepared a petition to be circulated in Massachusetts, and to be sent to the State Legislature, asking for a modification of the law. In his petition he calls attention to the conditions the children find on the stage, their easy hours, the light work they have to perform, and the good salaries they earn. The original intention of the law, he says, was to keep children from employment in factories, mills, and so-called "sweat-shops" in which the "physical and mental strain to accomplish the desired result" was very great.

"It is susceptible of easy proof," to quote the text of his petition, 'that the employment of children on the stage is a delight not merely to the audience, but to the children themselves, who enter into it with the zest and enthusiasm as if playing at home. These children are mostly of theatrical families, and, by right of inheritance have the 'call of the theatre' playing through their veins.

"Older and conservative communities like England," continues Mr. Wilson, "have not found it necessary to enact such drastic laws, for while there as here, the child labour law as to factories, mills, etc., is in full force, the act does not apply to children on the stage, for the reason that drastic endeavour on the stage is not regarded as work, it being, they consider, a far cry from the labour of the child in the factory, mill or shop, to the few minutes during an afternoon or evening permitted the child in plays or in singing or acting. There are, at this date, more than 500 children appearing nightly in the London theatres.

"We particularly call attention to the Great Empire State of New York which in its jealous regard of the rights of children, is second to none in enactment of drastic laws for their well being and protection, and that the people of that Commonwealth have, after great consideration of this question, concluded that a distinction exists in so-called 'child labour' and that by appearance upon a public platform—the stage — the child is not only injured mentally, morally, or physically, but is improved by the study, care, and attention accorded it thereby."

"An officer of the Massachusetts Child Labour Society said that the child actors seldom reached prominence in the theatrical profession when they grew up," said Mr. Wilson, talking about his petition. "It was stated that the theatrical profession was bad for the health of its members, and that children on the stage was subject to sickness more than other children. A glance over the list of prominent actors to-day and of past generations who began as children should be sufficient to convince any one that such a statement is untrue."

A hurried examination of the biographies of about 500 prominent actors of the present generatioin shows that about 10 per cent. of those who have achieved fame began stage life in early childhood. Maude Adams had a speaking part at the age of 5, Lena Abarbanell, the comic opera singer, began at the age of 7; Mary Anderson was only 16 when she made her first appearance, and her studies for the stage began four years earlier. Julia Arthur began acting at the age of 11, Lillian Blauvelt, the singer, appeared in public at the age of 7; Holbrook Blinn made his first appearance when he was 6 years old, Emma Carus was only 6 when she began her stage career, Josseph Cawthorne was 3, and William Collier was 10. Rose Coghlan began to play child parts almost as soon as she

SIR NIGEL

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Copyright 1898, 1906, by A. Conan Doyle.

"Most welcome, sire!" he cried. "Indeed it is good for us that so gallant a knight should stay with us for some short time, since the chance of war has so ordered it. Wine there! Bring wine for the King!"

But John was flushed and angry. His helmet had been roughly torn off, and blood was smeared upon his cheek. His noisy captors stood around him in a circle, eying him hungrily like dogs who have been beaten from their quarry. There were Gascons and English, knights, squires and archers, all pushing and straining.

"I pray you, fair Prince, to get rid of these rude fellows," said King John, "for indeed they have plagued me sorely. By Saint Denis! my arm has been well-nigh pulled from its socket."

"What wish you then?" asked the Prince, turning angrily upon the noisy swarm of his followers.

"We took him, fair lord. He is ours!" cried a score of voices. They closed in, all yelping together like a pack of wolves. "It was I, fair lord!"—"Nay, it was I!"—"You lie, you rascal, it was I!" Again their fierce eyes glared and their blood-stained hands sought the hilts of their weapons.

"Nay, this must be settled here and now!" said the Prince. "I crave your patience, fair and honored sir, for a few brief minutes, since indeed much ill-will may spring from this if it be not set at rest. Who is this tall knight who can scarce keep his hands from the King's shoulder?"

"It is Denis de Morbecque, my lord, a knight of St. Omer, who is in our service, being an outlaw from France."

"I call him to mind. How then, Sir Denis? What say you in this matter?"

"He gave himself to me, fair lord. He had fallen in the press, and I came upon him and seized him. I told him that I was a knight from Artois, and he gave me his glove. See here, I bear it in my hand."

"It is true, fair lord! It is true!" cried a dozen French voices.

"Nay, sir, judge not too soon!" shouted an English squire, pushing his way to the front. "It was I who had him at my mercy, and he is my prisoner, for he spoke to this man only because he could tell by his tongue that he was his own countryman. I took him, and here are a score to prove it."

"It is true, fair lord. We saw it and it was even so," cried a chorus of Englishmen.

At all times there was growling and snapping betwixt the English and their allies of France. The Prince saw how easily this might set a light to such a flame as could not readily be quenched. It must be stamped out now ere it had time to mount.

"Fair and honored lord," he said to the King, "again I pray you for a moment of patience. It is your word and only yours which can tell us what is just and right. To whom were you graciously pleased to commit your royal person?"

King John looked up from the flag on which had been brought to him and wiped his lips with the dawnings of a smile upon his ruddy face.

"It was not this Englishman," he said, and a cheer burst from the Gascons, "nor was it this bastard Frenchman," he added. "To neither of them did I surrender."

There was a hush of surprise.

"To whom then, sir?" asked the Prince.

The King looked slowly round. "There was a devil of a yellow horse," said he. "My poor palfrey went over like a skittle-pin before a ball. Of the rider I know nothing save that he bore red roses on a silver shield. Ah! by Saint Denis, there is the man himself, and there his thrice-accursed horse!"

His head swimming, and moving as if in a dream, Nigel found himself the centre of the circle of armed and angry men.

The Prince laid his hand upon his shoulder. "It is the little cock of Tilford Bridge," said he. "On my father's soul, I have ever said that you would win your day. Did you receive the King's surrender?"

"Nay, fair lord, I did not receive it."

"Did you hear him give it?"

"I heard, sir, but I did not know that it was the King. My master Lord Chandos had gone on, and I followed after."

"And left him lying. Then the surrender was not complete, and by the laws of war the ransom goes to Denis de Morbecque, if his story be true."

"It is true," said the King. "He was the second."

"Then the ransom is your, Denis. But for my part I swear by my father's soul that I had rather have the honor this Squire has gathered than all the richest ransoms of France."

At these words spoken before that circle of noble warriors Nigel's heart gave one great throb, and he dropped upon his knee before the Prince. "Fair lord, how can I thank you?" he murmured. "These words at least are more than any ransom."

"Rise up!" said the smiling Prince, and he smote with his sword upon his shoulder. "England has lost a brave Squire, and has gained a gallant knight. Nay, linger not, I pray! Rise up, Sir Nigel!"

CHAPTER XXVII.

Two months have passed, and the long slopes of Hindhead are russet with the faded ferns—the fuzzy brown belt which wraps the chilling earth. With whoop and scream the wild November wind sweeps over the great rolling downs, tossing the branches of the Cosford beeches, and rattling at the rude latticed windows. The stout old knight of Duplin, grown even a little stouter, with whiter beard to fringe an ever redder face, sits as of yore at the head of his own board. A well-heaped platter flanked by a foaming tankard stands before him. At his right sits the Lady Mary, her dark, plain, queenly face marked deep with those years of weary waiting, but bearing the gentle grace and dignity which only sorrow and restraint can give. On his left is Mathew, the old priest. Long ago the golden-haired beauty had passed from Cosford to Fernhurst, where the young and beautiful Lady Edith Brocas is the belle of all Sussex, a sunbeam of smiles and merriment, save perhaps when her thoughts for an instant fly back to that dread night when she was plucked from under the very talons of the foul hawk of Shalford.

The old knight looked up as a fresh gust of wind with a dash of rain beat against the window behind him. "By Saint Hubert, it is a wild night!" said he. "I had hoped to-morrow to have a flight at a heron of the pool or a mallard in the brook. How fares it with little Katherine the peregrine, Mary?"

"I have joined the wing, father, and I have imped the feathers; but I fear it will be Christmas ere she can fly again."

"This is a hard saying," said Sir John; "for indeed I have seen no bolder better bird. Her wing was broken by a heron's beak last Sabbath sennight, holy father, and Mary has the mending of it."

"I trust, my son, that you had heard mass ere you turned to worldly pleasure upon God's holy day," Father Mathew answered.

"Tut, tut!" said the old knight, laughing. "Shall I make confession at the head of my own table? I can worship the good God amongst his own works, the woods and the fields, better than in yon pile of stone and wood. But I call to mind a charm for a wounded hawk which was taught me by the fowler of Gaston de Foix. How did it run? 'The lion of the Tribe of Judah, the root of David, has conquered.' Yes, those were the words to be said three times as you walk round the perch where the bird is mewed."

The old priest shook his head. "Nay, these charms are tricks of the Devil," said he. "Holy Church lends them no countenance, for they are neither good nor fair. But how is it now with your tapestry, Lady Mary? When last I was beneath this roof you had half done in five fair colors the story of Theseus and Ariadne."

"It is half done still, holy father."

"How is this, my daughter? Have you then so many calls?"

"Nay, holy father, her thoughts are otherwhere," Sir John answered. "She will sit an hour at a time, the needle in her hand and her soul a hundred leagues from Cosford House. Ever since the Prince's battle——"

"Good father, I beg you——"

"Nay, Mary, none can hear me, save your own confessor, Father Mathew. Ever since the Prince's battle, I say, when we heard that young Nigel had won such honor she is brainwode, and sits ever—well, even as you see her now."

An intent look had come into Mary's eyes; her gaze was fixed upon the dark rain-splashed window. It was a face carved from ivory, white-lipped and rigid, on which the old priest looked.

"What is it, my daughter? What do you see?"

"I see nothing, father."

"What is it then that disturbs you?"

"I hear, father."

"What do you hear?"

"There are horsemen on the road."

The old knight laughed. "So it goes on, father. What day is there that a hundred horsemen do not pass our gate, and yet every clink of hoofs sets her poor heart a-trembling. So strong and steadfast she has ever been, my Mary, and now no sound too slight to shake her to the soul! Nay, daughter, nay, I pray you!"

She had half-risen from her chair, her hands clenched and her dark, startled eyes still fixed upon the window. "I hear them, father! I hear them amid the wind and the rain! Yes, yes, they are turning—they have turned! My God, they are at our very door!"

"By Saint Hubert, the girl is right!" cried old Sir John, beating his fist upon the board. "Ho, varlets, out with you to the yard! Set the mulled wine on the blaze once more! There are travelers at the gate, and it is no night to keep a dog waiting at our door. Hurry, Hannekin! Hurry, I say, or I will baste you with my cudgel!"

Plainly to the ears of all men could be heard the stamping of the horses. Mary had stood up, quivering in every limb. An eager step at the threshold, the door was flung wide, and there in the opening stood Nigel, the rain gleaming upon his smiling face, his cheeks flushed with the beating of the wind, his blue eyes shining with tenderness and love. Something held her by the throat, the light of the torches danced up and down; but her strong spirit rose at the thought that others should see that inner holy of holies of her soul. There is a heroism of women to which no valor of man can attain. Her eyes only carried him her message as she held out her hand.

"Welcome, Nigel!" said she.

He stooped and kissed it.

"Saint Catharine has brought me home," said he.

A merry supper it was at Cosford Manor that night, with Nigel at the head betwixt the jovial old knight and the Lady Mary, whilst at the farther end Samkin Aylward, wedged between two servant maids, kept his neighbors in alternate laughter and terror as he told his tales of the French Wars. Nigel had to turn his doeskin heels and show his little golden spurs. As he spoke of what was passed Sir John clapped him on the shoulder, while Mary took his strong right hand in hers, and the good old priest smiling blessed them both. Nigel had drawn a little golden ring from his pocket, and it twinkled in the torchlight.

"Did you say that you must go on your way to-morrow, father?" he asked the priest.

"Indeed, fair son, the matter presses."

"But you may bide the morning?"

"It will suffice if I start at noon."

"Much may be done in a morning." He looked at Mary, who blushed and smiled. "By Saint Paul! I have waited long enough."

"Good, good!" chuckled the old knight, with wheezy laughter. "Even so I wooed your mother, Mary. Wooers were brisk in the olden time. To-morrow is Tuesday, and Tuesday is ever a lucky day. Alas! that the good Dame Ermyntrude is no longer with us to see it done! The old hound must run us down, Nigel, and I hear its bay upon my own heels; but my heart will rejoice that before the end I may call you son. Give me your hand, Mary, and yours, Nigel. Now, take an old man's blessing, and may God keep and guard you both, and give you your desert, for I believe on my soul that in all this broad land there dwells no nobler man nor any woman more fitted to be his mate!"

There let us leave them, their hearts full of gentle joy, the golden future of hope and promise stretching out before their youthful eyes. Alas for those green spring dreamings! How often do they fade and wither until they fall and rot, a dreary sight, by the wayside of life! But here, by God's blessing, it was not so, for they burgeoned and they grew, even fairer and more noble, until the whole wide world might marvel at the beauty of it.

It has been told elsewhere how as the years passed Nigel's name rose higher in honor; but still Mary's would keep pace with it, each helping and sustaining the other upon an ever higher path. In many ladies did Nigel carve his name, and ever as he returned spent and weary from his work he drank fresh strength and fire and craving for honor from her who glorified his home. At Twynham Castle they dwelled for many years, beloved and honored by all. Then in the fullness of time they came back to the Tilford Manor-house and spent their happy, healthy age amid those heather downs where Nigel had passed his first lusty youth, ere ever he turned his face to the wars. Thither also came Aylward when he had left the "Pied Merlin" where for many a year he sold ale to the men of the forest.

But the years pass; the old wheel turns and ever the thread runs out. The wise and the good, the noble and the brave, they come from the darkness, and into the darkness they go, whence, whither and why, who may say? Here is the slope of Hindhead. The fern still glows russet in November, the heather still burns red in July; but where now is the Manor of Coaford? Where is the old house of Tilford? Where, but for a few scattered gray stones, is the mighty pile of Waverley? And yet even gnawing Time has not eaten all things away. Walk with me toward Guildford, reader, upon the busy highway. Here, where the high green mound rises before us, mark yonder roofless shrine which still stands four-square to the winds. It is St. Catharine's, where Nigel and Mary plighted their faith. Below lies the winding river, and over yonder you still see the dark Chantry woods which mount up to the bare summit, on which, roofed and whole, stands that Chapel of the Martyr where the comrades beat off the archers of the crooked Lord of Shalford. Down yonder on the flanks of the long chalk hills one traces the road by which they made their journey to the wars. And now turn hither to the north, down this sunken winding path! It is all unchanged since Nigel's day. Here is the Church of Compton. Pass under the aged and crumbling arch. Before the steps of that ancient altar, unrecorded and unbrassed, lies the dust of Nigel and of Mary. Near them is that of Maude their daughter, and of Alleyne Edrieson, whose spouse she was; their children and children's children are lying by their side. Here too, near the old yew in the churchyard, is the little mound which marks where Samkin Aylward went back to that good soil from which he sprang.

So lie the dead leaves; but they and such as they nourish forever that great old trunk of England, which still sheds forth another crop and another, each as strong and as fair as the last. The body may lie in moldering chancel, or in crumbling vault, but the rumor of noble lives, the record of valor and truth, can never die, but lives on in the soul of the people. Our own work lies ready to our hands; and yet our strength may be the greater and our faith the firmer if we spare an hour from present toils to look back upon the women who were gentle and strong, or the men who loved honor more than life, on this green stage of England where for a few short years we play our little part.

THE END.

The Kingfisher Legend.

Many and curious are the legends of the kingfisher. One of these is to the effect that the bird was originally a plain gray in color, but upon being let loose from the ark flew toward the setting sun and had its back stained blue by the sky and its lower plumage scorched by the sun to gorgeous hues. The dried body of the kingfisher was once used as a charm against thunderbolts and moths, and it was hung up so that it might point with its bill to the wind's quarter.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"Very few people read my poems," said the discouraged youth.

"In that case," answered Miss Cayenne, "you should have less hesitancy about writing them."

We wonder as Mars comes in view
If there are souls up there.
The men all wonder what they do—
The women what they wear.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. Henry Clark, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Another woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best remedy in the world for women.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world for women. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. William Bourque, Fox Creek, N. B., Canada.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Parisian Sage, the Hair Grower, is Now Sold in Canada on Money Back Plan.

It's a mighty good thing for the women of Canada that Parisian Sage can now be obtained in every town of consequence.

No preparation for the hair has done so much to stop falling hair and eradicate dandruff and make women's hair beautiful as Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is the only certain destroyer of the dandruff microbe which is the cause of 97 per cent. of hair troubles.

Parisian Sage is such an extraordinary and quick acting rejuvenator that Wm. Madill, who is the agent in Peterborough guarantees it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

And a large bottle of Parisian Sage costs only 50 cents at Wm. Madill's, and all over Canada.

THE WATCHDOG of the SEA

TALES OF THE CHINA SEAS No. 5

By Foxcroft Davis

UNDER a lowering sky, with a haggard and restless sea, the big American cruiser defiantly ploughed her way between the rocky Chinese coast, steep-to, as the sailor men say, and a long and harassing chain of islands, visible in part at low water. At this point skippers, both naval and merchant marine, are wont to take their meals in the chart room, to curse and swear at the charts and to be short with the navigator. These conditions prevailed on the big cruiser.

Captain Fortescue, her commander, a small, inquisitive man, and the navigator, Aylwin, sat in the chart room with a book of sailing directions open before them. At this point the lookouts on the ship ought to see a tall flagstaff, with a white bungalow at the foot, close to the shore on the mainland, and a pilot boat—perhaps. There had lately been earthquakes around there and a general upheaval on land and sea. The watchdogs of the sea were needed at every turn, and there were not enough to go around.

"I think we are lucky in getting Stubbs," said Aylwin, who was on confidential terms with the skipper. "He was up here last month in a missionary boat after the earthquake time."

"This is a missionary boat, too," replied the skipper savagely; "teaching the gospel of navigation to the heathen, who ought to have had the place buoyed and lighted themselves. Call the chief quartermaster!"

Stubbs, who never could trust himself very far from the wheel, promptly appeared.

"What do you know about this part, Quartermaster?" asked the skipper.

"Nothin' good, sir," replied Stubbs. "I came up in the mission boat—I had my leave, sir—and everything at the bottom of the sea was turned topsy-turvy by the quake. The pilots had to learn it all, and they had to have a special pilot for this part up to Maputtan, which is Chinese for Hell-and-Be-Damned Point, where we takes the reg'lar pilot aboard. Last month there warn't but two, and one of 'em, Waring, an American, who was run out of the United States, was threatened with having his license revoked, just because he got drunk. But if you'll kindly allow me, I'll say I'd ruther have 'Jim' Waring drunk than any pilot I ever see sober."

"Then I hope we'll get 'Jim' Waring," remarked Captain Fortescue, who had a liberal mind.

"He lives in the bungalow," continued Stubbs, "and he said to me between his hiccoughs—he was as drunk and as clear headed a man as ever I see—he says, 'Quartermaster,' says he, 'the big reef is split in six deep fissures, so you'll think you're in good water and you'll be on your way to heaven.' He's a profane man, is Waring. I prayed with him earnest, but the damned fool—excuse me, sir—don't know the way of salvation. He says then to me:—'Quartermaster,' says he, 'the other reef, eight cables off, has gone up into the sea seventeen feet. It's the worst reef I ever see since God made me. The earthquake done more harm to navigation than you'd think.

The Sailor's Boast.

"'But it don't matter to me,' said the old sinner. 'I can take an eleven million dollar battle ship over the ground when there ain't but two feet of water, and I've done it, too, and told the skipper'—I beg your purdon, sir; I'm reportin' Waring exact—'as it were twelve foot at low water'—and Waring was telling the truth, for when he is drunk he'll tell the truth, but when he's sober the grace of God abandons him and he is the biggest liar that ever stepped—and I ain't for gettin' the Chinese, sir."

"All that I hear of Waring prepossesses me in his favor. With only two pilots, though, we may have to hang around here for a couple of days."

Aylwin and the quartermaster went out and conferred on the steps of the bridge.

"I never had a leave I enjoyed so much, sir," said Stubbs. "I was at Kobe, and there was lashings of missionary meetings and Bible readings, and I had a reg'lar jamboree with the Salvation Army. I was asked to lead in prayer several times and did it, sea manlike, I will say, sir, if it's me that shouldn't."

"I'm sure you're a truly pious man," answered Aylwin, "and I, too, had a glorious time on my leave—just three days at Shanghai."

Aylwin, in spite of the tangled navigation, had a minute's day dream of three blissful days with Mary Harbord at Shanghai.

"I reckon, sir," said Stubbs, "I'll take a trick at the wheel. I don't like to go too long without feelin' the spokes in my hand."

Stubbs took the wheel, and just then, across the troubled and turbulent water, was seen a white speck—it was the bungalow. Then a faint vertical line came into view, which was the flagstaff, and at last a black speck, that proved to be a pilot boat, with smoke pouring from her one funnel, and the horizontal striped flag of red and white whipping against the peak. The big cruiser in her joy broke out a square blue flag.

The cutter dashed toward the cruiser as fast as she could get over the long swell, like a short legged dog running through stubble. Presently she rounded the cruiser's stern, got as close as she could to the side without being pumped to death, lay to in the trough of the sea and gave the hail:—

"Ship ahoy!"

To this the response came;—

"Hello!"

"Where are you bound?"

"Up and northeast."

The pilot's yawl was then lowered away, the crew tumbled in, and was followed by the pilot in his oilskins, with a red silk handkerchief tying his cap under his chin.

"It ain't Waring," said Stubbs in a tone of disappointment and mortification. "I don't know that fellow."

The Days of a Pilot.

The sea was nasty for small boats and the people forward made bets of beer and tobacco as to whether the pilot would make the rope ladder, which hung thirty feet over the side, at the first bob or whether it would be necessary for the yawl to come about and another try be made. The bettors on the pilot won, and as the yawl rose on the crest of a wave and was swept ticklishly near the cruiser's steel sides the pilot with one spring caught the rope and came up handily.

He was a slight, pink cheeked fellow, apparently not a day over twenty-five, and it is reckoned to take five years to make a pilot, ten years to make a good pilot and a lifetime to make a first class pilot.

The pilot's legs were as disconcerting as his complexion to Captain Fortescue. Instead of a respectable pair of trousers, the pilot's shoes were met by a pair of brown stockinged legs, which indicated knickerbockers—a thing unknown to the Pilots' Association, as far as Captain Fortescue was aware.

"I'm Waring," said the pink cheeked pilot to the Captain.

This was a staggering remark, considering the sketch of Waring given by Stubbs shortly before, and Stubbs had said the pilot was not Waring.

"There are only three of us who know this foul ground since the earthquakes," continued Waring, "Jim Waring and Jennings and myself. I was the next chance."

Captain Fortescue felt an inward longing for Waring, Sr., or Jennings, but it was plain neither was available. By that time the yawl had bobbed back and had been hauled aboard the cutter, whose nose was turned toward the flagpole and the white bungalow and had no more pilots.

The pilot has a courtesy right to be invited into the chart room and to be asked to "take something," which means a cup of coffee. Waring was acceded this, but declined it, nor did he claim another courtesy right dear to the pilot's soul—that of an unobstructed walk up and down the bridge. After straightening out the ship in her course he gave the signal, "Full speed ahead," and then leaned on the rail, glued his binoculars to his eyes and swept the wide stretches of the sea. The weather was brightening steadily, and the pilot was able to engage in jerks of conversation with Captain Fortescue and Aylwin. The navigator looked worried. He had never seen a pilot who looked only twenty-five years old, and the cruiser, having full bunkers, drew twenty-four feet of water at that moment.

Stubbs was likewise on the anxious bench and gave a sign well understood by Captain Fortescue and Aylwin. From between his clinched teeth profanity began to trickle.

"Damfino what the world is a-coming to. Guess I'll be takin' a trick at the wheel of one of them blankety-blank-blank aeroplanes next. Some men are bell bent on destruction, and nothin' can cure 'em, damn it!" &c., &c., &c.

"There's another Waring who is a pilot about here," said Captain Fortescue to Waring as the sun came out and the cruiser entered a patch of water with a given depth of sixteen fathoms at low water. "Capable man, but gets drunk."

The Two "Jim" Warings.

"Yes," replied Waring, his eyes to the front. "That's my father, Jim Waring. I'm Jim Waring, too."

Captain Fortescue mumbled an apology.

"No matter," cheerfully acquiesced the pilot. "Dad's all right. He found out the variations in the compass hereabouts before they let us know from Trinity House."

Captain Fortescue saw the opening and plunged in. A couple of questions showed that the pilot knew the variations in the compass and likewise the fall of the tide between Hong Kong and Kobe. Aylwin ceased to look worried and asked the skipper for permission to smoke.

Half an hour later they entered the earthquake region, and by the rough chart, which was the only one available, they saw that "Monkey Reef is shattered, with wide fissures of unusual depth and two points of rock, seven cables apart, with temporary bell buoys. Black Shoal raised seventeen feet at low water half a mile south of Mi-kwo Island. New drift to tide around Ma-put-tan Point increases surf to breakers, very dangerous in typhoon weather," &c.

This was not a pleasant reading to skippers, and the reflection that the pink cheeked pilot was all that lay between the big cruiser and the rocks, the shoals and the breakers had in it possibilities of nervousness. Afar off could be heard distinctly the steady and mournful ringing of the bell buoys, each lamenting to the other.

"We'll pick up the first buoy in fifteen minutes," said the pilot.

Captain Fortescue glanced at his chronometer. The cruiser was forging ahead steadily in the glow of the early afternoon—Captain Fortescue was thankful of that in spite of the pink cheeked pilot's knowledge of the compass variations and tide falls.

In precisely fifteen minutes they picked up the buoy.

"Ten minutes to the other buoy," said the pilot, and ten minutes it was.

And now the roaring of the breakers could be heard at Ma-put-tan Point. Captain Fortescue knew it well and thought it might be called Hell-and-Be-Damned Point in English as well as Chinese. The surf was always bad there, though not rising to the menace of breakers, but since the earthquake unknown drifts and tides, submerged rocks, displaced channels, rising shoals fretted the waves into those green roaring white maned demons that devour ships and men.

The cruiser made curious turns and windings, but not once did the pilot give the order to slow down as the ship threaded her way along. Soon Hell-and-Be-Damned Point was on her beam, then astern of her, and the sound of the breakers and the wailing of the bell buoys died away and the cruiser entered the fairway of ships. Now they were approaching the point where the regular pilot was to be taken aboard, and once more the square blue flag went up on the cruiser.

Captain Fortescue complimented the pink cheeked pilot, but not so Stubbs, who gave up the wheel, as much as to say that the pilot no longer needed watching. His eyes, full of a grim suspicion, were fixed upon Waring, who, now that the worst was over, had a strange expression of nervousness and seemed to have lost his quiet self-confidence.

The Cruiser Waits.

The regular pilot boat was waiting in the offing of a great bay ahead of them, and the cruiser slowed down to wait for her. Waring, his duties being over, walked with Captain Fortescue into the chart room and there, sitting down weakly, untied the red silk handkerchief from under his chin, took off his cap, and revealed a mass of ruddy auburn hair secured in a big tight knot on the top of his head. There were strange angles under the enveloping oilskin and Captain Fortescue, without the least ceremony, pulled it off the pilot's back. There stood the pilot, a tall young woman, in a skimpy brown skirt, a brown sweater, brown stockings on her stout legs and brown shoes.

"I brought her through all right," said the pilot, "but I feel as weak as a cat now."

So did Captain Fortescue. He asked himself whether he was drunk or crazy. There, seated before him, was a good looking girl, the color gradually returning to her comely face, the cap lying on the floor and her brown stockinged legs sticking straight out before her.

The silence was unbroken for a moment except for the slow breathing of the engines as the ship rose and fell, while the pilot boat's yawl danced toward them.

Jim Waring recovered herself first. Captain Fortescue was still gasping.

"Father's drunk," she said with perspicacity. "So drunk he don't know port from starboard. The pilots for this part are so scarce that I learned the course in case anything should happen. Then when father went up for his examination I went with him and asked the Pilot Board to examine me too. My application was signed "Jim S. Waring;" that's my name—Jemima Susan Waring. When the Pilot Board found out I was a girl—I'm twenty-eight years old—they just laughed and examined me for a joke. But after an hour or two they got interested."

"Then they put me through a grind for four days, and I never made a single break. When I asked 'em for a license they like to died a-laughing. But I told 'em I meant to have it, and I got a lawyer, an American, in Kobe, and he says there are a dozen she pilots in America, and he'll make that mean, dirty Pilot Board give me my license if he has to go to Trinity House in London for it."

"But—but"—— said Captain Fortescue, still dazed, "You're liable to a penalty, don't you know"——

"Yes," calmly replied Jim Waring, "if you go to play a dirty game on me. But if you just stick to Jim S. Waring as the pilot nobody'll know. You see, I was in the cutter with father. The Chinese crew daren't object. It was father's next chance, and he was that drunk, and Jennings, the other man, laid up with a broken ankle, so I rigged myself up in father's things and got into the yawl. When I saw what I had to pilot I just made up my mind to keep my head on straight and to remember I had done it once before—last week—with a sailing ship, and it's a lot harder to pilot a sailing ship than a cruiser."

By this time she had recovered her coolness to an extraordinary degree.

A Philosopher, Too.

"You know," she said solemnly, "I've often heard that God takes care of women and fools and drunken people, so He takes care of father and He takes care of me."

Just then the peak of the paymaster's cap was seen outside the port. Captain Fortescue hustled the cap on the pilot's head, who hurriedly buttoned up the oilskin and went out on the bridge and got "his" money from the paymaster.

At that moment occurred a frightful development, which somebody should have foreseen but which nobody foresaw. The new pilot, springing up the ladder, came face to face with the pink cheeked pilot. The new pilot nearly fell over backward and shouted:—

"Jim Waring! Oh, crackety!"

The new pilot, Dick McLeod by name, was a young man for a pilot—that is to say, he was not much over thirty, and, though weather beaten, was a handsome fellow and as promising a pilot as one could wish to have.

"I brought her through all right," said Jim Waring. "It was a good deal easier than the sailing ship, I can tell you. And it's more than you could do, Dick McLeod."

This conversation was carried on in a low tone, but perfectly audible to Captain Fortescue, who was inclined to let them have it out and carefully remained in the background while the yawl bobbed below waiting the outgoing pilot. Stubbs, loitering off the bridge, listened attentively. McLeod had already infringed the code of maritime etiquette by exclaiming "Jim Waring! Oh, crackety!" before shaking hands with the captain, but he now proceeded to rectify his mistake.

"How are you, pilot?" asked Captain Fortescue. "I hope you'll take us up as well as we came through the foul ground just now. We went ahead as if we were going into Hampton Roads with the President on board."

"Glad to hear it, sir," responded McLeod, who was as yet unable to collect all his faculties.

"The pilotage costs about forty per cent the value of the ship," continued the Captain, observing Jim Waring stuffing his fee into a mysterious pocket where no pilot ever had a pocket before. "I dare say it was reckoned as salvage."

"Anyhow, sir," replied McLeod, with a wrathful grin at his professional colleague, "the ship is still afloat, and I hope there ain't any holes in her bottom."

This sarcasm was calmly received by Jim Waring.

"Goodby, sir," she said to the Captain, "I hope I'll have the pleasure of taking you down. And I hope Dick McLeod can get you the rest of the way, with the help of the lead going on both sides of the ship."

This remark exasperated McLeod so that he turned away from the Captain and whispered angrily in Jim Waring's ear:—

"Do you know the penalty of this sort of monkey business?"

"Of course I know the penalty," responded Jim out aloud so the Captain and the chief quartermaster and the navigator could hear; "but I don't know of anybody so low down as would tell on me."

Neither Rocks nor Jail.

"Not until you put a ship on the rocks and get yourself in jail," replied McLeod darkly.

"I shan't do either," said Jim Waring, who evidently meant to have the last word. "I knew the course as well as dad and better than Jennings, and it's enough. The tidal flow isn't much and regular enough. Well, I can't keep the yawl waiting any longer. The men are wet to the skin, and they are humans, even if they are Chinamen. Goodby, Dick. Come in and see dad and me when you are round this way again."

Then the pink faced pilot swung herself down the ladder and dropped into the yawl, which bobbed off to the cutter, and Jim Waring was seen no more that day.

The afternoon had grown beautifully clear and Captain Fortescue, who was deeply interested in the pink faced pilot who had just left, took a turn up and down the bridge with McLeod. It was the kind of weather and sort of sea in which the pilot and the skipper may indulge in conversation on general subjects.

"Never was so taken in," said Captain Fortescue. "I never suspected a thing until the whole business was over and she made a clean breast of it to me in the chart room. Lord, but it gave me the creeps!"

"She's a good girl, sir, a first rate girl," replied McLeod, still keeping two eyes on the ship's course. "She went up to Kobe and 'twas a kind of a joke her passing the examination before the board, but there's no telling what women will do, and when that American lawyer served notice on the Pilot Board that they had to give her a certificate the Board wasn't quite so hilarious."

"I knew of a woman who has a yacht and also has a pilot's license, but I'd rather not trust her with a six million dollar cruiser," said Captain Fortescue. "I'd rather have Waring, Sr., when he has looked upon the wine when it is red."

"I've never seen Waring as he couldn't walk straight and make the ship walk straight too," replied McLeod defiantly. "I suppose the girl said her dad was ill or something and bullied the Chinese crew to take her out in the cutter—everything here is disorganized since the earthquake. But this monkeying with the pilotage is going to stop for Jim Waring. She won't do it any more."

"How can you stop her?" asked the Captain.

"I'll stop her," answered McLeod, grinding his teeth. "I'm going to be married to that girl. I'm a Scotchman—I'm no American to let a woman do as she cursed pleases. I know how to manage a woman. Give her two points, quartermaster."

It was two days later that McLeod entered the little white bungalow on the hill with the big flagstaff over it. The Chinese servant opened the door and McLeod went in the little sitting room. There sat Waring, Sr., an extremely clean and correct looking person, enjoying his convalescence from an overdose of whiskey, with a newspaper in his hand and a pipe in his mouth.

Not Very Definite.

"Where is Jemima?" asked McLeod, after exchanging greetings.

"Gone to Kobe," replied Waring, laying his newspaper down and shoving a tobacco box and matches toward McLeod.

"What for?" asked McLeod.

"To see her lawyer—that's all she'd tell me," replied the father of Miss Jemima. "I tell her everything I know, but I can tell you what, McLeod, she don't tell me everything she knows. I think you're going to have a devil of a time with that girl." McLeod grinned.

"Just try me," he said. "When will she be back?"

"Don't know that, either," responded Waring. "When I asked her she said she'd be back as soon as she got through with her business. That's not very definite, you know."

McLeod, being due on the pilot boat within two hours, had no time to go to Kobe in search of the lady of his love. He returned to his station, ten miles further up the coast, went on board his boat, found three pilots ahead of him, turned in and slept for the next five days, his naps being interrupted only for meals and an occasional dispute with the other pilots cooped up with him. After that for two weeks he only went from the pilot boat to a ship, from the ship to the dock and from the dock to the pilot boat again. Then at the end of three weeks, one bright morning, the pilot boat being at her station, the big cruiser came spinning down on her return voyage. McLeod was the "next chance" man and was taken aboard. He was warmly greeted by Captain Fortescue.

The day was so clear that the ship could have found her own way in and out of reefs and shoals and islands, and there was time for an agreeable conversation with Captain Fortescue.

"How about Miss Jemima?" asked Captain Fortescue.

About two hours afterward the white bungalow and the flagstaff were sighted. The little pilot boat, keeping her watchdog guard, caught sight of the cruiser and instantly made a dash for her. In the clear light of noon they could see a figure in an oilskin, with a cap tied under the chin with a red silk handkerchief, scramble into the boat after the crew, and as the yawl shot past the rope ladder Jemima sprang up and came over the side as handy as you please. She advanced toward Captain Fortescue, extending her right hand and holding out a paper in her left.

Captain Fortescue greeted her cordially. There was no hint of skirts in sight, and the man at the wheel, who was not Stubbs, had no suspicion of the extraordinary nature of what was happening. Captain Fortescue invited Jim Waring into the chart room, where his boy had some hot coffee ready, and also asked McLeod in to have a cup before leaving the ship. As a matter of fact, Captain Fortescue wanted to see the meeting between the two.

"When did you get that license?" asked McLeod, in a stern Scotch voice, of Jemima.

"Last week in Kobe," answered Jemima coolly. "My lawyer made it so hot for the Pilot Board that they were glad enough to give it to me to get rid of him. I'm going to a lawyer now for everything. I passed an A1 examination and have got my license just as straight as yours, Dick McLeod. There are just two women pilots in the East, and I make the third. The other two are pilots' wives."

Keeping the Secret.

"And you'll be a pilot's wife pretty soon, Jemima," said McLeod, in a tone of authority, shaking hands with her, then with Captain Fortescue, before he tumbled down the rope ladder.

"Won't you take your bonnet off, Miss Jemima?" asked Captain Fortescue, politely, of the pink cheeked pilot.

"No, I thank you," said the pilot. "I think it is better not to let the people in the ship suspect anything."

The Captain thought so too.

In spite of the license and of his previous experience Captain Fortescue found it convenient to remain on the bridge while they traversed the lane in the earthquake region. In the short stretches where the course was plain he attempted to engage the pilot in some light conversation, but Jemima sternly maintained a polite taciturnity. The Captain, however, managed to get an answer out of her to one question.

"What are you going to do about your license when you get married?"

"Don't intend to give up the license," replied the pilot.

"But McLeod says he will make you."

A smile shone upon the pilot's face, bringing out a dimple in her cheek.

"Dick talks that way," she said, and then ordered the wheel down a point.

The pilot this time accepted her courtesy right to the bridge and walked up and down with a steady, if not masculine, trend, her brown stockinged ankles showing at the edge of the oilskin. When the white bungalow and the flagstaff came in sight the pilot boat steamed out to take Jemima off. Captain Fortescue parted from her with a cordial handshake and with a request to send him an invitation to the wedding. The pilot smiled an enigmatic smile and promised to let him know.

"But I won't give up my license," was her final remark.

It was a week after that when Dick McLeod got down to the little white bungalow. Jemima, dressed in a blue skirt and white shirt waist and with a locket around her neck and a ribbon in her hair, was sitting at the window reading a fashion magazine, Waring, père, was fortunately absent.

"How do you do, Dick?" she said, rising, and offering her hand, which Dick took, responding:—

"How are you, Jim?"

"First rate, thank you," replied Jemima. "Take a seat. We've had fine weather lately. If it was always like this, piloting a cruiser would be about as easy as leading an old cow to water with a halter around her neck."

"It ain't always fine weather," replied Dick, seating himself and taking up the fashion magazine. "I see these short waisted gowns are coming in fashion. It's mighty queer how the women wear the same fashions all over the world and get them so quick, too."

"Have you got the printed chart of the new pilot ground? Dad and I got ours yesterday. It's just as well for you to learn it. I know it backward already," said Jemima briskly.

"No," replied McLeod. "I don't like the way these feathers hang down behind on the women's hats. Now, when you get your wedding hat I hope it will be something sticking up in front, like this, Jem."

McLeod pointed to a picture of a hat which was ornamented with reaths of roses and a large and aggressive ribbon bow.

"I like feathers just as well as I ever did, Dick," replied Jemima, "but you don't know how convenient that sweater and the divided skirt and the thick woollen stockings are. It's a pleasant change, you know, from long skirts and shirt waists. But then, it's nice to get back into long skirts and shirt waists again," Jemima said. Dick laid the magazine down.

The Facts First.

"When are you going to give up that license, Jemima?"

"Never, Richard," answered Jemima calmly, now that the fight was on.

"Well, then," said McLeod, "the only thing is to lay the facts about your taking the cruiser up before you had the license before the Pilot Board and get you suspended."

"I think," replied Jemima, "you may get me fined, but I don't believe you can get me suspended. I had passed an A1 examination, and my papers, they said, were better than Dad's, and his are the best going, you know."

McLeod turned a perplexed face toward the window, where the bright sea glinted in the morning light.

"Let me see," mused Jemima. "It would take you a month to get to Kobe and make the charges, and it will take another month to investigate them, and by the time the thing is settled I will be Mrs. McLeod and you will have to pay the fine."

This was a new aspect of the case which had not occurred to McLeod. He was a Scotchman and did not like to pay out good money for nothing, but he meant to stick to his word.

"Do you know," continued Jemima, rising and turning over the leaves of the magazine and pointing to a couple of illustrations of a large and imposing bridal party, "there was a big international wedding last week in Shanghai between a Scotchman and an American girl, with lashings of money on both sides. It read mighty pretty, but some way I have my doubts about these international marriages. The duchesses and countesses don't appear to get on so well with the dukes and earls."

"Perhaps not," replied McLeod, "but in this case there is neither rank nor money, my dear; only true love."

Jemima had been standing up with fire in her eye, but there was something in the way McLeod said "My dear" that quenched her glare.

"You see, Jemima," said McLeod, rising too, "I'd be the laughing stock of all the boys if I let my wife do piloting. They'd find it out at all the treaty ports. You don't suppose Captain Fortescue is going to keep it all to himself when he's dining with a couple of admirals and the stories going around. I'm afraid I'll be laughed out of the service anyhow, as it is."

Women are cunning creatures, and when driven into a corner will often show a surprising degree of ingenuity, far greater than one would expect from their supply of gray matter. So it was with Jemima.

"I'll tell you what, Dick," she said, softly, laying her head on his shoulder, "I'll keep the license, but I won't do any more piloting. Will that suit you?"

"Yes," replied Dick, giving her a loud and resounding smack in the midst of the dimple which was showing as Jemima smiled, and there were other smacks, but it's no good telling about that.

THE GOUGE OF AUTHORSHIP.

WHAT a happy thought is the gouge! Observe how deftly it supplies the deficiencies of imagination and moulds the missing parts to the structure of genius. Would you "auth"? Take to the gouge. Would you join the ranks of the literary giants? The gouge is ready to your hand.

Since our revered, if hairy, ancestor in dim ages past first dipped his fingernail in the veins of his victim and traced an impressionistic picture story of the event on a shinbone the gouge has been the chief implement of the craft. All hail the gouge!

If you can catch a penny-a-liner or a dollar-a-worder, for that matter, in a rare moment of thoughtfulness he will unfold the manifold virtues of the gouge. He will confess that, wanting a plot, he gouged it from Chaucer; wanting an incident, he gouged it from Lytton; wanting a heroine, he gouged her from Ford; wanting a description, he gouged it from Chateaubriand; wanting a brisk passage, he gouged it from Congreve. But, to get the full significance of the confession, you must remember that Chaucer, Lytton, Ford, Chateaubriand and Congreve all and severally gouged from some one else in their turn. Such is the marvellous merit of the gouge!

Or pick a modern best seller at random and observe the loving marks of the tool upon it. Here is one that has a neatly fitting chunk of Charles Reade's "Foul Play" imbedded in it, and not bettered in the transfer. Here is another author who has gouged Stevenson's "Treasure Island" with rude but willing hand. Here another who has wrought cheerfully and freely from "Enoch Arden" and a more modest one who went as far back as "Boccaccio."

Brethren, if consistency be a jewel, let us gain the whole diadem by discarding the smug quill and ink pot as the insignia of the scribe and substituting therefor that honest, indispensable, universal convenience of literature—the gouge.

Victor Herbert wanted the EDISON Phonograph

because he believed it was the only sound-reproducing instrument that fulfilled all conditions, and because he believed that by means of an Edison Phonograph only could the widest distribution be given to good music.

Her Daughter

Took Very Sick As Result Of Catching Cold.

Mrs. Dennis Delaney, Friar's Head N.B., writes: "At the close of the year 1907, our youngest daughter, five years old, took very sick as the result of catching cold. She became very weak and could not move around at all. We consulted doctors and gave her various kinds of medicine but they did not seem to relieve her any. Almost Insulted.

Amid the lace bargains in one of the large department stores the other day a shopper engrossed in thought set her little Japanese spaniel on the counter. One of the saleagirls, not seeing the little dog, threw a remnant of reduced lace over him and entirely submerged him. When the woman went to look for her pet he was not to be found, but several shrill yelps, accompanied by an upheaval of the lace, betrayed his presence. He was quickly rescued from his predicament, and the woman, showering kisses upon his moist, upturned nose, said, "Did they cover mamma's precious with cheap fifty cent lace?"

The saleagirl, who evidently had cultivated diplomacy, assured the dog's mistress that the lace had been reduced from $1 to 50 cents, and the woman took her pet away mollified.—Philadelphia Record

That Terrible Child Again.

"To smile, of course, when you are trying to whistle is fatal," he says, "I was once at an 'At Home,' and in the midst of a piece with my mouth puckered up and my head thrown back. I have no doubt I looked rather funny, when a child in front, who had been regarding me very attentively, suddenly burst out quite audibly, 'Oh, mamma, look at that funny man; what a funny face he's making!' A collaps—"

W. H. HILL, Esq.,
Manager Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada
PETERBOROUGH, ONT.

DEAR SIR,—About five years ago my late husband took out $1,000.00 insurance in The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, on which he only paid the first three pretriums. Shortly after his death, which occurred on the 6th inst., although I was under the impression that his policy had lapsed, I called at your office to inquire if anything could be done whereby we might get something out of it. You can imagine my surprise and genuine gratitude to learn that, owing to your non-forfeiture privilege, the policy was still in force at his death, and that I was entitled to the full thousand dollars, less only the two unpaid premiums and interest.

This seems to me such extraordinary and generous treatment that I wish to add my expression of most sincere thanks and appreciation to the many others your Company must receive.

I also wish to acknowledge and thank you for your courtesy and promptness in procuring for me a cheque to-day covering the policy, and to state that if my endorsation of the already mentioned feature of your policies is of value you are quite at liberty to use it.

Gratefully yours,

MARGARET LONG,

DOG SCARE CONTINUES

Two Men and a Woman Are Attacked by First Animal In Hamilton and a Man and Several Children Suffer From Second—Both Beasts Are Chased and Killed—Belleville Orders All Dogs Muzzled.

Hamilton, Feb. 19.—The police were called upon to hunt down two alleged mad dogs yesterday afternon, both of which bit a number of people. One was killed about 2 o'clock, and the other started on a rampage a couple of hours later. The first one started out at the corner of King and Catharine streets. Amongst its victims were J. German, timekeeper at the Hamilton Bridge Works; William Skull, and Miss Plucker, Pearl street. After a chase of about an hour the police succeeded in killing the dog.

James MacKay of the Canadian Transfer Co., was one of those bitten by the second dog, and several children were also attacked by the brute near the Stuart street station. The heads of both animals were sent away to be tested for symptoms of rabies.

Bitten by Muzzled Dog.

Woodstock, Feb. 19.—Mary Kennedy, a 14-year-old girl of this city, was bitten by a muzzled collie dog while returning from school.

Two Dogs Shot.

Wanstead, Feb. 19.—A dog supposed to be mad was shot by Farmer Graham on the second line of Plympton Township yesterday. Graham's dog was bittne by the strange dog, and was also shot.

Belleville Takes Precautions.

Belleville, Feb. 19.—The executive committee of the City Council has recommended that all dogs in the city must be muzzled with metal muzzles.

Spread of Rabies.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Alarming reports of the spread of rabies are being received daily from every part of Western Ontario by the Provincial Board of Health. Many rural authorities are making the mistake of forwarding heads of animals for inspection to Ottawa instead of Toronto, thus occasioning considerable delay.

Latest Parisian Modes.

Paris, France, Feb. 19.—This is the first day of the Paris showing of new spring and summer models.

Silks are largely used. Some of the colors are blue, cerise, and orange. White serge suits have green or black collar and cuffs.

Cheruit shows long sleeves on morning gowns, and short sleeves on evening gowns. Full gowns of baby Irish. Coats are shorter and have long sleeves; open V-shape in front. Waist line important because of Norfolk jacket effect, but higher.

Paquin shows three-quarter sleeves. Glace taffetas for present wear and foulards and chiffons for later wear. Fouland grounds entirely covered. Low neck dinner and theatre gowns in walking length without train. Skirts with tunic effect of all-over thin lace on the Chantilly order. Corsets a little longer-waisted, but not long; very low bust, says Paquin.

MANAGERS CRUSADE TO AID STAGE CHILDREN

could speak, and Laura Hope Crews began about as soon.

Jefferson De Angelis m ade his first appearance when he was 12 and Henry E. Dixey when he was 10. Eleanor Duse, the famous Italian actress, was a child of the stage, and has never left it. Mrs. Fiske was 2 years old when she was carried on the stage for her first part, and as Minnie Maddern she was a noted child actress. E. M. Holland, the veteran character actor, began as a baby; Elsie Janis started her career at the age of 8. Mrs. Kendal, the English actress, was a player of child roles before she entered her 'teens. William Seymour, Charles Frohman's general stage director, was an actor at the age of 7. Mabel Taliaferro was a child actress; Fay Templeton was 3 years old when she first appeared, and Fritz Williams was the same age. Mrs. Annie Yeamans, who is called the youngest actress on the stage, began her long career when she was about 10.

The child actors who are playing in New York at present include Donald Gallaher and Alma Sedley with "Alias Jimmy Valentine," Baby Davis, with Francis Wilson in "The Bachelor's Baby," John Tansly, a regular member of The New Theatre company; the children choruses in Lew Field's productions, and the sixteen kiddies at the Hippodrome. All of these children, except those in dramatic productions, have little to do but romp in the plays in which they appear. Mary Mannering's new play, that is to be seen during the coming week, will bring still another child actor to New York.

All of these children appear by the permission of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which has to be assured that the applicant for permission will be properly taken care of. The society asks the name, age, the length of role the child is to play, whether it requires dancing or acrobatic work, and the name of the parent or guardian who will be responsible. The society then gives its permission, if it considers that the child's health will not be endangered, and after this permission is given it becomes necessary to obtain a further permit from the Mayor. If the society refuses its approval of the child's appearance, it is practically impossible to persuade the Mayor to issue a permit. While on the stage the child is under the supervision of the society, which may withdraw its approval if it considers its requirements are not to be carried out.

In the States where the child labour laws are stringent sometimes permission is given for a child to appear in a play, but it happens very seldom. When Margaret Anglin reached Boston to play "The Awakening of Helena Richie" permission was given for the child to appear at matinees. For evening performances Miss Anglin engaged a dwarf, who makes a business of substituting for children in the plays that come to that city. When "The Barrier" was produced in Chicago the management believed that permission would be given for the two Ziegler children to appear in the first act. Just before curtain time permission wa srefused and the first act had to be hurriedly re-arranged so as to eliminate the children roles. When Mrs. Fiske played "Salvation Nell" in New Orleans her manager was fined $125 for permitting a child to appear in the second act of the play. Lew Field's musical productions are shorn of their child group when presented in the four discriminating States.

PRIVATE DAYS END

Senate Talks Over the Problem of Sewage Disposal—Dr. Pugsley Will Sell Part of "Sawdust" Wharf—Negotiations With Germany Are at an End For the Present—Mr. Monk Wants Hay Added.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—There will be no more private members' days in the House of Commons this session. Hon. W. S. Fielding, in the absence of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is confined to his residence with a slight cold, moved that all subsequent Mondays, after questions, be given over the Government business. The motion was adopted without discussion.

R. L. Borden put a number of questions to Mr. Fielding in respect to Canada's new trade agreement with Germany, eliciting the information that there were no negotiations going on with Germany at the present moment with the object of further extending the trade relations between the two countries, and that there were not likely to be any for some time.

Mr. Fielding explained that other British colonies shared in the trade favors which Germany extended to Great Britain, and got Germany's full conventional tariff, for which they gave Germany favored in nation treatment in return. Canada could get the same treatment on the same terms, but this would mean that Canada would be obliged to allow German goods to come into the country at the same tariff rates as had been extended to France under the Franco-Canadian treaty.

He added that Canada, by the attitude adopted by the Government, had beaten Germany in her contention that she should get the same trade privileges from the colonies as are extended to the Mother Country.

F. D. Monk said he had received a number of letters from Montreal hay dealers, who are anxious to have hay added to the list of Canadian products which will get the benefit of Germany's conventional tariff. He said that it had been represented to him that there was room for the development of a considerable trade in hay with Germany.

Mr. Fielding said it was too late to have the list further extended, as the agreement had been signed. He would be glad, however, to receive suggestions as to a further extension of the arrangement in the future.

The Senate committee on banking and commerce dealing with the insurance bill yesterday decided one of the most important and contentious clauses of the measure. It decided to throw out the clause requiring a tax on persons who go outside of Canada for insurance.

After discussing section 139, which provided that a firm may go outside the country for fire insurance by paying 15 per cent. on the premiums, Senator Dandurand said there were many principles involved. First was, shall citizens be allowed to freely insure in unlicensed foreign companies? This question the committee unanimously answered affirmatively.

The next one was, shall all unlicensed fire companies be prohibited from having representatives in Canada to solicit insurance, or from soliciting directly or indirectly? The committee gave a unanimous affirmative answer to this also.

In the Senate yesterday, a report upon the effect the pollution of streams has upon public health was made by the Senate health committee through the chairman, Senator Dever.

The report called attention to the evidence taken by the committee last year, and recently distributed in printed form, showing the dangers which to public health of Canada is being riously imperiled by the custom of disposing of sewage, garbage and so forth, by dumping it into the lakes, rivers and streams of the country," and was of the opinion that "the only remedy, and the only safeguard, lie in the passage of legislation to control this practice.

"The legislation to be effective must be uniform throughout the whole Dominion, and it can only be brought about by co-operation by the Dominion and Provincial Governments.

"It is, therefore, recommended that the commission of conservation, representing as it does all the Governments in Canada, be requested to call together the health authorities of each province, to meet them in conference at ane early date and endeavor to devise means whereby this end may be obtained."

The House last night went into supply on public works estimates, and Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Crocket held the floor, the latter worrying the Minister much regarding those New Brunswick wharves, which have occupied the attention of the public lately.

Mr. Pugsley announced, regarding the "sawdust wharf" at Richibucto, that he would utilise a portion of it and sell the rest for $3,500 to A. & R. Loggie, a firm which has done a good deal of Government work.

TO RAISE SALARIES

Hon. A. G. MacKay's Bill is Introduced In the Legislature—Provides For Suit Without a Fiat — Reckless Chauffeurs Should Be Liable as Well as the Owners of Cars, Says Mr. J. D. McDougal.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—If there were any civil servants within the precincts of the Legislature yesterday afternoon, they heard what must have made their hearts glad. The House was in committee of supply and the subject under discussion was increases in salary.

"In view of the increased cost of living," declared Sir James Whitney, "I am sure we would have been justified in granting a much larger increase than is being given. I can hardly understand how the average employe of this Government can raise and educate a family in this city of Toronto on the salaries that have been given. It used to be that the Government official was looked upon as receiving more than the average man in other occupations. To-day the reverse is the case."

Hon. A. G. MacKay, concurred in the remarks of the Premier. He would like to know, however, what system had been adopted in striking the schedule of increases.

Hon. Frank Cochrane explained that they were awarded largely according to merit.

Mr. Studholme said he understood the Premier to begin at the top. If he couldn't understand how the $1,500 man could live, what about the $500 man. The latter should get the first consideration.

Hon. Col. Matheson explained that it was mainly the lower ones that were getting the increases. "We found," he said, "that they were leaving the service, getting into debt, etc."

J. D. McDougal (East Ottawa) speaking of the enforcement of the automobile law, wanted the chauffeur made responsible for recklessness. As it was at present, the owner was prosecuted and the chauffeur continued to go his reckless way.

Sir James Whitney heartily concurred in the suggestion, "The time is very near," he said, "when we must take some drastic measure to convince chauffeurs that they cannot with impunity drive automobiles at reckless speed on the highways."

Hon. W. J. Hanna, in calling the attention of the House to an item in the estimates of $1,000 for "serum appropriations" for spinal menigitis and rabies, stated that he had recently taken up the matter of local treatment with the New York authorities, and was now in a position to state that daily supplies could be obtained, covering the whole course of treatment, for $20.

Mr. Studholme wanted the responsibility of building inspectors and fire inspectors sharply defined in regard to the enforcement of the law requiring fire escapes on factories. He was assured by Hon. James Duff that there was provision in the present law.

D. J. McDougal (East Ottawa), suggested that the next interprovincial conference take up the question of jurisdiction in the matter of railways and street railways, etc. Though these were incorporated by the Dominion when they extended into more than one province, or across the international boundary, it should be settled that, their operations, in as far as their object was clearly a provincial one, should be retained under provincial jurisdiction.

Hon. A. G. MacKay introduced his bill in amendment to the power act. It declares that the Public Works Act shall apply in the matter of the acquirement of easements, that responsibility for accidents or damage to the crops, orchards, vineyards, land, fences, plantations, buildings, contents of buildings, farm implements, live stock, or any other property, or to the persons of the owners, occupiers, or other persons lawfully on the land or premises over which the transmission line runs, shall be with the commission, whether negligence is shown, or not, and that they may sue without a fiat of the Attorney-General. The commission is to pay costs and collect them pro rata from the municipalities concerned.

Mr. Proudfoot's bill to amend the Municipal Act, which places the fixing of the remuneration of county councillors in their own hands, was allowed to pass its second reading, and to go to committee, on the understanding that the principle of the bill was not approved. Sir James Whitney declared that there was no more dangerous proposition than the reckless desire to depreciate uniform legislation throughout the country in such matters.

Mr. Hoyle's bill to place the beginning of the close season for muskrat on Nov. 1, instead of Dec. 1, was sent to the fish and game committee. The time had come, he said, for protection of the mink.

A number of other bills were passed their second reading, and others put through committee.

Mr. Reed (Wentworth) gives notice that he will on Tuesday next, the 22nd inst., move for an order of the House for a return of all awards by any arbitrator or board of arbitration, to settle disputes between the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, and those over whose lands the commission have taken easements.

Mr. Ferguson (Simcoe) a bill to amend the ditches and watercourses act.

Tea.

Tea became known in England about the middle of the seventeenth century. It was first sold in public houses and beer is now tapped.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY

Orange Lily is daily curing the most obstinate cases of Female Disorders. Falling of the Womb, Leucorrhoea, Painful and Suppressed Menstruation, etc., etc., are all of them relieved from the start by its use, and a few weeks' or months' treatment accomplishes a complete cure. This remedy is a positive, scientific preparation, and is based on the discoveries of Pasteur and Lister. It is an applied treatment; that is, it is not taken internally, but is applied direct to the suffering parts, and it, therefore, acts with all the certainty of the known laws of chemical action. As it comes in direct contact with the diseased tissue, its antiseptic and nerve-food properties cannot help have a beneficent influence. I receive from 10 to 50 letters daily, speaking of the benefits and cures it is performing, and so sure am I that it will do what is claimed for it that I will send, absolutely free, a 25c box to every suffering woman who will write for it. Price, $1 per box, which is sufficient for one months' treatment. Address, MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT. 3

LYNCHERS QUELLED.

Mob Trying to Get at Negro In Cairo, Ills., Is Repulsed.

Cairo, Ills., Feb. 19.—With three companies of militia guarding the court-house and jail, under the direct supervision of Adjutant General F. S. Dixon, Cairo, settled down last night to complete quiet after a strenuous 24 hours. It is believed the mob spirit is quelled. No crowd is allowed to congregate.

Threats were made yesterday against Sheriff Fred Nellis for the killing of Alex. Halliday, and the wounding of four other men by deputies in beating back the mob that attacked the jail Thursday night, in an attempt to lynch a negro purse-snatcher.

John Pratt, the negro, was sentenced yesterday to prison for not more than fourteen years. He will be taken to prison to-day with twelve other convicts in a special train. Lincoln Wilson, arrested as a suspected companion of Pratt was released last night. A searching grand jury investigation of the attack on the jail was ordered by Judge Butler. His instructions to the grand jury were in substance a demand that the rioters be brought to justice and made to stand trial for rioting a felony.

"This sort of procedure must be stopped," he said. "There have been five murders in Cairo since Nov. 11, when we had a previous occurrence of mob violence. These murders show that mob law is no deterrent to crime and it is your duty to see that mob law ceases to be."

Coroner McManus has not ordered an inquest of the killing of Halliday. He said he intended to go slowly.

Sheriff Nellis was in touch with Governor Deneen by telephone yesterday. He said that his course had been commended by the governor.

Japan's Forward Policy.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 19.—Investigations are to be made into alleged army scandals in Japan according to news received by the Empress of China, which arrived yesterday. Collusion and graft on a large scale between army officers and contractors is alleged.

The War Minister announces plans to increase the army from 19 to 25 divisions, in view of the increasing armament of the powers.

Japan will build no more warships abroad, Admiral Saito, Minister of the Navy, having announced to Parliament that all war craft would in the future be constructed solely at Japanese Government and private yards. Plans were submitted for a big naval base at Chinhai Bay, Korea, construction of which will involve ten years work.

Construction has been ordered of a battleship of the Dreadnought class, and two cruisers, one of 18,000 tons, and three destroyers, while next year funds will be provided for two battleships. Big extensions are being carried on at Kure naval station. Two large docks are being built, the steel foundry and arsenal increased and a new gun factory and torpedo plant, and power nearly equal to that being employed when the work is completed. Admiral Saito announced that the use of crude oil, mostly brought from California, had increased the navy's steaming capacity forty per cent.

Couldn't Help Marrying.

New York, Feb. 19.—Wm. Dresher holds the record for being the youngest bigamist now in captivity. Not yet 25, an awkward, ill-favored butcher's boy, he was sentenced yesterday to Elmira Reformatory by Judge Foster after confessing he had three wives.

The three women who prosecuted Dresher wept coplously as he was led away.

"You are very young to have married these three women," said Judge Foster, before he sentenced Dresher. "Why did you do it?"

"Oh, I dunno," said the boy sheepishly, "I just couldn't help it, I guess."

After French Tariff.

Montreal, Feb. 19.—It was announced yesterday that the Thomson Line would run a line of steamships to France next year, making three lines trying to get the trade which they think will follow the Franco-Canadian treaty.

Up to the present there has only been one, the Allans, which runs to Havre. The second will be the Canadian Northern, which will run to Cherbourg. The Thomsons will run probably to St. Malo, certainly not to Havre.

Three Elephants Run Amuck.

San Francisco, Feb. 19.—Three elephants owned by a showman broke away from a street parade, and for thirty blocks ran amuck. With crowds scattering in pursuit the elephants took to the sidewalks, and many persons had narrow escapes of being trampled. Swerving into a butcher shop, the big beasts paused long enough to half wreck the place, then headed for a winery where they tossed barrels and kegs about. They were finally cornered in a vacant lot.

Earthquake In Crete.

Canea, Crete, Feb. 19.—A severe earthquake was felt throughout Crete at 9.38 o'clock yesterday morning. It was accompanied with violent subterranean explosions.

In this city a number of buildings were damaged and a minaret of the mosque crashed through the dome.

In the village of Varipetro, a house collapsed, burying six persons in the ruins.

Domestic's "Thrilling Adventure."

Montreal, Feb. 19.—Albertine Clermont, a 14-year-old domestic in a Westmount residence, was found bound and gagged yesterday when her mistress returned home, and when released told a thrilling story of a burglar who tied her up and took $1.28 from a drawer and skipped. Later she admitted to the police that she had fibbed.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MRS. BROWNING BY THE W. A.

Her Departure From St. Luke's is Regretted by the Members Who Honoured Her With Life Membership and Gold Pin.

APPRECIATIVE ADDRESS

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's on Thursday was attended by a large number of members and by representatives of St. John's and All Saints' branches. The reports presented revealed good work done during the year and indicated that the finances were in excellent order. A pleasing incident was the presentation of a life membership certificate and the gold pin of the W. A., to Mrs. G. R. Browning, who is leaving for Havelock, where Mr. Browning has entered into business. The gift was accompanied by the following address:

Mrs. G. R. Browning:

Dear Mrs. Browning,—As you are about to leave this parish for another abode, we desire to give you some tangible expression of our high appreciation of the many services you have rendered to the church in her various interests. We feel exceedingly sorry that the pleasant relationship existing among us will have to be broken, because of your moving away. In the various organizations of St. Luke's you have taken an active part, especially so as member of the Woman's Auxiliary, Sunday school teacher, superintendent of the Mission Band and President of the Chancel Guild. Your work in these respective capacities was gladly and enthusiastically done, and your lead in earnest application to the interests of Christ's cause enthused others to follow.

We believe that it will be in keeping with your missionary zeal and interests to present you with a life membership of the W. A., and we ask you to kindly accept the accompanying life membership certificate and gold W. A. pin as a mark of our regard for you and our acknowledgment of valuable help given us by you in our various religious interests.

May the gift ever remind you of your many friends in St. Luke's parish, who will follow you with earnest wishes for your future happiness and success.

On behalf of St. Luke's congregation, we are, sincerely yours,

E. A. LANGFELDT, Rector.
E. GASKINS, President of W. A.
DAVID SPENCE, Superintendent of Sunday School.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt in connection with the presentation expressed regret at Mr. Browning's departure. She had always been a most faithful and active worker in church activities and he appreciated very much the loyal support he had received from her in the various departments of church work. LOTTIE MORAY,

Canada's Leading Soprano, at the Princess Theatre.

Last night an unique event happened at the Princess Theatre. This was the absolute refusal of the audience to allow the picture following the vaudeville act to be presented until Miss Lottie Moray, Canada's leading soprano, responded to calls for an encore to her song "If the Wind Had Only Blown the Other Way!" This song kept the large audience convulsed with laughter. Miss Moray, whilst possibly applauded most for her rendition of comic songs, in "Take Me, Jamie Dear," displayed her wonderfully clear, high-pitched soprano voice to great advantage. This vocalist will sing at the Princess to-night.

YELLOW AND BLACK WERE PROMINENT

Some one put a neat one over on the Stratheonas last night at the presentation of "The Man From Home." At the end of the third act when Mr. Hall and Miss Forbes were taking a curtain call the Stratheonas, who occupied the boxes, threw a bouquet of red and white carnations and roses, trimmed with red and white (the club's colours) to Miss Forbes. When the curtain went up again she held up the bouquet and bowed, while behind her "The Man From Home" waved a cane decorated with the yellow and black of the West Ends. Strong suspicion has been thrown upon a certain member of the Review staff, but in an interview to-day he totally denied the charge.

HAD TO WAIT THREE HOURS

Presentation of "The Man From Home" at Sudbury on Wednesday Night Did Not Commence Until 11.30—Company Did Not Arrive Until After 8.

AUDIENCE SATISFED TO WAIT

It was half-past eleven when the curtain rose at the presentation of "Te Man From Home," at the Sudbury Opera House on Wednesday night. The audience assembled at the usual time, but they had a long wait. However, they took it good naturedly, and kept their places. The train on which the Company was travelling was delayed several hours, not arriving in Sudbury until 8.30. By the time the effects and scenery were transferred from the station to the theatre it was after eleven. It was one o'clock when the Orchestra was playing "God Save the King."

SPLENDID LECTURE

Given by Rev. J. R. McLean on "Scotland, Its Ways and History," at St. Luke's Church

The lecture given on Thursday evening by Rev. J. Russell McLean, of Colborne on "Scotland, its Ways and its History" at St. Luke's schoolroom, under the auspices of the Young People's Society, proved decidedly interesting and passed off very successfully. The room was well filled and, judging from the rapt attention given the speaker the audience thoroughly enjoyed every word. Rev. Mr. McLean's lecture was illustrated by limelight views, which lent an additional interest to it. Mr. McLean is a fluent and forceful speaker, and will be always welcome as a lecturer at St. Luke's.

The chair last evening was occupied by the President of the Society, Mr. Charles Crane, who, in a few well-chosen remarks, introduced the speaker of the evening. At the conclusion of the address, a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. McLean, it being moved by Ald. J. J. Turner, and seconded by Mr. G. F. Warde.

During the evening, vocal and instrumental solos in keeping with the lecture, were given by Messrs. Ruth Dawson, B. Curtis and Alice Neil.

TAKE A COLD SERIOUSLY

The possibilities of every cold are dreadful to contemplate. Bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption, usually begin with a simple cold. Why not fight the cold from the start and ensure success by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It allays inflamation, keeps the cough free and loose and protects the bronchial tubes from danger.

BOARDING CAR SHOT AT WHILE MEN WERE ASLEEP

SERIES OF OUTRAGES

Cobalt, Feb. 19.—The T. & N. O. Railway officials are very much at sea as to the cause of recent mysterious events here. A few nights ago a foolish attempt was made to blow up the new depot. Again the ticket office was entered and an attempt made to file the hinges off the safe door, but the crooks were disturbed before doing any serious damage. Thursday night about 3.30 unknown parties were shooting promiscuously at a boarding car being used by the employes. The shooting was done in the presence of Nightwatchman Richardson, who was uncertain as to whether he was being shot at or not. Richardson saw four men near the depot. Three of them moved on, while the fourth remained and did the shooting. Policeman Brennan was early on the scene, but could find no trace of the man. Provincial police are working on the case, and will make a determined effort to get to the bottom of these mysterious affairs, which are causing consternation among the employees on night duty.

NO ENGINE

Fire, Water and Light Committee Cannot Afford a "Luxury."

No chemical engine for the fire department this year was the decision of the Fire, Water and Light committee last night. Chief Howard had pointed out the necessity of it in order to bring the brigade's standard up to the first-class. The members of the committee wish to give the city the best service within the appropriations allotted them, but it is felt that the expense will be too heavy this year without the engine for the amount given the committee. Ald. Morgan was in the chair and Mayor Morrow, Ald. Metheral, Batten and Graham were present. After considering the question at some length it was decided to take no action re purchasing a chemical engine this year.

AMBULANCE WAS CONSIDERED BY THE COMMITTEE

Recommend That Dan Spence Ambulance be Given to A. Comstock & Sons for a Year at $200—Other Questions Considered

A PUBLIC LAVATORY

The Property Committee met last night, with Ald. Duncan in the chair and Ald. Graham, Morgan, Batten, Bradburn, and Mayor Morrow present. The care of the Dan Spence ambulance was once more considered. On motion of Ald. Morgan and Graham it was recommended to the Council that Mr. A. Comstock be given the care and service of the Dan Spence ambulance for the ensuing year at a salary of $200. Mr. D. Belleghem and Mr. J. Comstock were both heard by the committee. Ald. Morgan added to his motion that a provision be inserted in the agreement to the effect that the ambulance shall not be used for carrying patients from the several railway stations nor shall it be taken outside the city.

Col. Stevenson and Major Bennet were present in regard to the control of the band instruments. The city has control of the instruments at present. On motion of Ald. Batten and Bradburn, Ald. Morgan was asked to see the band officials, and if there is no objection on their part that the instruments be leased to the 57th regiment at $1.00 a year.—Carried.

W. H. Moore, chairman, and Mr. A. Stevenson, secretary of the City Trust, were present on invitation in regard to the heating of the market building, and of the providing of a public lavatory. After some consideration it was moved by Mayor Morrow and Ald. Morgan, that the Commissioners of the City Trust be requested to find out what can be done in the providing of a public lavatory in the cellar of the market arcade, and that they confer with the chairman of this committee.

Mr. J. C. Shook was heard in regard to an exchange of land at Dublin St., the property of the Dickson Co. It was moved by Ald. Morgan and Bradburn that Ald. Duncan see the Dickson Co. and ascertain if they will give the lot for a park if the city will put it in shape and maintain it.

The matter of Miss K. E. Wallis' gift of the representation of "Mercury charmed by his own Invention" was left to the chairman.

APPARENTLY SWINDLED A LOCAL MAN

Young Man Called at the Police Station and Complained That He Had Been the Victim of a Swindle—Answered Ad. Enclosing Ex. Order.

RECEIVED NO GOODS

A gentleman called at the police station this afternoon, asking for advice in regard to a transaction in which he was financially concerned. Some time ago he answered an advertisement in a Toronto paper, enclosing a sum of money for which he was to have been sent a quantity of goods. He sent an express order.

He was advised to swear out a warrant for getting money under false pretences.

THE DEATH OF A WELL KNOWN MISSIONARY

Rev. Mr. Emberson Passes Away in Toronto—Remains to be Brought Here.

SERVICE ON MONDAY

Toronto, Feb. 18.—Rev. Robert Emberson, for the past ten years a missionary of the Methodist Church in Japan, died about 11 o'clock last night at the Toronto Orthopedic Hospital. Rev. Mr. Emberson had been an inmate of the hospital since his return to Canada three weeks ago, but from the first no hope was held out for his recovery. The funeral will take place to Bensfort, near Peterborough.

Rev. Robert Emberson was a man of quiet, earnest spirit, always very much interested in mission work, especially the Forward Movement, and highly esteemed by those who knew him best. He was born about forty years ago, and brought up on a farm at Bensfort, about ten miles from Peterborough, which is still the family home.

After receiving his education in Albert College, Belleville, and in Victoria College, Toronto, he went to the mission field in Japan. Before sailing he married a Miss Harris of Sarnia. They have been in the work some eight or nine years.

He had been blessed with good health and vitality, but when it became evident that the illness which seized him was likely to prove serious, the medical treatment available at his station proving insufficient to effect a cure, he went to Tokio for advice about October. He was told that his trouble was cancer of the liver, but was unable to arrange to start home till January. The Mission Council sent word that he was not in a condition to travel alone, so the Mission Board directed that an escort be provided. Rev. D. Norman accompanied him to Toronto and then returned to Japan. Besides his widow two children survive.

The body will be brought to Rev. Mr. Emberson's old home at Springville, where a private service will be held. On Monday the remains will be brought to Peterborough, where a public service will be held in George St. Methodist Church, after which interment will take place in the Little Lake cemetery.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE MATTER

Much interest is being displayed in the public meeting under the auspices of the Liberal Association in the Grand Opera House on Friday night next, when the questions of national importance now before the public will be discussed by prominent speakers, including Mr. E. M. MacDonald, M.P., Pictou, N.S., Dr. S. H. Beland, M.P., Beauce, Que., and Hon. J. R. Stratton. Dr. Beland will devote fifteen minutes of his time to a speech in French, so that the French population of the city will have something to look forward to. There will be a very large attendance and the meeting will be interesting as well as instructive.

A MENAGERIE COMING TO ROYAL THEATRE

Big Animal Attraction Next Week Secured at Much Expense by M. Pappas.

Mr. M. Pappas, of the Royal Theatre, is making a reputation for himself as a live caterer to the amusement public. His latest stroke of enterprise is the engagement of De-Balestrier's challenge group of performing animals, comprising two lions, two jaguars, two panthers, two bears and one dog.

De-Balestrier comes direct from Europe with his trained group of wild animals. They are shown together in one strong iron cage, full size of the Royal stage, and are fed their daily meal every afternoon during the performance. This alone is well worth seeing. It is really a small circus in itself and should cost five times the admission. De-Balestrier, the trainer, remains in the cage with the animals during each performance, making them go through their many different tricks.

This attraction was secured for the Royal after considerable trouble and negotiations and for three days next week, commencing on Monday. The expense connected with this exhibition will be so much greater than any other attraction brought here, that the admission in the evening will be doubled, but the performance during the morning and afternoon will be given at the regular price.

To-day and Monday the Royal shows for the first time in this part of Canada, pictures of the great floods of Paris, France. No one should miss seeing this.

DRIVING PARTIES

Y. M. C. A. Boys Had Enjoyable Time Last Evening.

Last night the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. held two driving parties. At 7 o'clock the Employed Boys went to Lakefield, where the evening was spent skating; later, at 7.45, the school boys left the Association on a drive around the city, returning about 9.30 for lunch. Both were popular, particularly the latter, which could not have accommodated another boy.

Monday next the Cabinet of the Boys' Department will hold a special meeting to prepare for a membership campaign, to be held soon, and continue only a few days, as they think better results will follow than by canvass extending over a longer period.

Another exhibition of gymnasium work will be the feature of Friday, the 25th, for which no charge will be made and it should be well attended.

HAD SLEIGH DRIVE

Two Classes From Murray Street Baptist Entertained in Smith Home.

A pleasant evening was spent last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Garbutt, Smith, when Mrs. (Rev.) J. B. Webb's and Mr. Walter Garbutt's Sunday School classes drove out from the city. They composed two sleigh loads in the drive to Mr. Garbutt's home. The evening was spent very pleasantly, a sumptuous repast being one of the most delightful items. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the hosts upon the entertainment accorded the members of the two classes.

EGGS CHEAPER

Butter Went Up in Price and is Likely to Be Scarce for a Time.

Eggs were noticeably plentiful on the market this morning, while in the same measure butter was scarce. Twenty-eight cents was the price in each case. Eggs had dropped and butter was slightly dearer. The hen has apparently begun to smile and the people will simply smile in return. Basket after basket of eggs, which have been featured in press articles as a scarce and dear commodity were offered this morning, but butter was snapped up and was almost sold out by 11 o'clock. It was a case of the first comers being fortunate and even regular customers found themselves neglected for once.

Miller's Worm Powders correct all such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness, drowsiness, sallow complexion, etc., nice to take.

MR. H. LEBRUN SENDS RECENT BERMUDA PAPERS

A copy of the Royal Gazette, published at Hamilton, Bermuda, dated February 12th, has been received from Mr. H. LeBrun, who is visiting there along with Mrs. LeBrun. An advertisement of Quaker Oats is marked, which reads as follows:

"The cheapest food you can eat is also the best food for you. Quaker oats, the food that makes the British and Americans healthy and strong. For warm climates, Quaker Oats is packed in tins; will keep fresh and sweet a long time."

The following item is also marked: "The French armoured cruiser squadron, consisting of the "Gloire," "Marseillaise," "Dupetit Thouars," and "Gruevdon" is expected to arrive at Grassy Bay this morning from Guadeloupe. Yesterday afternoon, at four o'clock, a wireless message was received stating that the fleet was 150 miles off Bermuda. The squadron is manned by about 27,800 men."

Thanks, Mr. LeB.—Come again. Such a sight as the French squadron is worth going to Bermuda to see, especially to a Frenchman who can sing the "Marseillaise" with emotion.

THE MYSTERIOUS PACKAGES WERE SUNK IN RIVER

Chauffeur Tells Story of Midnight Drive From Dr. Fritch's Office and of Sacks Dropped Into Deep Water in Secluded Spot—Were Weighted With Bricks.

Detroit, Feb. 18. — The strongest evidence in possession of prosecution again Dr. George A. Fritch, on trial in the Recorder's Court here for murder, was given to-day, when Joseph W. Leach, the chauffeur and his wife Louise Leach, were called to the stand as star witnesses for the State. The recital of each witness was substantially the same as that given at the time of the inquest. Prosecutor Vanzile's examination was extremely brief and it was quite apparent that he depended much upon the effect produced upon the jury by the story the chauffeur told of a horrid work at midnight when three mysterious packages were removed from the office of Dr. Fritch, and taken by Leach to Ecorse Creek where they were dumped into the water. Under the skilful questioning of Prosecutor Vanzile, the chauffeur testified to the fact that Dr. Fritch had told him to drive the automobile to a secluded spot where deep water could be had. Jokingly he had asked the physician if he "had killed anybody," and was told confidently that "what he didn't know wouldn't hurt him." No more was said afterwards, and when Ecorse Creek was reached, Dr. Fritch with his own hands, threw the packages into the water, after placing them in canvas sacks and weighing them down with bricks, which had been brought along in the automobile from Dr. Fritch's garage. Upon his return to the city, the doctor handed him $25 and told him "to keep his mouth shut." The Court adjourned before the cross-examination of the witness had been concluded.

THE COST OF LIVING

The Labour Gazette of this month gives a comparative list of the retail prices of staple commodities in principal cities in the various Provinces of Canada. These prices prevailed on or about January 15th. Ontario seems to have been fortunate in having cheaper prices than the extreme western or eastern Provinces. It is noticeable that the prices in Hamilton are generally higher than those of the other cities in Ontario. The prices given are as accurate as can possibly be secured, according to the Gazette. The cities where the commodities are most expensive are located in the far West. Eggs were the dearest in Ottawa, where 60 cents a dozen was asked for fresh eggs.

OBITUARY

JOHN CAMPBELL.

The death occurred late this afternoon of John Campbell at his home in North Monaghan, just outside the city limits. Further particulars will be given later.

The Answer to the Question Marks which have been appearing in The Examiner will be given on Tuesday, February 22nd.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

Rooms without bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up; Rooms with bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up; Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up

ABOLISH THE TEMPTATION.

The verdict of the Toronto Coroner's Jury to inquire into the shooting of the negro, Withers, who had previously shot two women, calls attention to an evil that demands curtailment. Practically all the criminal violence proceeding from the use of firearms is traceable to the defect or default of the law. The possession of such a weapon by persons of lawless or reckless instincts, or inclinations, is a premium upon homicide. The shootings that occur from altercations would end in a blackened eye or bloody nose if these disputes were referred to the arbitrament of nature's weapon, the fist. In Canada, at least, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, not one man in a thousand has any need to carry a revolver, or similar weapon. At any rate, if other men did not carry them he would not need to do so. The average citizen, who minds his business and behaves himself has no need for a gun; he only finds need to use it when he has it convenient. The law should be strengthened. Last session the law was amended, making more stringent regulations in regard to procuring and carying lethal weapons, but curiously enough revolvers were not in the list. When the present naval bill debate is over in Ottawa and the legislators are not saturated with gore, dreadnoughts and destroyers, the matter could well be dealt with in the public interests and in the interests of the safety of human life.

TRUTH IN JEST.

Sam Hunter, the cartoonist, generally hits the mark, but he hit the bullseye, in his cartoon in the World of Friday. He represents the leader of the Opposition as Signor Bordeni, guiding Rule Britannia out of a hurdy gurdy and exclaiming "dama da monk, as the monk-ey climbing a telephone pole out of reach, exclaims "No navy, no Dreadnoughts, no nothin'- while the money cup labelled "Votes" drops to the ground, spilling the coin. This is a graphic picture of the situation in the Conservative camp at Ottawa. Mr. Borden has done a good deal of skilful manoeuvring. He was shelled out of his position taken in the resolution of March 29th last when both sides of the house unanimously declared for the principle of the establishment of a Canadian navy. But he stuck to his guns manfully. Up to within a day or two of the second reading of the Naval bill he adhered to the resolution. But the restlessness of his followers, which had been in evidence some time compelled his to surrender and bring in the amendment calling for a contribution of 20 or 25 millions to be spent for Dreadnoughts or in any old way the Imperial authorities saw fit, instead of building a Canadian navy. Mr. Monk's amendment to the amendment called for a plebiscite on the naval bill ,and even he could not be constant nor consistent. During the recess he had declared with his dignified eloquence for "no navy, no contribution, no nothin'". Under pressure he compromised on a plebiscite. Then came Dr. Chisholm, of East Huron, a Conservative of the old school, who would have none of the government's bill nor of either Mr. Borden's or Mr. Monk's amendment. He proposed to allow the British government to borrow 50 millions from itself to build five Dreadnoughts, Canada's contribution to consist in paying the interest. Then later came Col. Sam Hughes, who called Mr. Borden's bluff and went two better. He proposed to pour out 20 or 25 millions, not once and for all as Mr. Borden suggests, but every year. If the Opposition members vote as they have talked there will be required some lightning calculation to determine where they are to stand. The pursuit of political capital leads into many devious ways.

BE READY TO CURE HORSE AILMENTS

Because a farmer has to work with his horses and have their services nearly every day in the year, it is absolutely necessary that he be posted on their common ailments and know how to treat their injuries.

A horse owner should determine to be his own veterinary, at least in the ordinary cases. Little things happen too frequently to horses to be all the time depending on others. It is inconvenient as well as expensive to go for a horse doctor when a horse goes lame or there is a swelling to reduce or a wire cut to heal.

It is not out of place to suggest, as we have frequently done before, that it is wise to have such a thoroughly good and reliable horse remedy as Kendall's Spavin Cure constantly on hand.

Kendall's Spavin Cure is now and for a long series of years has been a standard horse remedy. It can hardly be too strongly recommended. Its compounder thoroughly understood horses and their diseases. He brought the ailment and the cure together and this applies not merely to one ailment but to most of the common troubles of the horse.

In this connection, we want to commend to our readers an excellent little book entitled "A Treatise on the Horse and His Diseases." This book and Kendall's Spavin Cure ought always to go together. The book is a wonderful little compendium of horse knowledge. It gives symptoms, describes diseases, suggests proper treatment. In very many cases Kendall's Spavin Cure is the only remedy needed. The book can be had free at the drug store where Kendall's Spavin Cure is sold or it may be secured by writing to the Dr. B. J. Kendall Company, at Enosburg Falls, Vermont, U. S. A., if you enclose a two-cent stamp to pay postage.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

(By F. M. D.)

Two or three weeks ago we referred to an error of statement made by a well-known publicist in citing T. P. O'Connor as the assailant of Disraeli by referring to him as 'a lineal descendant of the impenitent thief. Now we have the editor of the Montreal Witness ringing a change on the very same subject, and in its issue of Wednesday last, saying "Lord Beaconsfield, for instance, once likened Daniel O'Connell to the thief on the cross, while O'Connell likened Disraeli to Judas." It does not do to be captious, as all of us are liable to error, but in matters of history, at any rate, one should be sure of one's facts before committing them to paper.

Errors of Statement.

Mistakes in literature are far more widely current than the general reader has any idea of. We have so long idolised the memories of certain great authors and looked upon them as infallible that we term a man an iconoclast who attempts to disturb beliefs so long held and cherished concerning them. Yet, George Eliot. Dickens, Wilkie Collius, Charles Reade, Anthony Trollope, Rider Haggard, Coleridge, Victor Hugo, Jules Verne, Macaulay, Sir Walter Scott. Charles Lever, Thackeray, Ouida, and countless others besides, have been discovered by unimaginative critics to have made the most surprising misstatements in regard to all sorts of matters. Thackeray was perhaps the most candid regarding his faults. In one of his "Roundabout Papers" he says: "As sure as I read a page of my own composition, I find a fault or two, or half a dozen. Jones is called Brown; Brown, who is dead, is brought to life. Aghast, and months after, the number was printed, I saw that I had called Philip Firmin, Clive Newcome. Now, Clive Newcome is the hero of another story by the reader's most obedient servant. The two men are as different in my mind's eye as Lord Palmerston and Mr. Disraeli, let us say." Elsewhere, he had to confess that he had reanscitated Lady Kew, after having laid the unquiet old dowager in her grave.

Rider Haggard, in "King Solomon's Mines," makes an eclipse of the moon take place at the new moon, instead of the full—an astronomic impossibility. Coleridge, in the Ancient Mariner, says:

"Clomb above the Eastern bar
The horned moon, with one bright star,
Within the nether tip."

Now, if the moon rose in the east and gradually clomb the sky, she must have been at or near her full, opposite the sun. She could not be a horned moon, nor could she have a star within either tip. The crescent moon with her horns, appears in the western sky, not in the eastern. At least, nature's moon does.

Jules Verne, in his "Round the World in Eighty Days," writes of Phineas Fogg reaching his club just as all the clocks in London "from every steeple pealed forth ten minutes to ten." We have known alarm clocks to go off at all sorts of times, but no staid, well-regulated London clock would do such a thing as peal at ten minutes to 10 '—.

Oliver Wendell Holmes once said that every one of us had his idiotic area, a spot where an idea might alight and make no impression, and being human, authors, even the best of them, are, like the rest of us, liable to occasional lapses from accuracy of statement from this cause.

About Canines.

There are many people in Peterborough who would be glad to see some sort of ordinance enforced regarding the running at large of canines in Peterborough. It is the general opinion that there are too many objectionable and useless dogs roaming the streets. A house to house investigation would reveal the true state of affairs, and help the authorities to a proper decision in the matter. A dog that cannot show proper credentials to entitle him to existence should be classed as a pariah and treated accordingly. If an enquiry was instituted at the same time into the number of cats each householder keeps, and every house was strictly limited to the ownership of one, it would be a blessing. There is a sumptuary look about such a regulation, but it would do no harm to enforce it if it is possible.

Dangers of Fire.

The number of fires that have been chronicled in the papers this winter, must have arrested the attention of most readers. In most cases, it is highly probable that carelessness in regard to cleaning chimneys is responsible for such disasters, and the old fashioned shingle roof, which seems to survive in spite of all opposition from other safer and more durable kinds of house-covering, may be looked upon as having conduced to such holocausts. The great essential is to have clean chimneys, for if chimneys are clean shingles are in no danger of catching fire. We remember once entering a settler's house in Muskoka. In the course of conversation the old man pointed with pride to his stovepipes. "I haint took them pipes down to clean for eleven years," he said, "when they catches fire I says 'let her go, Gallagher,' and I haint never had no trouble with 'em." I was not surprised to read a year or so afterwards that he had apostrophized Gallagher once too often and that his house had been burnt down.

ZAM-BUK AT THE RINK

A box of Zam-Buk in your pocket at the rink, or when tobogganing, sleighing, etc., is the best form of insurance policy." The pain and smarting of a cut, a bruise or a sprain disappears with the prompt application of this famous healer. Not only does Zam-Buk give relief, but it ensures you against such serious after-effects as blood-poisoning, festering and inflammation.

Zam-Buk is so highly antiseptic that disease germs are actually destroyed as soon as they come in contact with it. It contains no rancid animal fats, no mineral colouring matter, but, on the contrary, is made from pure herbal essences. Hockey players will find Zam-Buk particularly useful.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for cold-sores, chaps, etc. Miss Molly Maloney, of Scotch Hill, Margaree, Cape Breton, N.S., says: "I was very much troubled with chapped hands and cold-sores, and thought I would try Zam-Buk. It soothed the pain, and in a very short time my hands were quite smooth and completely cured." All druggists and stores, 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

We're making laws, with lots of noise, to keep from harm our precious boys. The curfew bell booms out at eight, and warns the lads to pull their freight for home and bed and balmy sleep, while wary cops their vigils keep. The cheap toy pistol's down and out; we won't have things like that about; and boys who'd hear the pistol's toot must sit and watch their parents' shoot. The cigarette at last is canned; the children of this happy land can buy such coffin-nails no more, which sometimes makes the darlings sore. Each year new laws and statutes brings, to shield them from corrupting things. It's strange that we should overlook the screaming blood-and-thunder book, the wild and woolly, red-hot yarn, that Johnnie reads behind the barn. The tales of bandits who have slain a cord of men, and robbed a train; of thieves who break away from jail, with punk detectives on their trail; of long-haired scouts and men of wrath who nothing fear—except a bath. Such yarns as these our Johnnie reads; they brace him up for bloody deeds; and when he can he takes the trail, and ends his bright career in jail. So, while we're swatting evil things and putting little boys on wings, let's swat the book that leaves a stain upon the reader's soul and brain.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Sir,—The Lakefield Cement Company are not manufacturing cement just now. Operations will likely be resumed as soon as the present stock of manufactured cement has been disposed of. There is no doubt that the amalgamation of the cement companies has placed them all under one management, and that the different factories are operated according to the demands of the trade. That there has been over production in some factories is, no doubt, correct, but that the Lakefield Cement Company is closed on account of the influence of the control through the merger there can be little doubt.

Yours, etc.,
CEMENT.

LOGICAL ECZEMA CURE ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS

Dr. R. A. Folkerts of Duluth, Minn., tells of his success in treating patients with D. D. D. Prescription:

"There was a man here suffering from eczema for the last fourteen years, and I applied the D. D. D. treatment. I also applied it to a man from West Duluth, Minn., who has been suffering with Eczema in his feet, and the second treatment in both cases cleared the skin almost absolutely. The first application is a balm, and its soothing effect is beyond expression. I shall never be without it, and shall use it among my patients altogether."

No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm, etc., you will feel instantly soothed, and the itch allayed at once, when a few drops of this compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., is applied. The cures all seem to be permanent.

Given Up To Die

No. 100 George St., Sorel, Quebec.

"I suffered from womb disease for seven years, with dreadful pains over the front of the body, over the back and down the legs. I had indigestion and chronic constipation and the constipation was so bad that I went sometimes for ten to fifteen days without any action of the bowels. I was ill in bed for one whole year. At one time I was so low that everyone thought I was going to die, and the last Rites of the Church were administered to me. I was treated by six different doctors without any benefit.

MADAME JOSEPH LIRETTE

Then I got a sample of "Fruit-a-tives," but I had no faith in them at all, and I would not have taken them only my husband begged so hard for me to try them. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I grew better, the bloating was relieved, the sleeplessness was cured, my stomach acted, and the bowels were moved, but above all the fearful womb pains were made easier.

I have taken eighteen boxes in all and I am now perfectly well again."

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 19.—An abrupt ending to his few days of married happiness is the fate of William Gleason, an electrical engineer, who was arrested last night charged with perjury. J. Bradley, the young man's father-in-law, swore out the warrant, alleging that Gleason had committed perjury in swearing that Miss Rhea Bradley, to whom he was married on St. Valentine's Day, was over eighteen years.

TWO ARCHITECTURAL MASTERPIECES

Two of the most magnificent Pianos that have ever been made in Canada are now being displayed to interested visitors at the New Scale Williams piano warerooms. These are the New Scale Williams "Louis Grand" and "Baby Grand"

These grand pianos—with their elegance and beauty of design and finish—would be superb ornaments to any home and certainly reflect infinite credit on the master minds which created them from wood and metal. It is hardly necessary to mention the fact that the tone is fully in keeping with the appearance.

These pianos may be seen at the warerooms of the J. M. Greene Music Co., Ltd., Opera House Block.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

The Examiner begins to-day a home department, which is intended to be of particular interest to the women of the average household. The articles which will appear in these columns are of a general nature and an endeavour will be made to keep them practical and of service to everyone. Readers are invited to write the Examiner in regard to suggestions that may occur to them as to new topics to deal with and communications will at all times be gratefully received. Those who have recipes and methods which they have found of particular benefit are asked to send them to the Examiner for this department.

MEALS WITHOUT MEAT.

Choose large potatoes of uniform size and bake. When done, cut off the top of each potato and scoop out the insides with a teaspoon. Mash the potatoes soft with hot milk and season with salt and pepper and several spoonfuls of grated or Parmesan cheese.

Mix well and return the potatoes to the skins. Pack the mass in well. Replace the tops of the potatoes which were cut off and return to the oven until very hot all through.

RICE MOLDS.

Wash thoroughly two ounces of rice in hot water and put in a double boiler with a pint and a half of milk and six lumps of sugar (or sweeten the milk to taste. Simmer until the rice is quite soft and creamy, the milk having been entirely absorbed. Now rub through a wire sieve and with it fill some little dariole molds which ave been rinsed in cold water.

Serve with a fruit sauce, or before molding mix with the rice a small quantity of chopped nut meats and serve with cream.

BAKED MACARONI AND CHEESE.

Boil the macaroni in salted water, then drain and put a layer of it in the bottom of a greased pudding dish. Dot this with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with a layer of grated cheese. Proceed in this way until the dish is full, having the top layer of dots of butter and grated cheese. Pour hot milk into the dish until it is full, cover and bake for half hour, then uncover and brown.

AN UNFAILING OMELETTE.

Separate the yolks from the whites of the eggs and allow a tablespoonful of milk for each egg. Beat separately, adding the milk to the yolks. Season with salt and pepper. Have the frying pan greased with butter and heated. Stir the yolks and whites lightly together and pour them into the pan. When the omelette has browned on the bottom place the pan in the oven until the omelette is puffed up, then turn upon a hot dish and serve immediately.

MANY USES FOR THE LEMON IN HOUSEHOLD.

Not even the indispensable potato or apple has so many domestic uses as the lemon. Without it the cook is reduced to citric acid or vinegar for her sauces and salads, poor substitutes, both. Lacking lemon-juice, the housewife must resort to more or less harmful mineral acids to remove stains from her linen or to cleanse various delicate articles. Without the juice of the lemon my Lady Beautiful is at a loss for various simple lotions harmless and invaluable for whitening and softening her skin.

Even the sick-room pays tribute to the acid ellipse, and much of comfort and healing depends upon its cheapness. Nothing takes the place of the lemon as the basis of a refreshing drink in cases of fever. Not long ago a prominent physician announced the discovery that lemon-juice is a specific in typhoid, though other doctors have pronounced the remedy impractical, but no doubt time will decide.

Hot lemonade is an old home remedy for colds and it has the advantage over bromo-quinines and antipyrines of having no after-effects. Take a hot foot-bath in a warm room, roll yourself in a blanket and drink at least a pint of lemonade as hot and strong as you can stand it. Get into bed immediately. This is an important part of the cure sometimes overlooked. Moving around the room, emptying the bath and straightening things up may give you an attack of pneumonia instead of curing your cold. A profuse perspiration results, and if you have taken the remedy within forty-eight hours of catching the cold, a complete cure is almost certain by the next day. It is little short of marvellous.

Lemon juice and sugar mixed very thick make a common remedy for coughs. A better way, however, is to put a large lemon in the oven and allow it to remain until thoroughly baked, when it will be soft all the way through. Add enough honey to the pulp to make a thick syrup. Sugar will answer the purpose, but honey is more medicinal. Keep the syrup warm and take a teaspoonful every fifteen minutes. This is warranted to relieve hoarseness in short order. Chronic bronchitis may also be relieved by the use of lemon-juice, honey and hot water. Diarrhoea is said to be cured very quickly by the use of lemon-juice and pure honey—the juice of two lemons to two teaspoonfuls of pure honey. For heartburn, take the juice of a lemon and half a teaspoonful of baking-soda in half a glass of cold water. Drink while it is effervescing. Lemons in almost any form are said to be good for people with rheumatic tendencies. Sick headaches may often be banished by taking half the juice of a lemon squeezed into a cup of black coffee. Headaches from biliousness or a torpid liver often yield to the simple treatment of half a lemon squeezed into a cupful of hot water, without sugar, taken on an empty stomach each morning. It should be taken regularly.

HELPFUL HINTS.

An improved pie pan has a blade fastened to the centre which revolves around the bottom of the pan, beneath the pie crust, when the end protruding from the side of the dish is moved.

To clean coat collars, which often show white inside after a little wear, use a little ammonia in which enough salt has been put to make a soft mixture. This, used as a cleanser, will remove discolorations.

One way of preserving eggs is said to be the following: For every three gallons of soft water put in one pint of fresh slaked lime and half a pint of common salt; mix well, and let the barrel be about half full of this liquid; then, with a dish, let down the fresh eggs, tipping the dish, after it fills with water, so that the eggs will roll out without cracking the shell, for if the latter should happen to be broken the eggs, of course, will spoil. If fresh eggs be put in, fresh ones will come out.

When gilt frames or molding of rooms have specks or dirt from flies and other causes upon them they may be cleaned with white of egg applied with camel-hair brush.

Pouring hot fruit into glass dishes is likely to result in breaking the latter. To prevent this, stand the glass dish on a cloth wet with hot water and then pour the fruit into it.

By pouring a little olive oil over a soft linen cloth and gently rubbing over the surface of mahogany furniture the white covering caused by dampness, also all dust, is removed and leaves the furniture as clear as a mirror, and saves having it polished.

WEARING THE SWEATER.

As usual, there is a right way and a wrong way.

When putting on a sweater for the first time, one should be particularly careful about the sleeves, that they are drawn well on to the arm, otherwise they will drag the shoulders out of shape. It is best to pull the sleeves farther up than they are intended to go, and allow them to work down.

The sleeves properly arranged, button the sweater in front and get somebody to pull the outer edges of the shoulders up and out for you, allowing them then to settle down over the figure.

Pull it well forward at each side of the bust, and then quite straight around the hips.

If this performance is gone through with the first few times the garment is worn it will keep its shape much better, and last in good condition much longer, than if it is put on carelessly.

BALKY SEWING MACHINE.

It is said that if the machine needle becomes sticky it may be made right again by rubbing the material to be sewn with a bit of laundry soap. It seems to have the effect of an emery. If it would injure the material to treat it in this way do a little stitching on a waste bit of cloth well soaped.

Should the material gather when sewn by machine put a piece of brown paper under it. This will keep the needle from catching in the fine threads of the material.

When the sewing is finished the paper easily pulls away, leaving no trace. This is particularly necessary knowledge when the material to be sewn is chiffon or voile.

CARE OF THE TEETH.

The worst foe to sound teeth is an excess of acid in the mouth. Careful brushing and rinsing the mouth out with a little bicarbonate of soda in a glass of water is beneficial.

The tooth brush should never be stiff enough to irritate the gums, or it may cause them to recede.

The bristles must be stout enough to polish the teeth and to remove particles.

It is well to have two tooth brushes, and to use them alternately. If one is used at a time it should never be used for more than a month.

It is an excellent thing to rinse the mouth out occasionally before going to bed with milk of magnesia. One wakes in the morning with a pleasantly fresh, clean taste in the mouth.

FOR WOMAN WITH AN ACHING HEAD.

Too late going to bed, too early rising or anything that promotes want of sleep are fertile causes of headaches.

Brain repair goes on during sleep. People often don't know, or forget this. If you are worrying or working hard all day then go to bed late and get up early, you are very likely to be a "martyr to headache." More sleep is what you need to cure you.

For all nervous headaches hot fomentations are most comforting and curative. They are far better than cold applications.

Want of exercise, living in badly ventilated rooms, indigestion or anything that lowers health, predisposes to headache.

When headaches are not cured by simple means they mean something.

When hot fomentations are used the application of them to the nape of the neck, as well as to the forehead, will give more relief than if used to the forehead only. To heat the spinal cord soothes the brain.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE.

There are many different rules for chocolate layer cake, some being variations of white layers with chocolate filling and others chocolate layers with white filling.

Beat to a cream one cup of butter and two cups of fine granulated sugar. Add five egg yolks, well beaten, a scant cup of milk and two and a half cups of pastry flour that has been sifted with two and a half teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add flour and milk alternately, then beat vigorously. Lastly, add a teaspoonful of vanilla and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, which should be folded in, not stirred.

Bake in three shallow cake pans. For the filling use the remaining two whites of eggs. Beat them stiff enough, then add one cup of confectioner's sugar, or enough to make the frosting stiff enough to spread. Put one square of chocolate in the oven or over the tea kettle and add to the frosting, together with a saltspoonful of cinnamon extract or powder and a little vanilla. Put the layers together with the chocolate frosting, adding a thin layer of currant jelly if you do not care for the excessive sweet taste of the chocolate.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE WITH WHITE FILLING.

Beat together one an done-half cups of sugar and a half cup of butter; add the yolks of four eggs well beaten, one-half cup of sour milk in which a half teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved, two cups of flour sifted with a half teaspoonful of soda, and a half cake of chocolate melted in one-half cup of warm water, bake in layers and put together with a white lemon icing.

CHOCOLATE CREAM FILLING.

Melt two and a half quarter squares of chocolate in the oven or over the tea kettle; mix together one cup of sugar and three-quarters of a cup of flour and a pinch of salt; add two eggs slightly beaten with two cups of milk and cook in a double boiler until creamy and thick; add the melted chocolate and a teaspoonful of vanilla and when cool spread between the layers.

EGG NESTS.

Toast a slice of bread for each person to be served, then beat the white of one egg, for each slice, very stiff. The whites may be beaten separately or all together and then divided. Pile this on top of the toast, make a little depression in the centre of each, in which to drop a bit of butter and the unbeaten yolk of an egg. Place the slices in the oven until the egg is sufficiently cooked. This is not merely an appetizing breakfast dish, but delicious to the taste and exceedingly healthful. If the bread is toasted beforehand, the rest is easily done while the guests eat their fruit. It should be served hot from the oven.

WATCH YOUR PIANO.

Pianos should not lean against a cold, damp wall. Be sure there is an air space between piano and wall. Neither should pianos be kept in too dry or warm a place. If the room is heated by a hot-air furnace, keep some such house plant as a fern, geranium, begonia, etc., on or near the piano. The moisture given out by the plant will keep the piano in better condition.

All pianos should be tuned at least once a year and some pianos need tuning twice or three times yearly. Get a good tuner and keep him, as tuning by different men is not advisable.

Keep keys white by rubbing once a month with a soft cloth moistened with alcohol.

If piano case looks dull and smoky, wash carefully with a cloth moistened with either alcohol or cold water and then rub well with a dry cloth.

Do not dust a piano with a cloth that leaves a lint. The best dusters are made of chamois or old silk handkerchiefs.

'Do not close piano at night or leave it closed for any length of time. It needs air, some sunlight and a moderate heat. Moving a piano often affects its clearness and accuracy of tone.

KIDNEYS ACT FINE AND BACKACHE GOES

A Few Doses Regulate Disordered Kidneys and End Bladder Misery.

If you take several doses of Pape's Diuretic, all backache and distress from out-of-order kidneys or bladder trouble will vanish, and you will feel fine.

Lame back, painful stitches, rheumatism, nervous headache, dizziness, irritability, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, worn-out, sick-feeling and other symptoms of sluggish, inactive kidneys disappear.

Uncontrollable, smarting, frequent urination (especially at night) and all bladder misery ends.

Feeling miserable and worried is needless, because this unusual preparation goes at once to the disordered kidneys, bladder and urinary system and distributes its healing cleansing and vitalizing influence directly upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it.

The moment you suspect any kidney or urinary disorder or feel rheumatism pains, begin taking this harmless medicine, with the knowledge that there is no other remedy at any price, made anywhere else in the world, which will effect so thorough and prompt a cure as a fifty cent treatment of Pape's Diuretic, which any druggist can supply.

Your physician, pharmacist, banker or any mercantile agency will tell you that Pape, Thompson & Pape, of Cincinnati, is a large and responsible medicine concern, thoroughly worthy of your confidence.

Only curative results can come from taking Pape's Diuretic, and a few days' treatment means a clean, active, healthy kidneys, bladder and urinary organs—and no backache.

'ROUND THE STORES

The increased cost of living has been still further accentuated by a recent advance in the price of sugar. On enquiry, it is learned that the wholesaler is not responsible for this recent advance, but that retailers who have been selling sugar on the basis of the wholesale price before the rise in January, have added fifteen cents per hundred to meet the rating price now. There is no other cause behind this advance noted than this, so far as Messrs. White & Gillespie are aware. Prices on raw sugar were soaring about the same time as the January advance, and it was expected they would remain up. According to our information there has been no advance in the wholesale price of sugars since last month. Just what the future may be is difficult to discuss, according to the travellers. As a rule, however, February is the low month, and White & Gillespie, as well as other of our local grocers, usually buy during this month, as it is safe to lay in a good stock before spring.

Mr. Elliott is busy improving the "Beehive" for his spring trade. One of the important new features is that the makers of the strong line of cloth skirts for which the "Beehive" has become known, are now turning out suits of the same superior manufacture. Some of these suits are now here, and, like the skirts, are all stitched with silk and thoroughly shrunken. The prices are equally remarkable—a high-class suit being offered in all wool cloth for $10, $12, and $15. The "Beehive's" Half Price Department is also growing in popularity. It is not an attached or joined-on section, but one of the regular main arteries of the establishment, available to shoppers every day of the week. The new music department is also meeting with much favour. Selections from newest music, including Harry Saunders' popular hits, are received every week. Miss Koster presides at the piano every day, and plays the popular airs.

The Knickerbocker Co. of 422 George street, the new firm of ladies' and gentlemen's clothiers, are opening up early shipments of Spring goods. Men's and women's ready-to-wear clothing are handled at a very close profit, and credit given when desired. The weekly payment system is a feature of this store, and the proprietor says it is bound to grow.

Robert Fair & Co. and their department managers are planning something better for this year than even the high aim of last year. To hit a given mark it is necessary first to take deliberate aim. Good window displays continue to characterize the Golden Lion. They frequently remind one of things they want, and are fruitful of good results in store sales. To-day is one of the "bargain event" days at Fair's, and many ladies responded to the tempting list of lowered price quotations. Throughout the store busy salesmen were waiting on shoppers eagerly picking up the articles listed. The number of people present was a proof of the unusual values.

Warne's jewellery store, which will soon move up next to the Warne Drug Co's. new store, is holding a bona fide removal sale, which is attracting many buyers. Part of the stock has been placed on display in the store adjoining and ticketed with prices twenty-five per cent. below regular. A general reduction in prices prevails in watches and clocks, and the purchaser has the assurance of good quality goods at Warne's. For the convenience of customers, an avenue is to be left open between the drug store and jewellery store, when they get together again.

Cressman's February Mark Down Sale has attracted crowds of shoppers this week. Dress goods have been the leading feature of this sale, although the "mark-down" prevails in every department. Yellow cards, with the reduced prices, appear in distinguishing profusion. Cressman's dress goods for spring, consisting of the new and popular shades for 1910, are ready for early buyers.

HAMILTON PAPER REFERS TO REV. COUCH

Recognized as One of Foremost Preachers of the Methodist Church.

(Hamilton Times.)

Rev. Isaac Couch, M.A., B.D., associate pastor of the Central Methodist Church, last evening received an unanimous call to the pastorate of George Street Methodist Church of Peterborough, which will be vacant next June, when the present pastor, Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, assumes the pastorate of the church, where Mr. Couch is at present.

When seen this morning Mr. Couch said he had received the call, and would accept it, subject to the approval of the Stationing and Transfer Committees of the Methodist Church. He expressed his gratitude at the fact that the meeting in Peterborough was not only a large one, but also most enthusiastic and unanimous, there not being a dissenting voice when his name was considered. Mr. Couch has also received a large number of communications from prominent citizens and church workers of Peterborough, who all extend to him a most hearty welcome and assure him of perfect harmony among the members of the congregation.

Mr. Couch is a graduate in arts of Toronto University, and while in attendance there gave much time and attention to studies in philosophy. He is also a graduate in theology of Victoria College, Toronto. He is a close student, possesses a cultured mind, and for some years has been recognized as one of the most thoughtful, eloquent and scholarly preachers of the Methodist church. He is greatly beloved by all the members of the congregation. On accepting the call to Peterborough he assumes the pastorate of what is known as the Metropolitan church of the Bay of Quinte Conference. Not only is the church a large one, occupying a whole block, but one where there is an excellent opportunity for work.

Previous to his coming to Hamilton Mr. Couch was located at Barrie, Tottenham and Toronto.

Many Women Suffer Untold Tortures In Silence

A woman needs a blood-building medicine regularly just because she is a woman. From maturity to middle life the health and happiness of every woan depends upon her blood. its richness and its regularity. If her blood supply is irregular she suffers from headaches, backaches, sideaches, and other unspeakable distress which only women know. Some women have grown to expect this suffering at regular intervals and to bear it in hopeless silence. But women would escape much of this misery if they took a box or two of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to help them over each critical period. They help a woman just when nature makes the greatest demand upon her blood supply. They have done this for thousands of women throughout Canada, why not for you?

Mrs. Joseph Kinney, Gilbert's Cove, N.S., says: "For ten years I suffered from nervousness and those troubles that make the lives of so many women one of almost constant misery, at times I would be confined to my bed for weeks. I spent sleepless nights and seemed to lose all courage. I tried several doctors but they failed to give me any relief. The last doctor I consulted told me frankly that he could not undertake my case unless I would undergo an examination. It was then I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. After taking six boxes I was much improved in health, but I continued to take the Pills for a couple of months more when I felt like a new woman, and was enjoying such health as I had not experienced for ten years before. I have had no return of this trouble since, but I have used the Pills once since that time for the after effects of la grippe and the result was all I hoped for. These are plain facts from my own experience, and I have always felt that I cannot too strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to the many women who suffer as I did."

You can get this great blood-building, health restoring medicine from any dealer in medicines or direct by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY LETTER

Queen's students note with appreciation the growth of our College Y. M. C. A. With Mr. Omond as Secretary the Y. M. C. A. has these past two years entered upon a much wider field of activity in the College. For next session a general secretary, who is to devote his whole time to the Y. M. C. A. will be secured. With him will lie most of the work involved in the College Y. M. C. A. When the autumn term opens, the general secretary will be the confiding centre to which the uninitiated freshman will bring all his troubles, on the secretary will devolve the duty of inspecting the available boarding-houses in the city and have them placed on the approved list. He will have a great deal to do with the annual Conversat and with similar functions of the Y. M. C. A., and will be the general organizer of the religious life around the University. As the prosperity of our Y. M. C. A. will depend largely upon the energy and individuality of the secretary, we may rest assured that the most competent man available will be secured for the position.

With the enlargement of the University, students are feeling the need of a general club or union, to which students of the University, irrespective of Faculty will gravitate; where the boys can, under wholesome environments, meet in social intercourse. This need is all the more pressing at Queen's since we have no students' dormitories.

Last Friday Queen's journeyed down to Montreal and defeated Laval at hockey, the score being 8-6. Queen's has two games to play yet, one with Varsity in Toronto next Friday, and one with Laval at Kingston.

The School of Mining Directory has just been issued for the year 1910. It contains the names and the present locations of all the graduates of the Faculty of Science, together with all the situations held since their graduation. The vacation work of the undergraduates is also given, most of whom spend their summer vacations in mines, electrical and mechanical workshops and on Surveys. The committee of the Engineering Society, which issues the hand-book, provides an employment bureau, finding summer positions for students, and placing graduates in the way of permanent employment. The directory is very interesting, as showing the wide geographical range over which our graduates are distributed. You will find them in every province of the Dominion, in seventeen states of the Union, in Africa, South America, Mexico, New Zealand.

Sunday's Convocation service was conducted by Professor Scott, of Divinity Hall. Prof. Scott is one of the most interesting pulpit speakers in Eastern Ontario, and delivered a powerful sermon to the students last Sunday.

On Wednesday, Feb. 9th, music lovers of Kingston had an opportunity of listening to one of the three greatest living pianists, Mark Hambourg. The versatile musician had a good audience in Grand Hall, and all came away with a new experience of the delightful melodies possible to be conjured from the much-abused piano. It is of much credit to the University that by far the greater majority of the audience were composed of college students and professors. The student body appreciates greatly the energetic action of the musical committee in bringing to our city such an artist as Mark Hambourg.

Saturday evening, Convocation Hall took on a distinctly parliamentary aspect, for our Mock Parliament held the floor for the evening. In bringing in his bill for Woman Suffrage, Premier Wallace was ably supported by Minister of Finance Burton and his colleague Huyck, but their phraseology was not sufficiently guarded, many of the hoodlums on the opposition benches turning the jokes on the speakers. One of the opposition lights, M. N. Omond, had fairly launched out on a most effective and damaging criticism, when there burst upon that dignified House, a bevy of wild and screeching suffragettes. After demolishing the opposition speaker, who, held the floor, and, after submerging the Prime Minister, they escaped to the gallery and there proceeded to harrangue their fair sisters. Not until considerable force had been resorted to, to quell their mad antics, were they prevailed upon to let the business of the House proceed uninterrupted. Next Saturday, the Bill will receive its third reading.

OBITUARY.

PATRICK MURPHY.

The death occurred early this morning at his late residence in Ennismore, of Patrick Murphy, after an illness of only a fortnight. He had been suffering with pneumonia and despite the fact that everything that medical aid could do, was done, he passed away. He was forty-seven years of age, and was a life-long resident of Ennismore. He was well-known and highly esteemed. He was the son of Mr. James Murphy, of the same township. To the sorrowing relatives left to mourn his loss, is extended the heartfelt sympathy of a host of friends. He was married eleven years ago to Margaret Flood, who with five little girls, survive. He also leaves his parents and two brothers, Messrs. Timothy of Ennismore, and Steven, of Indian River. He was a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

The funeral will take place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, from his late residence, lot 4, concession 8, to St. Martin's church, and thence to St. Martin's cemetery.

CRITICISM OF A "FAT" STORY

We were criticized for telling fat people to "tender" seventy-five cents to their druggists for a large case of Marmola Tablets. Several wrote in saying the use of the word "tender" was incorrect, that "tender" in such a connection raised the impression the druggist might refuse seventy-five cents as insufficient.

Now, isn't that odd? A few weeks ago seventy-five cents was "tendered" to a Broadway druggist and he did refuse it. That is, he said he had no Marmola Tablets, whereas he did have seven cases. But, the wholesale house was closed, it being on a Saturday, and he had to prevaricate to protect his regular customers, who absorbed those seven cases later in the day.

This elegant pharmaceutical adaptation of that famous, fashionable fat reducer, the Marmola Prescription, (viz., ½ oz. Marmola, ¾ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 4¾ oz. Peppermint Water), is certainly having a remarkable vogue. Millions of cases of tablets are sold yearly and their fame grows. This is doubtless because of their harmlessness (guaranteed by the Marmola Co., 833 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.), and sure ability to remove ten to sixteen ounces of fat (not flesh) a day without inconvenience, bother, need for exercising or interference with the taker's appetite for good things.

FROM JERUSALEM

Rev. S. B. Rohold, Hebrew Presbyterian Minister, Will Preach in Local Churches.

The Rev. S. B. Rohold, first Hebrew-Christian-Presbyterian-Pastor, Superintendent of work amongst the Jews in Canada, will preach and deliver addresses in the following churches: St. Paul's in the morning, Knox in the evening, Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon, 4.15; St. Andrew's, Monday evening. He was born in Jerusalem, a son of a leading Rabbi, educated and brought up for the same position. Thirteen years ago, after his conversion, he left the Holy City and laboured with much acceptance amongst his brethren in Scotland. Two years ago he came here by the invitation of the Presbyterian church, to organise the work amongst the Jews in Canada, with its headquarters amongst the 16,000 Jews in Toronto, where his efforts were met with singular success. The Mission, which is situated in the very heart of the Jewish quarter, has become a centre of attraction to all kinds and classes of Jews. The Mission has now a regular staff of seven missionaries, three men and four women, who carry on a very aggressive work in the following departments: Reading rooms, night schools for men and women; sewing classes for women and girls; Sunday School; Boys' club; kindergarten; tract distribution; Gospel Services and Bible classes, and open air services; free dispensary; club for young business women; systematic visitation of homes, hospitals and other institutions.

Mr. Rohold will not only tell of his work, but will deal with the Jewish problem in general.

The subject for the morning service will be "The Present Condition of the Jews, and their Attitude Towards Christianity." Subject of the evening service, "Israel's Cry for Christ." Subject for Monday "The Glory of the Mission." At the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon at 4.15, Rev. Mr. Rohold will deliver an address to the men. A male quartette, Messrs. Thornton, Miller, Nelson and Cole will be present and assist in the singing.

MILITARY HAPPENINGS

Sergt. Metheral Home From Stanley Baracks—Capt. Shaw in the City—The New Rifle Range

SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION

Sergeant Metheral Home.

Sergeant Wilt Metheral has returned home from Toronto, where he has been attending Stanley Barracks, and has entered in real earnest upon his duties as caretaker of the Peterborough Armouries. Sergeant Metheral spent five weeks in the Barracks, and one week attached to the Staff of the Toronto Armouries. He is, therefore, now well qualified to perform the important duties pertaining to his position. Sergeant Metheral gives promise of making a courteous, efficient and painstaking caretaker. He served some years ago in the 57th Regiment, so that he is not unfamiliar to the uniform he will once again wear.

The Bowling Alley.

The Bowling Alley at the Peterborough Armouries is proving to be one of the attractive spots of recreation that there is in the city. Mostly every afternoon between four and six o'clock some of the officers of the local garrison can be seen enjoying this very excellent form of sport. Several leagues are being formed and no doubt some interesting games will be witnessed. There is being formed a garrison officers' league, a garrison sergeants' league, and a privates' league, which should keep the alleys pretty busy. It is understood that the officers will have the use of the alleys on Saturday night. The indoor baseball is arousing some little interest, and regular matches are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday nights. However, some of the companies who have teams in the indoor baseball league might give the matter a little more attention.

The Rifle Range.

The matter of a selection of a site for the new rifle range is still unsettled. The delay is purely by reason of the local militia men not being able to find a suitable location. In fact, great difficulty is being experienced in this respect. A number of places have been looked over, but each one appears to have its advantages. It is to be hoped that a site may soon be selected as the appropriation has been available for some time.

Capt. Shaw in the City.

Captain A. E. Shaw, of Winnipeg, was in town yesterday on his way to Kingston, to take a three-months' course at the Royal Military College. Capt. Shaw is well known in Peterborough, being a son of Mr. Wm. Shaw, of Otonabee, and having been for some years an officer in the 3rd Dragoons. Capt. Shaw was subsequently seconded from service in the 3rd Dragoons, and obtained a commission in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. He served with the Police for some six years and has quite recently been transferred to the Strathcona Horse, at Winnipeg. Upon receiving his appointment in the Strathcona Horse he resigned his old commission in the 3rd Dragoons. Capt. Shaw is one of the best polo players in Western Canada, and maintains a beautiful string of polo ponies at Winnipeg.

Capt. Shaw, it might be mentioned, saw service in South Africa.

Colonel Syer Bereaved.

Lieut.-Col. Geo. H. Syer, officer commanding the 3rd Prince of Wales, Canadian Dragoons, has many friends in Peterborough, who will regret exceedingly to learn of the death of his father, Mr. Wm. Syer, who resided near Millbrook. The late Mr. Syer was a widely-known and much-respected resident of the Township of Manvers, being one of the oldest settlers.

Attending the School.

Lieut. Charlton Edmison, of Harwood, is taking a three-months' course at Stanley Barracks, Toronto. Lieut. Edmison is an officer in "A" Squadron, (Colborne), of the 3rd Dragoons. Several sergeants from the various squadrons of the Dragoons are now at the school, as well.

Ald. Duffus a Soldier.

Recent militia general orders announce the appointment of Lieut. J. J. Duffus as signalling officer of the 3rd Dragoons, the appointment to date from 25th November, 1909. As a matter of fact Lieut. Duffus has been acting in this capacity for several camps. Lieut. Duffus has a splendid signalling corps.

On Retired List.

Militia orders also announce that Major David Johnston, of Otonabee, and for many years prominently connected with the 3rd Dragoons, has been placed on the retired list, under the provisions of the King's Regulations in that respect. Major David Johnston was one of the best officers that ever donned a uniform of the 3rd Dragoons, and his early retirement from the regiment has always been a matter of regret on the part of his fellow officers.

School of Instruction.

The establishment of a provisional School of Instruction in infantry has been authorized to be held at Port Hope for a period not to exceed six weeks during February and March. This will afford an excellent opportunity to the more recently appointed officers of the 46th Regiment to qualify.

Special Notice.
BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 231 Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Does Your Bread, Madam, Get Stale Too Soon

Of course, you know, all bread must in time grow stale—unless busy little milk teeth anticipate the flight of days.

But the trouble is, Mistress Housewife, some bread grows old prematurely—goes harsh, stale, crumbly.

And nobody likes stale bread: your folks dodge the bread-plate, don't eat as much as is good for them, but fill up on a more expensive if less sustaining diet.

Sad economy, Madam.

There's a peculiar quality in the gluten of FIVE ROSES flour which makes YOUR bread keep better.

Cannot go stale as quickly as bread made from some of the flours you have known in the past—to your loss and sorrow.

It may belong to the wheat milled, to the methods or 21 years of "know how"—but it's there all the same.

Because there's more of the amber gluten and better gluten in FIVE ROSES than seems necessary, you see.

* * * *

This is the way of it, Madam.

Not only does YOUR loaf retain the actual moisture, the actual liquid, longer than usual; but it retains the property of feeling moist to the most hardened palate even when a great deal of the water has evaporated.

Of course it doesn't crumble when sliced even in thin slices; nor does it lump off when buttered.

* * * *

Wouldn't you like YOUR bread, Madam, to have that fulness of nut-like flavor, that freshness and sweetness, which the best cooks envy?

Wouldn't you just like to make delicate breadstuffs that improve for days after baking—elastic texture, crisp firm crust?

Almost a week after bake-day there's a feeling of moistness by the tips of dainty fingers on the fresh-cut surface, an actual feeling of moisture and elusive flavor to the hungry palate—

When you use FIVE ROSES.

Bake-day troubles, consequent vexations, the weekly nightmare of careful cooks, vanish like mist before the rising sun.

Won't YOU get FIVE ROSES, Madam?

Won't you get it NOW?

TECHNICAL EDUCATION

What Has Been Done in England---Writer Agrees With Leader of Opposition in Recent Remarks in the Legislature Re Education in Ontario.

Peterborough Feb. 18th, 1910.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—After some seven years' residence in Canada, embracing the cities of Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Quebec and latterly of Peterborough, I am amazed at the lack of interest shown in the technical training of the vast number of boys from fourteen to sixteen years of age, who are running to waste. I use these words advisedly, for being a "life member" of a Science and Art Institute in direct connection with the Science and Art Department (Government) South Kensington and the City and Guild of London (England) it was my privilege to serve for many years as a member of the executive of that particular institution. In the Provincial Legislature on Thursday the leader of the opposition made the following statement: "The situation should be squarely faced. There were probably 50,000 lads from 14 to 16 years of age, for whom the state is doing nothing."

Now, sir, let it be clearly understood that this does not mean the boys whose parents are able to maintain them at the Collegiate, and from thence to the University. For one boy so circumstanced we have at least ten that are not, and those ten are important to this country. In France, Germany, England, Sweden, and probably other countries special inducements are held out to the working boys from 14 to 18 to attend Science and Art classes. Let me quote from a syllabus of 1902 one of the years that I sat on the Executive Board of one of these schools.

The teachers in all these subjects were highly trained and paid at the rate of two dollars per hour.

The students paid 75c. for a six months' course with 50c. extra for art subjects. There are numbers of men in this city alone, who are indebted to these schools for their standing in the mechanical world, and I put the subject up right against our members of Parliament for both Dominion and Provincial houses to create conditions whereby we may enable our working boys to become equal in theoretical and applied mechanics to their brethren from outside.

Let our Collegiate Institute become a busy hive at night for the boys who cannot get there in the day time. Out of a population of 6,000, no less than 250 students were enrolled. What about our 16,000? Is it not time something was done along these lines and government made a grant to our Education Board directly for this work.—Yours faithfully, R. I. D.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

"THE MAN FROM HOME."

"The Man From Home," Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson's famous play, paid a visit to Peterborough last night, under Leibler & Company's auspices ,and delighted a large audience at the Grand. So much had been heard of the production that local theatregoers seemed to have made up their minds not to let the opportunity pass and they were not disappointed to say the least.

It is not necessary to say very much about the action of the play. The story is too well known to Peterborough people to need any reference in these columns. It deals with the subject of international marriages in a new and enjoyable way, and is crowded with humour and bright lines, while one of the situations at least is very dramatic.

The story, of course, centres around "The Man From Home," a lawyer from a small Indiana town, a character that is as refreshing as his novel. His drawling voice, the quaint whimsical humour of his homely speeches, his cheerfulness under all conditions, and his ready wit make him a personage whose every speech is at once amusing and delightful and as played by Henry Hall last night, won favour from his first appearance. The favourable impression he made on his entrance was increased in proportion as the story progressed, until the climax came at the end of the third act, when he had to respond to three or four curtain calls.

Mr. Hall was assisted by an unusually well-balanced and capable company, and no defects could be noticed in the support. Miss Mary Elizabeth Forbes, as the girl from home, was decidedly effective, while the other members of the cast were warmly commended for their work.

The action takes place in Italy, which allows a lavish display of scenery and in this respect the production was again of a superior nature. The incidental music introduced was a pleasing feature.

The Strathcona Hockey Club, City League champions, were the guests of the officers of the Club, and occupied the boxes, which were decorated with their colours. The club presented Miss Forbes with a bouquet of red and white roses and carnations trimmed with the Straths' colours at the end of the third act.

A MOTHER'S PRAISE FOR BABY'S OWN TABLETS

There are thousands of mothers throughout Canada who have no hesitation in saying that the good health enjoyed by their little ones is entirely due to the judicious use of Baby's Own Tablets. And there are many mothers who do not hesitate to say that at a critical period Baby's Own Tablets have saved a baby's life. Such a medicine should always be kept in every home. Mrs. J. A. Porier, Paquetville, N.B., says: "We give Baby's Own Tablets all the credit for keeping our little ones well. They are an excellent medicine for children." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO END SECTARIANISM.

Protestant Platform Is Drawn Up by Western Orangemen.

Kamloops, Feb. 19.—The most important business of the Orange Grand Lodge sessions just closed, was the adoption of a Protestant platform prepared by a special committee and adopted as a whole. It was decided to publish this broadcast and send copies to all the provincial grand lodges in Canada and Newfoundland. The platform is as follows:

Entire separation of church and state.

A non-sectarian public school system which shall be the only system to receive aid from the public treasury.

Resistance of any further special privileges to any section of population of the Dominion, either on account of race or religion, and a gradual elimination of any special privileges which they now possess.

The English language as the only official language in Canada, and the compulsory teaching of the English language in all its schools.

The maintenance of British connection, and support of any movement which tends to make closer and more binding the relations between Canada and the Mother Country.

Close supervision of all new settlers and encouragement of suitable white emigrants from the British Empire, United States and Northern Europe.

Public inspection of all institutions under control of any religious denomination which receives aid in any way from the public treasury, either by direct grant or by rebate of taxes, and that provincial books and all other records of these institutions be inspected by a public auditor at any time; also public inspection of all nunneries, convents, monasteries, churches, schools, academies or other institutions, and that all teachers in the aforesaid institutions be compelled to hold a Government certificate.

Full recognition in every province of Dominion marriages performed by a qualified clergyman of any religious denomination or any other persons vested by the law with that power.

More Than 200 Wounded.

Frankfort, Germany, Feb. 19.—It was two o'clock yesterday morning before the police had cleared the streets of the crowds gathered in public protest against the proposed Prussian suffrage laws. Yesterday some fifty of the demonstrators were in the hospitals and of the number five are seriously injured.

The Socialists insist that those attending the meetings had been advised by the speakers to go quietly to their homes and that the most of them were so doing when a policeman who had arrested a man was fired up on by a party of would-be rescuers. This incident, the Socialists say, afforded the police detachments the opportunity for which they were waiting to attack the home-goers brutally, regardless of age or sex.

Many of the wounded avoided the hospitals, receiving treatment from private physicians, in order to escape any possible legal consequences involved. The number of wounded is now placed at between 200 and 300. Twenty policemen are among the injured.

Other demonstrations have been announced for next Sunday, but the meetings have been forbidden by the police, who are acting under orders from Berlin. The police are not members of the municipal force, but of the Prussian State Constabulary, and to a great extent are former sergeants in the army.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 19.—Three hours of rigid cross-examination yesterday failed to shake the story of Chauffeur Joseph W. Leach, who testified that he drove Dr. G. A. Scriptural Carving.

A Scriptural method of carving fowls when in secular company was claimed by a witty clergyman who, having been asked to carve one day, said, "Inasmuch as you demand it, I will carve the fowl according to Biblical principles." "Yes," exclaimed the hostess, "act according to the Scriptures." The theologian therefore began the carving. The baron was tendered the head of the fowl, the baroness the neck, the two daughters a wing apiece and the two sons a first joint, the carver retaining the remainder.

"According to what interpretation do you make such a division?" inquired the host of his guest as he regarded the clergyman's heaping plate and the scant portions doled out to the family.

"From an interpretation of my own," replied the clerical wit. "As the master of your house the head belongs to you by right; the baroness, being most near to you, should receive the neck, which is nearest the head; in the wings the young girls will recognize a symbol of their noble thoughts, that fly from one desire to another; as to the young barons, the drumsticks they have received will remind them that they are responsible for supporting your house, as the legs of the capon support the bird itself." —London Standard.

Camel a Delicate Beast.

Contrary to the widespread but erroneous opinion, the camel is a very delicate animal. A camel that has worked fifteen days in succession needs a month's pasturage to recuperate. It is liable to a host of ailments and accidents. When a caravan crosses a sebkha, or dry salt lake, it is rare that some of the animals do not break a leg. If the fracture is in the upper part of the limb there is nothing for it but to slaughter the animal and retail its flesh as butcher's meat.

If the lower part of the limb has been injured the bone is set and held in position by means of splints made of palm branches, which are bound with small cords. If no complications ensue at the end of a month the fracture is reduced. When it is a case of simple dislocation the injured part is cauterized with a redhot iron, then coated with clay and bandaged with a strip of cloth. Fifteen days afterward the animal is generally cured.—Vulgarisation Scientifique.

That's All He Forgot.

The cab containing the absentminded man and his family drew up in front of the Broad street station. There emerged the absentminded man, his wife, three children, a birdcage, a dog on a leash and innumerable bundles and parcels. The absentminded man paid the driver, gathered up the bundles, dropped them and pressed his hand dramatically to his fevered brow.

"There," he exclaimed, "I just knew I had forgotten something!"

His wife carefully counted the three children, saw that the dog and the birdcage were intact and took an inventory of the bundles.

"We seem to be all here," she remarked. "I am sure we have everything. What do you think it is you have forgotten?"

"Why, bless my soul!" cried the absentminded man. "Now that we are here I've forgotten where we intended going!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Tongue Caught Ermine.

"This stole is of tongue caught ermine, hence its high price," the salesman said.

"Tongue caught ermine, eh?"

"Yes, madam. You see, the ermine's coat is extremely delicate. A trap tears it horribly. So the trapper catches it by the tongue.

"The ermine is fond of ice. The trapper smears heavy knives with grease and lays them here and there on the snow. The snow white ermine, lithe and quick, rushes up in the zero weather, licks what he takes for a sliver of ice, and, lo, is doomed, for the steel of the heavy knife has frozen fast to his tongue."—Exchange.

Longest English Lawsuit.

The longest lawsuit ever heard in England was that between the heir of Thomas Talbot, Viscount Lisle, and the heirs of Lord Berkeley respecting certain lands and possessions not far from Wootton-under-Edge, in the county of Gloucester. It commenced at the end of the reign of Edward IV. and was pending till the reign of James I., when a compromise took place after it had lasted about 120 years.—London Answers.

A Peterborough Team Lost To Orillia In Lindsay

A hastily selected Peterborough junior team journeyed to Lindsay last night and played an exciting game with Orillia Collegiate Institute, the students from the north winning by 5 goals to 4, scoring the winning goal just before time was called. The local Collegiate team were to have met Orillia but found it impossible to get a team together. Manager Parkins did not want to disappoint the public and asked that a team be sent. The Peterborough seven consisted of Jack Patterson, of St. Andrew's Guild team, Heffernan and Pratt of the Quakers, Cyril Giroux of the West Ends, Mills of the Peterborough juniors and Halpany and Stevenson of the Collegiate Institute.

The game was close all the way. The Orillia bunch scored the first two goals, but Peterborough came back with one and the half time figure was 2 to 1 in favour of Orillia. The Northerners increased their lead to 3 to 1 after half time, but the Petes came back with a rush and tied the score. It was again tied at 4 to 4 but thirty seconds before time was called. Orillia scored the winning goal. Patterson, Heffernan, Pratt and Giroux starred for the Petes, who lined up as follows:

The Curlers Will Hold A Bonspeil On Wednesday

A bonspiel for local curlers will be held on Wednesday next, Feb. 23, commencing at 1.30 p.m. All members desiring to take part are asked to sign the list at the curling rink before 8.30 o'clock on Tuesday night in order that the draw may be made. There will be four prizes, two for the main event and two in the consolation. The games will be rushed through as quickly as possible.

The unfinished club bonspiel will be completed after March 10th.

The Peterborough Club will conduct an open bonspiel commencing March 1st, at which it is expected that there will be a large attendance of outside clubs. Particulars will be given later.

Peterborough Curlers Popular At Bobcaygeon's Bonspeil

(Bobcaygeon Independent.)

The Consolation contest created lots of interest, and produced some capital play, for the rink were all fairly even, none of them brilliant, but all curlers. Lindsay was not fortunate, the Tilley rink reaching the third draw in Consolation, and the Butler rink second in the Primary. The Peterborough rinks figured well, and it is remarkable that throughout the 'spiel only once did two rinks of the same clubs come together and they were Messrs. Neill and Morrow of Peterborough, who played off semi-finals on Wednesday night so that one could leave for home next morning. The Fenelon Falls rinks did well, and distinguished themselves. Mr. J. D. Flavelle came down on Wednesday and saw the Butler-Neil game, Mr. John Carew was present and interested in the same game. In the evening Mr. J. H. Brandon, and a number from Fenelon were over to see their team play the final. There was only one occasion for an extra end, Messrs. Neill and Hamilton being tie on the second round of the Primary, and Hamilton scored the shot. Mr. Green's rink did well for Bobcaygeon in the Consolation, but on the whole Bobcaygeon's lot was not particularly happy, the first round being generally fatal. Mr. Green played five games in the Consolation, and played all the way, from start to finish of the Consolation. Mr. Neill's was one of the popular rinks of the 'spiel, splendid sports, but very hard curlers to bump against.

Winnipeg Bankers Here On Tuesday Night Next

Peterborough people will have an opportunity of contrasting the class of hockey played in the West with the eastern style on Tuesday night when the Winnipeg Bankers will meet Peterborough intermediate O.H.A. team. The Western men of money are on their way east to Montreal to play for the bank championship of Canada and have one of the speediest teams in the West, comprising four of the Winnipeg Victorias, the fastest amateur team in Western Canada, and they may be able to give local fans a good idea of how the game is played in the West.

There will no doubt be a big crowd on hand to see the Western team perform. Peterborough will have their strongest team on, a meeting being held to-night for the purpose of selecting the team to represent the locals against the men from the West. The team will practise on Monday night and a full turnout of players is expected.

COLLINGWOOD GETS LEAD ON COBOURG

Rather Wide Margin of 13-5 in Intermediate Semi Finals.

Collingwood, Feb. 18.—The home team won the first game of the home and home series with Cobourg in the O.H.A. intermediate semi-finals here to-night by 13 to 5, and will thus go to Cobourg on Tuesday night with a lead of 8 goals. It was hoped to secure a greater maority on the home ice but it is the feeling of the locals that with a strict referee and an even break in luck, they will be able to win the round.

The visitors played a defensive game in the first half and the half time score was 8 to 3. In the second half Cobourg played a more aggressive game and the score in that period was 5 to 2 in favor of Collingwood. The best men on the local team were Fryer and Beatty, while for Cobourg, Patton, Crossen and Moffatt were best. The game was fast at all stages, an dReferee Gren. Caldwell made the boys play clean hockey. His rulings were strict, but met with the satisfaction of all concerned. In view of the bad beating Cobourg gave Milton at Cobourg, the locals would like to have had a larger lead but it is thought here that Collingwood will be able to hold down the score in the Lake Ontario town sufficiently to win. The teams:

Iron in the blood is necessary. Miller's Compound Iron Pills contain that element in the most assimilate form.

LONDON PUT OUT OF O.H.A. RUNNING

Goderich Won Out by Only One Goal—Now for Finals.

Goderich put London out of the intermediate running here to night by a score of 7 to 2. The half time score was 3 to 0. The local team were up against the fastest team yet met and with a lead of 4 goals against them found it exceptionally hard work to overcome the handicap. Each goal they secured was fought every inch against a scarcely penetrable defence.

For the visitors little distinction can be made as to the respective merits, although Prodgers, Mallen and Bernhardt were most aggressive. Orr, however, scored both goals for London. Of the locals all worked admirably, McLean, McDonald and Walters playing a combination that kept the Londoners continually guessing. Belcher, too, shone on the defence and broke up most of the visitors' rushes. McCarthy, a veteran, played a heady game. Chapman at goal, was a veritable stone wall. That the game was devoid of roughness is evidenced in that only two penalties were dealt out. Referee Marsh was not only the most impartial yet seen here, but handled the game with commendable dexterity, recalling every offside and tolerating no semblance of roughness. The line up:

HOCKEY

An exciting game of hockey was played between the Sacred Heart school and St. Peter's school, in which the latter were defeated by a score of 8 to 7. The stars for the Sacred Heart school were R. Carson and Ray Rose. For St. Peter's, J. Morrow and L. Trombly. The line-up:

Sacred Heart	St. Peter's.

Proceeds of Afternoon at Crystal Turned Over to Them.

The Dorcas Society is deeply grateful to Mr. Edwards, proprietor of the Crystal, for the proceeds of Wednesday afternoon's entertainment. This sum will greatly aid them in their work of assisting the poor. A splendid set of pictures were given, which were greatly enjoyed by all who were present, and Mr. Edwards is always to be congratulated on the high tone of the entertainment which he puts before the public; one is always confident when they visit The Crystal that the pictures will be free from suggestiveness, but amusing and often instructive.

McDERMID & JURY

Foster-Macdonald Suit.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—In spite of the most persistent and strenuous objections on the part of Mr. Hellmuth, counsel for Hon. George E. Foster, suitor for $50,000 damages for libel against Editor Macdonald of The Globe, Mr. Rowell, the opposing counsel, succeeding in producing evidence at yesterday's sitting, showing Mr. Foster's alleged unsavory association with deals aside from the main deal—the Swan River affair—under investigation. Two important cases were the Great West Land Co. deal and the Kamloops' Lumber Co. deal. It was shown that the Union Trust Co. put large sums in these enterprises and that Mr. Foster had received a consideration from each of them, while still managing director of the Union Trust Co.

Mr. Hellmuth repeatedly held that the reviewing of these deals was irrevelant and entirely aside from the investigation of the Swan River deal, which had been given prominence in Mr. Macdonald's allege charge, and which was especially complained of in the statement of claim. The court, however, ruled that the statement of claim was sufficiently broad to bring into enquiry any and all deals, it having set out that the defendant had accused Mr. Foster of wrongfully endeavoring to secure certain trust funds for speculative and other purposes.

The entire day was taken up with the examination of Elliott Stevenson, supreme high chief ranger of the Independent Order of Foresters, who was the first witness called by the defence.

How Redmond Will Please All.

London, Feb. 19.—Individual Labrites yesterday disavowed the ultimatum which George N. Barnes, the new chairman of the Labor party in Parliament, sent to Premier Asquith, demanding that the veto question precede the budget measure in the House. They said that the Labor party had not reached as yet a decision, and asserted that the chairman's manifesto constituted merely an expression of his personal opinion.

It is expected that John Redmond will salve his conscience by offering an amendment, either to the Premier's speech next Monday or to the budget measure, to the effect that Ireland shall be excluded from the operation of the land and excise clauses of the financial bill.

The Premier cannot possibly accept such an amendment, but the Irish leader will be in a position to say that he did all he could and, with this explanation, allow the budget to pass.

MISS McPHERSON PASSED AWAY AT NORWOOD YESTERDAY MORNING

A coroner's jury is this afternoon, determining the causes of the death of Margaret McPherson who died yesterday morning at 11 o'clock at the old homstead about three miles from Norwood and the general opinion is that Robert Henderson will face a charge of murder as the result of the verdict that is expected.

The assault on the two elderly women who lived alone in a little house east of Norwood in a rather deserted locality is doubtless remembered by readers of the Examiner. It took place at noon on Friday January 28th Henderson, having, it is alleged, entered the house and after being given food assaulted the aged spinsters with an axe he found outide the door. Both were struck on the head but Henderson fled, fearing that his yictims' screams had been overheard. Before a justice of the peace he pleaded guilty when he appeared summarily in Havelock on the charge of assault.

The sister Margaret who was the more seriously injured has been confined to her bed since the day the deed was committed. For a time it was hoped that she would recover but it soon became evident as the crucial time drew near that it was only a matter of time, a question of how long her physical strength would withstand the struggle. Crown Attorney Wood went to Norwood this morning where a jury had been empanelled and met this afternoon in the town hall, Coroner H. C. Kindred of Havelock presiding.

It is understood that Henderson has no alternative but to face a charge of murder. From his appearance on the several occasions upon which he appeared before Magistrate Edmison it might have been petty larceny or some trivial crime as far as he is impressed with the seriousness of his position.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S MEETING WILL BE INSTRUCTIVE

The people of Peterborough should keep Friday evening of this week free as on that night Mr. E. S. MacDonald K. C., of Pictou, N. S., one of the cleverest debaters in the parliament of Canada, and Dr Beland, M. P., Beauce Que., one of the brightest of the sister province members will address a meeting in the Grand Opera House on the public questions of the day. The meeting is held under the auspices of the Liberal Association of Peterborough, but while this is the case and while others may differ from the views expressed, yet they may rest assured that nothing will be said that will grate upon the feelings of those holding different opinions. As the ladies are always interested in the doings of the parliment of the Dominion they will be welcomed at this meeting and may with their escorts occupy seats in any part of the house.

MR. CRANE EXPLAINS THE EXPENDITURE ON SCHOOLS

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—In Saturday's issue of your morning contemporary, an item, with scare headlines appeared, advising the good citizens of Peterborough to "call a halt in school expenditure," and the comparison in figures was intended to set "all thoughtful citizens thinking." If the thoughtful citizen who wrote the item had followed his own counsel the figures would not have been given as evidence of extravagant school expenditure.

The figures given for fourteen cities in the Province are tabulated to show (1) Money raised for municipal purposes; (2) money raised for school purposes, and his deduction from these figures is that Peterborough spends on schools a ratio of 71 to Ottawa's 45, these two being the highest, while Chatham foots the list at 27. His information being taken from municipal statistics, contains only half a truth, as the compiling of these figures is probably different in every city, the amount raised for sewers, sidewalks, roads, etc., being charged against frontage in some cases and not in others. This and other reasons makes the figures given unreliable for the purpose sought after. At the moment only partial information is obtainable, but in the future I hope to present a complete comparison, based on actual results as to the cost of our school system compared with other cities in the Province. Sufficient is at hand, however, to show that Peterborough is not being robbed of its money for school purposes, but on the contrary we have good value for our expenditure.

Chatham, according to the item referred to, is lowest in a list of fourteen cities. Peterborough is the highest. Chatham spends $39,965 on schools on an assessment of $5,055,870, or 7.9 mills. Peterborough spends $66,757.00, on an assessment of $8,552,105, or 7.8 mills; thus Peterborough is on a lower ratio than Chatham. London and other cities have quite as high a ratio as Peterborough.

The latest Government report places population (Public, Separate and High) of Peterborough at 3,150, at an average cost per pupil of $21.19. London pays $23.81; Ottawa, $23.20; Fort William, $32.60. The latter, according to the item under criticism, shows the ratio at less than half that of Peterborough. It must not be overlooked that of the amounts asked for school purposes, fully one-fifth is for interest and sinking fund on debentures—a debt incurred by the building of our schools, which are an asset of the city.

The major portion of the money asked for by the School Board is expended in salaries, and Peterborough is not by any means paying as high salaries as some other cities. The utmost difficulty is experienced in securing competent teachers for the salaries offered.

I ask your pardon for taking up so much of your valuable space, but I feel it only fair that an item, having a tendency to mislead our people, should be corrected.

Yours truly,
JOHN CRANE.

LIMB BROKEN THIRD TIME

Carlyle Potter, Son of Rev. J. G. Potter, Met With Accident on Saturday Night—Slipped on the Pavement.

IS UNFORTUNATE

For the third time in the past few years Carlyle Potter, son of Rev. J. G. Potter, had the misfortune to have his leg broken on Saturday evening last. On one occasion he had his right limb broken. This time the break is about an inch above the last one. It is near the thigh. The unfortunate fellow slipped on George street, between Hunter and Brock street, on Saturday night. Drs. Greer and Eastwood were called and set the fracture. The injured boy is now resting easily.

EDDIE FOY COMING TO PETERBOROUGH

John R. Rodders, His Advance Man, in the City To-day.

"Mr. Hamlet of Broadway," with that peer of comedians, Eddie Foy, in the title role, will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday night. It is one of the best musical comedies, in which he has ever appeared with a laugh in every line, a whole string of catchy songs and one of the strongest and prettiest choruses that has ever been collected. To the average person Eddie Foy, by reputation needs no introduction, and it was an enterprising stroke of the management of the Grand when they decided to bring this successful musical comedy to Peterborough. Eddie Foy, known as one of the leading comedians on the American stage, announced some time ago that he felt that he ought to be in Shakespeare tragedies. The idea of the original Eddy appearing as Hamlet or Macbeth was too much for his friend, the general public, who refused to take him seriously. The nearest he has come to playing Hamlet is his present production, which will be presented to the Peterborough public next Saturday night.

REV. MR. ROHOLD AT Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Yesterday afternoon the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association were crowded by the men who went to hear the Rev. S. B. Rohold who was spending Sunday in Peterborough.

Mr. Rohold's address on "The Wandering Jew" was ful lof interest and information. Mr. Rohold is a native of Jerusalem and is able to speak with authority on his subject. He pointed out how that in every country in the world the Jew is found and his ability to learn a foreign language exceeds that of any other ntionlity, so tht it is evident that in bringing about the coming of the Kingdom of Jesus Christ the Jew will prove a great factor in the missionary effort.

JUDGE HUYCKE TO ADDRESS THE CLUB

Mr. G. T. Blackstock Unable to Come to Peterborough.

Owing to the death of his mother, Mr. G. T. Blackstock will be unable to attend the dinner of the Canadian Club in the National Hotel on Thursday night of this week. However, Judge Huycke has kindly consented to give an address, the subject of which will be announced to-morrow. This is really the first opportunity presented to Peterborough people of hearing the new judge of Peterborough County and a large number are expected to attend this meeting. Judge Huycke is one of the ardent supporters of the Canadian Club idea and he has shown his ability to a great extent in the few opportunities that have been presented. Judge Huycke has won a host of friends since coming to Peterborough, and the Canadian Club will doubtless accord him a hearty reception.

A BANNER YEAR.

Canada's pace of prosperity, as reflected in the purchasing power of the people, shown in the customs returns, gives no indication of slackening. January established a record in this regard, the returns showing a gain over the previous January of almost thirty per cent. The trade for January totalled $51,500,102, an increase of $12,322,827, or nearly thirty per cent. over the corresponding month of last year, and constituting a record for the month. For the first ten months of the present fiscal year the total trade has been $563,986,780, an increase of $95,610,931, or about twenty per cent. The imports last month totalled $30,253,852, an increase of $7,140,225 over January, 1909. Exports of domestic products totalled $20,258,406, an increase of $4,871,064. For the ten months imports have totalled $302,050,207, an increase of $60,978,445. Exports of domestic products for the ten months totalled $241,375,219, an increase of $31,404,708. Of this increase about $16,000,000 was in exports of agricultural products, and seven and a half millions in exports of the forest. Exports of manufactures show an increase of nearly two millions. The customs revenue for the month was $4,606,402, an increase of $944,037. For the ten months the customs revenue has been $48,692,459, an increase of $10,361,341, or a little over a million a month.

THE UNTRAINED DOG.

From all over the country rise complaints of the annoyance and depredations of untrained and uncontrolled and unrestricted dogs. The fact that the dog is a splendid type of animal of great intelligence and unexampled fidelity—that he is the best of pets, and the most faithful of friends, does not justify his being permitted to become and remain an annoyance to anybody. A human being, a citizen who pays taxes and fills a far more important place in the social economy than the dog, if he caused the annoyance, broke the rest of weary would-be sleepers, made night hideous with howlings, assailed and frightened horses, and made himself a general nuisance, would speedily be locked up if he persisted in his reprehensible conduct. Why, then, should the dog have greater privileges than a human being. A man who owns a dog and has boys, would mighty soon discipline his sons if they created one-tenth of the disturbance and annoyance his dog is guilty of. Everybody has a right to keep a dog if he pays the tax, but paying the tax only confers on the dog the right to existence. It gives him no license to become and be a nuisance. All this is apart from the dreadful danger of a dog contracting rabies, and communicating it to human beings and other animals, who, in their turn, may become sources of danger; and the civic authorities should not be slow in taking measures that will limit the opportunities of the average dog to make himself a nuisance and become a menace through the deadliest and most horible of diseases—hydrophobia.

CANADA WILL STAND FIRM.

Canada is every day growing in importance and more and more engaging the attention of the world. The trade agreement between Canada and Germany, signed the other day, in Ottawa, was made the subject of editorial comment in the leading press of Great Britain, Germany, and the United States. The United States is concerned, if not anxious to know,

CONSTIPATION MUNYON'S PAW-PAW PILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are thirty-two feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver complaint can expect to have a clear complexion, or enjoy good health.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weakening; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic. Price 25 cents.

what Canada proposes to do to avoid being brought under the maximum tariff of that country, and to show what interest is being taken in that matter, a great London (England) journal, on Sunday instructed its Ottawa correspondent to send a despatch covering the situation, the only answer that could be sent was that Canada will do nothing in the way of initiative.

We shall maintain the position laid down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that if the United States desires any modification of the trade conditions between that country and Canada, our neighbours must make the first advances. Canada had no hand in creating unsatisfactory trade conditions between the two countries, and is not prepared to be the first to suggest negotiations. If our neighbours want to talk the matter over they must make the first move. The Conservative Opposition in parliament placed Canada, as far as they represent it, in a humiliating position, by provoking a discussion in the House, in which they demanded that Canada should open negotiations with the United States in regard to trade matters. We must maintain our self respect and, in time, the United States will come to time, as Germany has done. Germany struck the first blow by penalizing Canadian imports. Canada, in self defence, levied the surtax on German imports. Canada maintained her position, and it was Germany that made overtures for negotiations that resulted in the recent agreement. In making a good business bargain it is not good policy to be too anxious to either sell or buy.

GOOD ROADS.

The importance, the supreme importance of good roads is sufficiently great to justify continual harping upon the subject. Why farmers will not see how absolutely necessary good roads are to the greatest success in farming, it is impossible to say. Governments have spent millions and are spending millions more to provide the best facilities for marketing the products of the farm. This was the basic idea of the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, of the Canadian Northern, and of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Millions are spent to improve existing railways to make quicker transit and cheapen the rate of carriage. Millions have been spent and are proposed to be spent to build canals to cheapen the cost of carrying wheat by two or three cents per hundred. Yet, farmers are indifferent; they will not spend money to get good roads, but they are not averse to spending, or rather wasting, money on bad roads. They do not seem to be able to see the money value of good roads, as obvious as anything in the world. A team of good horses on a well-paved city street will haul on the level an enormous load, amounting to several tons. Make the road a little rougher and the load will have to be greatly lessened, to be hauled by the same team. Take a road with rougher surface and heavier grades, and the load would have to be still further lightened. In taking a load to market the farmer has to consider two chief things—the amount of load he can carry and the time he will have to start to make the journey. If the road is rough and heavy he will have to make the load proportionately light, and he will have to start earlier, for even with a light load he cannot make as good time as he would be able to make with a heavier load on good roads. A team that can easily and without fatigue or strain haul a ton and a half or two tons on a good roads will undergo more fatigue and strain with a load of a ton on a poorer road, and will require more time. The farmer must gauge his load by the worst mile on the road between himself and his market town. If, in eight miles of good, smooth road, over which his team could haul two tons and make good time, there is one mile or even half a mile of rough, hard road, he will have to gauge his load to that one bad stretch; that is to say, one mile of bad road for practical purposes makes seven miles of good road bad. The average farmer on the average country road can carry only about one-half and sometimes only a quarter of a reasonable load. If the average farmer would take the time to sit down and work out the loss he sustains by unnecessary trips he has to make the loss of time from other work on his farm, the loss in wear and tear of waggons and harness, the loss in wear and worry and strain of horse flesh, he would be astonished at what a big fine he is paying for neglecting to provide good roads. The farmer works hard, early and late, and with the blessing of Providence he reaps a good crop; yet, he deliberately wastes a large part of that crop by wasting money on roads that add immensely to the cost of marketing his crop, and thereby knock off a proportional amount of profit. Any railway that kept its tracks in as bad condition in proportion as the farmer keeps his roads, would be bankrupt in less time than five years.

AUSTRALIA'S NAVY.

The Opposition speakers in the naval debate in the House of Commons, says the Ottawa Free Press, lay much stress upon what they term the separatist tendencies of the Government's policy, because it contemplates the creation of a local Canadian navy. For instance, Col. Sam Hughes yesterday made a good deal of what he styled the determination of the Government to enter the thin wedge of independence by the establishment of a Canadian fleet, instead of acting in co-operation with the British Admiralty. He, like other speakers on his side of the House, argued that Canada should do what Australia is doing, namely, create a unit of the British navy. But he, like others, spoke without a knowledge of the facts.

Let us see what is the policy of Australia as described by an Australian. The Empire Review for February contains an article entitled "The Spirit of Nationhood" (of Australia) from the pen of Harry S. Gullett. He reviews the gradual evolution of Australia into nationhood, "a nationhood young and as yet weak, but distinctive and ambitious, and confident," and says:

"The suddenness of the Australian transition from a colony dependent upon Great Britain, not merely in fact, but in thought, has been extraordinary. Six years ago when the proposal to establish the nucleus of an Australian-owned navy first found its voice in the Commonwealth Parliament in Melbourne, the chamber rang with charges of disloyalty, and a desire to 'cut the painter.' The country appeared solid for a continuation and increase of the subsidy to the Imperial fleet. To-day the Federal Government is floating a loan of £3,500,000 to be spent on the first ships of an Australian navy, some of which are already building.

"Political thought in Australia is dominated by nation-building. The Australian is seized with the indisputable fact that in his wide area he has the home of a great and powerful people. He has compared his land with the East and with Europe and has approximated its population-carrying and wealth-spinning capacity. Also he has by this comparison appreciated its emptiness, its present weakness, and its danger. Thus in the haste with which he has rushed from the old, easy-going colonial days, the days of the stockwhip and the digger's shovel, he has been driven on both by pride and fear. And those two stimulants, continuing to operate as they will for many years, must carry him very rapidly from the careless Australian the world has known in the past to an individual, fighting consciously and ambitiously for that place among the nations to which the extent and natural riches of his territory have made him heir.

First the door was closed, at all risk for the moment, on the Asiatic. The continent was to be a white continent. Then came defence as a natural corollary, and out of nine years of controversy Mr. Deakin now issues as the father of a sound scheme of compulsory training and an emphatic scheme for the establishment of a local navy."

Thus we see, moralizes the Free Press, that Australia has been through the same experience which Canada is undergoing to-day. Its determination to create a local navy naturally preceded that of Canada, because Australia is an island subject to attack on all sides. Its Government was met with the same cries of disloyalty to the flag and the Empire as are now thrown across the floor in the Canadian Parliament, but time has justified the policy just as time will justify it in Canada.

It is in the eyes of the Canadian Conservatives a good policy for Australia to build a local navy; but it is disloyalty for Canada to do the same. Can absurdity further go?

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM THE STOMACH

No Dyspepsia, Gas, Heartburn or Indigestion Five Minutes Later.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a distressed, out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fulness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odour.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure almost any chronic case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other Stomach trouble.

Henna Leaves and Sage Will Grow Hair.

It has only recently been discovered that Henna leaves contain the ingredient to grow new hair. England and Paris have become flooded with preparations containing the extract of Henna to grow hair, and every one of these preparations have an enormous sale. All other hair tonics are practically at a standstill, and the ones containing the Henna are found in every home. Society ladies purchase them by the dozen bottles. On the streets of London and Paris can be seen women with beautiful, luxuriant heads of real, fluffy hair. The same women only a few months ago had their heads decorated with artificial hair. The first one of these preparations to reach Canada is called SALVIA, and is sold and guaranteed by McDermid & Jury. SALVIA will grow hair in abundance and Cure Dandruff in ten days, or your money back. A large bottle, 50c.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

"I am a thing that's fleeting," remarked the falling snow; "I come, so softly beating, upon the earth below; but when the sun is shining, I and my drifts declining, and with no vain repining I bend my knee to join the ghosts I go." The darkness said: "The morning will hold me up and rob; already there's a warning that I am off the job; I hear the whistles tooting, aurora's beams are shooting; I must be calling, hooting, without a useless sob." The morning came in splendor, and said: "My time is short; a little harmless bender, a few hours round of sport; then Noon my lines will sever; that ends my brief endeavour, and though I come back never, you will not hear me snort." Then up there rose a shadow, with sorrow on her brow; she said: "You make me mad, O! and bore me badly, now; the yarns you have paraded are old and stale and jaded; I have the whole bunch faded—I am the New Year Vow!"

PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

The Two Salvations

"God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. (John iii, 16).

"Christ also loved the Church and gave himself for it, that he might sanctify and cleanse it by the washing of water by the word; that he might present it to himself a glorious Church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." (Ephesians v, 25-27).

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 20.—Pastor C. T. Russell of Brooklyn Tabernacle preached twice here today in our largest auditorium to the "Bible Students' Convention." The large audience seemed deeply interested. He said:

Some apply the first text only and think of the Divine Program as being merely an endeavor to rescue mankind from sin and death to righteousness and eternal life in the present time. Such as hold this view are confused, because it must be acknowledged that comparatively little has been done, or is now being done, for man's uplift. After six thousand years it is still true that "The whole world lieth in the Wicked One;" "Darkness covers the earth and gross darkness the heathen." In order to have any confidence at all in this theory those who hold it are obliged to greatly lower their standards. They are forced to hope that God will admit millions of unfit people, crude, rude, ignorant and wicked to eternal life and happiness, or perchance provide for them Purgatorial experiences, to make them fit, righteous and acceptably for life eternal. As a whole, Christian people are greatly bewildered. The tendency of their bewilderment is toward doubt, skepticism, atheism.

The other view briefly stated is that God ever intended the salvation of the world, but merely the salvation of the Church, elect according to the foreknowledge of God through sanctification of the Spirit and belief in the Truth. Those who hold this theory have great confusion also, because it seems incomprehensible that God would make no provision for "thousands of millions" of Adam's race, but arrange for them to be born in sin, shapen in iniquity, and to go down to the tomb (or worse) without a clear knowledge of God and his purpose and will respecting them.

As we have already frequently set forth both of the described theories are erroneous. The Scriptures set forth two salvations, entirely separate and distinct. They are different as respects time, in that the one "salvation began to be spoken by our Lord" at his First Advent, and began to be applicable to his Church at Pentecost, and will wholly cease at his Second Coming in the end of this Age. The other salvation neither applied before our Lord's First Advent nor during this Gospel Age, but will apply to all mankind, except the Church, during the Millennium—the thousand years of the reign of Christ and the Church, specially designed for the blessing of the world and its uplifting out of sin and death conditions.

These two salvations are distinctly different as to kind, as well as respects their plan of operation. The salvation of the Church during this Gospel Age—since Pentecost—means not only a deliverance from sin and death conditions to eternal life, but provides that the eternal life will be on the heavenly or spiritual plane and not on the earthly or human plane of existence. Thus the Apostle declares that our "inheritance is incorruptible and undefiled and fadeth not away and is reserved in heaven for us, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation" (I. Peter i, 4, 5). Our Lord also told that in the resurrection we shall be like unto the angels. The Apostle also declares that ultimately we shall be partakers of the divine nature and like our Lord and Redeemer.

Hence, all who participate in this salvation of this Gospel Age are Scripturally spoken of as New Creatures in Christ Jesus, whose "citizenship is in heaven." These are assured that at the Lord's Second Coming they will constitute the First Resurrection class. They are guaranteed that only the blessed and holy will have part therein, and that all participating in that First Resurrection will be Royal Priests unto God and unto Christ, and reign with him a thousand years (Revelation xx, 6). They are assured that the transformation of mind which they now experience through the begetting of the holy Spirit will, in their resurrection, result in a complete transformation, providing them with spirit bodies. Thus it is written of their resurrection, "It is sown in weakness; it is raised in power; It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory; It is sown an animal body; it is raised a spiritual body (I. Corinthians xv, 42-44). Of those who will share in the Church's salvation the Apostle says, "We shall not all sleep, but must all be changed," because "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God" (I. Corinthians xv, 50, 51).

The world's salvation which will follow will be wholly different from this. It will not include a change of nature from earthly to spirit nature. It will mean a rescue from sin and death to the earthly perfection of the original man, in the image and likeness of his Creator, and surrounded by every necessary blessing for his comfort. Human perfection and the Eden home were lost through disobedience to God. The Divine arrangement is that the merit of our Lord's obedience unto death, when ultimately applied for mankind, shall fully cancel the death sentence upon him. More and better than this, God has promised that the same Sin-Offering shall seal a New Covenant between himself and mankind. The blessings of that New Covenant arrangement will then immediately begin. The great Redeemer will thenceforth be the great Mediator of that New Covenant. The whole world of mankind will be fully under his supervision and government for their blessing, their correction in righteousness, their uplifting out of sin and death conditions—back, back, back, to all that was lost in Eden. All of this was the original design of the Great Creator. All of this will be outworked through the Great Redeemer. All of this was secured or suretied by his death, finished at Calvary (Hebrews vii, 22).

St. Peter, pointing down to that glorious time of the world's blessing, calls it "times of refreshing and times of restitution." He tells us that all the holy prophets described the blessings of those restitution times—the thousand years, the Millennium (Acts iii, 19-21). When once we get the eyes of our understanding opened, we find the Apostle's words thoroughly corroborated by the Divine records, which describe the wonderful blessings that are to come when the earth shall yield her increase. Then Paradise Lost shall be Paradise Regained. Then God will make his earthly footstool glorious. Then the blessing of the Lord shall make rich and he will add no sorrow therewith. Then streams shall break forth in the desert and the wilderness and solitary places shall be glad. But most glorious will be the change in humanity. The Lord promises to turn to the people a "pure message"—instead of the contradiction of creeds of heathenism and Churchianity. He promises that Satan shall be bound for that thousand years, that he may deceive the nations no more. He promises that then all the "blinded eyes shall be opened and all the deaf ears shall be unstopped" (Isaiah xxxv, 5; II. Corinthians iv, 4).

Both of these salvations, according to the Bible, result from the death of Jesus our Redeemer, who died in obedience to the Divine will, "Died, the Just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God" (I. Peter iii, 18). The Scriptures clearly show not only the two salvations, but also two parts of the Redeemer's work, distinctly separating his work for the Church from his work for the world. In his death there was a Divine general provision for the sins of the whole world and a special provision for the sins of the Church. The two thoughts are frequently brought out in the Scriptures. One text distinctly declares, "He is the propitiation (satisfaction) for our sins (the Church's sins), and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world." His death constituted the satisfaction price. The Redeemer applied that merit for the Church's sins, "for us," long ago, eighteen centuries before we were born. Only when we became believers and entered into a Covenant of sacrifice did we obtain our share in the merit of that great sacrifice. The world has not yet received its share of that promised blessing, but the operation of the Divine Plan is sure and will bring it to them "in due time," as St. Paul declares (I. Timothy ii, 6).

The drawing and calling of the Church has not been along the lines of human perfection, for all are sinners and none righteous or perfect. And many of those drawn of the Lord were by nature much more fallen and depraved than some who give no evidence of the work of grace in their hearts. The Lord's calling and drawing seem to be along the lines of justice, love of righteousness, faith, humility and obedience. These qualities will all belong to the perfect man. But all have lost them in varying degrees. Such as respond to the Lord's call now are accepted as being in the right heart attitude which, if they had perfect bodies, would constitute them perfect men. In other words, they have qualities of heart which, if brought to a knowledge of the Truth, would prove some of them to be pure in heart and such as the Lord would desire should have eternal life and all of his favors. But more are called and drawn by God's providences and the preaching of his message than he designs to save in the present salvation. He is choosing a very select class for a very special purpose and therefore makes the terms and conditions of their salvation extremely difficult. As a consequence we read, "Many are called, but few chosen"—under this "high calling of God in Christ Jesus".

Of course, these different salvations imply different terms or conditions. God's requirement of Adam, that he might continue to live forever and everlastingly enjoy Divine favor, his Eden Home, etc., was obedience to reasonable, just requirements. It was his violation of the Divine Law that brought upon him the sentence of death—"Dying thou shalt die"—with all that this has implied to him and his posterity of mental, moral and physical decline, weakness, death. The requirement of God for the world of mankind during the Millennial Age will similarly be—obedience to God's just, reasonable regulations, laws. Whoever then will render obedience may with proportionate rapidity go up on the highway of holiness toward perfection at its end. Whoever refuses obedience to the extent of his ability will fail to make progress and ultimately die the Second Death, from which there will be no redemption and no resurrection.

Such obedience as will be required of mankind in the great Mediator's Kingdom will include their co-operation in the resistance of their own fallen weaknesses. It will include the exercise of patience and kindness towards their fellow-creatures, fellow-sufferers. The Divine Law of love to God with all the heart, mind, soul, strength and for the neighbor as for one's self they must learn fully. As they will realize their own blemishes and strive to overcome them and ask not the Father, but the Mediator for forgiveness, they will be obliged to follow the Divine rule of exercising towards others similar mercy and forgiveness to that which they desire for themselves. But they will not be required to enter into the covenant of self-sacrifice, self-denial, etc. All the blessings of God on the earthly plane will be for them fully and freely to use and enjoy, in harmony with the Divine regulation.

The conditions governing the salvation of the Church are wholly different from those which will appertain to the world. The Church is called out of the world under a Divine invitation to suffer with Christ in the present life and during this Gospel Age and then to reign with Christ during the Millennial Age, participating in his Mediatorial Kingdom for the blessing, uplifting, salvation of the world. It is not in vain, therefore, that our Lord and the apostles, in setting forth the call of the Church during this Age, specified particularly and frequently the necessity for all who would share in this salvation to participate with the Redeemer in his sacrificing, in "his death," and consequently participate in "his resurrection" and in his reign of glory. Hark to the words, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life;" "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my Throne," "And whosoever doth not bear his cross, and come after me, cannot be my disciple" (Luke xiv, 27). Let us remember our Lord's words to the disciples James and John, respecting a place in his Millennial Throne. He intimated that the getting to the Throne at all, in any place, would imply great humility and self-sacrifice. He asked the disciples, "Are ye able (willing) to drink of the cup that I shall drink of and to be baptized with the baptism (into death) that I am baptized with?" (Mark x, 38.) Hearken again: This cup of which he tells us we must drink, if we would sit in his Throne, is his communion cup. It is offered, not to the world, but to his consecrated followers. It is not another cup, but "My Cup." The invitation was, "This is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins. Drink ye all of it" (Matthew xxvi, 28, 27). It must all be drunk before the many, the world, can get their share of the intended blessing through the New Covenant, which this blood seals. And only the disciples of Christ, only those who desire to walk in his steps, are invited to drink of that cup. All of them are so invited and they will drink all of it. None of it will be left for the world during the Millennial Age to drink. It is a special privilege to drink of this cup. With the drinking of it goes the special blessing of the special salvation of this Gospel Age. Except we eat of his flesh (appropriate the merit of his sacrifice), and unless we drink his blood (join in sacrifice with him), we have no life in us—inherent life, immortality.

So far as our hearts and minds are concerned at the time of our consecration they must be fully given up to the Lord ere he will accept them. We could be more fully consecrated if we had absolutely perfect bodies and were absolutely free from all the entailment of Adam's condemnation. But God's requirement is that no sacrifice may come upon his altar, except such as is without spot or blemish. Hence he could not accept our offering, our consecration, even though it were as completely and fully made as was our dear Redeemer's. Hence his first provision was that the righteousness of Christ should be imputed to us on account of our faith and obedience, in order to permit us to offer sacrifices holy and acceptable to God (Malachi iii, 3; Romans xii, 1).

This view of our participation in the Redeemer's merit separately and apart from the world's participation in it—by faith and imputation of merit and not actually — the Bible declares to be a "mystery," which not many are able to discern—only the spiritually-minded—only the spirit-begotten. Those who can see and hear and understand the terms and conditions of this great salvation of this Gospel Age are specially blessed—"Blessed are your eyes, for they see, and your ears, for they hear" (Matthew xiii, 16). To see, to hear, to understand, that glory, honor, immortality, eternal life on the spirit plane, are the rewards of a few years of self-denial and self-sacrifice, is to hear of a pearl of great price, of which few know. And to know of that pearl and not to be willing to sell all that we have to obtain it would demonstrate to the Father our unworthiness of life on this high plane. We exhort so many as see and hear and appreciate, in the words of the Apostle, "Let us make our calling and election sure" by a full and hearty compliance with the gracious high calling of which we have learned and which our hearts have accepted (II. Peter i, 10).

The Impatient Kaiser.

Mr. William Toms, an inspector at Waterloo Station, London, with forty-two years' service to his credit, tells an interesting story about the German Emperor. One day his majesty and the late Duke of Clarence were going by the 7.10 a.m. to Hounslow to inspect a regiment. The Emperor was at the station in good time, but not the duke. The Kaiser showed great impatience, but told the inspector not to start the train until the duke arrived, which happened to be three minutes after the scheduled time. The Emperor patted the young prince on the back, and said, "Punctuality is a grand thing!" and took no pains to conceal his annoyance at the delay.

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

At the next table to me at dinner the other night sat a pretty young girl with a blue ribbon in her hair and a nice looking man who was evidently desperately in love with her.

Of course there is nothing at all out of the ordinary about that. The noteworthy thing was the fact that his affection had affected the nice young woman in a most unfortunate way.

For it was evident to everybody in his vicinity, including of course the young woman herself, that he was simply scared to death of her.

To everything that she said he listened with pathetic deference. In her presence he was evidently afraid of the knives and forks, fumbled at them nervously, stumbled in giving his order to the waitress, dropped a spoon, started to pick it up, then blushed scarlet when the waitress bore it off and brought him a fresh one.

All of which awkwardness and nervousness was plainly just a tribute to the lady's effect on him.

And yet I know of no worse way to go about to win a woman's love.

Every man living, an old bachelor once told me, is more or less afraid of the woman he loves simply because he loves her.

That's all right. I think he should be. But he shouldn't show it.

Any more than you should let a spirited horse that's half a mind to throw you know that you expect any moment to get thrown.

The slightest show of fear is often fatal in both cases.

It is not in human nature to recognize as an equal any one who shows fear of you.

The fear may be inspired by the most high and admirable motives, by love or admiration, but that makes no difference. If any one insists upon looking up to you, you are pretty apt to look down upon him.

Emerson says:

"We are such lovers of self reliance that we excuse in a man many sins if he will show us a complete satisfaction in his position, which asks no leave to be of mine or of any man's good opinion. But any deference to some eminent man or woman of the world, forfeits all privilege of nobility. He is an underling, I will have nothing to do with him, I will speak with his master."

This demand for self-reliance and self-esteem holds good in all the relations of life, but most of all in the love relation.

Humility is a beautiful sentiment, and one healthy for the soul, but masterfulness is a very much better equipment for a wooer.

A woman likes to be put on a pedestal well enough, but she likes to be put there by a masterful and not a grovelling lover.

She wants to be made to feel that it is her extraordinary goodness and sweetness and charm that makes him put her there, and not his defects. She is willing he should call himself unworthy, but he must make it clear that he thinks he is unworthy because she is superior to the ordinary mortal, and not because he is inferior.

If I were a man and wanted to win a woman, I think I should exalt her to the skies, but not humble myself; flatter her as skilfully as I knew how, but not indulge in self-depreciation, and last, but not least, feel as much afraid of her as I wanted to, but act as masterful as if I didn't know what fear was.

SOME OF THE SORROWS OF THE TALL WOMAN

By One of Them

Pity the sorrows of a tall woman! My troubles commence before I get up. The ordinary six-foot bedstead of the average hotel or boarding house cramps me, and I cannot sleep unless I am thoroughly tired and worn out.

Getting dressed is a period of despair. My clothes are bought because they fit me—not because they are pretty or suitable. All the pretty things one sees in the shops are made to fit the woman of average height; they are no use to me.

My choice is, therefore very limited and it is surprising how ugly are the garments with which I have to be satisfied.

I have to make my choice from what the dressmakers call "out sizes," and even these are made for fat women, not for tall. I spend hours "taking in" and "lengthening" my different purchases.

The present fashion in hats is another bugbear of my existence. My hats to be in proportion to my height have to be really enormous, and they cause me continual inconvenience. No one knows better than I do how narrow the taxicab doors are.

Horse omnibuses for me are impossible, and I never ride in a motor-omnibus, except when necessity drives me. Every new passenger bumps into my knees or treads on my toes, and the conductor repeats the performance twice each time a passenger's fare has to be demanded.

But it is my social life that the disadvantage of height is so annoying. At a dance my share of partners is lamentably small.

Short men refuse to dance with me for fear of looking ridiculous, though no one sees anything odd in a tall man dancing with a tiny dot of a girl.

Only we tall women know how very few tall men there are in the world. If, at a country house party a walk is suggested, my hostess to find me an escort has practically to call for volunteers.

A man of ordinary height—say five feet nine inches, or five feet ten inches—who would walk with me in a country lane would run like a hare rather than escort me along Regent street.

Rude boys in the street are never tired of making game of a tall woman. "Is it cold up there?" they cry; or "What ho! lamp post!" It is astonishing how funny such stupid remarks are thought to be.

The ordinary drawing room with its stupid little dwarf chairs, and doll-like cosy corners, is to me a perfect chamber of horrors. I look to the rising generation of athletic English girls who are outgrowing their tiny mid-Victorian mothers, to abolish these overcrowded dolls' houses and substitute real furniture for toys.

Normally sized people say they envy me my uninterrupted view of a crowd. But this disadvantage is more than counterbalanced by the ridicule excited.

FIRST MUNICIPAL ELECTION IN THE HISTORY OF PALESTINE

Results are Already Apparent Since Western Spirit of Liberalism Found Its Way Into the Country —What Education is Doing in Jerusalem.

INTERVIEW WITH MINISTER

The wave of Western Liberalism that is spreading throughout Jerusalem can be appreciated to its full extent only by those who have lived in that land which is now wakening to the conditions enjoyed by the Western world. However, when it is stated that there is now in progress the first municipal election ever held in Palestine, the extent of the movement can be wel lunderstood. It is taking place in Jerusalem, and representatives are being elected from the Jews, Armenians, Greeks and Latins, and great interest has centered in this constitutional wonder of the nwe era. The Examiner in an interview with Rev. S. B. Rohold who lectures to-night at St. Andrew's church learned that there are double the number of Jews in Jerusalem at the present time than there were during the time of Ezra and Nehemiah. There are two reasons for this. One is the trouble in Russia and secondly the new regime instituted in Turkey. The most notable change in Jerusalem duringthepast ten years is the liberal spirit that is among the aattuioveryra nthcrsPsn manifesting itself. It has spread among the people in spite of the opposition of the Orthodox Jews and is attributable to various causes. The paramount condition is the educational methods which have been introduced. Different colonies of Jews have been formed in Palestine, particularly in Jerusalem the work being promoted by the Jewish Colonist Association with headquarters in London and by Baron Edmund de Rothschild of Paris. Fifteen thousand young men have returned to Palestine. They are from different parts of Europe and for the most part from Russia, Roumania and Galatia. A few are from Germany. The teachers in the schools have been sent from England and Paris and the Evelina de Rothschild school in Jerusalem. Another schools is that which is known as L'Alliance des Israelites in Jerusalem. This is really a technical school and is doing a great work. The Western teachers, and there are many of them in the schools and colleges are responsible for the spirit of liberalism already mentioned. It is but an example of what education is doin for a people who were hampered by the methods of former days when all around them other nations were forging ahead. The Jews have not been not been solw mihaVd Drhasmyns slow to accept the new ideas and to keep pace with the times as the young men show their adaptability and marked brightness they are sent to schools in Paris and London and after their course in these cities they return to teach and put into effect the knowledge they have gained.

Colonizing Scheme.

Zionism, which is really the Liberal party or represents the liberal spirit is desirous of having Palestine for a home for the Jews and the Anglo-Palestine bank which was made possible by the generosity of Sir Moses Mantifore, has bought land, built homes on it and have given them to the people at anominal rental. Twenty Jewish settlements have already been formed and on each there are from four to five hundred families. Prof. Shats and Prof. Warburg have formed the Bezaleal School which has for its aims the teaching of higher arts. Like the other educational institutionsit is accomplishing a great work. All these schools have large attendances and the people have aught the spirit that has found its way in from the West with the result that everything is going ahead with rapid strides and if the present predictions are carried out is will be but a matter of years until the east is competing in every respect with the west.

The new regime in Turkey, the return of which is generally understood is joining hands with the educational movement and the results already are proving most beneficial to the country. There are now nine papers in Jerusalem as compared with two that were published prior to the younger Turkish party coming into power. Trade and Labour unions have been formed, citizen's unions and societys exist where they were formerly forbidden.

Go To Home

Owing to a verseoOTOg(-tgythebcre Owing to a belief based on a verse in the Talmud to the effect that only those who are buried on the Mount of Olives shall rise from the grave, many Jews are going home. Those Jews who may be buried in a foreign country will have to roll through a tunnel which they believe will open to them in order to get back to their home land. This is an explanation for the return to Jerusalem of many Jews, particularly those of advancedra-paw particularly those who are reaching an advanced age and who wish toget back home before they die. Mr. Rohold has an interesting subject to deal with to-night and a large number will undoubtedly turn out to hear him.

Great Cry For Christ Heard From The People Of Israel

Interesting Address by Rev. S. B. Rohold at Knox Church Last Night—Jews Failed to Recognize Jesus as the Messiah Whom They Have Been Longing For.

GREAT WORK TO BE DONE

A wonderful cry for the Messiah, a great desire and longing is manifesting itself among the Jewish people according to Rev. S. B. Rohold, himself a Jew, but a Christian and a minister of the Presbyterian church. Yesterday he told of the attitude of the Jews toward Christianity, and emphasized the field for missionary endeavour, as presented by the Jewish people. He spoke at St. Paul's church in the morning and at Knox church in the evening. To-night he will speak at St. Andrew's church on "The Glory of the Mission," and a most interesting address may be expected. For 2,000 years the Jews have been waiting for a great revelation. When the Son of God came to this earth, He was not, according to their idea of what He should have been; He did not come up to their expectations. They failed to recognize Jesus as the true Messiah, and the intervening centuries of misery and shame have not been enough to wash away that sin. That longing for the Messiah is still strong in the Jewish heart and a wonderful movement is now apparent among that people. It is a desire for the Messiah, a cry for Christ. Rev. Mr. Rohold said that it remains for the Christian people to win over the Jews for Christ. In Jerusalem they have witnessed bitter hatred among three Christian races, and the miserable form of Christianity presented to them stirs up an aversion to it. Because Jesus has been caricatured to them is the reason of their position toward Christianity. "If you want them to believe in Jesus you must so live His life that they will take notice of us," Mr. Rohold stated.

The speaker, in explaining the attitude towards Christian teaching, told the story of two young Jews. Both were of good birth, being the sons of rabbis. In Jerusalem, where they were studying, they passed a mission one evening, and seeing others going in one suggested that they follow. His companion quoted a warning text, but they finally entered. The missionary talked with them in Hebrew, and his questions and statements interested them, and in a manner confounded them. They returned after that to talk with him, and finally the parents of one of the young men began to wonder where he was spending this portion of his time. He was followed by relatives and was seen coming from the mission. They beat him in such a terrible manner that he had to be removed to an hospital. His close studies had resulted in enfeebling his body and he finally passed away, but in peace, with the name of Jesus upon his lips." And what became of the other young man?" Mr. Rohold asked.

"He is speaking to you to-night," he quietly replied, and explained to the congregation that he had been with his friend during his last moments in the hospital.

Mr. Rohold stated that in spite of everything missionary work among the Jews was most fruitful. It would be found, he said, that there have been ten converts from Judaism to every one from heathenism during recent years and the field is a most extensive one. There are six million Jews in Russia, and one hundred thousand in Canada. Mr. Rohold is in charge of the work that has been undertaken by the Presbyterian church in this country with headquarters in Toronto and already most encouraging results have been achieved. In Great Britain every Lord's Day there are six hundred converted Jews preaching the gospel. In connection with the mission to the Jews in Canada a church is soon to be erected in Toronto at a cost of $35,000, and upon Mr. Rohold is falling a large share of the preliminary work.

Speaking of the characteristics of the Jews, Mr. Rohold stated that their capacity for accumulating money had been developed in Great Britain and America. It does not exist among the Jews of Jerusalem. He told of young men in the Colleges who, if they were shown a coin would not know its denomination. In Canada, the land of the brave and the free, a great work can be done among the Jews, for whom the only hope is Jesus, Himself.

"I WAS IN BAD SHAPE"

But Little Digesters "Have Done Wonders for Me"

Here is an experience with the first part of which you may be all too familiar. Mr. Josh Smith, of North Seneca, Ont., writes about "Little Digesters:"

"Having been troubled with Indigestion for a number of years, I have tried nearly all kinds of pills and tablets for Indigestion only to be disappointed.

"Seeing your tablets advertised I thought I would give them a trial, and must say I am glad I did. Before taking them I was in bad shape. Bad taste in my mouth mornings and so dizzy that I hardly knew how I would put in the day. Everything I would eat would seem to sour and ferment, but after taking "Digesters" I can say they have done wonders for me."

If you know what the first part of this story means why not learn the relief and delight which comes from the use of "Little Digesters?"

"Little Digesters" are positively guaranteed to cure all forms of Indigestion and Dyspepsia or your money will be refunded.

EXAMINATION INTO HEALTH OF PUPILS

London Board of Education Finds Many Children Have Physical Defect

London, Feb. 21.—London's Board of Education has decided to make an examination of the health of the pupils in its public schools. It has been found that in many cases mental dullness is due to defective eyesight, bad teeth or throat troubles. Inspector Edwards has reported that in one class alone he found a good many cases of defective eyesight and bad teeth enough in fact to warrant him in recommending that some system be adopted and that as soon as possible

In several instances where defects have been pointed out by teachers to parents they have been told to mind their business so that the problem is a delicate one to handle. The board of education, however, is determined to remedy the conditions if at all possible.

If you are in a generally "Run Down" Condition; consequent upon the effects of la grippe, take "D. & L." Emulsion It will restore you to health again.

THE CIVIC OFFICIALS ATTEND EVENING SERVICE IN BODY

Annual Sermon to the Mayor, Aldermen and Other City Officers by Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M. A., of All Saints Church Last Evening

THE IDEAL CITY

"To speak the truth, to face the foe and to leave the country better than you found it" was the message Rev. H. R. Trumpour, M. A., rector of All Saint's church left with the Mayor, Aldermen, Water Commissioners and other civic officials who attended divine service in a body at the above church last evening. In the practice of this message, he urged the exercise of two trilogies. He characterized one as that of duty, idealism and sacrifice and the other as faith, righteousness and charity. In his reference to the necessity of speaking the truth in all things, Rev. Mr. Trumpour said that probably here in Peterborough it was needed as much a s anywhere. He spoke of the fact that newspapers from the Atlantic to the Pacific, whether seriously or jokingly had referred to the worthlessness of an oath in this city.

There was an exceedingly large congregation at All Saints' last evening on the occasion of the annual sermon to the Mayor, Aldermen and civic officials. The service was a bright and inspiring one and in which the visitors heartily joined. Before commencing his sermon t he rector extended a cordial welcome to the officials present. It was an honour he said to have them and he assured them that the church was always open to everyone.

THE SERMON

The reverend speaker based his remarks on the fourteenth verse of the fifth chapter of St. Matthew, "A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid." In beginning, he said that every city was created by man and man was ever looking towards it. No city needed geographical elevation to be known. Its history was that of mankind. It held within its grasp human joys and human struggles. It was a marvelous thing the country was the feeding ground for the city. This was evidenced by the remarkable growth of the latter. "We as citizens of a city," he continued, "should see the responsibility that is ours and should work and labour to make it what it ought to be." The preacher believed that while crime was not so prevalent in the smaller cities as in the larger ones, the ideals and morals did not rise as high in the small places as in the large ones. That was the problem before the people of Peterborough. "We are just in our making" he said "and we must not let the opportunity pass. We must not only see that our city is set upon an hill but that it is as Christ would have it."

A preacher had no part in the material progress of a place. That belongs to business men. The minister had his work in seeing that the principles of right were carried out in its moral and spiritual growth. The poverty of morals was more of a curse than the lack of wealth. It was men not money that made a city. While it probably was not in municipal circles that moral legislation was made, the reverend speaker believed that if the men in municipal life were men of principle the vicious and evil tendencies would disappear. It was here that the preacher drew attention to the motto "to speak the truth, to face the foe and to leave the country better than you found it." He believed that here in Peterborough the truth was needed. This city, he said had gained the reputation of being a place where credence could not be given to statements made on oath. He urged his hearers to make true their lives.

Too much of the work of the Christian church was left to the women. The reverend gentleman referred to the Sabbath observance. The greatest asset, he remarked was the Sabbath day and he spoke of the lawlessness existing where it was lost. The disregard of money was also mentioned by the speaker. Some people were living better than kings of one hundred and fifty years ago. The ideals of many public men in entering politics were to come out better off than they entered. The lack of patriotism worked out into apathy. All public and civic officials must give their best.

There were two ways in which to do their best. He referred to two trilogies outlined by a prominent Massachusetts bishop at the Lambeth conference. One was duty, idealism and sacrifice. "Our work" he said should not be done because we have to do it. We should aim at the city Christ set upon a hill. Men in civic positions have to make sacrifices and while sometimes you are spoken of depreciatively the thinking part of a city appreciates your hours of work. We need more sacrifice. The worst feature of human nature is its selfishness. The other trilogy is that of faith, righteousness and charity. We can believe in God the Father, Son and Holy Ghost. We can be charitable. Love puts down self. It is kind. There is too much knocking of our neighbors"

In conclusion he urged them to carry out the duties entrusted to them that "the country might be better than you found it."

During the offertory Miss Ruth Dawson sang a solo very acceptably.

NATURE TELLS YOU

As Many a Peterborough Reader Knows Too Well.

When the kidneys are sick,
Nature tells you all about it.
The urine is nature's calendar.
Infrequent or too frequent action;
Any urinary trouble tells of kidney ills.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure all kidney ills.

Peterborough people testify to this.

Mrs. T. DeRusia, of Mary and Bethune street, Peterborough, Ont., says, "I believe Booth's Kidney Pills a remedy of exceptional merit in quickly relieving backache caused from disordered kidneys. I frequently suffered with a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back. It would extend around my sides and into my shoulders. Headaches were frequent and often accompanied by spells of dizziness. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended by a friend and I procured a box at Wm. Madill's Pharmacy. I soon found them to relieve me, I have had no trouble since and can credit this only to Booth's Kidney Pills."

CHARGE OF THEFT WAS DISMISSED

George Gauthier Found Not Guilty of Stealing a Chicken.

George Gauthier, against whom a charge of stealing a chicken was preferred, was dismissed by Megistrate Dumble at the police court this morning. Several witnesses were heard, but it was not sufficient to make a conviction. However, it appears that another young man committed the theft and he has since left the city, but Chief Roszel has sworn out an information against him. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the prisoner.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, complainant, said that she lived in North Monaghan. She said that she had missed chickens. Last Wednesday the hired man found a bag containing a coat, scarf and mitts, apparently having ben left by someone. Mr. Long searched the coat and found a book The dog was barking between 12 and 1 o'clock. Wednesday, and witness supposed that the theft took place then. The name of the prisoner was found in the book.

Hiram Long, the hired man, said that about 21 chickens had been stolen and two ducks. On Thursday morning witness found the bag and articles produced. He took them into Mrs. Robinson, He told her he knew the prisoner. He saw tracks in the snow.

Alfred Lebane recognized the book as that of the prisoner, which was giving him on joining the T. A. S.

The accused, in the box, denied stealing the fowl. He was at home that night from shortly after six until about 8 o'clock. Two men called for him and they went to the Montreal House, where they had a drink. Cleveland, one of the men, afterwards left prisoner's house with a horse and cutter, and taking witness' coat and mitts, the one produced in court. He hasn't seen Cleveland since the night he was arrested.

Archie Barbeau said that he last saw Cleveland on Friday last, at noon. Cleveland had admitted to him that he had been out to Mrs. Robinson's place, but didn't steal any chickens.

Benjamin Lebar corroborated Gauthier's evidence.

SERMON TO YOUNG MEN AT ST. ANDREW'S

The service in St. Andrew's church last night was a very interesting nature. The Young Men's Guild and members of the Young Men's Bible Class formed the choir, and assisted in making the praise service bright and attractive. Messrs. Jas. Browne and Gordon Wright assisted and a duet and quartette added much to the brightness and profit of the evening service. The substance of Mr. Potter's address to the young men was: "The taking advantage of the good start given them in life and the overcoming of hindrances so frequently thrown in the way of young men."

HOW ANDREW CARNEGIE MADE HIS FIRST $10,000

Was Making $40 a Month and Borrowed Several Hundred Dollars to Buy Interest in a Railway.

Chicago, February 18. — Andrew Carnegie, who has given to public uses a sum exceeding $150,000,000, more than $2,000,000 a year for every one of the seventy-two he has lived—told to-day how he made his first $10,000 by borrowing several hundred dollars and paying it back at the rate of $5 a week.

Mr. Carnegie, who stopped here for several hours while on his way to California, with eyes twinkling, asked Mr. Leach, Superintendent of the Pullman Palace Car Company:, "How much did you get when that melon was cut a while back?"

"I don't hold any shares, sir."

"That's too bad. Didn't let you in on it, eh? I remember I was working for the Pennsylvania Railroad and a fellow named Woodruff came around with a couple of little sleeping car models wrapped up in a cloth.

"'Why,' I said to him when I saw them, 'we're going to need those some day in the railroad business.'

"The outcome was that the Pennsylvania Railroad ordered a couple. And later, when I saw Mr. Woodruff again, he said to me: 'You seem like a bright young fellow, Carnegie. I believe I'll let you in with me on this.'

"'All right,' I said; 'I'm willing.'

"'I think I'll give you an eighth interest,' he told me. And he named a sum of a few hundred dollars I would have to pay. I didn't have the money but I went to one of my employers and asked him to lend me a few hundred dollars.

"'All right, Andy, yes; you're a good boy,' he said. 'I guess I can let you have it.'

"'I'll pay you back $5 a week,' I told him. For I knew I could save that out of my salary. It had just been raised to $40 a month then, I believe. So he let me have the money, and that's how I got my start. I made $10,000 off that stock, and later got into the Pullman Company."

As to high prices, they will come down. High prices always start more development, and this brings them down."

PREVENTION IS WORTH WHILE.

When you consider the risk to life, the expense, the anxiety which is involved in an attack of appendicitis and a surgical operation, it is certainly worth while to avoid it by keeping the liver and bowels regular by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver opinion that appendicitis comes from a neglect to keep the liver and bowels in a Pills. Doctors are now unanimously of the healthful condition.

SIR WILFRID'S NAVAL BILL.

Sir Wilfrid's Naval Bill is not so bad.
But it might be better;
It's time the Colonies began to help
Britain—on the water.
Why should we talk about Autonomy.
In this great Naval bill.
Our Empire's ships have been at our command.
And we must have them still.

Why should we talk about independence;
What better could we be?
The Empire's ships are at our command,
There's freedom on the sea;
I for this freedom let us do our part,
And do it with good will;
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

It's time that Canada began to help
Great Britain on the sea;
Her commercial interests are very great,
And greater they will be.
Canada and her commerce is growing.
Her needs are hard to fill,
Great Britain's ships have been at our command.
And we must have them still.

Uncle Sam has his navy on the sea.
At enormous expense,
And, compare it with our Empire's navy,
It's only a pretence;
British and Colonies' ships must be one;
What else could fill the bill?
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

What, if Uncle Sam should give his navy
To England on the sea?
It sems to me, it would be, his best card,
His trade would be more free;
His commercial freedom would be better,
And bring grist to his mill;
Great Britain's ships, have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

Such a mighty fleet, would be hard to beat;
Under England's command;
While aiming for peace, and good will to man,
This surely would be grand.
United to fight, for justice and right,
With no intent of ill,
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

WHY IT IS HORSE POWER

Old James Watt established the term in order that he might have some basis of comparison of the power developed by his engines. He measured the work done by a heavy London draft horse of the Clydesdale or similar variety during short intervals by observing the weight it could lift against gravity, the horse walking on the ground and pulling horizontally on a rope through pulleys so that the weight rose vertically. The unit horse-power, so established, was 550 foot-pounds of work per second or 33,000 pounds raised one foot in a minute, 330 pounds raised 100 feet, or 1 pound raised 33,000 feet a minute. But where as few horses could do that amount of work for more than a few seconds together, a one-horse-power engine will go on producing that amount of work indefinitely so long as it is supplied with steam.

Sales Doubling Every Six Months

Wonderful Demand for a Wonderful Remedy.

During the past few years, the sales of "Fruit-a-tives" have doubled every six months. For the six months from January to July of this year, the sales of this popular medicine were more than twice greater than for any similar period since "Fruit-a-tives" was introduced to the public.

The National Drug & Chemical Company of Canada Limited, the largest wholesale drug house in the world—Lymans Limited of Montreal — and Lymans Brothers of Toronto — are buying "Fruit-a-tives" in 100 gross lots. 100 gross mean 14,400 boxes, which retail for $7,200.00. This gives some idea of the steady demand for these wonderful fruit liver tablets.

It is safe to say that "Fruit-a-tives" is on sale in every drug store and in departmental stores and general stores carrying medicines throughout the Dominion. Nor is the sale of "Fruit-a-tives" confined to Canada. In many parts of the United States, "Fruit-a-tives" is the standard family medicine and hardly a day passes that the Fruit-a-tives Company does not receive prepaid orders from our neighbors over the line.

The many testimonials, which have been published in the leading papers, are the most convincing evidence of the great value of "Fruit-a-tives".

50c a box—6 for $2.50—or trial box, 25c. If your dealer does not handle them, any quantity will be sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CAR STRIKE DISORDERS

Authorities Threaten to Run the Cars With Policemen and Firemen, and If They Do a Sympathetic Strike of All Union Men Is Threatened —Scores of Cars Are Burned by Angry Mobs—Girl Shot.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 21.—Rioting in every section of this city followed the attempt of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. to operate its lines here yesterday, following an unexpected strike of unemployes Saturday. Passengers and crews were driven from the cars by infuriated mobs of strike sympathizers, and in nearly a score of instances, the abandoned cars were burned or otherwise destroyed. At nightfall every car was withdrawn from service.

Stern measures were adopted by the police to quell the disorders and nearly 500 persons were arrested, charged with inciting to riot. Two women were shot by stray bullets, and many people were removed to hospitals.

Mayor Reyburn last night ordered police director Clay to swear in 3,000 additional police and issued a proclamation putting in effect the riot act.

The executive committee of the central labor union at a meeting yesterday afternoon, pledged both moral and financial support to the striking car men. They also decided to call a sympathetic strike of every union man in the city in case the authorities put in effect their threat to operate the cars with police and firemen.

During the morning hours, cars were run on every line with little difficulty except in the mill district of Kensington, where cars were stoned by disorderly mobs. At 11 o'clock the transit company officials announced that cars were running on their regular Sunday schedule. Shortly afterwards riots were reported from scores of widely-separated localities.

At 20th and Wharton streets, in the southern section of the city a mob of boys drove the conductor and motorman from their posts and after the four women passengers had left the car, set it on fire with waste from a nearby freight car. The following car was also stopped and was being set on fire when a detachment of police and a chemical engine reached the scene.

In this same section, Mary Devlin, aged 16 years, was shot in the leg when the police fired their revolvers in an effort to check the mob.

In the usually quiet residential section of West Philadelphia mobs were formed which for a time baffled the police. Iron bars and stones were piled on the tracks and several cars were wrecked. Mounted police were powerless to disperse the mobs here, and a fire hose was finally brought into play.

Yesterday's rioting was a continuation of disorders that occurred Saturday afternoon and evening during which two cars were burned, a score of cars were attacked, forcing their crews to abandon them, and numerous arrests were made.

German Comment on Tariff.

Berlin, Germany, Feb. 21.—(C.A.P. Cable)—The Kreutz Zeitung and other leading newspapers contend that the German-Canadian commercial treaty must be of such a nature that Germany is placed on an equal footing with France. They assert in conclusion that such a treaty will give more advantages to Canada than to Germany.

The Kreus Zeitung declares that the concessions now granted to Canada will not deleteriously affect the German agricultural interests, for "It is immaterial where our requirements of foreign corn and other products are covered from the United States, Argentine or Canada.

It is stated the Germans hope soon to manufacture agricultural machinery, which is the main item of Canada's export to Germany. Factories are being built.

Egyptian Premier Shot.

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 21.—Boutros Pacha G-Hali, the Egyptian Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, was shot and seriously wounded yesterday by a student, who was arrested.

The student fired five shots, three of the bullets lodging in the Premier's body. Two of them, however, inflicted only superficial wounds. The bullets were extracted, and it is practically certain that the Premier will recover.

The crime was entirely of a political nature, the would-be assassin being a Nationalist. He declared that his motive was to avenge various acts of the Government, which the Nationalists attribute personally to Bouthos Pacha.

New German Biplane.

Berlin, Germany, Feb. 21.—A successful flight was made Saturday in a new system biplane, the invention of the yacht builder, Max Oertz. Oertz himself made the flight. He remained in the air for a considerable time at a height of 450 feet.

MINISTRY IS FILLED

Speech From the Throne Will Probably Contain Only References to Finances and Relation to the Upper and Lower Houses — His Majesty Is Standing Aloof From Fight of the Parties.

London, Feb. 21.—Premier Asquith has filled the vacancies in the Ministry, which is an indication that he at least expects the Government to pass safely through the crisis. The new Ministers are:

William Wedgewood Benn and Ernest Joseph Soares, junior lords of the treasury; Edwin Samuel Montague, Under Secretary for India, and Cecil William Norton, assistant Postmaster-General. Mr. Norton succeeds Sir Henry Norman, who failed of election.

This completes the Ministry. In the case of the junior lords bye-elections will be necessary, though they had good majorities last month, and there is little danger of their losing their seats.

The King's speech, it is believed, beyond the usual references to foreign affairs, will be confined to the questions of finance and the relations between the two houses.

Parliament will be formally opened this afternoon by the King, who will be accompanied by the Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales and Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia. The formalities will take up an hour, and as Premier Asquith is expected to speak early in the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne, the members will not have long to wait for the Government's announcements of its intentions.

A general election cannot be avoided if the Nationalist and Labor parties make unreasonable demands and refuse to co-operate in legalizing the tax levies and working out of the salvation of the Commons in an ordinary way. It can be averted if the independent factions allow the Government to perform its primary functions of raising money through the budget, which was submitted to the general electorate and apparently sanctioned, and then unite in carrying the veto bill with the full force of the coalition majority.

Whatever may be the immediate or ultimate effect of the Government's policy, it is safe to forecast that the sovereign will not be subjected to dictation nor dragged into partisan warfare, and that Mr. Asquith will stand or fall as a self-respecting Prime Minister. He lacks a majority independent and powerful enough to justify a demand for guarantees it he ever intended to make it, yet he will not be bullied by factions nor diverted from a rational course of action which makes finance the most urgent issue and leads up to legislation on the veto power, with a dissolution in due time.

As a normal consequence the faction leaders and Mr. Balfour must face the situation if financial chaos is produced by the premature downfall of the only Government capable of restoring authority for the taxes.

A Cabinet Council was held Saturday for sanctioning the King's speech. Herbert Gladstone has resigned the post of the Home Office, and his successor and other Ministers have kissed hands on their new appointments.

There have been official dinners at the Prime Minister's and Lord Beauchamp's, and opposition feasts at Mr. Balfour's and Lord Lansdowne's. Lord Londonderry's dinners have been followed by Mrs. Ivor Guest's party for the Liberals at Winborne House, where the courtyard has been roofed over for the reception of 2,000 guests. Unionists and smart people of all parties have been welcomed at Lansdowne House, with its long series of spacious reception rooms.

These are the social preliminaries to an exciting and possibly a momentous week in British politics, during which history may be made hand over hand.

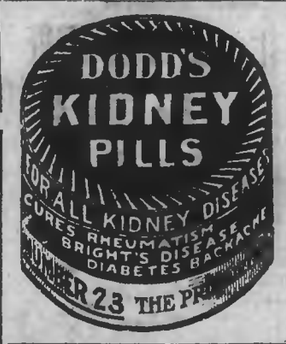
Want the Maine Raised.

New York, Feb. 21.—In its course, the Maine memorial service of the United Spanish war veterans, held yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall, turned into a demonstration to influence Congress to raise the battleship Maine.

A rising vote of an audience which filled the hall, adopted a resolution condemning the spectacle of a rusted hulk of the ship and the rotting bones of its victims, "abandoned without sepulchre in alien waters," and urging that Congress enact legislation for "the immediate removal of the wreck to our own shores and the recovery of the remains of the unclaimed victims for interment in the national cemetery at Arlington."

National Police Chief Resigns.

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 21.—Col. Piedra, chief of the national police, has resigned owing to the dismissal of a captain who testified at his own trial that he had merely obeyed the chief's orders to wink at gambling in a certain political club.



BREAD TRUST FOR NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 21.—The bread trust is here! By the organization of a $6,000,000 corporation the promoters hope to be able to corner the bread supply and boost the price of the staff of life. The formation of the new trust, which will be known as the Shultz Bread Co., was completed Saturday. It includes eleven of the largest bakeries in the city and its vicinity, using 11,400 barrels of flour a week.

Australia's Model Army.

Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 21—Lord Kitchener's recommendations to the Minister call for practically the same expenditure as the defence bill, $8,500,000. He suggests a land force of 80,000, half garrison and half mobile, comprising 84 batallions of infantry, 28 regiments of light horse, 56 batteries of artillery, 14 companies of engineers, etc. He advises a minimum camp training of six days annually.

No Schools For Orientals.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 21.—The British Columbia Government has refused Socialist and Opposition Leader Hawthornthwaite's proposal to amend the school act by making provision of separate schools for Orientals obligatory.

The refusal is based on the contention that such discriminatory legislation would be disallowed at Ottawa, and that dictation to school boards by local matters is contrary to the policy of the Government.

Has Two Voices

Winnipeg Girl Amazes Paris by Her Unusual Vocal Gift.

Paris, Feb. 21.—Dorothea Toye, a young girl from Winnipeg, Man., aroused great attention Friday night at a reception given by Ambassador Bacon at the embassy.

Miss Toye has two voices, one a three-octave soprano, the other a tenor of great power and sweetness. She came to Paris to consult Prof. Frank Dossert, director of the National Conservatory of Music, regarding the advisability of an operatic career. When he heard her soprano voice, he said she was unquestionably fitted for grand opera. A moment later he was stunned to hear her sing a "Pagliacci" song. Her tenor recalled Caruso's voice in intonation, phrasing and exact rendering.

Musicians say such a phenomenon is unprecedented in musical history. She can actually sing a soprano and tenor duet with herself. Ambassador Bacon said: "It is the most remarkable performance ever heard."

It is needless to say that all Paris is talking of her. Personally Miss Toye is a slight girl of singularly bright and winning manners. She is one of eight sisters, all musicians. Physicians as well as musicians are greatly interested in her accomplishments. She has been invited to go to London to sing before the medical congress.

RELENTLESS LAW

New York, Feb. 21.—The cry of a fainting woman on the American line pier Saturday when the steamship St. Louis sailed for Europe, revealed a story of the perfidy of a false friend and the futile efforts of an alien to live down a single offence against the British laws. Aboard the St. Louis was Felix Bihl, deported because he had served four months for stealing an automobile in London. Bihl left England to begin life anew and was married recently in Germany. The couple came here last fall and their good appearance caused the immigration inspectors to pass them.

The couple were prospering when, early in January, a friend secretly informed the federal officers that Bihl had served time. Bihl admitted the offence and said all he wanted was a fair chance to earn a living and become a respectable citizen. The verdict of the board of enquiry was that Bihl must go back.

Mrs. Bihl will follow her husband to England.

Shot Brother Who Interfered.

New York, Feb. 21.—John C. Gargan, a bookkeeper, aged 26, shot dead his brother Harry, a lawyer, 25, and his father-in-law, Martin W. Hynes, following an altercation with the latter in a Brooklyn saloon Saturday night.

Harry had stepped in between the two men in an effort to prevent his brother from shooting, and the latter deliberately shot him first. Gargan tried to turn the revolver on himself after the shooting, but was prevented.

Esquimaux For South Pole.

Biddeford, Me., Feb. 21.—Esquimo drivers, with their wives, children and dog teams, are to accompany the American South Polar expedition, according to Prof. Donald B. McMillan, who was one of Commander Peary's chief assistants in the Arctic. In a lecture here Prof. McMillan said that during the coming summer he and Captain Robert Bartlett will go to Etah to secure Esquimos and dogs for the South Pole dash.

Thomas Cote Very Ill.

Montreal, Feb. 21.—The startling news was received here last evening that Thomas Cote, formerly managing editor of La Presse newspaper, but now representing Canada at the Brussells' exhibition, is dangerously ill at a Paris Hospital, and little hope is held out for his recovery.

Italo-Canadian Tariff.

Rome, Feb. 21.—It is stated that in the event of the failure of the negotiations between Italy and Canada in the matter of granting the most favored nation clause treatment to Italian silks, reprisals are likely to follow and the maximum tariff will be adopted here on all Canadian products.

BANKERS ARE SOME TEAM, SAYS WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

The Winnipeg Free Press says: These Northern-Crown bank people have some hockey team, if anybody should happen to casually ask you. The folks back east must have caught wind of the fact, too, as the Winnipeg bank league champs have written to about every amateur team in the cent belt, and so far have been able to arrange only three games in all the land of the famous diminutive coin. The three live ones are the O. H. A. team of Lindsay and of Peterborough, and the Bank of Montreal team at Montreal. They will probably play in the Ontario town on Feb. 25, and in Montreal on March 4th.

The management has tried to get games with teams in Toronto and several other supposedly good hockey towns, but so far most of them have proved to be dead ones. It is expected, however, that games may yet be fixed with some more of the fast eastern teams, probably in Kingston, Stratford and Barrie, and if possible in Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

THE GAME WITH ORILLIA THROUGH LINDSAY EYES

The Lindsay Warder has the following to say of the game of the Peterborough juniors and the Orillia Collegiate team on Friday. Of course only one of the local Collegiate team was represented so that the championship of the collegiates is yet to be decided.

Orillia Collegiate Institute hockey team are champions of the Inter-Collegiate league for 1910. They proved their right to this honor by disposing of the Peterborough Collegiate seven Friday evening in the Lindsay street rink by the score of 5-4.

It was after nine o'clock when the game commenced, owing to the late arrival of the Orillia team, the train being half an hour late. The crowd was somewhat disappointing, only 69 persons paying admission to see the students battle for supremacy, and as a result of the slim attendance both teams are out of pocket financially.

The game was easily one of the best and fastest junior games ever played in Lindsay, and the few spectators that did attend were treated to a mighty good game of hockey.

Both teams were evenly matched, as the score indicates, and it was anybody's game until the gong sounded. The score at half-time was 2-1 in favor of Orillia, and with only five minutes to play the teams were a tie. Both teams worked hard but the Orillia boys had the best combination, and on a grand rush combined with combination, Harvie scored the winning goal just as time was up.

The electric city boys were the heavier but lacked combination, and thus they can attribute their defeat. Their forward line made many individual end to end rushes, but the Orillia goal tender was always on the job and stopped many shots that were labelled goals. He certainly played a star game and saved the northern boys from defeat. Heffernan, the Peterborough point player was easily the best man on the ice. He is a very fast skater and a brilliant stick handler and made many end to end rushes unassisted.

For Orillia the entire forward line were very fast and it was a difficult task to pick the best man. They have a great combination and only for the good work of the Peterborough defence would have rolled up a big score.

The Peterborough seven played a good consistent game but their individual rushes proved fatal, as they played little or no combination.

Let it be said right here that the Orillia seven are a fast bunch, and had they been in the junior O. H. A. they would make all the junior teams step some and would have had something to say about where the mug would land.

Both teams arrived on the regular trains and were accompanied by only a few rooters, but that few combined with the Lindsay fog horn brigade from the Collegiate, made a terrific noise.

Gamble, the Lindsay intermediate goal tender refereed the game to the satisfaction of all.

WINNIPEG TEAM WILL BE HERE AT NOON TO-MORROW

Much interest is being displayed in the visit to Peterborough to-morrow night of the Northern Crown Bank team of Winnipeg. The bank champions of the West will meet the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team in a game at Brock street rink that promises to be one of the big hockey events of the season. The visitors have the reputation of having some of the fastest amateurs in the West including four of the senior Victorias, the amateur champions of Manitoba. Their forward line is said to be lightning fast and they have a sturdy defence of the usual Western type fast skaters and brilliant stick handlers who rush continually and they will undoubtedly be the hardest team that Peterborough has met this season.

The Westerners left Winnipeg on Saturday night and will arrive in Toronto tonight, coming on to Peterborough tomorrow at noon.

L. M. Watson, who one season played for the local bankers in the city hockey league, and who was the year after with the Berlin intermediates is with the visitors and will be given a hearty reception by his many friends in Peterborough.

The game will be well worth seeing as it will give a comparison between Eastern and Western methods.

The Peterborough team to meet the visitors wil be chosen after the practice tonight at which every player is expected to be out. It wil be the first time in fifteen years that a Winnipeg team has played in Peterborough and a big crowd will be on hand to greet the famous visitors.

OTTAWAS LOST THEIR FIRST GAME OF SEASON

Montreal, Feb. 20. — Wanderers tied with Ottawa for first place in the National Hockey Association standing by defeating the champions at the Arena Saturday night by 7 goals to 5. Nearly seven thousand spectators witnessed a match, close ,hard and exciting, that brought Ottawa its first defeat after thirteen straight victories this season. The teams alternated goal for goal for 50 minutes of the hour, leaving it 5 to 5, with ten minutes to go. Going into the last minutes Wanderers scored twice in less than three minutes of play, the two goals deciding the result in favour of the ex-champions.

Neither team scored in the last seven minutes of play, although Ottawa just missed reducing Wanderers' lead to one goal. The gong rang as the disc left the stick of Lake, the Ottawa point. His long shot took Hern by surprise, and lodged in the twine, but the score came a fraction of a second too late to figure in the Ottawa count.

Ottawa led in the scoring up to half time, scoring first and forcing Wanderers three times to cut down the Ottawa advantage of an odd goal. Five minutes before the end of the first period Wanderers for the thir dtime, drew even, and with the score 3 to 3 the teams left the ice for the dressing rooms to rest up for the final struggle.

Just as Ottawa had had the whip hand in the first half, so the Wanderers had it in the second. The ex-champions started the scoring five minutes after the second period opened. Ottawa tied it at 4 to 4, and Wanderers came back into the lead with the ninth goal. Again the lagging team proved equal to the task before it, and Ottawa made it 5 to 5, the fifth tie of the match. With the advantage first of two, and then one play, Wanderers scored twice in quick succession, and they proved the winning fallies in the hard encounter.

A close survey of the play leading up to each score of the match shows that penalties played a big part, Wanderers in particular showing ability to turn the advantage of an odd man to good account and six of the home team's seven goals were scored when Ottawa was weakened. Ottawa only turned similar advantage to good account on one occasion and twice scored when the odds were against them. And yet there was little difference between the penalties handed out to the two teams.

In the first half it was as even a break in the penalties as in the scoring. Each team lost a player for 15 minutes. In the second half Ottawa suffered the more to the extent of 6 minutes, and in the close struggle no doubt the advantage to Wanderers was some factor in the result. Ottawa was short a player for 18 minutes of the second half and Wanderers for 12 minutes.

The match was fairly won by the home team and the play was not as close as the scoring by a long margin., Wanderers had the disc in Ottawas' end probably three-quarters of the match, and it was only the phenomenal work of Lesueur in the Ottawa goal, that kept the figures so close. Hern in the Wanderers' goal, did not have a quarter of the work Lesueur had at the other end, but the Ottawa goal tender gave a marvellous exhibition of stopping and kept Ottawa in the running right to the end.

In front of Lesueur, Lake was playing steadily and effectively, and the fine defence work of this pair was a feature of the match. Wanderers attacked from every angle and used a good deal of resource in trying to break through. Every goal scored on Ottawa was taken from close quarters, with one exception, and four were batted in on rebounds. One, the goal that evened the tally at 2 to 2, was scored by skilful wrist work by Russell who put the disc through a maze of sticks and legs, in a face-off right at the Ottawa goal.

IS THINNESS EMBARRASSING?

Undoubtedly it is to Many a Maiden and Youth—While Even Those Well Along in Years Prefer Well Rounded Figures.

Prescription Increases Weight.

A scrawny, gangling youth or maiden is almost invariably slighted, overlooked or ridiculed in any social gathering. There is something about a plump or well-proportioned figure, which attracts not only friendship but love and adulation as well.

People with a proper amount of flesh are favoured in all walks of life, while the thin are unblessed, unwelcome and frequently miserable for life. The difference lies in the power of the digestive functions and the ability of the blood and nerves to absorb and distribute over the body the nutrition extracted from the food eaten.

The thin person is abnormal and lacks the power to absorb and retain the flesh and fat elements which the gastric juices in the stomach and intestines should extract or separate from all kinds of food and drink.

A recent accidental discovery has proven that tincture cadomene, when blended with certain other drugs, will add from one to three pounds of flesh per week during treatment, while the general health and strength also improves wonderfully.

Get in a half pint bottle, three ounces of essence of pepsin and three ounces of syrup of rhubarb; then add one ounce compound essence cardiol: shake and let stand two hours; then add one ounce tincture cadomene compound, (not cardomom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful before and after meals, drinking plenty of water between meals and when retiring.

Quebec's Naval Sentiment.

Montreal, Feb. 21.—Montreal La Presse, which is conducting a canvass of its readers on the naval question by soliciting an expression of their choice of four propositions submitted, had, up to Saturday, a small majority in favor of the Government's proposals, as against continuing the present arrangement.

The questions and the vote thereon are: For the proposed new navy, 2,473; for contribution to British navy, 38; to continue as at present, 2,205; for Quebec to remain aloof, 102.

The last-named proposition was based on the supposition that all the other provinces having shown a passionate sentiment in favor of a local navy or of a direct contribution, should Quebec refuse to lend assistance to Great Britain in the hour of danger?

Shot by Former Servant.

Winnipeg, Feb. 21.—Fred Carroll, son of A. H. Carroll, member of the local Legislature for South Brandon, was shot and seriously wounded Saturday night by Lottie McCulloch, who up to a few months ago had been a domestic in his father's house.

About one month ago young Carroll was married and had taken up his residence in the village of Carroll, Man., where his father also resides. Saturday night about 8 o'clock Miss McCulloch called at Carroll's house. When he appeared the girl drew a revolver and without warning fired, the bullet taking effect in Carroll's stomach. She gave herself up to the police. Jealousy is said to be the cause.

Canadian Trade Increase.

London, Feb. 21.—According to an official return, Canada takes second place among the leading countries of the world in the percentage of increase in trade during the last decade.

Italians Go to Prison.

New York, Feb. 21. — Lupo, chief of black hand in America; Guiseppe Morello, chief of the Sicilian counterfeiters in this country, and six of their confederates, were found guilty and sentenced to hard labor in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for terms varying from fifteen years and $1,000 fine to thirty years and $1,000 fine.

Lupo, who is under sentence of thirty years for murder in Italy, where he was tried while a fugitive from justice, wept copiously during his counsel's plea for mercy and had to be supported when leaving the room after sentence. Another collapsed in the arms of two marshals sobbing "Not just, not just," and a third fainted and went into convulsions. All the others sobbed bitterly.

The judge in pronouncing sentence was careful to explain that he cherished no hatred of Italians, but on the contrary, from his dealings with them, had been led to trust them as quickly and as sincerely as he would his own family. Nevertheless, he said, the evils of Italian criminality in this country must be stamped out.

Pirates In China Seas.

A few days before the Teucer arrived a trading junk was pirated close to Hong Kong. The vessel was met by a junk which signaled the trader to lower her sails, and a shot was fired from a small gun. The junk men crowded on sail and took to their sweeps, but the pirate, after a short chase overhauled the trader, grappled her, and the pirates boarded and tied up the junk crew while they looted the vessel. The total booty netted them $500. They then cut the ropes of the junk and took away the pole of the rudder and turned the junk loose.

From Shasi the steamer brought news of a heavy loss of life, due to famine caused by great floods. The refugees flocked to Shasi in hundreds, and were herded into concentrated camps, where the officials fed them on milk. The people were dying at the rate of 35 to 50 a day.

The refugees were increasing, and will have to be fed until next season's crops are assured.

New Plot Favoring Castro.

Caracas, Venezuela, Feb. 21.—The discovery of a new plot against the Government and in the interest of former President Castro, has caused a sensation. Many arrests of prominent persons have been made.

Do You Realize What an Important Work the Kidneys Do?

Do you know that every drop of your blood goes to the kidneys hundreds of times every day? Do you know why?

To be filtered and purified from its impurities. That is the great work the kidneys have to do. They filter the blood. Then these impurities go to the bladder and are passed out of the body along with the urine.

Do you think it possible for you to be well, unless the kidneys do this work thoroughly?

It is these impurities—this unfiltered blood—that causes backaches, headaches, rheumatism, diabetes, Bright's disease, etc. The poison and interfere with the whole system.

If you have any kidney trouble let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others. They cure all forms of kidney trouble, and they cure them to stay cured.

Mrs. Maurice Doiron, Charlottetown, P.E.I., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad at times that I could not cross the floor for the pain. I went to a doctor, but he did me no good at all. I sent to the druggist and got five boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and I am glad to say that after taking them I was cured. I have had no trouble for nearly three years now."

"My two children, who were puny and ailing, rapidly gained flesh and strength when I began to give them Vinol. I proved that Vinol is a splendid tonic for delicate children."—Mrs. C. ALLEN, New Bedford, Mass.

Vinol builds up healthy flesh and makes thin little limbs round and plump. Children love to take it.

We return people's money without question if Vinol does not accomplish all we claim for it. Try it, please.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH

Rev. G. W. McColl Spoke at George Street Methodist Church Yesterday.

At the George Street Methodist Church yesterday Rev. G. W. McColl of Napanee, occupied the pulpit both morning and evening, the occasion being the anniversary day of the church. Large congregations were present and two interesting and profitable sermons were preached. In the morning the Rev. Mr. McColl took his text from Revelations 2 chapter, and 20th verse, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come into him, and will sup with him, and he with me." And in the evening from Thessalonians 1, 5 chapter and 19th verse, "Quench not the Spirit."

Special music was given by the choir at both services.

The words of the morning text were concluded in the message of St. John to the seven churches of Asia. The speaker took up parts of the verse, separately, and explained the significance of each. It was Jesus who stood at the door and knocked and it was we who were within. There were some who would be saved, without a Jesus, redeemed without a Redeemer. Some asked, "Why should I open the door to him?" They appointed themselves supervisors of their own lines, but life cannot be narrowed down to such limits, as some men set up for themselves. Jesus showed patience in waiting, and it was to be wondered why any man should insult Him by not opening the door. The speaker used a striking illustration to show how willingly we would open the door to an earthly friend. He took the case where a child was ill and the physician in charge, admitted that he had done all in his power to save the child, and a more skilful physician was sent for. How eagerly was the door opened for him. We open the door to our own friends, but close it on Him, who is the great physician to the soul. What a transformation when Jesus did come in. In letting Him come into our lives we let in the very power of God.

To Be DYSPEPTIC Is To Be MISERABLE.

Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc.

Burdock Blood Bitters has an established reputation, extending over thirty-four years, as a positive cure for dyspepsia in all its forms, and from all diseases arising from it.

Can Eat Anything Now.

Mrs. Herman Dickenson, Benton, N.B., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters and find that few medicines can give such relief in dyspepsia and stomach troubles. I was troubled for a number of years with dyspepsia and could get no relief until I tried Burdock Blood Bitters. I took three bottles and became cured and I can now eat anything without it hurting me. I will highly recommend it to all who are troubled with stomach trouble."

Inquest At Norwood Adjourned To Permit A Post Mortem

Norwood, Feb. 21.—The coroner's inquest to enquire into the death of Miss Margaret McPherson, one of the victims of the murderous assault with an axe committed on Jan. 28th near here, and for which Robert Henderson is in custody, opened at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the McPherson home, the scene of the crime, Coroner H. C. Kindred, of Havelock, presided.

The story of the affair, as told by Miss Susan McPherson, who was also assaulted, and Mrs. Graham her sister, was substantially the same as that already published. Dr. Sutton stted that he found deceased suffering from a cut on the head about two and a half inches long, caused by some hard, sharp instrument. Up to Feb. 14th he had hopes of her recovery. In reply to a question by Mr. Kerr as to the actual cause of death, he deemed it advisable that a post-mortem examination should be made to correctly detrmine this. The inquest was accordingly adjourned.

Mr. R. E. Wood represented the Crown, and Mr. F. D. Kerr represented the prisoner Henderson's interests. Dr. Holdcroft and Dr. Crawford, of Havelock, were appointed to perform the post mortem examination. The inquest will be continued next Monday in the Norwood town hal.

WAS IN COURT TO-DAY

One month in gaol and forbidden by the magistrate to ever return to his home was the punishment meted out to Edward Jobe at the police court this morning. He was found guilty of assaulting his mother, doing her actual bodily harm. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the prisoner.

Mrs. Jobe, mother of the accused, testified to the fact that the prisoner had not worked for weeks, living at home, never paying any board for some time. He had been wearing his brother's clothes and his mother tried to prevent him. This led to trouble and her son swore and cursed and struck her in the face, almost breaking her nose, and blackening both eyes. The witness had only been out of the hospital a short time where she had been seriously ill. She wanted her son kept away from her home, for their lives were in danger when he was around.

The prisoner's younger brother was called. He saw the accused strike his mother several times. He wanted to wear his brother's overcoat and his mother wouldn't let him. He said he would show her who was running the house.

Miss Cynthia Hutchinson, Hanceville, B. C., writes: "My system was so completely run down that my friends as well as myself thought I could never get better. All medicines failed to help me. A trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food benefitted me and at the end of a month people scarcely knew me I had improved so much. The blood was enriched, colour improved, new flesh was added, and I got strong and well."

"Peterborough Means Progress."

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1910

SPENDING $60,000,000.

This promises to be a record year for railway expenditure throughout Canada. It is estimated that during the coming open season the three principal roads will devote $60,000,000 to improvements and extensions largely in the West. This compares with $28,000,000 so spent last year The Canadian Pacific has planned for an aggregate outlay of $30,000,000, and it is calculated that $15,000,000 will be appropriated by the Canadian Northern and $15,000,000 by the Grand Trunk Pacific—mostly for pioneer work.

No doubt this confident launching forth upon ambitious programmes has been induced in large measure by the tremendous crop of high-grade high-priced wheat harvested west of the Great Lakes last autumn. With a tithe of the tillable soil under cultivation, the plains have begun to indicate their ultimate capacity of production. The influx of land-hungry settlers is stimulated, and each railway hastens its preparations to secure its due share of the prospective increase in traffic.

In turn the outpouring of $60,000,000 of railway money will stimulate immensely the growth and development of the whole country. The very fact that the double-tracking of the Canadian Pacific across the prairie is to be commenced is significant. The extension of the Canadian Northern from Edmonton over the Rockies to Vancouver is to proceed, and the work of pushing the Grand Trunk Pacific through the mountains to Prince Rupert will be pushed forward.

It is estimated that before the end of 1910 a thousand miles of new steel will be laid upon the prairie, and that thus a hundred thousand acres of virgin soil will be rendered available for settlement. The distribution of millions of dollars in wages will exert a marked influence upon the prosperity of many pioneer communities. The manufacturing and wholesale centres of the East will benefit and altogether the year now well begun should record a new high-level of progress for all Canada.

CERTAINLY, WHY NOT?

Patriotic Canadians have long regarded Canada as the Land of Promise. It is rapidly becoming the Land of Fulfilment. Present conditions are in strong contrast with those which obtained fifteen or twenty years ago. Then the trek of Canadian population was across the border to the United States. Now, the tide is setting far more strongly the other way. The "exodus" is not to the United States, but from the United States and the rest of the world. A new chapter is added to the book of Exodus by the following explanation of some of the effects of a campaign now being conducted in the United States by the Canadian Pacific Railway, under the name "Why not go to Canada?" In commenting upon the progress and prospects of this scheme, Mr. J. S. Dennis, Assistant to the second vice-president of the railway, who has just returned from a visit to the United States, says:

"It is pleasing to note the changed attitude of United States buyers," he said. "When we commenced the colonization of the Bow Valley a few years ago we found that buyers insisted on a minute personal inspection of the land. They compelled our salesmen to dig over the areas which they were inspecting, and even then many could not be persuaded to buy. Today conditions have changed. United States land buyers do not demand the right to inspect the land as formerly. In proof of this we last year made many sales by mail, and this year we are experiencing a flood of telegraphic orders for land. Those purchasers who live south of the line have forwarded money by telegraph for applications against certain areas which they have had described to them by friends. These people realize the rush that is taking place, and will not trust the mails to deliver their applications in time. We received a telegram from our Boston agent asking for the reserve of eighteen quarter sections of irrigable land for clients who have not seen the country. The 'Why go to Canada?' campaign instituted by United States interests a short time ago is disastrous to the original plans of the promoters, as the investing and agricultural classes of the United States are saying: 'If such a campaign be necessary to keep us out of Canada the possibilities of that country are well worth looking into.'"

The farmers of the United States have discovered Canada, and once converted into a belief it cannot be turned aside from coming to us by any propaganda organized by the United States, such as has been organized by Uncle Sam, to keep his boys at home. He has taught his children that the almighty dollar is the summum bonum, the only thing worth striving for. The farmers of the United States recognize in Canada the best field in the world for making money and that's why they are coming here.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES

Interesting Programme is Arranged for Lindsay Gathering.

"The Public Library Institute of this District to be held in Lindsay, Friday, 25th inst., promises to be an event of interest and profit to all concerned. The problems of the small library will receive special attention.

Mr. Geo. H. Locke, Chief Librarian of the Public Library, Toronto, and a man of wide training in educational and Library affairs will discuss the "Mission of the Public Library," and Rev. W. A. Bradley, Berlin, ex-president of the Ontario Library Association will speak on "What the Library Can do for the Working Man." FARMERS' CLUB

South Douro Farmers Have Organized an Institute.

On Wednesday, the 16th inst., a large number of South Douro farmers met for the purpose of discussing the advisability of establishing a Farmers' Institute at this place.

Mr. H. C. Duff, B. S. A., of Norwood, was present, and explained very fully the meaning of the Farmers' Club, and the work they are doing.

Mr. M. D. Sullivan was appointed chairman, and F. Moher (Warden) secretary pro tem.

Mr. Duff then went into details more fully and thoroughly, explaining the benefits which might be derived from the formation of a Farmers' Club at this place and by a show of hands the entire meeting decided to give it a trial.

The chairman then read the Constitution and by-laws, which were adopted and the following officers were elected:

President—Mr. M. D. Sullivan.
Vice-President—M. Moloney.
Secretary-Treasurer—F. D. Leahy.
Directors—J. Kennedy, M. O'Brien.
Auditors—W. Allen, F. Walsh.

The club will hold its next meeting on March 3rd, at 7.30 p.m., when there will be a debate; subject, "Resolved that it is more profitable to sell your grain than to feed it on the farm." It is also expected that the membership will be largely increased at this meeting.

SUMMONSED THE WRONG MAN

Fred McCormack was charged by Charles Flock at the police court this morning with keeping a vicious dog. The complainant stated that he was walking along Edinburgh St. when the dog ran out at him and bit him in the calf of the leg.

But according to the defendant the dog in question did not belong to him. His Worship dismissed the case and advised the complainant to be more sure of the owner before coming to court.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

An interesting meeting was held last night at the Y.M.C.A., when that organization entertained, most royally, the Young People's Society of the Park St. Baptist church.

The president of the society, Mr. Herb. Reid, occupied the chair, and Miss Bessie Gillespie and Mr. Charles Barrie read very interesting papers on missions in India and Bolinda.

The young people took possession of the gymnasium and indulged in a little muscular christianity, after which refreshments were served. Miss Marion Kennedy and Rena Johnston contributed selections to the program of the evening.

Short addresses were given by Miss McCulloch, and Rev. W. C. Riddiford, after which all went home, highly delighted with their hospitable hosts.

He is desirous and is contemplating the formation of a joint stock company in this city to control the business of putting out these tables throughout the Dominion. It is a very attractive writing table and is installed in all the leading hotels in many cities in both Canada and the United States. At present, Mr. Wilde supervises the entire work in connection with the placing of them

Mr. Paul Poull, Cascapedia, Que., writes:—"About five years ago I gave up all hope of getting better of heart trouble. I would nearly choke, and then my heart would stop beating. I could not lie on my left side, and became so nervous and weak I could not work. A friend told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and before the first box was taken I was almost well, and the second box completed the cure. I have advised many others to try them, and they have all been cured of the same trouble. I have offered to pay for a box for anybody they do not cure."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are a specific for all diseases or disorders arising from the heart or nerve system. They make the weak heart strong and the shaky nerves firm by imparting a strengthening and restorative influence to every organ and tissue of the body and curing palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, anæmia, twitching of the muscles, sensation of "pins and needles," general debility, lack of vitality, etc.

Price, 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

UNCLE WALT---THE POET PHILOSOPHER

She was tired of washing dishes, and she breathed her fervent wishes that she had a shining motor and some diamonds and a yacht; she was tired of seeing neighbours who, immune from sordid labours, seemed to live a round of pleasure, seemed to have no other thought. He was tired of selling trousers in the rag store, while carousers scooted past in lightning-wagons, burning money as they went; he was O so tired of slaving! Tired of rustling and of saving, tired of dreaming he had millions, just to wake without a cent! And a million more are weary of the treadmill life so dreary, and they wring their hands and murmur as the rich go scooting by; and they say the world's injustice soon or late is sure to bust us, for it's wrong that some eat cabbage while their neighbours live on pie. In a slick and sly and stealthy way I've interviewed the wealthy and they seemed so happy they had joy to give away; they were badgered; they were hurried, they were bored and grieved and worried, and I do not know a Croesus who's not prematurely gray. If the rich dame had her wishes you might see her washing dishes in a cunning little cottage with a figtree near the door; if her husband had the chances he'd be selling vests and pantses in the cut price rags department of the Gold Brick Clothing Store.

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers." — Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

If people could only stop wanting to possess things and do thing just because other people want them, the world would be a very much simpler and happier place.

Half the dissatisfaction and unhappiness in the world comes from our lacking, not the things we really have a sane, normal desire for, but the things we want because we know other people want them.

If people were contented with the things they themselves really wanted, and didn't strive after the things they want because other people want them, there would be a great many more contented people in the world.

Are you wondering exactly what I mean by wanting things because other people want them.

Forty thousand people went to that game last fall. Tremendous prices were paid for tickets. According to newspaper statements, many single tickets brought $25, several pairs went for $100 or $150, and one man who was particularly anxious to have eight seats together, paid $2,000 for the block.

Now, do you imagine that all the people who paid those enormous prices for tickets cared $50 or $75 or $250 worth just to see that football game.

Indeed they didn't. Some may have paid their money because they were that anxious to see the contest between Harvard and Yale, but I am ready to wager that there were a good many people who paid large money for tickets who would not have gone to that game if it had been free. And I am also pretty certain that at least one-quarter of the women who allowed their husbands or brothers or friends to pay so extravagantly for their tickets, permitted it, not because they were so devoted to the game of football, but simply and solely because they knew all their neighbours wanted to go.

If you don't believe that, let me tell you what a girl who travelled from Chicago to Boston just to be present at the great occasion said when I asked her if she were extravagantly fond of football.

"Oh, no; I don't care such a great deal about the game. To tell the truth, I don't understand it very well. I seldom go to a game at home. But you know all my friends were just crazy to go to this game, so of course when I had the invitation I just jumped at it."

Of course, that is an extreme example, but I don't believe there are many of us whose pleasure in our possessions and opportunities is not to some degree enhanced by knowing that these possessions and opportunities seem desirable to other people.

If you don't believe that, let me ask a few questions.

Would the little dry goods clerk enjoy her evening at the opera so much if she could not tell about it the next morning to the other less fortunate clerks?

Would a trip abroad be regarded as quite a desirable thing if anybody could go at any time?

People say they love diamonds just because they are beautiful, but doesn't it seem probable to you that the fact that so many desire and so few can possess these precious stones adds something to their lustre?

The man who has the courage and independence of mind to choose ABSOLUTELY ALL of his pleasures and possessions because he himself takes delight in them, and not in the very least because the desire of the crowd has given them a fictitious value, is the man who will get the most possible happiness out of life.

But where is he?

I don't know him. Do you?

FINANCES FOR AN INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION SEEM ASSURED

Board of Trade Committee Announce to Council That They Have Met With Generous Responses---Question of Band Instruments to Come Up Again---Other Matters Considered---Reports of Committees.

A meeting of the City Council was held last night with Mayor Morrow presiding and all the members present. After the usual introductory business the communications were taken up. A statement was received from Mr. John Corkery, secretary of the Separate School Board, to the effect that $9,455.00 was required for the present year. — Finance Committee.

From J. J. Turner & Sons requesting permission to erect a sign on the island in the Otonabee River, north of the C. P. R. bridge. It will be built on cedar posts and will be removed at any time on notice of 30 days.—Referred to Property Committee.

From the Salvation Army Band, asking for a grant of $200.00 for playing in the parks.—Finance Committee.

From T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., notifying the Council that the City's private bills would come up before the committee of the Legislature on Wednesday morning, Feb. 23, at 10.30 o'clock.— Received.

From the Board of Health, presenting the account of Dr. Young for services rendered the city during the outbreak of smallpox last year.—Finance Committee.

From Wm. Might, asking for a share in the Insurance on the Public Library.—Property Committee.

From the Good Roads' Association, stating that the date of the annual meeting will be March 2, 3, and 4 in Toronto, suggesting that a representative or two be sent from Peterborough.—Board of Works.

From S. Anglesey, asking for improvements to Reid street, near his property.

Deputation from Band.

A rather large deputation from the 57th regimental band was present to impress upon the Council their objection to the trusteeship of the instruments being changed. Mr. J. A. Harper, secretary of the Band, addressed the Council briefly in regard to a communication they had submitted to the Council. The remarks indicated that the officers of the Regiment had told the Council that the majority of the bandsmen were in favour of transferring the trusteeship of the instruments to the officers. The men, however, were confident that they wanted the old regime continued, and further that the men had not been aproached in regard to the change. They felt that if the officers secured the control of the instruments they might be used to coerce the band. The instruments are held in trust for the citizens by the Council. Practically all of the instruments were purchased by donations from friends and other sources, and 60 per cent. of those who had subscribed stated that they wished them to remain in the possession of the citizens.

Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Property Committee, explained that a clause in the report from the committee was to the effect that the instruments be leased to the Regiment at $1.00 a year. It was decided, therefore, that this clause would be struck out, and the question would be reconsidered by the committee at a meeting at which representatives from the band could be present.

Service Appreciated.

A motion by Ald. Batten and Ald. Phelan was passed, expressing to the officers of All Saints Church the Council's appreciation of their invitation to attend divine worship, and also to Rev. H. R. Trumpour for the excellent sermon he preached during the service.

Appointment of a Commissioner.

The grant of $2,000 to the Board of Trade on condition that they secure a sum of the same amount to provide for an Industrial Commissioner was included in the report of the Committee of the Whole Council. Ald. Morgan took objection to it, stating that he considered the city's expenses high enough this year, without the additional expense of $2,000 for the appointment of an official, which he stated Toronto was dispensing with this year. Ald. Metheral agreed with him, stating that the poor man had to bear the increased expenditure to the greatest extent. He seconded Ald. Morgan's motion.

Mr. D. O'Connell, Mr. W. H. Denham, Mr. D. Hughes, Charles and Mr. J. H. Larmonth were present, reperesenting the Board of Trade. Mr. O'Connell stated that a generous reception had been accorded the committee of the Board of Trade by the leading commercial interests they had interviewed. The $2,000 was practically placed in sight by the offerings that had been mentioned.

Ald. Duffus expressed himself in favour of giving $2,000 towards the fund if the Board secured the sum they had undertaken to provide. On the vote that was taken Ald. Graham and Batten supported the amendment, which was lost by 7 to 4.

The report of the Property Committee in regard to the disposal of the Dan Spence Ambulance passed the Council, as follows:

That A. Comstock be given the care and service of the Dan H. Spence ambulance for the ensuing year at $200, and that a provision be put in the agreement that the ambulance shall not be used for conveying parties from railway trains and must not be taken outside the city.

Legal Report.

The Legal Committee's report was adopted as follows:

That the Chairman of the Committee be authorized to make arrangements for 10,000 pamphlets at a cost not exceeding $100, for distribution to excursionists and advertising the city.

That the claims of T. Mitchell, on account of the smallpox and scarlet fever isolation tents having been placed on the farm be rented from the city be referred to the City Trust Commissioners for settlement.

That, acting on the advice of the City Solicitor no action be taken on the claim of S. Sherman for the loss of a horse in Pigeon Creek, and that the City Clerk notify the County officials to this effect.

That the Chairman and Mayor be authorized to name a committee to attend before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature when the City's Private Bill comes before it.

After several by-laws were given their readings the Council adjourned.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE DAVID BRECKENRIDGE

The funeral of the late David Breckenridge was held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence, Boundary Road to the Little Lake Cemetery. It was largely attended, the late Mr. Breckenridge having been well known in Peterborough before he removed to Vancouver. The funeral services at home and at the grave were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Potter, and the burial rites were under the direction of the Masonic order which was largely represented by members from the Peterborough lodges. The floral tributes were beautiful and profuse. Immediate relatives of the deceased were his brother John of Calgary, Thomas of Woodstock, William of Chicago and Matthew of Peterborough, and his sisters Mrs. Irwin of Peterborough and Miss Margaret at home.

Mr. E. W. WEDDING BELLS

MOORE—MANN.

A very pretty wedding took place at Lakeview Farm at 12.30 o'clock, Feb. 16th, when Eunice Ada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. R. Mann was united in marriage to Charles Elliott Moore of Moorevale Farm, Smith.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white satin, with bridal veil and orange blossoms, and was attended by her sister, Miss Sadie, who looked very pretty in blue, while the groom was attended by Mr. George Adam, of the Bank of Commerce, Guelph; little Miss Beatrice McGregor, niece of the bride, was flower girl, and looked very pretty in white silk. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. R. Bonner, pastor of the Gilmour Memorial church, in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. The wedding march and hymn was played and sung by Miss Ida Jackson of Peterborough.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the esteem in which the young couple are held. Among the presents were three substantial cheques.

The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch; to the bridesmaid a pearl ring, to the flower girl a gold locket and chain, to the groomsman a pearl pin. The bride presented Miss Jackson with a handsome present.

The happy couple left on the 4.38 train for Toronto and other points.

BARR—BARRIE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. David Barrie, of Dummer Township was the scene of a very pleasant and interesting event on Wednesday, Feb. 9, when their eldest daughter, Mary Pearl, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. George Hiram Barr, of Cottesloe. The Rev. D. A Thompson, of Hastings, performed the solemn ceremony in the presence of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

At the appointed hour the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Flora Baptie, of Lakefield, cousin of the bride, sounded through the halls, and immediately afterwards the groom entered the drawing room, accompanied by Master Roderick Barrie, brother of the bride, who carried the wedding ring in a silver basket and took their places in a corner of the room in a bower of palms and flowers. The bride then entered leaning on her father's arm, while Miss Edna Darling, niece of the groom, preceded her, gowned in white silk, and carrying a basket of pink roses, and maiden-hair fern.

The bride looked very dainty in a beautiful gown of white embroidered net over white silk, wearing the bridal veil and carrying a bouquet of white roses and smilax.

When the solemn ceremony was completed and the congratulations of the assembled guests were received the bride led the way to the dining hall, where a bountiful and dainty wedding dinner was served, at the conclusion of which Rev. Mr. Thompson proposed "The Health and Happiness" of the bride and groom, and several others also spoke referring to the popularity of the contracting parties.

They left on the 4 o'clock train from Norwood amid showers of rice and confetti, and the best wishes of a host of friends who assembled to bid them adieu for Toronto and other points.

Mrs. Barr travelled in a tailored suit of amethyst broadcloth and a black draped panne velvet toque.

The best wishes of a host of friends follow Mr. and Mrs. Barr to their new home at Cotesloe, Ont.

THE QUESTION MARK ENIGIMA
THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Miss Flaherty of Park Street Awarded the $10 in Gold—See Richard Hall & Son's Vital Question Sale Advertisement.

By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that the solution of the "Vital Question" enigma which has appeared in the Examiner and throughout the city for the past two weeks is correctly given in the large advertisement of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, appearing elsewhere in to-day's issue of The Examiner. Scores of answers have been sent in to The Examiner's Question Box by persons guessing the meaning of the multitude of question marks round the city and what they portend, but only two answers have been received which could be counted as coming anywhere near "hitting the mark."

The wonder is that so many answers were received, seeing that the problem submitted was of such a vague and abstruse nature as to leave very little to work upon by the guessers.

The Winner.

Out of the two answers nearest the correct solution the one awarded the $10 in gold will be given to Miss Maggie Flaherty, 251 Park street, who sent in the following guess:

"Peterborough, Feb. 18, 1910.

"Answer to meaning of question marks is: What is the reason for the high cost of living."

"MAGGIE FLAHERTY,
251 Park street."

It wil be noted that this answer when compare d with the correct solution, conveys somewhat of the thought expressed in the Vital Question advertisement of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, in to-day's issue, although it is deficient in preciseness.

A More Correct Answer.

A more correct and precise answer was that received by Miss Lillian S. Wood, 300 Pearl avenue, of the bookkeeping staff of the Examiner. As, however, it might have been suspected that Miss Wood had an unfair advantage by being identified with The Examiner her answer was barred. The following is Miss Wood's guess:

"Peterborough, Feb. 19, 1910.

"The vital question is how to reduce the cost of living to all classes."

"LILLIAN S. WOOD,
300 Pearl Street."

It is but fair to Miss Wood to say that she could not have received any advantage over other guessers. On the last day of the guessing Miss Wood states that she took her cue from certain references contained in a paragraph regarding Richard Hall & Son, which appeared in The Examiner's article "Round the Stores," on Friday evening. Her guess was certainly a bull's-eye.

If Miss Flaherty will call at the office of Messrs. Richard Hall & Son, she will receive the $10 awarded her.

Conservatory Orchestra And Mrs. Scott-Raff Delight Large Audience

It was a thoroughly pleased audience that wended its way from the Conservatory Hall last evening, at the conclusion of the grand concert given by the Conservatory Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Rupert Gliddon, assisted by Mrs. Scott Raff, of Expression, Toronto. This is the second of a series of concerts given under this splendid organization, and, judging from the hearty reception accorded both the work of the orchestra and the artist of the evening, the fairly large number present enjoyed every number. Mr. Gliddon's orchestra never played better than it did last night and their excellent performance reflects great credit on the director, and is an evidence of his careful training. The orchestra is well balanced and the members play together faultlessly.

Mrs. Scott-Raff is not a stranger to the people of Peterborough, having appeared before local audiences on previous occasions. She was extended a warm welcome last evening, and will always be assured of one if she ever visits here again. Her selections were well chosen and gave this talented artist great scope to display her ability. Her work was above the ordinary, and she gave a true interpretation of the poems she rendered.

The Programme.

To comment on each number would be impossible, all being so perfectly given. The programme in its entirety was as follows:

(a) "March of the Priests" from Athalia—Mendelssohn .....
(b) "Sicilian Chimes," Reverie — Kerry Mills .....
Expression— "What is it?" —Mrs. Scott-Raff. .....
(a) Idyl—Paul Lincke .....
(b) Barn Dance—Kerry Mills .....
Narrative— "Inheritence" "Bird Philosophy" .....Anon
"A Limited Language" .. Batchelder

Mexican Dance. "Dark Eyes" Moret
"Aux Italiens" from Il Trovatore....
—Owen Meredith. .....

John P. Slocum presents the brilliant Comic Opera Triumph
"THE GAY MUSICIAN"
with Miss Texas GUINAN & A. STRONG supporting Company.
22--Song Hits--22 Prices:—25c to $1.50

"THE GAY MUSICIAN"

Here is what Mr. Boffard, Dramatic critic on the Winnipeg Free Press of recent date has to say about "The Gay Musician," the big comic opera success that will be presented here for a return engagement next Monday, Feb. 28, by Manager John P. Slocum, with the same production and cast in its entirety as seen in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg.

"Not in many moons has the Winnipeg theatre housed so thoroughly delightful a musical offering as "The Gay Musician," the comic opera by Julian Edwards, presented last evening by Manager Slocum, with Miss Texas Guinan in the leading role and a company of principals and chorus that fully live up to the advance announcements of a selected New York company. It is not too much to say that no better balanced cast of principals has been seen in comic opera or musical comedy for some time past. Of the eight people in singing and speaking parts every one has a good voice, every one is an accomplished dancer and every one has a really intelligent idea of the demands of comic opera. The chorus is quite in keeping, being large, very handsomely costumed and the voices are excellent, it being one of the best singing choruses heard here in a long time. Only three or four times during the entire performance is the whole company on the stage at once, but on the regrettably few occasions the ensemble singing is such as to create a desire for more.

Miss Guinan, the prima donna, and incidentally playing the part of a prima donna, compels one to use the hackneyed expression of "charming" for it is about the only word that describes her. Her voice is not wonderfully strong, but it is very sweet and used with the discrimination of an artist. Her acting is able and vivacious, her dancing breezy and natural and she tops these accomplishments off with exceedingly good looks. She was a fast favourite from the moment she made her first appearance. Miss Lottie Kendall the other prima donna of the company is very clever, she has a beautiful voice and is a charming woman. Miss Crawford in the role of a German mother-in-law is very funny and she kept the large audience in roars of laughter every time she spoke, she is also the possessor of a delightful contralto voice which she uses to advantage. The male members of the cast are a well assorted lot, Harry Benham having a baritone voice of uncommon purity and strength, while William Pringle not only unrolls a fine bass, but enacts the part of an old sea captain in a manner that is almost reminiscent of Pinafore. Roger Gray, William Ryan and Leo White might easily qualify for star parts in a George Cohan show with their eccentric dancing and spoken singing, but when required show plainly, that they, too, have real good voices. A pleasing feature and incidentally one of the finest musical offerings of the performance, was the singing of the national anthem at the close of the performance. Once again I would advise every one to see "The Gay Musician" as it is one of the best things seen here in a long time and more like it would be gladly welcomed to the city."

The same big production, costumes, cast and effects will be given here next Monday evening. Judging from the large number of inquiries as to when the tickets would be put on sale the engagement here will be a big success in every way.

An augmented orchestra of selected musicians under the direction of of Herr Max Winne, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera House, will be used.

Young Men Were Disorderly on Douro Street—Had to Pay Fines Forthwith

Two young men were fi ned at the police court this morning for being drunk and disorderly last night near the home of Mr. George Stevens, Douro St., East City. They were taken into custody by P. C. Meagher. Brock Wright was assessed two and costs, amounting to $5.85 for his little jubilation and his companion, an Italian by the name of Vito Aimola, had to pay $6.85. Both fines were made payable forthwith.

Mr. Stevens stated that the two were in his backyard and were drunk. They were fighting and were swearing and cursing. The disorderly conduct was very bad and brought the neighbours to their doors. He ordered them off his premises and the Italian drew a knife. He then telephoned for the police.

GOOD ROADS

Mr. F. N. Godfrey of New York State Will Address Convention in Toronto.

One of the first to accept among the speakers invited to be present at the Convention of the Good Roads Association of Ontario in Toronto on March 2nd, 3rd and 4th, is Mr. F. N. Godfrey, of the New York State Grange. There is probably no man in America more capable of dealing with this subject, particularly from the standpoint of its importance to the farmer. He is well known as one of the good road leaders, and has been identified closely with the most comprehensive scheme adopted and carried out successfully in the United States involving an expenditure on the part of New York of over $50,000,000. Mr. Godfrey has been a prominent speaker at the Good Roads conventions in Buffalo, Seattle and other centres and his advice is highly valued. He is only one of a number of such speakers who have agreed to address this Good Roads convention.

THE KNOCKER'S CREED

Man comes into this world without his consent and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. In his infancy he's an angel; in his boyhood he's a devil; in his manhood he's everything from a lizard up; in his duties he's a fool; if he raises a family he's a chump; if he's a poor man, he's a poor manager and has no sense; if he's rich he's dishonest, but considered smart; if he's a politician he's a grafter and a crook; if he's out of politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church he's a hypocrite; if he stays at home he's a sinner; if he donates to foreign missions, he does it for show; if he doesn't he's stingy and a tight wad.

When he first comes into the world everybody wants to kiss him; before he goes out they all want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him; if he lives to a ripe old age, then, of course, he is living to save funeral expenses.

Life's a funny thing, isn't it?

PROVISIONS OF R. R. BILL

Hon. Frank Oliver Opposes Proposal to Incorporate the Dominion Millers' Association, and Says He Will Do So as Long as a Merger Seems Possible — Miller Defends Sending Out Pamphlets.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Several matters of more than ordinary importance came before the Commons yesterday.

Hon. W. S. Fielding moved that the name of W. R. Smyth (East Algoma), be substituted on the public accounts committee for that of H. B. Ames, who is ill of typhoid in Alexandria, Egypt.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham introduced his promised bill to amend the railway act. It contains a number of important provisions including:

(1) That the Railway Commissioners can deal with works of companies which have proceeded with the location of lines without first getting the authority of the board.

(2) That Canadian railways may appoint as vice-presidents with certain defined duties, men who are not members of the board of directors.

(3) Deals with the erection of wires over tracks, when such action is necessary before the issuance of an order by the board.

(4) Deals with the necessity for brakemen riding on the rear end of locomotives. Mr. Graham explained that brakemen recognize the necessity of this in crowded railway yards, but object to doing it over certain portions of lines of railways on the ground that in cold weather it constitutes a hardship.

(5) Provides that Canadian railways may give transportation to former employes or members of the interstate commerce commission of the United States.

The bill to incorporate the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Co. was given a third reading. Mr. Graham said that the rights of the municipalities had been safeguarded.

The bill respecting the Dominion Millers' Association was referred back again to the special committee, to give an opportunity to parties interested to be heard. Hon. Frank Oliver opposed the bill. "So long as there appears to be on the face of it an attempt to form a merger."

Dr. Schnaffer (Souris, Man.) thought there ought to be a thorough explanation of the intention of the promoters.

Dr. Sproule (East Grey) said the bill gave the promoters power to form a monopoly against the farmers.

A. H. Clarke (South Essex) argued that the bill was to give smaller millers protection against bigger companies, giving them power to act as traders to buy and sell grain.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley also opposed the bill, remarking that if they had a little larger capital, it would provide a beautiful arrangement for a miller's trust against the farmers.

Major Sharpe (North Ontario) objected to the restriction of membership.

H. P. Miller (South Grey) on a question of privilege, defended his action in distributing a pamphlet reviewing the evidence laid before the anti-gambling committee, in spite of the fact that the argument has not been submitted. As introducer of the bill, he claimed he had the right to comment on the bill.

F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier), one of the committee, said it was a serious infraction of the privileges of the House, and was unusual and irregular. It was strictly forbidden to refer in the House to the subject matter or the proceedings of the committee.

Richard Blain (Peel), another member of the committee, said it was not in the best interests that the introducer of a bill should be chairman of the investigation committee.

Childress, Texas, Feb. 22.—Frank L. Craig was shot and instantly killed here yesterday by his 15-year-old son, Alberta, after the elder Craig, enraged at his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hamlin, aged 18, had chased her into the yard, seized her by the hair and dragged her around for some distance threatening to cut her throat.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Rev. Astor R. Schrag of Yarmouth, N.S., preached twice at the First Congregational Church here Sunday. During the evening service he left his coat, gloves, scarf and hat in the vestry. When he was in the pulpit a thief "nabbed" the coat, scarf and gloves.

German Police Kept Quiet.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The Socialist Suffrage demonstrations in the Prussian provincial cities were made quietly Sunday, and there were no disorders anywhere. Apparently the police had received orders from Berlin to assume a cautious and unprovocative attitude.

King George to Abdicate?

LONDON, Feb. 21.—Liverpool and London cables quote live cattle 13½c per pound; refrigerator beef steady, at 12 1-2c to 12 1-2c, dressed weight; refrigerator beef higher, at 9 5-8c to 10c per lb.

Union Live Stock.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 66 carloads, consisting of 1392 cattle, 163 sheep, 25 calves and 83 horses.

Exporters.

There were higher prices paid for cattle to kill at this city than was paid or at least reported paid, for export, as will be seen by the many sales reported below.

The only exporters, or at least cattle bought for export, were those purchased by Mr. Campbell being 294 in number, and weighing 1000 to 1300 lbs., at $6.35 to $6.90 per cwt. Export bulls were quoted at $4.75 to $5.25 per cwt.

Butchers.

There were a few, not more than half a dozen, cattle of prime quality that sold up to $6.25, and one load was reported at $6. Loads of good, $5.50 to $5.75; medium, $5 to $5.40; common, all the way from $4.25 to $4.90; cows, $3 to $5; canners, $2 to $2.50.

Veal Calves.

A limited number of calves sold at $7 to $8 per cwt., and one extra quality vealer sold by Maybee & Wilson brought $8.25 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

About 175 sheep and lambs sold at last week's quotations. Ewes $4.50 to $5.25 per cwt.; culls and rams, $3.75 to $4.25; lambs from $7 to $7.85 per cwt.

Hogs.

The hog market is firm at $6.90 for selects, fed and watered at the markets, and $6.65, f.o.b., cars, at country points. But there were none on sale to-day. We heard from drovers at country points that the former price was paid at points in the West of Ontario last week.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 21.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market, receipts for last week were 1930 cattle, 321 sheep and lambs, 1600 hogs and 209 calves, while offerings this morning amounted to 1000 cattle, 175 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 175 calves. The quality of the bulk of stock coming forward is all that could be expected, but as they are costing high prices in the country and supplies are not much in excess of the requirements, drovers are maintaining prices fairly well. Among the offerings were several loads of Manitoba domestic cattle of heavy weights and coarse quality. Choice Ontario steers sold at 6¼c to 6½c; good, at 5¾c to 6c; fair, at 5¼c to 5½c; medium, at 4¾c to 5c; common, at 4¼c to 4½c, and bulls at 3½c to 4c per pound.

Hogs—Prices show a further advance of 30c to 25c per cwt, and drovers in some cases asked another rise of 25c for stock to be delivered here later in the week, but packers were not disposed to make contracts. The upward tendency is attributed to continued small supplies. The demand from packers was fair and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.60, weighed off the cars.

The market for small meats was quiet, owing to limited supplies. Sales of a few small lots of lambs were made at 6½c to 7c, and sheep, at 4½c to 5c per lb. Calves were scarce and met with a ready sale at prices ranging from $3 to $12 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

CASE NEARS END.

Foster-Macdonald Suit Goes to Jury To-day.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Evidence adduced yesterday in the Foster-Macdonald libel suit showed that two agreements of sale were made out concerning the transfer of the Kamloops property to the Union Trust Co.

In one the consideration was placed at $225,000, and in the other at $170,000.

Peter Ryan, the vendor of the property, testified that he received but $170,000, while some $50,000 had gone to George Fowler, the intermediary between himself and the Union Trust. It was further shown that the plaintiff, Mr. Foster, received a sum of money from Fowler about the time the first payment on the property was made by the Union Trust.

A legal demand was made on Mr. Foster yesterday to produce his bank book, and in failing that to go into the box and testify regarding deposits to his account during the period of the negotiations for the Kamloops property. Mr. Foster did not produce his bank book.

"We are here to give evidence on that matter," put in I. F. Hellmuth, counsel for Mr. Foster.

It is understood that Chancellor Boyd will take the stand to-day and testify regarding the light in which Mr. Foster's private dealings with George W. Fowler was viewed by the Union Trust directors.

Considerable time was taken up yesterday with wordy battles between counsel regarding the propriety of putting in the findings of the royal commission, which investigated the Union Trust affairs in 1906. Mr. Johnston, K.C., finally won out and the findings were put in.

Unless the plaintiff decides to offer evidence in rebuttal, it is probable that the case will go to the jury to-day.

Quebec Cabinet Rumors.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—The unfavorable news regarding the health of Hon. Charles Devlin, in France, would appear to foreshadow the entry of the newly-elected member for Gaspe to the local Cabinet at an early date. It is stated here that Mr. Perron will become Minister of Mines and Colonization and that Hon. Mr. Devlin will either replace Hon. Hector Fabre in Paris or accept the position of Quebec agent in London, created last session.

Mr. Perron will be a fine acquisition to the debating power of the Quebec Cabinet, although he is not a great orator. He is a very able lawyer, and is already accepted as Attorney-General, under Hon. Mr. Taschereau, when Sir Lomer Gouin decides to leave the political arena and don the ermine of the Supreme Court bench.

Loaded With Typhoid Germs.

New York, Feb. 22.—"Typhoid Mary," whose real name is withheld at the request of the New York health authorities, is a free woman again, after having been confined in charity hospitals off and on for three years.

After repeated cases of typhoid were discovered in families for which she had cooked, the authorities made an investigation which resulted in her detention, on the theory that she was a walking reservoir for typhoid germs, harmless to herself, but easily communicated to those whose food she cooked.

Shot In Queer Way.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 22.—W. H. Hayward, M.P.P., is suffering from a peculiar injury through which he has several fragments of a bullet in his right leg. He was standing by a grate fire when a cartridge thrown into the flames by one of the children of the household, unknown to any one, exploded.

Cigarette Sparks Ignited Dynamite.

Pittsburg, Feb. 22.—Ten men and a boy were injured, three of them fatally, when sparks from a cigarette ignited two five pound cans of dynamite in an elevator descending into the Eliton Mine, near Dubois.

Assassin's Bullet Fatal.

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 22.—Boutros Pasha Ghali, the Egyptian Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, who was shot by a student Sunday, died at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

It was at first thought the wounds were not serious.

A score of arrests of supposed accomplices have been made, and a quantity of literature seized that shows the assassination was carefully planned by the Nationalists.

Smiles at Canadian's Funeral.

New York, Feb. 22.—The funeral of Neil Burgess, the actor, was held yesterday from a local mortuary chapel. The service was conducted by Mrs. Helen Temple Brigham, head of the Spiritual and Ethical Society.

There were no pall-bearers, but the chapel was filled. There were no mourning costumes, and in place of weeping and tears there were smiles.

Can't Treat In A Hotel.

St. Catharines, Feb. 22.—If you are so unfortunate as to be compelled to live in a hotel, you cannot have a guest in of an evening and serve liquor to him if it is after prohibited hours. That was Magistrate Campbell's construction of the act in dealing with the case of John Quinn, proprietor of the Russell House yesterday morning.

Commission For Port Arthur.

Port Arthur, Feb. 22.—The mayor and Ald. King and Ruttan go to Toronto this week to ask the Ontario Legislature to give Port Arthur power to govern itself by a paid commission. If the legislation is granted a plebiscite will be taken during the year, so that if favorable, the new system can be put into effect Jan. 1, 1911.

Juryman Dropped Dead.

New York, Feb. 22.—Henry Brunner, a Brooklyn merchant, dropped dead in the jury box yesterday as he stood to answer to his name at the roll call. He answered "present," turned as if to sit down, and fell in a heap on the floor.

A Centenarian's Death.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The death on Friday last of Hugh McCredie of Bristol Township, Pontiac, reported. Deceased was in his 102nd year. He came from Glasgow, Scotland, 68 years ago and had since lived on the farm on which he died.

Does Your Flour, Madam, Whiten Through Kneading

An A1 breadmaker and four-square home-maker.

Said she; "After kneading my dough awhile, I often wonder how "it whitens so noticeably under the hands. The more I knead and "work it, the whiter it gets, more wholesome-looking, you know. "That's a very encouraging thing in FIVE ROSES flour which I've "sadly missed elsewhere. Sort of makes you roll up your sleeves "and get busy."

Maybe, Mistress Housewife, you've noticed it, too.

But all flours, alas! are not FIVE ROSES.

With flour from poor quality wheat, poorly milled, there's no material improvement in the color of the bread due to kneading.

No reward for your trouble, you see.

It's the gray that's developed, Madam, not the white.

It's whiter dough you want, whither the longer you knead it, and you want it so without having your elbows hinged and lubricated like John L. Sullivan's.

And FIVE ROSES, Madam, responds beautifully to the least exertion.

• • • •

That fine uniform granulation answers to yeast action, and in the morning your dough is up as light as a cork.

The strong, live dough crackles and snaps heartily as you knead it down.

Then the snowy whiteness in the pans to be proved and baked!

From the oven your crusted golden loaves fill that kitchen of yours with the aroma of freshly-barked hickory nuts that portends a tooth-teasing flavor irresistible.

And the kiddykins need no other call to breakfast, Madam; just follow their noses.

• • • •

Don't let your neighbour beat YOU at breadmaking.

You can so easily do better, Mistress Housewife,

By getting FIVE ROSES.

So roll up your sleeves, Madam, and—

DO IT NOW.

THEATRICAL SEVEN STARRED IN A NEW MELODRAMA

Eddie Foy Crowe's Aggregation of Scene Shifters Chewed Up Buller's Tigers Last Night---Warm Squabble Over Leo the Lion---Referee Barbeau Was in the Spot Light

Eddie Foy Crowe's theatrical seven representing the Grand Opera House made a quick shift with Buller's Tigers, otherwise the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company's team in a thrilling two-act melo-drama at Brock St. rink last night. At the end of the first acene it was two to nothing in favour of the scene shifters and when the final curtain came the Thespians were in front five to one. The calcium rays were always on the theatrical seven, who were in the spot light all evening and who handed out a bright bunch of stuff that had no trouble in getting over the footlights. A large and fashionable audience attended the performance and it is safe to say that the S. R. O. sign will be out in the next appearance in this city of the Grand Opera House talent who have many of the travelling companies backed off the map.

The game was one of the real classy affairs of the season. As might be expected the costumes and scenery were away above par, while the incidental music was much appreciated, especially the "Kill the Referee Chorus", a topical song that was particularly appropriate under the circumstances. Referee Barbeau was heard in several catchy solos during the evening, his favourite being "Whitehead hasn't anything on Me." The specialties were out of the ordinary, the olio including high dives, slides for life and many other thrilling stunts.

Some little difficulty was experienced at the beginning on account of the theatrical seven endeavouring to ring in on their team one of the performing lions from the Royal theatre. The Fuel and Cartage wouldn't hear of it at all and put up a lively protest to Referee Barbeau.

"What's the matter with you fellows?" asked Manager Crowe. "Isn't he in the profession? Why shouldn't he play for us."

"Well I'm not going to do any Daniel in the lion's den stunt," remarked Strathcona Sam Thomas.

Referee Barbeau finally decided that Leo, the lion, was not eligible, because he was not a resident of Peterborough, and the game went on without him.

It was soon seen that His Majesty was not needed, as the seven stars from the Grand managed to eat up the Tigers without any assistance. They scored the only two goals in the first half and got three more after the Tigers had secured a lonely in the second. Referee Barbeau was fair and impartial and made no mistakes, missing every offside and being very lenient on rough play. Outside of that he was a fair referee.

Everyone on the Grand team was a star and you don't need to prove it. They will admit it themselves. The same is true of the Tigers.

The teams were as follows:

WINNIPEG TEAM IS HERE FOR GAME WITH PETERBORO'

A great sheet of ice is ready for to-night's game between the Winnipeg Bank team and the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. seven, which promises to be one of the biggest events of this season's sporting calendar. The good going will suit the visitors down to the ground. Like all Western teams they like fast ice, which is about the only kind they get during the season, and they will be able to perform to the best advantage under conditions such as will prevail to-night. The Peterborough team, too, like the outlook, as most of the local players are best when the sliding is good.

The local seven had a good practice at Brock Street Rink last night, and are in the best of shape for a hard game. They know that in hooking up with the Western cyclones to-night they have a hard task before them, and will go into the game with the determination to show the Westerners that the Eastern article is just as fast as they hand out in Manitoba.

The Peterborough team will be as follows:

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Heffernan.
Cover Point—McDougall.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Crane.
Right Wing—Weatherstone.

GREAT INTEREST IN THE GAME WITH WINNIPEG

The Northern Crown Bank team of Winnipeg, which plays the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. team at Brock Street Rink to-night arrived in Peterborough at noon to-day, and the players look fit and well. Their long journey was broken by a short stay in Toronto yesterday, and the men say that they are in the best of condition for to-night's game, which promises to be one of the best ever seen on local ice. The visitors are undoubtedly the classiest hunch that Peterborough has been called upon to meet in some time.

Their line-up includes five of the senior Victorias, the amateur champions of Manitoba, and they look like the real goods all through. L. M. Watson, formerly of Peterborough, is with the team, playing right wing, but did not arrive at noon, having missed the train, but he will be down to-night in time for the game.

Goal—Clarke.
Point—Fowler.
Cover—White.
Rover—Borland.
Centre—Barclay.

Claude Robinson, of Winnipeg, will referee the contest, which will be played under O. H. A. rules. The only difference between the two rules is that the Western does not permit of skating a mon on side.

The visitors have asked for a judge of play, so Bill Rose of Peterborough, will act in that capacity. It will be the first time that the double system has been used in Peterborough, although it is the custom both in the National League and in the Western body.

THE OTTAWAS' EXCUSE FOR DEFEAT BY WANDERERS

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—Officers of the Ottawa Hockey Club attribute their defeat in Saturday's match with Wanderers to their penalties in the second half. Ottawa suffered only six more minutes than their opponents in this respect, but they argue that the fate of their penalties coming in pairs demoralized the team at a critical time, and gave Wanderers their opportunity.

The Ottawa team did not play its game, the work of Shore and Roberts being a disappointment, in view of the manner in which they showed up in their home games.

The Ottawa officers have signed Smaill for the season, and will make a big fight to retain his services. They received a telegram from Secretary Leckie of the Cobalt Club Saturday night, stating that Smaill had jumped his contract, but Smaill explains that the Cobalt club failed to pay him his salary, and thus did the contract-breaking themselves.

At any rate, Smaill's work apparently delighted the Ottawa officers and he will be up to join the team to-day. They recognize the fact that Smaill was under a big handicap in the first half, being obliged to wear skates that did not suit him at all. He played very well under the circumstances, according to the views of the Ottawa officers, manager Pete Green remarking that Smaill was the most aggressive player he had ever seen. Had Smaill been fresh, Green thinks Ottawa would have won. He was disappointed in the Wanderer team, and expects Renfrew to be the dangerous championship possibility.

The league will meet in a few days to decide upon Smaill's eligibility, a number of other cases, including that of Newsy Lalonde, also being booked for settlement.

POST CARD COLUMN.

Peterborough, Feb. 21, '10.

Sir,—Your remarks to-night about dogs are unfair and untrue. Practically there is no such things as rabies—the scare being organized by those interested. In the north, where dog teams are valued they would laugh at the man who talked mad-dog. Crazy, drunken men there are in plenty; see the wretched brutes any day; men whose lives are a continuous deception, who take the meanest advantage of the poverty of the poor. The dog, if well treated by a kind master, is a splendid animal, but some human beings, Torontonians especially, would drive anything crazy.

RATE OF TAXATION AND HOW ESTIMATES TOTALLED

Ald. Bradburn laid before the Council last night the estimates of the city's receipts and expenditures and gave the information that the rate of taxation this year would be 22 mills as the general rate, with an extra mill for Separate School supporters.

The duty was not to Ald. Bradburn's liking, in fact the chairman of the Finance Committee wore the air of a fond parent saying to the second son 'I don't like to give you this whipping, my boy. It really hurts me more than it does you." Ald. Bradburn stated to the Council that he had gone over the lists with a keen pruning knife and had lopped off a $200 branch here and another there, until hard pan had been reached, and it was impossible to further cut from the civic tree if it was to bear fruit of the desired quality and quantity. There are a few extra items that were not on last year's estimate sheet. They are as follows: $400 for power development, $500 for the maintenance of an Isolation Hospital, if it is erected this year; $700 for the maintenance of the public library, when it is opened and $2,000 towards the expenses of an Industrial Commissioner on condition that the Board of Trade grant a like $2,000. Profitting by last year's experience the Board of Works will be dealt with more liberally, receiving $16,000 instead of $12,500. But the figures are in the columns given below and should be of interest to every ratepayer.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Mr. Albert Parker left this morning for Brandon and Battleford on a business trip.

Miss Buller, King street, was at home to a number of her friends in honour of Miss Viola George, of Port Hope, who is visiting in the city. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

On Saturday afternoon a tobogganing party at Jackson's Park was given for Miss George and on Friday evening a delightful party was held at the residence of Mr. Brown, Homewood Avenue.

Mr. Mark Black, of Winnipeg, formerly of Peterborough, is renewing acquaintances after thirteen years' absence. He has been City Missionary at Superior, Wis., Evangelistic Labours, Chicago and Minnesota, Secretary Men's Own Labour and Friendship Association, Winnipeg, and assumes work shortly with the Y. M. C. A. in Camp Missionary and Evangelistic work. He is surprised at the progress of Peterborough. Mr. Black is residing with T. J. Brooks, 454 Sherbrooke street.

ROBERT FAIR & CO., LIMITED

The Surtax Abolished

The French Treaty Advantage to Canadians

Good News for the Customers of Robert Fair & Co.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the abolition of the German Surtax will be hailed with satisfaction by shoppers at the Golden Lion.

Being large importers of European goods, including German novelties of high-class manufacture—the surtax duty on these goods has always been felt to be in the nature of a reprisal against Canadian buyers. This surtax on goods of German production has had the effect of increasing the cost of goods one-third additional on the regular import duty.

Germany having now abandoned the undue discrimination against Canadian exports, it will be good news to many of the shoppers at the Golden Lion, who will in future receive the full benefit of the reduction in the cost of these goods on account of the Canadian Surtax being taken off.

The French Treaty of 1907

The amended tariff on goods of French origin will permit Canadian buyers to participate in the lower rate of duty which it prescribes.

All Our Spring

Importations will therefore benefit by the removal of the Surtax and the lower rate on French goods.

Sister's Condition Reported Critical

Authorities Believe That it May Not be Long Before a Double Murder May be Charged to Robert Henderson — Advanced Years a Drawback.

IS MORE THAN RUMOUR

While Robert Henderson is held in custody with the blotting out of one human life to his account there is every probability that it will not be long until his second victim succumbs to the blow he dealt her. With the death of Margaret McPherson on Sunday morning, one charge of murder will assuredly be laid against Henderson and The Examiner learns that the sister, Martha McPherson, is not expected to recover from the effects of the injuries she received. Although her present condition is favourable, and it is thought by some that she will regain her strength, one of the authorities who is looking after the case expressed his opinion that she will not see the close of 1910.

He said he formed the opinion by seeing Miss McPherson and from the reports he received from the doctors who, it is said, are not holding out strong hopes for the remaining sister. The county authorities are satisfied with the delay in giving Henderson a preliminary hearing, as he was held until definite information was received regarding the condition of those whom he had attacked. attacked.

LARGEST POWER PLANT

La Crosse Company Will Store Six Billion Cubic Feet of Water.

La Crosse, Wis., Feb. 22.—Plans have been announced here for completing one of the largest water power developments in the United States by the construction of a dam at the mouth of Rock Creek, on the east fork of Black River. It will provide 6,007,067,600 cubic feet of storage to be utilized by means of a 97-foot head, which will develop 30,000 ten-hour horsepower. Hundreds of acres of land will be inundated.

At the same time comes the information that various owners of water powers along the Fox River are to organize a central company, which will construct storage basins at the headwaters of that stream by means of dams for the purpose of conserving the flood waters and equalizing distribution through the water power along its course.

It is stated that the Fox River project is to cost a million dollars for lands and dams and will have a storage capacity of 4,000,000,000 cubic feet of water. The new cast fork dam of the La Crosse Water Power Company's project, owing to cheap land and adaptable conditions, will cost only $150,000 and will conserve 5,000,000,000 cubic feet.

PURITY WARE MEASURE WAS THROWN OUT

Peterborough's Private Bill Met With Strong Opposition in the Legislature This Morning---Ironclad Company of Brooklyn Behind the Scheme.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—The Proposal of the City of Peterborough to aid the Purity Ware Limited to the extent of $50,000 and change the name of the company, met with strong opposition in the Private Bills committee of the Legislature this morning and the outcome is that the committee refused to grant the request. The by-law will have to go back to the people for another expression of opinion and the fixed assessment of $10,000 which is asked, will be only attained if two-thirds of those voting on the measure are in favour of it. James Kendry, of Peterborough, opposed it on the ground that the city did not know who was behind it. "It is merely a promotion scheme," he said. President Gillespie, of the Board of Trade, offered to give the names and said the Ironclad Company of Brooklyn, was behind the business, and Robert Greig, of Toronto, would put money into it.

Technical Education Is Assisted By Libraries In Cities Of United States

Judge Hardy of Brantford Returns From Trip of Inspection—Methods by Which the Public Libraries Further and Render Easy Technical Education.

INTERESTING INTERVIEW

In regard to technical education which is coming in for extensive consideration at present the Examiner publishes an interview with Judge Hardy of Brantford, who has returned from a very successful trip to several large United States cities, in connection with the Ontario Government's commission recently appointed with a view of enquiring how far libraries had gone in the United States in aiding technical education and developing a taste for the reading of industrial literature.

Speaking of the results of the investigation of the commission, His Honour stated that a recommendation would be made to the Ontario Government that a special grant be made in industrial centres warranting it for the establishment of a technical work department in each library. This will undoubtedly, if carried out, be of a big value to Brantford, where the need of such a reference department has been greatly felt for some time.

The state library at Albany, N.Y., was first visited. The technical work there is carried on by the Y. M. C. A., which has 10,000 volumes of such literature. The association also conducts instruction and lectures in the same line, which are very profitable in the inculcating of that elementary knowledge in the arts, which is so desirable as a beginning to the work. The visit to the great Boston public library, which is world-famous, proved most interesting. The library is a general one, not devoting any particular attention to any one subject, but covering all in a wonderful way. It is one of the most interesting institutions in the world, having an annual issue of 1,500,000 books to the homes of the people. The city of Boston appropriates one and one-half per cent. of its annual tax for library purposes, which makes about $325,000. This year the sum of $360,000 is being asked for. The library has twelve branches divided into sections, and contains over 300,000 books which may be taken from the shelves unrestrictedly and read on the tables. The basic principle of the library is that under free government education is necessary for the intelligent conduct of affairs, and on this the safety of property depends. Incidentally Judge Hardy said the library had a staff of 250 people, many of whom could speak from six to twelve different languages.

At Worcester the trade school, Y. M. C. A. and library worked together, hand in hand. Classes were instructed in carpentry, electricity, iron working and other trades, and there were 1,000 technical books for reference. In Providence a unique feature was the gathering together of a large number of trade catalogues, which proved a decided asset to the library. There were some 3,000 works of a technical nature. At Newark, Librarian John Cotton Dana presided over the library, which had a technical department as big as the Brantford library, containing 20,000 volumes. It was pointed out that 100 people per evening visited this department to secure information. The commission also visited the Pratt Institute at Brooklyn, one of the most famous institutions in the world, where all kinds of trades were taught. A profitable time was also spent at Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

Judge Hardy believed the time was ripe for government aid to technical education, through the medium of the library. In the United States it was generally found that there was an effort being made to limit the supply of fiction, and librarians were pointing to the decreasing ration of these kind of books bein read; the objective was to make the library a bureau of information by the development of the reference department, so that information was ready at a moment's notice on all local probles. Special attention was being paid to children, where fine rooms, with little chairs and tables were installed with special care to provide interesting reading matter. In this way the taste of the young for good literature is bein geducated. In several libraries large collections of pictures were also kept, so that lecturers could bring their classes to the library and utilize them in an exemplifying manner. Another new feature was the issuing of sheet music like books. In fact, every need of the public, every refining influence and every feature of general education, were being embraced by the leading United States libraries.

HIGHEST ASSESSMENT COUNTS IN CASE OF TIE

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—Henceforth the man with the highest assessment shall be declared the successful candidate in the Peterborough aldermanic field in case of tie vote. This question was straightened out by private bills committee this morning.

FRIDAY'S MEETING SHOULD HAVE LARGE ATTENDANCE

The public are requested to remember the public meeting to be held in the Opera House on Friday evening next, Feb. 25th. The meeting will be addressed by two of the foremost members of Parliament, Mr. E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, who made one of the most powerful speeches on the Naval Bill, delivered during the debate, and Mr. H. S. Beland, of Beauce, one of the most eloquent of the French-Canadian representatives. The meeting will afford an opportunity of hearing two good speeches by men from the thick of the fight now raging at Ottawa over the patriotic proposal of the government over the naval bill and the conflictory and compromise attitudes of the Opposition. The attention of Parliament is now engaged with one of the epoch-making movements of its history, the parting of the ways in the way of national advance and patriotic assumption of enlarged responsibility.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto, the Queen City of Canada, has much of the beautiful. It is found in the many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens. Its government buildings are fine. Of hotels there are many; none, however, approaching the Queen's for perfect service, quiet comfort, and homelike surroundings, and the peculiar excellence of its cuisine. Its fame is far-reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. The charges are based on the American and European plan, and are as follows:

MILK AND ITS IMPORTANCE.

The question of the production and supply of milk for economic and domestic purposes is of the first importance. The preservation of health of adults and the prolongation of infantile life depend upon its purity. The most reliable records give the number of milch cows in the province at one million, two hundred thousand. That of itself represents a money value of about forty million dollars. In 1908 there were 1,117 cheese factories and 97 creameries which received for manufacture 166,103,975 gallons of milk. This, by no means, represents the total milk production, for it does not include the large quantity of butter made, and milk consumed on the farm; nor does it include the milk sold for human consumption through the medium of the milk-vendor. On the basis of figures furnished by some Ontario cities it is possible to form the estimate that 36,464 gallons constitute the daily consumption of milk by eighteen cities of the province, with a combined population of 687,814. At an average of thirteen cents per gallon, this means that the milk men of the province derive a revenue of $1,630,216 per year for the supply of milk to our cities. As 26 cents per gallon is a moderate estimate of the amount paid by the consumer it will be seen that the city milk supply represents another $1,630,000, divided between the vendor and middleman. At a similar rate for the whole province, supplying milk would mean an annual revenue of $6,123,330 to the producer, but as the consumption in rural districts greatly exceeds the city average, the sum must be placed far in excess of that amount. It, therefore seems to be well within the mark to say that the dairying products are worth to the producer, by way of return, the large sum of forty-five million dollars, not including the employment given to thousands, and the large demand for stock foodstuffs, and all with the very smallest net exhaustion of the soil of any branch of farming operations. It will be seen that the production of milk is a well-paying branch of farming, and while we city people think we pay a pretty stiff figure for milk the farmer works hard, early and late, for his money, which we don't begrudge him, especially if he furnishes clean, pure, wholesome milk that has not formed the habit of the intemperate use of water.

TOUCHING SOLICITUDE.

The solicitude of the political enemies of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, for his health, is touching. Their sadness makes them pessimistic and they see in the slight cold, that has confined him to his rooms for a few days, a dangerous physical condition that portends something serious. That Sir Wilfrid's enemies show so much greater interest in his health than his friends is greatly to the credit of their kindness of heart. Under the austere front of political antagonism they show the sympathizing soul so evidently that we are forced to the conclusion that their grief would not be greater if illness removed him, if not from this world, at least from the domain of political activity and influence. In proof of the ability of the big-hearted members of the Conservative opposition to divorce their personal sympathies rather completely from their political functions, it may be mentioned that on Monday night in the House, while Sir Wilfrid Laurier, according to reports sent out from Ottawa to Conservative journals, was lying in his house in a condition of illness that "caused great anxiety," a Conservative orator, Mr. Cowan, of Victoria, B.C., indulged his political vindictiveness by making coarse criticism of Sir Wilfrid's speeches on the Naval Bill. This speech of the member for Victoria was as void of the decencies of debate, of fair argument, of fair comment, as it was replete with disrespect and ad captandum verbal conceits. It excited the Opposition to spasms of laughter and unlimited desk-thumping as was to be expected from the partizan bitterness and rudeness of what Mr. Ralph Smith, of Nanaimo, who followed him, described as the "performance of a political mountebank." The speaker calling Mr. Smith to order for the expression, was technically justified in his action, but not more so than Mr. Smith in his adherence to the truth. Parliamentary rules seem to permit a man to make a boor and a mountebank of himself, while it properly enough, perhaps, forbids the characterization of such actions in adequate speech. In the discussion of the Naval Bill, the Conservative Opposition has allowed the leech of partizanship to fasten itself upon them. As of yore, they arrogate to themselves all the loyalty extant, all the imperial spirit, and bear false witness against their political opponents in order to justify their aspersion of their loyalty. When a man boasts most loudly of his honesty, button your pocket. When a party plumes itself on the exclusive possession of loyalty, Dr. Johnson's reference to "patriotism being the last refuge of a scoundrel," seems to possess a pat quality of opposiiteness.

AN INCENTIVE TO ACTION.

The Maritime provinces are noted for producing men with unusual brain development. They have, in fact, produced more great men of intellect, more public men, more eminent statesmen and litterateurs than any other section of the Dominion. They evidently produce men, men of common sense, as is shown by the action of the New Brunswick Union of Municipalities. This body has adopted a resolution calling upon the provincial government to inaugurate a system of provincial roads between the large centres, borrowing money if necessary to carry on the work. With all due modesty, this is claimed to be a common sense action because it is in line with the course of action the Examiner some time ago urged and called upon the provincial government of Ontario to undertake. In justification of this demand it was pointed out that good roads for the province is one of the greatest necessities of profitable farming and social development. The standard of civilization that obtains is determined by the quality of the highways of a community. If the matter is left to the initiative of the farmers, it will not be looked after. The best farmers are not indifferent to the merits or necessity of good roads, but they are overborne by the vast majority, who show a lamentable apathy and indifference upon the subject, so palpably in their own interest. There is not only these things, but there is also lack of organization, lack of leadership; and now that we have lost "Good Roads Campbell," there is need for a new prophet to arise. The effete and ineffective statute labour system weighs down the country like a veritable old man of the sea. Innumerable crimes against the cause of highways are to be laid at its doors; it has not only bred bad roads, but it has bred a spirit of indifference to their necessity. Under these circumstances it is the duty of the Provincial government to save the farmers from themselves and benefit them and the country by taking over the laying out and construction of leading roads. The chief lion in the path of the municipalities doing this themselves is the local jealousy which prevents municipalities from themselves selecting what are to be denominated leading roads. If the government undertook this through proper officials, they would not be influenced by local considerations and their selection of leading roads would be accepted all the more readily, as the local communities would not be called upon to bear the expense. Such an assumption of leading roads by the province would involve the building and maintenance of these leading roads out of the provincial revenues. Now, the farmers do not contribute, by way of direct taxation, a cent to the provincial revenues, so it would not lie with them to complain if a liberal sum were spent upon a system of leading roads throughout the province. In five years the expenditures of the province have increased from five and a quarter millions to over twelve millions, the total demand for 1910. Of this increased expenditure the farmers of the province have received very little benefit, except in so far as the increase is accounted for by more liberal expenditures upon agriculture and education. The farmers in number and amount of investment constitute about seven-tenths of the province. And they can well justify a demand that at least a fortieth part of the annual provincial expenditures be devoted to the promotion of their highest interests—good highways. If, say $250,000 a year, were spent in providing leading roads to the market towns of every county, the direct benefit to the farmers would be infinitely greater than that they derive for the expenditure of twice or four times that amount spent upon any other prominent public service. The farmers of Ontario, who surpass any other province of the Dominion in general agricultural enterprise and success, should not let the farmers of New Brunswick take the lead of them. They have "got the pole" now; they should keep it.

THE GAZETTE AND THE TRENT CANAL.

Of all the prominent journals of the Dominion one would least expect the Montreal Gazette to assume, what Mr. Bumble would call, a "parochial" attitude in dealing with national questions. In Monday's issue it refers to the "waste of money on unnecessary public works". In absence of specific mention it is assumed that it refers to many improvements in the form of wharves, breakwaters, harbour deepening, etc., which are matters that may not deserve to be dignified with the title of public works of national importance, like the improvement of Montreal, Port Colborne or Fort William and Port Arthur harbours. But they are all elements in the national up-building. Each of these small works in its little way, contributes to the sum total of national commerce which, in turn, contributes to the business and prosperity of a great national port like Montreal. The commerce of the Dominion in made up in the main of the little traffic trickles which, uniting at Montreal and other ocean ports, pours its broad stream into the ocean to find its way to all parts of the world. As a matter of justice to humble communities, a fair share of the expenditure of the public revenues is due them. These communities contribute their share to the revenue and are, therefore entitled to the improvements made. That there is waste in its details of expenditure may be possible, but on principle, these expenditures can be justified, both as a matter of equity and of business. The humblest farmer scattering his seed among the stumps of his pioneer farm, reaping a crop and hauling it to the humblest lakeside wharf, from which it finds its way to the market, is making his share of contribution to the seven million total of our annual trade. Every improvement that facilitates transportation, oils the wheels of commerce and assists in the grand total of results. A rivulet in the backwoods, that may be dammed with the frost, is a small thing in itself, but millions of these uniting make the mighty St. Lawrence.

The Gazette does not confine its strictures to generalities. It makes a specific attack upon the Trent Canal. In referring to "unnecessary public works," it says:

> It extends to small as well as large things. Of the latter the Trent Valley canal works are among the most notable. In connection with them million after million is voted and spent to create a waterway that is yet without outlets, and that, when outlets are provided for it, will have little to do, because of its shallow depth and the circuitous route it has had to follow, and because the railway everywhere offers a competitive service, more rapid and probably as cheap, and available all the year round.

The "millions" that are being voted now are voted to remove the reproach of "a waterway without outlets." When these outlets are completed the Trent Canal will be one of the highways of commerce from the heart of the continent to the sea—to ungrateful and unappreciative Montreal, for whose benefit coincidently with that of the Dominion, millions have been spent in deepening the St. Lawrence channel. "It will have little to do," the Gazette hazards, "on account of its shallow depth." It has a far greater depth and little more "circuitous route" than that venerable ditch, the Erie canal had in all the years it carried uncounted millions of grain and other traffic. It has the same depth the Erie canal will have when it is improved by the expenditure of a hundred million, enough to build our Georgian Bay ship canal. The Trent Canal, when completed will perform an important work in helping move the western grain crop. Over a shorter distance than any existing canal route. Landlocked from Midland to Montreal it will permit a small tug to tow a line of barges carrying almost as much wheat as a big lake freighter and at a saving in freight of from two to three cents per bushel. As to the railways offering a service "probably as cheap," that statement is absurd. A large cement works on the line of the uncompleted canal has to pay for rail handling, 25 per cent of its profits and the same applies to the great cereal works at Peterborough and other important industries on the route of the canal. A statement that the competitive service of the railways "would probably be as cheap" would be laughed to scorn if made in the presence of local shippers. The completion of the Trent Canal—the providing of a few miles of outlets—will benefit no other place more than the City of Montreal, whose hostility to the scheme is impossible to understand. The Welland and the St. Lawrence Canal systems, the canalization of the St. Lawrence channel have made Montreal and conjoined with its own special enterprise, aided by the liberality of the government, have made it one of the most important grain shipping posts on the continent. Does not the Gazette recognize that when the wheat production of the Canadian West is multiplied ten fold; when it grows, not a hundred million but a thousand million bushels for export, the Welland canal route, the railways, the Trent Canal and the Hudson Bay route, and the Georgian Bay route will be taxed beyond capacity to provide transportation?

Suffered Terrible Pains From His Kidneys.

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body, and most people are troubled with some kind of kidney complaint, but do not suspect it.

There is no way of getting the kidney poisons out of the system except through the kidneys, and no medicine so effective in taking them out as Doan's Kidney Pills.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by old and young.

Mr. Dougald A. McIsaac, Broad Cove Banks, N.S., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for nine months, and suffered with such terrible pains across the small of my back all the time that I could hardly get around. After taking two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I began to feel better, and by the time I had taken three I was completely cured."

Price 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MR. C. H. COON ON THE DOMINION COUNCIL

Royal Templars of Peterborough Pleased With His Appointment.

Dan Spence Council of R. T. of T. held it a regular meeting last night in the hall on George street, with Select Councillor Rev. Bro. Coon in the chair.

Apart from routine work, a feature of the meeting was a report of the proceedings of Grand Council, which was held last week in Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Coon, as local delegate to that body, reported an exceedingly enthusiastic meeting, and was pleased especially with the tone of optimism which pervaded all its deliberations. He took occasion also to express his pleasure at the evident signs of new life and strength in the local Council.

The members present last evening were given to congratulations over the fact that their Council had been honoured in the appointment of their chief officer to the Dominion Council, which will convene next month in Hamilton, and that he had also been elected as Grand Chaplain for the year.

An interesting meeting is expected in two weeks as several candidates will likely be initiated.

SOCIAL EVENING

Enjoyable Time Was Spent at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night.

Last evening a large number of the members and their friends turned out to enjoy the programme provided by the Social Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association in the parlours.

The feature of the evening was a paper on "Life Insurance," by Mr. D. H. Moore. In the paper Mr. Moore dealt in his usual interesting and effective manner with the history, principles and benfits of life insurance. His paper wos followed by a practical discussion of the subject, in which several took part.

The musical part of the programme was contributed to by Mr. Dudley, singing "The Monarch of the Wood," by Mr. Coleman, in humorous songs, by Mr. R. F. Downey, in "The Veteran Song," by Mr. Frank Clark, in selections on the banjo; Mr. C. Ackerman, accompanying.

Mr. V. Eastwood acted as chairman in his usual pleasing and able manner.

Mr. P. A. Kerr, chairman of the Social Committee, explained that the desire of the committee was to provide such social gatherings at last evening's in order to promote sociability among the members and emphasized the necessity of each member realizing his personal responsibility in this respect if the Association is to maintain a pleasing, social atmosphere.

Refreshments were furnished by Coleman Bros., and were served by the Committee.

OBITUARY.

MRS. THOS. CARR.

Intelligence was received this morning from Brooklyn, N.Y., of the death of Mrs. Thos. Carr, who passed away on Monday last, Feb. 21st at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Smith, of that city. The deceased was the widow of the late Thos. Carr, formerly of Peterborough, and sister of Mrs. Henry Owens, Mrs. John Madden, Mrs. Ben. White, Mrs. Wm. Argue, Mrs. Wm. Hill, and Mr. George Kingdon, all of this city. She leaves also to mourn her loss three daughters and two sons, viz., Mrs. Lawes, of Los Angeles, Wm. Carr, of Rochester, Mrs. John King of Toronto, Mrs. Smith of Brooklyn, and Harry Carr of Los Angeles. Deceased was 64 years of age and was a daughter of the late George Kingdon. In recent years she made her home with her son in Rochester, and her daughter in Los Angeles, and had only returned a short time to her daughter, in Brooklyn before her death. The body is expected to arrive in this city this afternoon, and the funeral takes place to-morrow at 2.30 p.m., from the residence of Mr. Andrew Davidson, of Boundary Road, for interment in the Little Lake cemetery.

When an undue amount of nervous energy is used in the brain there is certain to be failure in the other functions of the body.

Digestion is imperfect—the head aches—you cannot sleep—you become nervous and irritable—you are easily excited and quickly tired—your memory fails and you cannot concentrate the mind.

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a creator of new, rich, red blood and hence a builder-up of the nervous system.

Being mild and gentle in action it is especially suited as a treatment for children at the critical period in life when important physiological changes are taking place. But you must look out for imitations. 50 cts. a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Peterborough Boys Are On Line Up Of Rochester Team

Three Peterborough boys are with the touring Rochester team—"Rube" Lynch, "Bob" Duncan, and "Tud" Gorman. They opened their trip in Picton last night, losing to the Junior O. H. A. team by 10 goals to 6. A despatch from Picton says:

An exhibition game of hockey was played here to-night between Picton juniors O. H. A. team and an American team called the Ehrenstein Hustlers of Rochester, N.Y. This was their first game in Canada. The play was very slow. The New York team put up a very inferior brand of hockey the home team in the first half simply putting in the time. The Ehrensteins are making a tour of Picton, Trenton, Belleville and Port Hope. The next game is in Trenton to-morrow night. The score at half-time was 7 to 2 in favour of Picton, and the final score 10 to 6. The line-up:

BAD STOMACH

Many in Peterborough are Being Thoroughly Purified by Miona, the Guaranteed Cure for Indigestion.

People of Peterborough, who suffer from dyspepsia and other stomach troubles are getting tired of taking preparations containing pepsin, because pepsin simply digests the food artificially. Pepsin relieves, it never cures.

And remember, pepsin only digests animal food; it has no effect on starchy food, such as potatoes, rice, bread, etc.

Mi-o-na cleanses and purifies the stomach and bowels, and tones up and puts energy into the stomach walls, so that they properly mix the food with the natural digestive juices of the stomach.

Mi-o-na tablets quickly arouse the stomach from its inaction, and in a few days it is able to do its work easily and without exertion. There will be no more sour stomach, fermentation of food, dizziness, sick headache, belching of gas, or foul breath.

Mi-o-na only costs 50 cents a large box, and is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to cure dyspepsia, sea or car sickness, vomiting of pregnancy, and stomach sickness resulting from overindulgence of the night before, or money back.

YOUNG PEOPLE DROVE TO LAKEFIELD CHURCH

Knox Church Guild Provided Concert and Were Entertained.

On Monday evening the Knox Church Young People's Guild took a drive to Lakefield. It was a social evening and a programme was given by Knox at the Presbyterian church. The programme was begun at a late hour. The following were given:

Master Roland Smith, recitation.
Mr. E. Thompson, solo.
Mr. A. Donaldson, recitation.
Messrs. Thompson, Donaldson, Dickson and Allan, (quartette.)
Miss Jeane Robson, solo.
Miss E. Bartley, Messrs. Williamson and Shepherd, dialogue.
Rev. H. J. Keith, B.D., solo.
Messrs Thompson, Donaldson, Dickson and Davenport, (quartette.)

A few words by Rev. Mr. Keith, added to the delight of the programme. The Rev. Mr. Burns extended a warm welcome to Knox Church Young People's Guild. He hoped this visit would be the means of closer relationship and extension in the church work.

The president, Mr. J. W. Patten, answered on behalf of the Guild, and thanked the Lakefield young people for their reception. After the singing of the national anthem, refreshments were served, bringing a pleasant evening to a close. Next Monday, Feb. 28th, is devotional evening.

THOSE WHO HAVE NOT PAID POLL TAX

There are a number of young men in the city who have not yet paid their poll tax. Chief Rossel began this morning to serve summonses on the reluctant ones, and they will likely appear before the magistrate one of these days. It is then likely that they will have to pay more than the regular tax as they have not paid up in the required time.

Cobourg Put Out Of O.H.A. Running

Defeated Collingwood But Lost on the Round.

Cobourg, Feb. 22.—Before the record crowd of the season here to-night the speedy Cobourg locals surprised the fast Collingwood seven by trimming them by the score of 11 to 8. This was the second game of the home-and-home series, and gives Collingwood tht round by the total score of 21 to 16, as they defeated Cobourg at Collingwood by 13 to 5.

The game from the first round of the bell was fast and clean, very few men being given a rest on the fence. The locals right from the start began boring in on the visitors' net, and shot two goals home in less than four minutes. Things now seemed bad for the strangers, and it looked like an overwhelming defeat, but they pulled themselves together and evened up the score after a few minutes of good hard play. The half-time score was 7 to 5 for Cobourg.

Every man on the ice played excellent hockey, and it may well be said that both teams are very evenly matched, but the citizens of Cobourg are still wondering how the Collingwook boys got such a large lead at that place last Friday night. The locals are a speedy bunch of boys, and are excellent stick-handlers and very speedy skaters, and every man on the team is a home-brew. The visitors also have a nicely-balanced team, and should land the championship. Referee Hancock of Toronto, officiated, and made things very satisfactory. The line-up:

IN AGONY WITH PILES

Mr. G. W. Cornell, with the Shaw Milling Co., St. Catharines, Ont., writes, "For six years I was a victim of itching, protruding piles and was in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me and I was about as miserable as any creature could be. My druggist advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did and obtained relief from the first box and complete cure with the second. This ointment would be cheap at fifty dollars a box in view of what it did for me."

3000 COUPLES MARRIED BUT CAN'T PROVE IT

Judges Want to Legislate to Restrict Persons Empowered to Perform Ceremonies.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 22.—The next Kansas legislature is to be asked to pass a law limiting the number of persons who may perform marriage ceremonies. From statistics gathered by the Kansas Association of Probate Judges there are at least 3,000 couples living in Kansas, legally married, but who could not prove it.

The law requires every person who performs a marriage ceremony to make a report to the Probate Court, where the fact of the marriage is duly recorded. The records gathered by the judges through the association show that from sixteen to two hundred marriages have not been reported during the last ten years in every county, the number not reported depending on the size of the counties.

The matter was brought to the attention of the Probate judges by the United States Pension Office. Three cases have appeared within the last five weeks in which a soldier's widow will not be able to collect a pension because her marriage is unrecorded.

The Probate judges want to restrict the marrying business to Probate judges and clergymen and then make the regulations so strict and the penalty so heavy that the ministers will not fail to make the proper reports.

Do You Suffer From Headaches ?

There are few people who have never experienced a headache from one cause or another. It effects all ages and both sexes alike, but the female sex is naturally the more effected through the higher nervous development and more delicate organization of the system. Those also of a nervous temperament and studious or sedentary occupation are subject to it.

The presence of headache nearly always tells us that there is another disease which, although we may not be aware of it, is still exerting its baneful influence and perhaps awaiting an opportunity to assert itself plainly.

Burdock Blood Bitters has, for years, been curing all kinds of headaches, and if you will only give it a trial we are sure it will do for you what it has done for thousands of others.

Headache and Constipation Cured.

Mrs. John Conners, Burlington, N.S., writes: "I have been troubled with headache and constipation for a long time. After trying different doctors' medicine a friend asked me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I find I am completely cured after having taken three bottles. I can safely recommend it to all."

Old age should be a happy, healthy age. We all could grow old gracefully and probably live to be a hundred, did we jealously guard our most valuable possession—our health—in youth and middle age.

At the first sign of Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Kidney, Stomach or Skin Trouble, "Fruit-a-tives" should be taken. "Fruit-a-tives", or fruit juice tablets, not only cure the specific trouble, but also so strengthen and invigorate the entire system that there is a marked improvement in the general health.

CARRIED BRIDEGROOM AROUND IN COFFIN

Club Men Commemorate Marriage of Member Who is an Undertaker,

Streator, Ill., Feb. 23.—Carried through the streets in a coffin at 10 o'clock at night was the gruesome experience of A. A. Solon, a young undertaker of this city who recently was married. He was a member of the Streator Bachelor Club and his marriage was made the occasion for a "memorial," at which a mock trial took place.

The undertaker was tried, found guilty by a jury of unmarried men and put under the "death" penalty. The prisoner was submitted to a severe electric shock, after which he was placed in a coffin, which bore the inscription, "Not dead, but married."

CUT OUT TONSILS, NO MORE RHEUMATISM

Chicago Physician Blames Many Ills on Early Tonsilar Trouble.

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 22.—Dr. Frank Billings, of Chicago ,dean of Rush Medical College, announced the discovery before the Will County Medical Society of a simple cure for certain affections which, when present in the limbs and joints, are commonly called rheumatism.

He lays the blame principally upon the tonsils, which he declares should be cut out before the morbid changes take place in the joints, and says that such an operation, together with plenty of sunshine and good food, will effect a certain cure. If the morbid changes have taken place no cure can be assured, although relief can be given a patient.

An infected tooth or appendix may also be the cause of trouble of this nature, and an attending physician may be able to diagnose a case truly. The reason that people grow old before their time is because they have been subject to these infections nearly from birth. Tonsilar trouble is common in childhood and often leaves diseased tonsils which become the focus of infection that may spread to the joints, stomach and other organs.

SERIOUS KITCHEN ACCIDENT

WHAT ZAM-BUK SAVED A LADY.

Mrs. Fredk. Bryant, of 169 Railway Ave., Stratford, spent dollars trying to get well, but failed until she tried Zam-Buk. It was this way: "I was in my kitchen preparing supper," she says, "when I upset some boiling water. It fell upon my foot, scalding it badly. Next day the skin came off the foot, and it was so painful I could not walk.I treated it, but instead of getting better it got worse, and finally I had to take to my bed.I was laid up for nine weeks, and in that time I tried all manner of so-called remedies. I had embrocations, dozens of salves. I think, and lotions, but the scald developed into a running sore. I was about beaten by it, when a friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, and I did so. A few applications had the effect of soothing the pain and giving me what I had not had for weeks—a little ease. I persevered with Zam-Buk, and day by day the running sore seemed to get less inflamed and less painful, as the Zam-Buk drew away the poison and reduced the inflammation. In a very short time healing commenced, and rapidly continued until the sore was completely healed. I would hardly have belived that any preparation could have done for me what Zam-Buk did, and I shall never be without a supply in the house." When you have a scald, a burn, a skin sore, try Zam-Buk. Made from the purest of herbal essences, it may be regarded as nature's own healer. Eczema, cold-sores, cracked and chapped hands, children's rashes, chilblains, all yield to its soothing, healing influence. It also eases the agony of piles. All druggists and stores, 50 cents box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

NO DYSPEPSIA OR UNDIGESTED FOOD

Heartburn, Gas, Headache and All Stomach Distress Vanishes.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odours from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Biliousness and many other bad symptoms, and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent. case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and besides, one can is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

SLIPPED ON RAIL AND LEG WAS CUT

Harry Zealand, Baggageman on Lakefield Train, Met With Accident.

Harry Zealand, corner King and Maitland Sts., baggageman on the Lakefield train, had a narrow escape from serious injury at Lakefield yesterday. He fell on the rail and had he not held on to the side of the car he would undoubtedly have had his leg taken off. As it was, it was badly cut, necessitating several stitches by Dr. Fraser. He will be confined to his house for a few days.

MR. ALLAN McCARTHY IS AN INVENTOR

Has Secured a Patent on a Machine for Marking Ballots.

Mr. Allan McCarthy, of East City, has, according to the information received, invented a machine for marking, registering and receiving ballots. He has taken out a patent on it and is fully protected. Of the practicability of the machine there seems to be no doubt from the reports of those who have seen it, and Mr. McCarthy is of the opinion that he stands a good chance of having it adopted.

IS ACCUSED OF STARVING HORSE

Ira McNutt, of Norwood, is resting on the hill waiting his trial before Magistrate Edmison on Thursday morning on a charge of allowing a horse to starve to death. The case is a rather peculiar one from all accounts. McNutt claims that a Peterborough man sent the horse down to him and also promised to send provender for the animal. McNutt says the bread line stopped short and he had no money to buy fodder and a horse cannot eat tin cans or live on air. The result was that the animal departed by the slow route and McNutt was reported to the authorities. The Peterborough man says he sent after the horse several times but it was refused him. The case will be cleared up in the County Police Court.

McDERMID & JURY

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

Did she have a mother?

Whenever I read or hear in any way of some girl who has made a great mistake, who has slipped and fallen into the mire from which she may never be able to wholly cleanse herself, my first question is that—

"Did she have a mother?"

And in at least three out of five cases I find that either the girl had no mother at all or none who deserved that beautiful title.

Roberta de Janon, the poor, sentimental, unhappy girl whose escapade has made the talk of a country, whose silly school girl love letters have been read from the Atlantic to the Pacific, who has marked herself for life by one week's experiences, would never have made such a mistake if her mother had not been dead.

The young newspaper woman who shot herself at a hotel in Virginia a few weeks ago grew up unmothered. I happened to know her personally, and I fully believe that if she had not lacked a mother's care and guidance in the past fifteen years she would never have wandered into the wilderness of despair whence the only way out seems that terrible short cut.

In Barrie's book, Sentimental Tommy, is a passage in which Elspeth, Tommy's sister, is asking God to forgive her for not doing something that she thinks she ought to do, but does not dare.

"The offer to change places with Grizel was beyond her courage, and she tried several childish ways of getting around God, such as going on her knees and saying:

"'I'm so little and I hinna no mother!'"

"That was not a bad way," comments Barrie.

It seems so to me, too. I can't believe God doesn't take that into account, and I believe human beings should, too, far more than they do.

The larger part of many people's goodness is simply their environment—although most of them never know it.

It seems to me that sin is relative. I cannot help thinking it is as bad in a way for a girl who has had a splendid bringing up, who has lived all her life in an atmosphere of refinement and high ideals, to demean herself even a little, as for the girl brought up in the gutter to live the life of the streets. Worse, if anything.

You read or hear of sinful or foolish women, and you think of yourself as better.

Maybe you aren't. Maybe you are just more fortunate.

And to your greater fortune it seems to me you owe it to judge very gently those of your less fortunate sisters who have snatched at the sweets of happiness and found the bitterness of disgrace.

And to judge most gently of all those who found it hard to be good because, like Elspeth, "they hadna no mother."

Ruth Cameron

THE EVOLUTION OF THE HUMAN BOY

Nothing is more curious to the students of mundane affairs than the degree of general "tameness" to which a higher civilization has reduced the Human Boy.

At five he is more tractable, at fifteen more courteous, at twenty more steady, until, lo! at twenty-five we have in England a young gentleman with so many negative virtues that he is hard to match, even with a girl of his own age.

Now the youthful human biped of the masculine sex used to be looked upon, even in Victorian times, as a mixture of an imp and a savage, and was treated by his elders with a degree of ferocity which we cannot envisage without a shudder.

In the recently published memoirs of the late Sir Henry Stanley, the most poignant pages are those which describe his treatment in his childhood. They left an ineffaceable indignation in the good explorer's heart.

Perhaps the troubles he underwent were not without their uses, for they left, in a boy of iron will, a determination to get the better of a society which had treated him so badly. How he succeeded we all know.

It is evident, however, that the tide has turned so much in favour of the small boy of to-day that he is still in danger of growing up without any salutary "roughing" at all.

Ten years ago the manners of the Eton boy were thought by the hypercritical to be a trifle finnicking, if not actually affected; nowadays the Eton standard is the one which obtains with all boys, including the middle class.

On all sides we hear that even the ladies themselves are beginning to treat their contemporaries in a civilized way; that bullying in public schools, and ragging at the varsities and in the Army are rapidly becoming discredited pastimes.

Even little boys in the streets have largely given up their glorious prerogative of criticism a haute voix, for they no longer jeer at weird or strange costumes, but assume a Gallio-like attitude of indifference which is diverting.

This softening of the manners of the rising generation is, of course, largely the work of the women-folk.

The modern mother takes her little son much more into her confidence than did the Victorian parent, and some of the most touching friendships I know are between beautiful ladies of thirty-odd and their sons rising thirteen.

By treating the human boy as a reasonable being, open to argument and persuasion instead of looking upon him as a savage with criminal instincts, we have made one of the most amazing steps in human evolution yet recorded.

There are critics of the old school who maintain that all this nicety of behaviour, this careful consideration of the masculine young, tend toward producing an effeminate type.

This may be to a certain extent true, but it is tolerably certain also that a slight variation toward the softer feminine type is not an unmixed evil.

There is a time in the life of nearly every boy when he comes to a realization of his masculinity, and this becomes a strong conviction when he dons the elongated trousers of his elders. Then, if not before, he feels the desire to "put away childish things," and to simulate and adopt the manners and habits of his seniors Boys should be carefully watched and controlled at this impressionable age—the adolescent period.

It is all very well for them to develop mannish ways—it is proper that they should—but through diplomatic methods they should be prevented from going to extremes. Because of their abhorrence of being called effeminate or "girlish" they are very apt to be too boisterous and display a precocity of masculinity for the purpose of making an impression on their fair contemporaries and to satisfy their desire to be mannish.

Sometimes this desire results in the too early acquirement of the habit of smoking and drinking and late hours, to say nothing of the assuming of attire of a more advanced period of life. We are of the opinion that influences now being brought to bear in the home and out of it are alleviating these conditions — and they surely should be. A boy can be mannish without being foolish, wicked or foppish and, also, without too closely approaching the other extreme, effeminacy.

One has only to compare the kind of young men about town in 1810 and in 1910 to see how far we have progressed in manners and social amenities.

The young "bloods" and dandies of the early part of the last century were totally lacking in sobriety, in culture, even in good manners—except the most superficial ones.

They passed their time in witnessing prize fights,- in drinking, in wrenching off door-knockers, and in maltreating unfortunate night watchmen. Hunting, shooting and racing —their occupations — are, no doubt, manly enough, but a too exclusive devotion to these pastimes does not tend to elevate the character.

Some of them were past-masters of foppery and their garments have a strange effect on us now. Their extravagant breeches and stocks, flamboyant waistcoats, their long, curled and pomaded hair, were all intended to impress the "tonnish females" of that day, the equivalent of our "smart women."

This personal extravagance in dress, however, was all the homage which they laid at the feet of the Fair.

The charming hospitality, the forethought, the innate chivalry toward old and young, which is so pleasing a characteristic of the well-bred man of to-day were simply unknown to them.

If a woman were young, pretty or alluring they paid her an equivocal attention; otherwise she did not exist.

Friendship between men and women was unknown, and the idea that men should, as a matter of course, entertain ladies of their own class at dinners or suppers, or give theatre parties and river parties in return for the hospitality they received, would have seemed to the somewhat arrogant and self-complacent youths preposterous.

The Toms and Dicks of the early nineteenth century would possibly have been aghast at the Algies and Bobbies of the twentieth century and would have viewed their progress in the humanities with derision.

Nevertheless, a young man who can amuse himself better at a Debussy concert than at a cockfight, who prefers the society of cultivated women to prize-fighters and rowdies, has assuredly taken an upward step on the ladder of civilization.

Society we may be sure, will know how to equalize itself, and to avoid the dangers of softness and effeminacy.

Already the sister of the boy we have been considering has assumed, together with a broader and deeper education, many of the masculine virtues, so that if the brother is becoming more humane, the sister will add to society her quota of courage and sincerity.

TEN YEARS' TEST OF ECZEMA CURE

During its ten years' test, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription has thoroughly, absolutely proven its merits for skin diseases.

Though on sale only a short time in Canada, it is rapidly duplicating here its remarkable success in the United States. Cure after cure, and the testimony of the world's leading skin specialists, show plainly that the way to cure the skin is through the skin; not, however, by means of a salve reaching only the outer skin, but with a penetrating liquid that gets in to the inner skin, killing the germs and soothing the healthy tissue.

D.D.D. does just this. It cures—and it relieves instantly. If you have never tried it write the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P. E., 23 Jordan St., Toronto, for a free trial bottle.

For sale by all druggists.

HORSES STUMBLED DOWN EMBANKMENT

Examiner Special.

Mount Pleasant, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Sarah Patterson has returned to her home at North Dakota, during her stay here visiting relatives, and her former home bringing to her memory the days of her childhood and school and church life in Mount Pleasant, where many happy days were spent. She delivered an address in the church, which some suppose was not in accordance with the instructions laid down by the Apostle Paul, in reference to women; disobedience lost the first King his crown; what about the Suffragists?

What was a serious accident and might have resulted in loss of life, occurred on the 13th con. line as Wm. Hootan was going with his threshing mill to Mr. Sisson's place to thresh The mill and horses tumbled down a steep embankment on a narrow place on the road. The machine has been repaired and is at work again.

Municipal Councils would do well by putting railings along dangerous places of this kind, to secure the safety of the public and save paying damages.

IS YOUR RHUBARB UP?

Mr. William Greenslade, who resides at 189 King street, has a promising crop of rhubarb growing in his cellar. It was planted about a month ago. Some of the stalks are now eighteen inches long, of the ordinary thickness, and are ready to be cut up into luscious rhubarb pie.

Mr. Greenslade is quite elated with his success as an amateur large rhubarb grower. It is the first of the season in these parts, so far as learned. The rhubarb is propagated in the cellar in an ordinary wooden box, containing a mixture of soil and manure. The box is covered with a frame of glass, over which an electric light is burning.

WORKS AT ESQUIMAULT

Victoria Approves the New Naval Policy.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 23.—Great satisfaction prevails here amongst the business community at the announcement respecting expenditures on Esquimault station in furtherance of the Government's naval policy. So general is the approval of the Government's course that it is considered improbable that the navy league will be able to get a public meeting to pass any resolution in condemnation of that policy, and favouring a free gift to the Admiralty.

It is reported that Messrs. Bullen Bros., proprietors of the British Columbia Marine Railway will add a big shipbuilding plant at Esquimault, and that facilities will be provided for the construction of warships. Mr. H. F. Bullen is now at Ottawa seeing what encouragement the Government can give to the enterprise. The Bullens have done much work for the Government in the past ten years.

DEPENDABLE MEDICINES

So much comment and criticism of medicines has been caused since the creation of the Pure Food and Drugs Law that one hardly knows what to depend upon.

There are, however, dependable medicines such as the Cod Liver and Iron preparation called VINOL, which is not a patent medicine in any sense of the word, because it is openly stated on every bottle what it contains, and this combination of two world-famed tonics can be relied upon by every weak, run-down or aged person to restore health and strength.—McDermid & Jury, Druggists, Peterborough, Ont.

Fled From Society To The Stage

Texas Guinan, the favourite niece of Senator Joe Bailey, of Texas, and daughter of M. J. Guinan, the millionaire mine owner, will be heard here next Monday in "The Gay Musician" at the Grand Opera House.

Three years ago the young singer was prominent in society circles in Washington and Texas. She was a frequent visitor at The White House functions and often played tennis with Colonel Roosevelt. Tiring of society life, Miss Guinan announced her determination to go upon the stage. She met with bitter opposition on the part of her family, but was not daunted. She went to New York and after considerable effort secured a position in one of The Shubert productions as a chorus girl, at a salary of twenty dollars a week. Her voice was of such remarkable quality, her beauty so pronounced, her magnetism so strong, that she rapidly came to the front.

Two years ago when Charles B. Dillingham starred Miss Elsie Janis, in "The Hoyden," Miss Guinan was engaged to sing the opposite role. The following season she went into vaudeville in an act entitled "The Lone Star." It ran for four weeks at Keith and Proctor's Theatre in New York City, the longest time that any single woman act ever had at that theatre. It was there that Manager Slocum of "The Gay Musician" first saw her, and he immediately engaged the young singer. And now that "Texas" is a popular prima donna her relatives are reconciled.

PRIZE WINNING POEM ON CANADA'S WINTER

In a recent issue of the Montreal Star appeared a poem written by Mr. John B. Rose, of that city, but who recently paid a visit to his mother, Mrs. Jas. Rose, 524 Weller St. It was awarded first prize as offered by the Carnival committee, Montreal, for the best piece of verse apropos of the carnival season. The poem is as follows:

The Canadian Winter.

What do we owe to Winter, in our wonderful Northern Land?
What do we owe to the sheets of snow, outspread by an All-Wise Hand?
What do we owe to the winds that blow, bracing, cold and clear?
They are gifts of God, to be told abroad—not to be held in fear.

Safe below the shelt'ring snow, a mantle soft and deep.
The tender roots of luscious fruits, on Earth's warm bosom sleep;
At touch of Spring awakening, when fertile moisture yields,
The strength to bear in fuller share, to forests and to fields.

Down many a mile of forest aisle, through branches hanging loose,
There echoes stroke on maple, oak, on hemlock, pine and spruce,
And woodmen's sleighs, on snow-built ways, wind to the river's side,
Where the logs plunge down to Timber Town, on the back of the swollen tide.

Rare and fine as a draught of wine, is a breath of a winter day,
When the sun shines bright on a realm of white, beneath the Frost King's away,
When skates ring true on a field of blue, and the swift toboggans glide,
Each tuque and sash, a meteor flash, on the snow-clad mountain side.

What do we owe to Winter? Men of a Northern breed,
With nerves of steel, courageous, leal in the hour of the Empire's need.
They are gifts of God, to be told abroad, that the world may understand
The debt we owe to Winter, in our wonderful Northern Land.

—John R. Bissette.

SIR WILFRID'S NAVAL BILL

If Canada wants to keep from fighting,
She'll find it the best plan,
To give our Empire some high type Dreadnoughts,
The best that's made by man;
And man them with brave Canadian men,
All trained in British drill;
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

No doubt Britain holds the best Government,
That man has made on earth,
And kind Providence has made her prosper,
Since early, early birth.
If we are brave, He is willing to save,
And keep us from peril,
Great Britain's ships have been at our command,
And we must have them still.

CUPID CURES A BROKEN BACK

The Untiring Devotion of Sweetheart Saves Life.

Philadelphia, Feb. 23.—James Tounish, a tinsmith, fell from the roof of a building on which he was working more than four months ago and sustained a broken back. This afternoon his sweetheart, Sarah Cuthbertson, called at the Hahnemann Hospital, and the man whose life the doctors said at the time of the accident could be counted in hours left in her company, practically cured.

The best skill of the medical profession and a wonderful operation, one of the rarest known to surgery, have done much to save the life of the man, but the physicians agree above all the efforts the untiring devotion of Miss Cuthbertson, her words of hope and encouragement have helped in his recovery more than drugs or the surgeon's scalpel.

The operation consisted of an incision five inches long above the wound, exposing the backbone, and the removal of the shattered half of one of the young man's vertebrae.

SHAVING UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Mr. W. G. Rundle has accepted a challenge to show his nerve as a tonsorial artist. THE ONTARIO GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting to be Held in Toronto Early in March.

March 2nd, 3rd and 4th is the date of the annual convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association. Special efforts are this year being made to provide a programme of a thoroughly instructive and practical character. Counties which have been carrying on a system of county roads, will be represented by men who have had close association with the work, and will be able to describe the methods whereby the best results have been reached. Township work will also form an important section.

The convention is one which not only councillors should attend, and councils send delegates, but the public generally should be represented. Better county roads is a matter in which all are interested, directly or inidrectly. Councils proceed, as a rule, only so far as public opinion will follow them. This is not seriously objectionable, so long as councillors themselves are alive to the real wishes and requirements of those they represent, and are ready to lead—do not wait to be carried along. It is necessary that the public be informed, and it is desirable therefore that as many as possible make it a point to attend the convention. Councillors will show their desire to efficiently perform their duties to the public by making use of all such means to put the best information into their work.

A KILTIES' BAND

Suggested as a Valuable Side Line for the New Industrial Commissioner.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Now that our City Fathers and the Board of Trade are awakening to the advantages to be gained by advertising the resources of our city, it has just occurred to me that in the event of the crack band of the 57th Regiment being forced to sever its connection with the regiment in view of the recent occurrences, would it not be a capital idea for the city to equip them as a Kilties' Band. Bands in connection with Highland regiments, and even as separate units, have proved immense money makers in Toronto, Hamilton, Galt and Belleville. The 57th is the equal, if not the superior of many of these organizations and is equipped with as fine an outfit of instruments as money can buy, to say nothing of having the best bandmaster in the business in Canada. All that would be necessary would be for the men to slip into their kilts and—accept engagements. Talk about an ad.—why the "Peterborough Kilties" would be the stellar attraction at one-half of the fairs of the province. Think it over!—Yours, truly.

CURED AT SEVENTY-FOUR

Little Digesters are a Great Help to Mr. John F. Becker

The weight of years very often brings with it a still heavier burden, that of Indigestion or some form of Stomach Trouble.

Then "Little Digesters" come to the rescue—if you give them a chance, as did Mr. Becker. Here is his letter telling what they did for him:

"New Dundee, Nov. 10, 1909.
To THE COLEMAN MEDICINE CO.
Dear Sirs,—
I was for a long time troubled with bloating after meals, and my tongue was always coated. Seeing the "Little Digesters" advertised I bought a box, and they took all that trouble away, but I thought one box would not be enough, so I sent to you for more. They are a great help to my body.
Yours truly,
JOHN F. BECKER.

Excuse my writing with pencil, being an old man of 74."

"Little Digesters" aid the feeble stomach to digest the food perfectly. This means that you can enjoy every meal, and get the strength out of what you eat, if you take a "Little Digester" afterwards.

SPEECHES IN PLENTY

Sir Wilfrid Was Out of the House Again Yesterday, But Case Is Not Serious—L. A. Rivet and Ralph Smith Speak on the Naval Bill and Remind the Conservative Leaders of Early Speeches.

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—After eight days of debate on the naval bill within the past two weeks the House yesterday listened patiently to four more speakers review the arguments presented in extenso by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Sir Frederick Borden, and Messrs. Borden and Foster in the first round. The ground has already been so thorough covered that little opportunity is left to the thirty odd remaining speakers still on the list for hearing to develop any new points. Messrs. Ralph Smith and Rivet, both contributed speeches in support of the Government's policy.

A word from the prairies was the feature of yesterday's debate upon the naval bill. Dr. Schaffner, Conservative member for Souris, Man., although of German extraction, warned Canada that the menace from the land of his forefathers was serious.

Touching upon the question of Canadian independence, he said the influence of the Prime Minister and his friends would never be strong enough to bring about a separation between Great Britain and Canada. Among those who said they desired to remain a part of the Empire, but who refused co-operation, refused to do anything, he was sorry to find were some clergymen. If Canada was in danger they declared they would give their last dollar. If there was anything we could not buy in the hour of stress, it was naval defence.

His proposal was an imperial navy under one head, which would stand for unity and co-operation.

"Let us call off the bluff," he said; "the Government's proposals are ridiculously inadequate."

Mr. Rivet, speaking for the French-Canadians of Quebec, declared that Mr. Monk misrepresented the attitude of the great majority of French-speaking citizens of Canada, who were loyal to Britain, the mother and guardian of their liberties. From a purely party standpoint, he rejoiced in the tactics of the Opposition, but as a loyal Canadian, he had honed for a more patriotic and broad-minded dealing with a great national and Imperial question. Dr. Schaffner of Souris, Manitoba, and Dr. Edwards of Frontenac, on the Opposition side, followed the usual lines, charging disloyalty on the part of the Premier and labelling the Government's policy as a separatist movement.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was again absent from the House. He has been nursing a slight cold for the past few days and taking advantage of the time-consuming process of speech-making in the Commons to get in a quiet mid-session rest.

Mr. Ralph Smith of Nanaimo, who resumed the naval debate, noted that the preceding speaker, Mr. Cowan, had been very much alarmed about the security of the British Empire in view of the alleged disloyalty and separatist policy of the Liberal Government of Canada. Mr. Smith thought that the British Empire could rely on the support of the average Liberal Ministry quite as implicity as it could rely on the loyalty of any Conservative Ministry, of which it was reasonable to suppose Mr. F. D. Monk would be a member. Extreme and illogical statements and invective, said Mr. Smith, seemed to constitute the major part of some of the Opposition speeches, rather than solid argument based on fact.

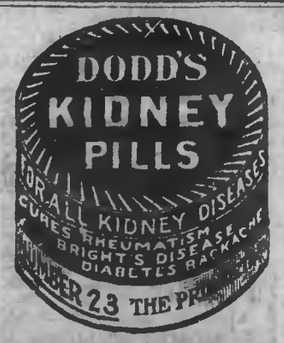
Senator Scott yesterday moved the second reading of his bill to regulate the transportation of liquor. Some heated talk was indulged in, Senator Domville declaring the country was battling manfully against a tidal wave of misdirected moral legislation.

Senator Scott said the object of his bill was to render more effective the protection of municipalities and provinces which had declared by vote against the traffic. The Prince Edward Island Legislature had passed a resolution asking for federal legislation to prevent the transportation of liquor into any district.

Senator Wood thought it quite proper to punish the shipper and, if necessary, the receiver of liquor designed for a temperance area, but it would be a mistake to make the transportation companies liable, as they could not tell what was in the parcels they handled. Senator Scott agreed with this.

Will Reopen Cheese Factory.

Brockville, Feb. 23.—In the immediate section several cheese factories that have been idle for the past few years are to be reopened, and the indications are that some new ones will be constructed. The loss of the once much despised whey has been felt since the milk stations have become so numerous, as it has caused almost the complete abandonment of hog-raising.



AGREEMENT PROBABLE

Canadian Delivers His Maiden Oration In the British Commons and Is Favorably Commented Upon—The Rebels Did Not Understand What Asquith Was Doing—Will Back the Veto Bill.

London, Feb. 23.—Without any actual change in the Parliamentary situation, the outlook last night was more hopeful for the Government.

It seems that certain Ministers met the new Parliament Monday without having taken any great care either to seek the views of the various groups forming the Government majority, or to satisfy their susceptibilities, and the surprise with which the Nationalists and Laborites learned they had misapprehended Premier Asquith's speech with reference to securing "guarantees" for dealing with the House of Lords was in a great measure responsible for the acute crisis.

Both the Nationalists and the Labor parties are aware that they have little to gain by throwing out the Government. Hence the extremists yesterday displayed a more conciliatory spirit.

The Cabinet held a long council to draft the veto resolutions and debate the general situation. The result of their deliberations was a speech by Winston Churchill, president of the Board of Trade, in the House of Commons, announcing the determination of the Government to stand or fall by the veto bill.

Any direct co-operation between the Laborites and Nationalists to defeat the Government is extremely improbable. Indeed, at a meeting yesterday the Nationalists decided not to take any action for the present, which would embarass the Government.

In the Commons, Joe Martin caught the eye of the Speaker last last night. He maintained that the only reasonable interpretation to be put on the Premier's pledge in Albert Hall was that he would ask the King for a guarantee to create, if need be, a sufficient number of new peers to force the veto bill through the Lords. It was no adequate explanation to say now that what Asquith had in mind was an act of Parliament. No subsequent explanation, though given in perfect good faith, could affect the original statement.

He was a loyal Liberal, he had been elected to support the present Government, but he had not been elected to support merely the reform of the Lords which he understood was contemplated by the Government, which would put him in a false position if they called him to support a proposition of that kind.

He appealed to the Government not to destroy the great powers placed in their hands simply because of any fear of approaching His Majesty in order to obtain the necessary assurance.

The Chronicle's Parliamentary correspondent refers to the "extremely able speech of Martin, who spoke with trenchant power, but in a tone of voice louder than is usual in the Commons." The News testifies to the explicitness of Martin's words.

Commenting on the unexpected collapse in the House of Commons of the debate at the conclusion of Mr. Redmond's speech, the Unionist morning papers predict that the new Parliament will be so short-lived as to be practically stillborn.

The Morning Post bids Mr. Balfour be prepared to take office at any moment.

The Telegraph says: "After this astonishing prelude it would be folly even to conjecture what may happen next. The fiasco is more complete than any Unionist had dared to conceive."

The Liberal papers maintain a brave show, but they have difficulty in concealing their disappointment and depression. The Morning Leader (Radical) says: "When the House of Commons adjourned it was clear that the life of the Government hung on a thread, and that the decision to prolong it or not would be a matter of hours."

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which seem remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. Take the above recommended "Discovery" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

THE CURSE OF BONUSES

Labor Member Goes After Hon. J. S. Duff During Discussion of Salvation Army Grants—Minister of Agriculture Willing to Pay $20 For Each Farm Hand Brought Into the Province From Old Country.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—"Bonusing has been the curse of the immigration system in every country into which it has been introduced," declared Allan Studholme, M.P.P. for East Hamilton, who came at the Minister of Agriculture loaded for bear, when the vote on bonuses and advances to agents and organizations (including Salvation Army) was under discussion in committee of supply yesterday afternoon.

Hon. J. S. Duff had stated that the total number of immigrants brought in by the Salvation Army in 1908 was 2,193, of whom 1,661 men had been placed with farmers, and 532 were women joining their husbands. For 1909 the figures were 1,168, 1,074 and 94 respectively.

"Of course, I can't say they have all remained on the farms," he added. No agency could guarantee that.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked what proportion were familiar with agriculture.

Hon. J. S. Duff could not say off hand, but they were quite a large proportion. Special efforts were being made this summer to relieve the farm labor and domestic servant situation. They had arranged to give a $5 bonus for each domestic brought out by the Salvation Army or any other organization.

In regard to farm labor, they had found a splendid class, who were not just in a position to pick up and come over. The Government proposed to give $20 towards assisting the passage of such. They hoped to have this repaid. It would form a lien on the man's wages. Even if they only got a large proportion of it back, the money would have been well expended.

Referring to the $17,000 item for reconstruction of the London offices, he stated that the present lease of £550 a year for a basement and ground floor at 163 Strand, expired in March, and that the Government was getting the whole building for £600 rent and £110 taxes. The lease would expire in 1928. The ground belonged to the Duke of Bedford and the building to the Ellis estate. It had been suggested that if they could buy out the Ellis people and deal directly with the superior landlord, it would only cost £420 a year, instead of £710. So far this had not been accomplished. The Ellis people asked too much. The Government had no intention of spending the $17,000 for reconstruction of the building, unless they were able to buy out Ellis and get a 40-year lease.

Dr. Jessop (Lincoln) asked if there was any inspection of emigrants before sailing.

Hon. J. S. Duff replied that that was a Dominion Government matter.

Allan Studholme (East Hamilton) reminded the Premier of his statement of two years ago, that London was no place to go for farm laborers. "You don't find farm laborers walking the streets of London," he said. "You find them in the country, in the hamlets, at the country fairs."

In paying the $5 bonus for domestics nothing was said as to how long the girl was bound to stay in the place.

"It means," he asserted, "that you will have a lot of people who will want to take a trip to London at your expense. Yes, and you'll find that ladies like a trip to the old country, too."

At this point Miss St. John Wileman, who headed the recent ladies' deputation and who occupied a seat in the centre of the Speaker's gallery, began to sit up and take notice.

"You don't ever say," continued Mr. Studholme, "that a girl brought out has got to have a good reputation."

Sir James Whitney: "What will the honorable gentleman suggest next?"

Mr. Studholme claimed that it was for the wealthier class in Toronto that servants were being brought out. They should be ashamed to ask the Government to pay $5 a head for getting them servants.

Hon. A. G. MacKay: "It is safe to say that not one out of three of the immigrants brought out stay on the farm."

Sir James Whitney said that the honorable gentleman from Hamilton (Mr. Studholme) was opposed to all immigration on certain lines. Others took a different line and said—and there was something to be said for their arguments from the point of view of a Provincial Government—that the advantage accruing from every immigrant brought out went to the Dominion Government and not to the Ontario Government.

He had objected to the London office, but the Government could not have an office in the middle of a common. They had to have it in some place where their agents could come. Moreover, the situation of the office in the Strand was such that a large number of persons passed it every day, and many were thus attracted to come in and make enquiries.

According to the annual report of the Minister of Education, just made public, educational affairs in the province are in a fairly satisfactory state. The one fly in the ointment is the scarcity in the supply of teachers, which is ascribed to the lure of the west. Trustees are earnestly exhorted to face the situation with a careful study of the conditions. Much praise is given to the western provinces for their wideawake attitude. They have faced the situation with intelligence. The average salary for male teachers in Ontario is only $462, while in Manitoba it is $520, in Alberta $635, and in British Columbia $650. In the two later provinces the average salary of female teachers is $621 and $550 respectively.

Attention is drawn to the fact that a consolidation is being made of the regulations, course of studies, etc., of the public schools.

School boards were found quite ready to spend money for larger and healthier schools and for enlarged school grounds.

WINNIPEG TEAM SHOWED TOO MUCH SPEED FOR LOCALS

Visitors From the Wheat Belt Defeated the Peterborough Intermediate O. H. A. Team by 11 Goals to 4---Winnipeg Team One of the Speediest Aggregations Seen Here in Years.

The Northern Crown Bank team of Winnipeg proved too fast for Peterborough's Intermediate O. H. A. seven, the Money Kings from the Wheat Belt cleaning up in decisive fashion by eleven goals to four. The lop-sided score in favour of the Westerners may be attributed to the superior speed of the visitors, who proved themselves the liveliest bunch of speed merchants that have appeared before a Peterborough audience in many moons. In skating and shooting they had it on Peterborough by a wide margin, but in the other departments of the game it was more even, and on the play the score should have been closer.

However, no one begrudged the visitors the victory less than the Peterborough team, as the Winnipeg aggregation proved themselves a clever clean, gentlemanly lot of players, a bunch of good fellows who cannot fail to advertise their bank and their city most favourably on their Eastern tour. There was the best of feeling among the players and the Peterborough team has never participated in a game in which they regretted loss less than last night.

The crowd was not large, but those who were there considered themselves lucky as the speed of the visitors proved a revelation. Forwards and defence are alike lightning fast, and when any one of the six skating players break away there is trouble ahead for some one. One would not call them a finished team, at least, not viewing the game from an Eastern standpoint. There is practically no team work in their methods. It is individual, pure and simple, but the great speed of the men, coupled with their shooting ability, enables them to get away with the solo stuff in fine style. They are all good stickhandlers and brilliant shots, and altogether a splendid seven, although it looked to the spectators last night as if combination would make them a still more formidable team. Both defence men have a world of speed, and their dashes down the rink were of material assistance on the attack.

Peterborough, on the other hand, played combination all the way, and got away with a lot of nice team work, breaking away three and four in a line, but somehow the last passes in front of the nets were foozled or else gobbled up by the Winnipeg defence. Shooting from further out might have produced better results, but the team has been ground into the system of carrying the puck right in before shooting, and they tried to get in when a shot from outside the point might have solved the problem.

However, the local team made a most creditable showing. When it is considered that the seven is a City League outfit and that the men they were up against comprise some of the fastest men in the West, including one man who has played in Stanley Cup hockey and others who have figured in the Western senior article, the form displayed by the Petes was very encouraging, and with any kind of luck they might have made things more interesting. As it was it was a nip and tuck contest in the early stages. The visitors always led, but in the first half, in fact until well on in the second the Petes held them well and were only two down with fifteen minutes to play; Winnipeg finished on the bit, however, and scored the last five goals. The furious pace set by the visitors was too much for Peterborough, who held on as long as they could. The half-time score was 3 to 1 in favour of Winnipeg.

Claude Borland, the diminutive rover of the visitors, made the biggest hit of the evening. One of the smallest men that ever played here, he weighs only 97 pounds—he proved himself the most elusive player that has been seen here in years. He wound in and out around the Peterborough players in a serpentine fashion that had every blue and white sweatered player guessing, and his checking back was a treat. If he lost the rubber he was back like a flash, and broke up combination rush after rush by his speed in circling back to help his defence. Borland played with the Winnipeg Rowing Club, when they came east after the Stanley Cup, and also played with the Shamrocks. Just now he is captain of the senior Victorias. The other three forwards were of the same calibre, Barclay and Gardiner being strongly in the limelight on account of their great shooting. The puck leaves their sticks like a bullet from a gun, and they waste no time in getting their heave away from any position. Watson, who formerly played with the Bankers' team in the local City League, was at right wing, and easily held his own with the other forwards. His stickhandling and shooting were good and he was always at it.

White, the big cover-point, is the king-pin of the defence, and a better defence man would be hard to find anywhere. His checking is splendid and he skates like a young tornado, shooting down the ice with great sweeping strides that carry him along with wonderful speed.

Derocher had a busy evening, thank you, in the Peterborough nets, and has never been called upon to take care of any harder shots than were poured at him last night. He tore off a number of good stops, not only of the shots from away out, but also blocking some attempts that looked certain after his defence had been beaten. Heffernan and McDougall both checked well and rushed nicely.

Captain Ray has shown no better hockey, all season than he did last night. He tore off rush after rush in grand style, his stickhandling and skating being on a par with the visitors' efforts. On one occasion he took the rubber through the whole Winnipeg team for a score, and his work throughout was gilt-edged, especially when it is considered that he was up against a bunch of tremendously fast skaters. Crane was there all through, combining and rushing well. McMillan and Weatherstone had their hands full in looking after the two speedy wings of the visitors, but gave a good account of themselves.

The game was played under O. H. A. rules, but the difference did not seem to bother the visitors. Claude Robinson, of Winnipeg, gave every satisfaction as referee, while Bill Rose was a satisfactory judge of play.

Their duties were light as the teams showed no indication of a desire to play anything else but clean hockey.

The teams were as follows:

The game was fast from the start with both teams working at top pressure. Peterborough combined nicely for an attack, but White relieved with a dazzling rush, but his shot was nailed by Derocher. Crane and Ray came back together, but Borland intercepted and came tearing down like a comet only to shoot wild. Heffernan tripped the little fellow and was penalized and shortly after Weatherstone was benched for the same offence. Finally after five minutes playing Borland carried the puck around the Peterborough defence with a pretty individual rush and tipped the rubber past Derocher at close range. Winnipeg 1, Peterborough 0.

The visitors' great speed was keeping Peterborough busy holding them out, but at first the Bankers could not locate the nets. They fired them at Derocher in every old way and had him on the jump. Peterborough showed combination, but their passes went wrong at the last moment and it was Winnipeg who finally did the trick in six minutes, Gardiner scoring on a nice shot from the wings. Winnipeg 2, Peterborough 0.

Peterborough broke into the scoring column two minutes later, McDougall rushed nicely and McMillan securing the puck after the cover had been checked, scored from well out. Winnipeg 2, Peterborough 1.

Fowler was penalized for bodying into the boards, but Peterborough failed to take advantage of the odd man and the score was unchanged, while the visitors' point was in the penalty box Barclay made it three to one on a waist high shot, following an individual rush. Winnipeg 3, Peterborough 1. Half time.

Winnipeg scored five seconds after the face-off. Barclay secured the rubber from Crane on the face and let drive a long shot that landed in the nets behind Derocher. Winnipeg 4, Peterborough 1.

The Petes were just ten seconds in getting the counter back. Crane and Ray went down together from the face-off and the latter beat Clarke at close range. Winnipeg 4, Peterborough 2.

McMillan broke a skate and had to retire for repairs, Barclay going off with him. The pair were soon back, however. Borland scored Winnipeg's fifth in four minutes. Winnipeg 5, Peterborough 2.

In four minutes Crane scored for Peterborough on a nice pass from the wing by Weatherstone. Winnipeg 5, Peterborough 3.

Gardiner scored for Winnipeg in thirty seconds on a nice rush and shot from the side. Winnipeg 6, Peterborough 3.

Ray scored the next goal on one of the prettiest pieces of work of the night, carrying the rubber three-quarters of the length of the rink for a tally. To do so he had to dodge every man on the Winnipeg team. Winnipeg 6, Peterborough 4.

From now on the visitors had the better of the play. Borland secured the next, although it looked as if the puck had gone under the side of the nets. Gardiner got the next one on a nice rush and Watson banged in the ninth. Then Gardiner came along with another and Fowler scored the last on a rink-length rush and a corner shot. The summary is as follows:

1 Winnipeg, Borland 5 mins.
2 Winnipeg, Gardiner 6 mins.
3 Peterborough, McMillan 2 mins.
4 Winnipeg, Gardiner 6 mins.

Half time—

5 Winnipeg, Barclay 5 secs.
6 Peterborough, Ray 10 secs.
7 Winnipeg, Borland 4 mins.
8 Peterborough, Crane 4 mins.
9 Winnipeg, Gardiner 30 secs.
10 Peterborough, Ray 4 mins.
11 Winnipeg, Borland 1 min.
12 Winnipeg, Gardiner 2 mins.
13 Winnipeg, Watson 4 mins.
14 Winnipeg, Gardiner 2 mins.
15 Winnipeg, Fowler 2 mins.

WITH THE CURLERS

Local Games are Drawing to a Close---Four Rinks go to Lindsay To-morrow---Bonspiel is Arousing Widespread Interest.

Mayor Morrow's rink went into primary finals in the local games last night, when they defeated Mr. Jas. Connal's rink by 15 to 8 shots. This leaves the play off between the Mayor's rink and that skipped by Jack Fitzgerald. Owing to the absence of the former from the city the game will not be pulled off until the end of the week. The consolation games are dwindling down every night and as in everything else it is a case of the survival o fthe fittest. The finals should be reached by the end of the week. The games played last night were as follows:

Off to Lindsay.

Four rinks go to Lindsay to-morrow to play the concluding games for the Lindsay-Peterborough cup. The skips are Messrs Neill, Matthews, Waddell and Brown. The notice on the blackboard at the rink reads as follows: "Peterborough is now 5 up. Unless you make it 5 more your name is Dennis." The local curlers have struck their gait and will make one big effort to sustain their lead.

Local Bonspiel.

The bonspiel that will be held here next week is stirring up a great deal of interest and quite a number of the local rinks are evidently going to be entries. It is expected that there will be the usual attendance of outside rinks and the local club will undoubtedly endeavour to make everything as pleasant as possible and will prove themselves, as in the past, excellent hosts.

Pill Pounders Beat The C. P. R. Team By 7 To 1

Salaries took another jump in the "Outlaw League" last night and two more amateurs fell by the wayside, when the "Pillpounders lined up against the C. P. R. at the Brock St. arena, the former winning by 7-1. "Rusty" Morphet, who handled the chimes, had the game well in hand, not a penalty being handed out. As a large amount of money was wagered on the outcome all bets are declared off by the "man with the bell." "Dorando" Brady starred for the winners, while "Wee" MacGregor, of the C.P.R., was easily the best man on the ice. Special mention must also be made of Turnbull's end to end rushes, his brilliant stick handling bringing the large crowd of spectators to their feet time and again.

"Le Sueur' Richardson and "Smaill' Geale made a hard combination to beat, and will be heard from next year on the Stanley Cup challengers, the H. 2 S.

The line-up was as follows:

C. P. R.—Goal, Wee MacGregor; point, Turnbull; cover point, Fitzgerald; rover, "Pink" Neal; right wing, Howard; left wing, Carey.

Wolgast Is New Champion Battered Battling Nelson

Richmond, Cal., Feb. 22.—His face battered toa pulp, his eyes closed with blood and staggering helplessly around the ring, Battling Nelson was saved from a knock-out in the 40th round of his fight with Ad. Wolgast to-day, when Referee Eddie Smith humanely stopped an unequal contest. Nelson, game to the last, stood in the centre of the ring, and, though he could not raise his hands, begged to be allowed to continue. He was led to his corner heart-broken.

In the opposite corner of the ring the new lightweight champion of the world, Ad. Wolgast of Cadillac, Mich., was lifted to the shoulders of his trainers while the big crowd cheered. Only once did Nelson have a chance. In the 22nd round, with a stinging right cross to the jaw, he staggered Wolgast in the middle of the ring with a similar blow. Three seconds were tallied before Wolgast regained his feet. The crowd prepared to leave the arena in the belief that another had fallen victim to the Dane, but in the next instant Wolgast recuperated, and from then on slowly but surely wore Nelson down. For twelve rounds before the finish Nelson seemed bewildered as though his arms were stiff. In the thirtieth round Nelson could hardly see or hear. The left side of his head had lost all semblance of its former contour. He staggered and hung on. In the thirty-seventh round he was all but out.

In the thirty-eighth round John Robinson, Nelson's manager, wanted to throw the sponge into the ring, but the other seconds tore it from his hands and threw it into the bucket. Robinson protested, on the verge of tears, that his man was beaten.

When the fortieth round came Referee Smith asked Nelson if he wanted to quit. Nelson, unable to talk, merely shook his head. After thirty seconds of the fortieth round had gone Referee Smith raised Wolgast's glove and the new lightweight champion was made.

Wolgast outgeneralled and outboxed Nelson. After the fight he scampered out of the ring like a schoolboy and galloped through the mud to his training room. Nelson was taken out of the arena on the arms of his seconds. As he was carried through the crowd he was cheered for the grit and gameness he had displayed.

Referee Smith said: "Wolgast fought Nelson at his own game and beat him fairly and squarely. Nelson complained at times of Wolgast's butting, but I paid little heed, as it was simply the case of one butter getting the worst of a game where both were equally guilty.

"Both men fought the same, but one had youth, the power to come back, vigour, life and all that goes with it, while the thirteen years of fighting through which Nelson had gone had sapped his strength and left him without the old snap, dash and stamina."

Wolgast said: "My fight to-day was like a training bout. Only once did he bother me and that was in the 22nd round. Nelson hurt me more by butting me than anything else, and I felt funny for just a few seconds. I cannot say anything as to my future plans but I am ready to give deserving lightweights a chance."

When Nelson was asked to talk he said: "I am sorry they called the fight off when they did. I think I could have stayed the 45 rounds, but I have no complaint to make."

INTERESTING LECTURE

The attendance at the meeting of the Astronomical Society in the Collegiate Institute last night was the largest in some time and the address they listened to well warranted the interest that was manifested. The lecturer was Prof. Louis B. Stewart, D.L.S., second vice-president of the Royal Astronomical Society, of Canada, Toronto centre, and his subject dealing with how positions are determined in polar attitudes proved most interesting. The address was largely technical, but it was made clear to everyone.

By means of the Sextant, Transit, Artificial Horizon, and black board diagrams, Professor Stewart demonstrated the actual process of finding the latitude and longitude of any station on the earth's surface. In connection with the question of longitude, he explained the method of finding the local time by means of the transit, and the sextant, and the use of the Nautical Almanac and chronometer.

In the course of his lecture he showed the great difficulties in the way of applying the usual methods to determine the latitude and longitude of a station near the earth's pole. As the Arctic explorer must make his dash to the pole in the summer season, he is deprived of the use of the stars and must depend on the Sun for his observations, and even this body is always unfavourably situated for anything like exact measurements.

In answer to a question, he stated that fictitious observations for a point near or at the North Pole could be easily made. He also stated that he knew of no observation which could be made at the pole which would absolutely prove that the observer had actually been at that point.

At the conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Prof. Stewart.

EULOGY FOR THE GRAND TRUNK

In the London "Times", of February 4th, an article appears from one of their travelling correspondents descriptive of a tour through America, in which the following appears:

"By far the finest travelling I have done so far in America was over the Grand Trunk line from Montreal to Toronto. The Grand Trunk have admittedly a perfect roadbed. We ran at about fifty miles per hour on the 'International Limited,' and none of the English railways could beat it for steadiness."

This eulogy from one who is a world-wide traveller is very gratifying to Canadian railways.

SEIZURE OF FISH IS REPORTED

Mr. Dave Johnston informed the Examiner to-day that he had confiscated 250 lbs. of fish, lunge and bass. The circumstances connected with the seizure were not detailed. Mr. Johnston said he thought they came from one of the lakes to the north, but having taken them into his possession he will distribute the fish amongst the various charitable institutions in the city. Mr. Johnston is following up the case and developments are expected.

Mr. O. Milburn Presented With Two Pictures—Club Entertained by Mr. Jas. T. C. Lang.

Mr. Oliver Milburn leaves to-morrow for the West. A few evenings ago Mr. Jas. T. C. Lang entertained the members of the Belmont Club at his residence as a farewell to Mr. Milburn. About forty were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent cards and music proving pleasant pastime. A recherche luncheon was served during the evening. A pleasant feature was the presentation of two splendid pictures to Mr. Milburn, who has ben one of the popular members of the Belmont Club. General regret was expressed by his friends upon his departure from Peterborough, and every wish is extended to him for future success in the West.

MUCH LARGER QUARTERS

Toronto Branch of Red Rose Tea Removing to Big New Warehouse.

The unique experience of outgrowing two warehouses in a very few years has been the good fortune of the Toronto branch of Red Rose Tea.

For some years Red Rose Tea, at its headquarters in St. John, N. B., has occupied the largest and best equipped tea warehouses in Canada. This month the Toronto branch is removing from 3 Wellington St. east to one of the largest warehouses in the city, lately occupied by the Todhunter Mitchell Co., at 7 Front St. east. This change shows the remarkable growth of the Red Rose Tea business in Ontario. When Red Rose was first placed on the Ontario market ten years ago the business was transacted from St. John. Very soon it was found necessary to open a branch and Toronto was selected as the location. Premises were taken on Front St., and were very soon outgrown. Then a lease was taken of the warehouse at 3 Wellington St. east, and the need of larger premises seemed a very distant probability. But with a considerable portion of the lease yet to run more room became an imperative necessity.

The new premises at 7 Front St. east will afford room for very great expansion. The building is a hundred and eighty feet long by fifty feet wide, four stories and a basement, and it is right in the centre of the great wholesale district. The interior is being remodelled and made up-to-date in every respect. The offices will be large and handsomely appointed, and the shipping facilities will be the very best.

When Mr. T. H. Estabrooks, of St. John, N.B., proprietor of Red Rose Tea, entered the package tea business he adopted for Red Rose a blend of Indian and Ceylon teas that has been found particularly well suited to Canadian tastes and conditions. Then he has steadily maintained the quality, believing that in building a business quality is more than price. The success of Red Rose, due to the quality of the tea, has been phenomenal, and in a very few years has made Mr. Estabrooks a leading figure in the tea trade in Canada.

A BIG AUCTION SALE

A most successful auction sale was held at the residence of Mr. Jas. Lillico, North Monaghan, yesterday, when Mr. Lillico's live stock and implements were disposed of. The prices secured were out of the ordinary. Seventeen cows were sold at an average of $50, while a three-year old colt brought $287.50, the purchaser being Mr. Geo. N. Graham. The other prices were in proportion. There was a large attendance and those present were hospitably entertained Mr. Lillico.

The Ottawa and Toronto Bank teams wil have a game at Brock St. rink to-night between 7 and 8 o'clock, and it should be the event of the season. The Ottawa bunch will have A. H. Mulhern, formerly of the great Bankers' seven, Pelton and Russel, Upper Ottawa Valley team, McCallum an Eastern star and others of that ilk.

THE BREAD ACT

W. K. McNaught Introduces a Bill Providing for Standard Loaf of Twenty Ounces.

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Feb. 24.—Amendments to the present bread act will be introduced in legislature this afternoon by W. K. McNaught, whose bill is now law. He provides for a standard loaf of twenty ounces instead of three weights as at present. The label is abolished and the penalties for adulteration and short weight increased. Inspectors are given more power and back shops must be below the streets' level. The municipal committee of the legislature decided this morning to increase maximum pay of county and township councillors from three to five dollars a day.

DEPUTATION TO TORONTO RE GRANT

Board of Education Presented its Request to Dr. Pyne.

Messrs. Robt. Fair, D. W. Dumble, Dr. Morrison, T. H. Adams and Col. J. W. Miller composed a deputation from the Board of Education, which waited on D. Pyne, the Minister of Education in Toronto yesterday. The Toronto News, in referring to their visit, had the following in last night's issue:

The Collegiate Institute Board of Peterborough wants to escape the expense of building a gymnasium, that would cost between $10,000 and $12,000. Under the regulations they are required to have a gymnasium in connection with their school in order to retain their grant and status as a Collegiate.

A deputation, however, waited on Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, this morning, and informed him that the athletic needs of the school were being well served by the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, not more than 400 yards distant. For this privilege they paid the association $500 a year, and asked that this arrangement be approved of. Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., introduced the deputation. Hon. Dr. Pyne promised his consideration.

The above explains briefly the business of the deputation in Toronto. The Examiner stated on certain information some time ago that it was in regard to a grant towards erecting a gymnasium behind the new Collegiate. This it is learned, is but a dream of the future, the Board not desiring to increase its expenses, and thereby the demand for the maintenance of the Collegiate. One of the members said to-day that nothing is known as to what the Minister of Education may say in the matter, but hopes are held out that he will acquiesce in the Board's request.

TO-MORROW NIGHT'S CARNIVAL WILL BE EVENT OF SEASON

To-morrow night's carnival promises to be the most successful event of its kind held in Peterborough in a long period. The weather man is evidently going to do his best for the occasion by providing good ice and the result should be a most enjoyable evening. The rink is likely to be a large attendance of spectators and a special price has been provided for those who do not intend to skate, fifteen cents being charged, while skaters will be taxed the usual carnival fee, twenty-five cents. Much interest is being taken in the fancy dress contest and also in the fancy skating race, in which there is a large field of entries.

REVOLVERS FREELY USED IN PHILADELPHIA STRIKE FIGHT

Battle Takes Place Between Constables and Union Men During Noon Hour---Police Admit Inability to Cope With the Situation---May Have Parade of 100,000 to Show the Strength of Strikers.

Philadelphia, Feb. 24.—The police officials of this city yesterday virtually acknowledged their inability to cope with the present strike situation when a request was made of John C. Groome, superintendent of the state police, that the 200 members of his command be brought to this city for police duty.

This request was made, notwithstanding that serious rioting was less frequent yesterday than on any day since the strike of the street car men went into effect on last Saturday.

The state police are expected to reach here to-day, and will doubtless be sent into the Kensington district, where the state fencibles had unpleasant experiences Tuesday. The state police will not bear trifling with.

The efforts of the police to-day, as they were yesterday, will be concentrated in clearing the Kensington district of the mobs which have infested it since the opening of the strike.

For the first time during the present struggle, the Rapid Transit Co. succeeded in running its cars until 6 o'clock on the Frankfort line, which penetrates this unruly territory. At that hour cars on all lines were returned to the respective barns.

Four policemen guarded each car on this line, and the pick of the city's detective force patrolled the route all day in automobiles. These men succeeded in restoring a semblance of order when the fencibles had failed on the day before. Whenever a group of men formed anywhere on the street, the detectives rushed them and followed the ringleaders even into houses until they captured them.

In spite of the vigilance of the police, many car windows were broken by missiles thrown from windows and the company was finally obliged to send its cars along the route with sheet iron windows in place of the usual glass panes.

Baldwin's locomotive works was the scene of a curious disturbance during the lunch hour of the hundreds of employes. One employe was shot in the foot and about 50 shots were fired at laborers who sought refuge on the upper floors of the buildings and hurled bolts and nuts at the policemen who were guarding cars in this district.

Every time a head appeared at a window it was the target for a bullet from a policeman's revolver. The one o'clock whistle brought hostilities to a close.

Fifteen policemen quartered in the barn of the Philadelphia Transit at Ridge avenue and York street, narrowly escaped death Tuesday night when the entire northwest corner of the building was blown away with dynamite. When the dynamite was placed in the car barn is a mystery.

A move is on foot to have sympathizers of the striking street railway employes parade peacefully to the city hall, 100,000 strong, and thereby show the mayor and other officials the gigantic proportions of the threatened uprising, should it later be decided to call out these men.

That the attacks on trolley cars in the northeastern section were in a number of cases planned by a gang of boys is shown by the ante-mortem statement made Tuesday night by one of the youths shot in Tuesday's rioting. In this statement he said that he was employed at a factory. On Monday, he stated, three of the boys of the factory formed themselves into a committee, went around among the other employes and got boys to the number of 150 to agree to meet and make a combined attack on trolley cars and on the men who were running them.

FOOLHARDY AUTOISTS LOST IN FIERCE BLIZZARD ON LAKE ERIE

Decided to Emulate Washington's Crossing of the Delaware and Paid Dearly for the Adventure---Were Badly Frostbitten.

Detroit, Feb. 24.—Drifting in a frigid, snow-laden gale over treacherous Lake Erie, a party of five people, occupying A. L. Spitzer's big 40 horsepower touring car, narrowly escaped death during a trip from Toledo beach to the Casino at Toledo Tuesday night.

The daring auto trip over the lake, which was probably the first of its kind ever undertaken, was suggested by the Washington anniversary, the members of the party deciding to go the hero of Delaware one better.

A few minutes after they left land the Spitzer party were in the midst of a lashing, blinding blizzard, in which they lost all sense of direction, while the gale chilled them to the marrow.

The trip was made dangerous by numerous windrows and air holes. One of the wheels plunged into an air hole in the track of the Detroit ice breakers, and for a time it looked as if the party would be forced to spend the night in the thick of the tempest on the lake. Finally the car was released and the driver proceeded in the direction he thought was south.

Their limbs stiff with cold and their senses benumbed, the adventurers discovered that instead of moving toward Toledo they had drifted around Turtle Light and were almost in the middle of Lake Erie. Hope was almost abandoned for a time, and the big car ran almost at will, leaping over air holes and crashing into windrows of heavy ice. When the moon rose at midnight Mr. Spitzer dimly made out a land line and headed directly for it. After much hardship, and when everyone was almost ready to succumb to the cold, the Casino was reached.

GREAT INTEREST IN TO-MORROW'S MEETING

The public are requested to remember the public meeting to be held in the Opera House on Friday evening next, Feb. 25th. The meeting will be addressed by two of the foremost members of Parliament, Mr. E. M. Macdonald, of Pictou, who made one of the most powerful speeches on the Naval Bill, delivered during the debate, and Mr. H. S. Beland, of Beauce, one of the most eloquent of French-Canadian representatives. The meeting will afford an opportunity of hearing two speeches by men from the thick of the fight now raging at Ottawa over the patriotic proposal of the government over the naval bill and the conflictory and compromise attitudes of the Opposition. The attention of Parliament is now engaged with one of the epoch-making movements of its history, the parting of the ways of national advance and patriotic assumption of enlarged responsibility.

PRIVATE BILLS COMMITTEE PASSED MOST OF CLAUSES

The Examiner's despatch from Toronto in regard to the Purity Ware by-law gave the erroneous information that it had been defeated, whereas it passed in its entirety, and practically all the clauses of the bill were passed. The deputation from Peterborough consisted of Mayor Morrow, City Solicitor Hall, City Clerk Armstrong, Ald. Gillespie, Ald. Turner, Ald. Buller, Ald. Duncan and Ald. Phelan. Peterborough's bill took up nearly the entire morning, and the Purity Ware by-law, which citizens are doubtless well acquainted with, received the lion's share of the deliberations. Opposition was offered by Mr. J. P. Downey, Mr. Gamey, Mr. Nicholl and Mr. James Kendry, of Peterborough. The Toronto Star refers as follows to the discussion:

The Purity Ware, Limited, was the first storm centre. Mr. Jas. Kendry of Peterborough, opened the assault.

"This is a promoters' scheme, and I can prove it," he said. "We don't know who this company is. The City Solicitor won't give the names."

Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie, president of the Board of Trade of Peterborough, jumped up.

"The Ironclad Company, L't'd., of Brooklyn, are behind it, and they want to change the Purity Ware name to the Ironclad Company of Canada. I can give the name of a Canadian, and a Toronto man, who is financing it here."

The committee was curious.

"Mr. R. Gregg, of Toronto, is furnishing the Canadian capital."

Mr. Downey offered strong opposition. "This bonus giving is a curse to the Province. It is bad enough in all conscience to pass one at all, but surely it is worse when we take liberties and say you can have it even when you don't meet requirements."

Mayor Morrow said the Peterborough Council were unanimously in favour of it.

"It is my information that the company is not incorporated at all," said Mr. Downey. "This is a scheme of promoters."

Mr. Downey finally moved an amendment that the question be referred back to the people for a vote, and demanded a three-fifths majority for that vote. This amendment was lost.

The Commissioner.

The city's request to appoint a commissioner of industries was passed, according to the demand, no stipulation being made as to the source of his remuneration.

The fixing of the assessment of the Wm. Hamilton Co. at $10,000 a year, for ten years, will have to be voted on, and supported by three-fifths of those voting.

At future municipal elections a tie vote shall be decided in favour of the candidate with the highest assessment, instead of by the City Clerk.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P., assisted the deputation.

Purity Ware L't'd. by-law was, therefore, passed in full.

Authority was granted to establish a public library in Peterborough, according to the conditions which existed when the work was first begun. Since that time the general law has been changed.

ANOTHER NAVAL POLICY.

The mountain in labour has brought forth a mouse. On Monday the Montreal Star gave double column, poster-type notice that on Tuesday it would propound to a listening empire a naval policy for Canada that would swamp the other ineffective policies standing in the name of the Laurier Government, Mr. Borden and Mr. Monk, and, at the same time lay down a policy for Great Britain and allow "Canada voice to settle not only the question of Canadian aid, but solve the problem of absolute security of the Empire." Tuesday came, and with it the promised naval policy. Without any beating to windward or tacking, here it is in a paragraph. The Star rams the hostile Canadian policies referred to, above, in these words:

"Let us authorize Great Britain to build at once a certain number of ships, Canada assuming the payment of the interest on the cost of their construction. Let the ships be recognised as belonging to Canada; let them be named after Canadian Provinces and Canadian cities, and let them be manned and officered, as far as possible, by the men whom we recruit and send over to be trained in the ways and knowledge of the British navy.

"Let us arrange that, on two years' notice, should Great Britain desire time to replace them, we may recall any or all of our ships to Canadian waters, and put them under the control of our Naval Department, with their Canadian officers and crews competent to handle them, as the traditions of the British navy require that warships shall be handled."

Originality is not the greatest merit of the Star's proposal. It is such a trifling variant from the scheme proposed by Dr. Chisholm, of East Huron, in his speech on the naval bill on Feb. 16th, that verbose amplification cannot conceal the strong family resemblance. Dr. Chisholm, after leading up to his position through the lurid haze of the German invasion scare, said:

Now then I come to this point, that Britain will be compelled to get her food supply from Canada. For that purpose it would be necessary for her to put all her spare small vessels and at least four Dreadnoughts on the line of that food supply, because that line would extend from the south of the island of Newfoundland away into the centre of the Atlantic, and it would be difficult to guard. Now, Britain must have some small vessels on that line, whether we did anything or not. It is only a matter of business for us, we are as much interested in giving her the food as she is in getting it, and it is only a business transaction that we should do something to protect her food in that way. I would propose that Canada loan a certain number of those vessels from Britain until this crisis is over, loan as many of those vessels as she can get, say each year for $1,500,000. In the meantime we would have a few Canadians to put on those vessels. Now, $1,500,000 would pay the interest on $50,000,000. Britain can borrow money at 3 per cent.; if we borrowed it we would have to pay 3¼ or 4 per cent. Britain can borrow $50,000,000 with the money that we will give her, we pay the interest, and not a single extra dollar of taxes would be put on the British people. With the $50,000,000 Britain can build five Dreadnoughts. She can build a Dreadnought in from 20 to 24 months, and she can have these extra five Dreadnoughts in time for the crisis. Not a single extra cent would the British people have to pay, and the people of Canada, with that small amount of money, would accomplish that great work.

All quite as simple as rolling off a log. Now, Dr. Chisholm went a little further than the House which heard him; he took his proposal seriously—to the extent of making a star chamber matter of the fact that he was misrepresented in respect of it by the Montreal Star. If Dr. Chisholm had a grievance against the Star on account of a trifling verbal misstatement arising possibly from a lack of lucidity in the speaker or of perspicacity in the hearer, how his blood will boil at seeing the Star steal his policy holus bolus without even the journalistic courtesy of giving credit. Dr. Chisholm's scheme has more merit than the Star's transcription—it is more definite. He specifies five Dreadnoughts, while the Star goes only as far as "a certain number of ships." Both have the weakness of Mr. Borden's amendment, which both repudiate. Both, practically propose a gift of money to be spent—contributed by Canada—without giving her a voice in its expenditure, a sort of colonial tribute in acknowledgment of British suzerainty, something not to be thought of by an autonomous Dominion. Both Dr. Chisholm's and the Star's scheme make no provision for meeting the condition laid down by Mr. Borden and accepted, as correct by every patriotic Canadian. Speaking in the House on Feb. 3rd, and discussing the inefficiency of annual contributions, he said:

As far as I am concerned, while the system of annual contributions might be best and no doubt would be best from a strategical standpoint, I firmly believe that no such system could be adopted, but, that, eventually and permanently the basis upon which Canada must contribute to the defence of the Empire will be by employing our own material, our own men, our own resources, and the skill of our own people.

The proposal of Dr. Chisholm and the Star are on all fours with the amendment of Mr. Borden, in that they involve the principle of contribution instead of the principle involved in the naval bill, of developing a Canadian navy, developing Canadian natural and industrial resources, laying the foundation of a great shipbuilding industry, giving employment to Canadian workingmen, in the noble words of Mr. Borden, "employing our own material, our own men ,our own resources, and the skill of our own people." Aside from the idea of satisfying Canadian obligations to share the burdens of Imperial defence, the main idea that reconciles the Canadian people to the creation and maintenance of a Canadian-Imperial navy is the impulse its creation, its equipment, its aiming, its manning will give to Canadian industrial development. Any plan or proposal that falls short of such an accomplishment falls so much short of meeting the situation. The Star's proposal involves the sub-proposal that when the ships we contribute to build shall come to the stage of scrap, we "may recall them to Canada and place them under control of our Canadian naval department," thus giving Canada a second-hand, not a tin-pot, but scrap-heap navy. The air of assurance and patronage and even impudence, with which the Star makes its "offer", of Canadian contribution to the imperial navy is sublime. It says:

"If we couple the offer with a condition that Canada's contribution depends upon the maintenance of a two-power standard for the Imperial navy, Canada's voice will not only have settled the question of Canadian aid, but will have solved the question of absolute security of the Empire."

Shades of Three Tailors of Tooley Street! We, the people of Canada, incarnate in St. James street, Montreal, humbly lay our millions in the lap of Britannia, hoping, mam, as you won't consider it imperence for us to dictate the imperial naval policy. Fancy that—"on condition—the two power standard."

THE VALUE OF TURPENTINE

When all else fails the physician recommends his wealthy patient to take a trip to the turpentine groves as a cure for throat and lung troubles. The turpentine of commerce cannot very well be used but by adding linseed Dr. Chase succeeded in getting up the most effective treatment for throat and lung troubles that was ever discovered. It is known as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

MAN'S IDEAL OF THE RIGHT WOMAN

Must Prefer His Society to Anything Else on Earth and Not Worry When She Is Denied It

What a man wants in a woman is somewhat as follows, says an exchange:

She must be a dream of beauty.

She must be an angel with the smile of a seraph and a great mass of magnificent hair, and all her own natural.

She must possess a perfect temper and never her voice save in song.

She must be a good cook and always ready to do same.

She must be a splendid housekeeper and not require any servants.

She must love children and be able to care for them and raise them by hand.

She must be a fine musician and have a mind stored with all the intellectual wealth of the ages, but must never get the idea that hubby hasn't the superior intellect and doesn't know it all.

She must dress in the latest fashion but must spend no money on same.

She must be interesting, elusive, gay, of a deeply religious nature, lively, modest, retiring, self-sacrificing, brilliant, sacrificing, but a lover of home and fireside, preferring the society of her husband to anything else on earth, but not worrying when she doesn't get any of it.

That is all that most men require.

TO BREAK MONOPOLY

Toronto, Feb 24.—"This bill is not for the purpose of knocking anybody, but it is intended to break the monopoly," said Sam Charters, member for Peel in moving the second reading of his telephone bill in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Charters was greeted with considerable applause from both sides of the House. He reviewed the situation in the last few years. The action of the Bell Telephone Co. in refusing to supply the needs of the rural districts had created a new condition, which had resulted in the establishment of over 400 independent companies. Oxford County headed the list with eight companies. Of the 400, 57 had been established in the last four years. There were six municipal lines under the recently conferred authority. The independent lines represented a capital of upwards of $1,000,000, the capitalization ranging from $300 to $50,000. They were furnishing a fairly satisfactory service to between 30,000 and 40,000 people.

The Counties of Middlesex and Elgin had up to the present time more rural telephones than had the whole province of Alberta when they bought out the Bell Telephone Co.

The formation of these independent companies had had the effect of increasing the Bell monopoly. The reason for this statement was found in the fact that the rural companies quarrelled among themselves. Then they entered into long distance arrangements with the Bell. In all of the contracts the latter company insisted on the insertion of a clause prohibiting the local company from having any dealings with any other independent company. Thus the monopoly was solidified.

Ontario, said Mr. Charters, should have such a system in the next few years that no farmer would have to pay more than $12 a year for his phone, and he should have long distance privileges at half the present rates. By placing the companies under the jurisdiction of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, cooperation would be assured, while combination would be guarded against.

D. Reed (South Wentworth) agreed with Mr. Charters. The business of the doctors especially was suffering by the conditions which prevailed. In his own district there were three companies in the space of one mile, which the Bell Company had tied up so that there was no intercommunication. There is one company within a mile of our village," he said, "and I can't come in."

Hon. I. B. Lucas declared that the divided jurisdiction made the whole subject a difficult one to deal with. The Bell Telephone Co. was under the control of the Dominion Government, through the Dominion Railway Board. The independent companies were under Ontario jurisdiction.

"The long distance service is by its nature a monopoly," declared Mr. Lucas. "The ideal, of course, would be that every man with a telephone should be able to reach every other man with a telephone." The Dominion Government, however, had declined for the present to take up the question of public ownership of trunk lines.

"The first step," Mr. Lucas continued, "must come from the Ottawa Government. They must say what they refused to say to Manitoba. We will give you the power to deal with the company'."

"This bill of my honorable friend is a practical bill. The Dominion Railway Board controls the Bell Telephone Co. The missing link is that no one has power to control the Ontario companies. With this power, and the Dominion Board exercising their power, we could weld the whole telephone system of the provinces into one system."

T. W. McGarry (South Renfrew) wished to know whether the local companies, by entering into contracts with the Bell, which had a Dominion charter, might not ipso facto carry themselves out of the provincial jurisdiction.

Mr. Lucas was clear that such would not be the case.

In answer to a question of J. McEwing (West Wellington) he stated that no breach of existing contracts between the local companies and the Bell was contemplated by the proposed legislation. These only ran for terms varying from two to five years. When they terminated no such contracts would be allowed to be renewed. Moreover, these agreements had to be ratified by the Dominion Railway Board, and he thought none of them had so far been ratified. "And I think," he added, "that when their attention is drawn to the matter, they will not ratify them."

The question, he said in conclusion was a great one. The Minister of Agriculture had been able to do a lot for the farmers in a material way but this question touched the social side of farm life in Ontario, which was quite as important.

Hon. A. G. MacKay thought the bill was along right lines. The Dominion Railway Board controlled the rates, agreements and acts of the Bell Company. The Ontario Board acting would control the rates, agreements and acts of the local companies. This ought to have the effect of giving the maximum of control without a single dollar invested. "It will be our own fault," he added, "if we do not get an efficient service."

WEDDING BELLS

ROBINSON—WILSON.

Lindsay, Feb. 23rd. — One of the prettiest of church weddings was solemnized this afternoon at the Cambridge St. Methodist church at two o'clock, when Miss Mary Evelyn Wilson, daughter of Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., the beloved pastor of the above church, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. J. G. Robinson, of Toronto, son of the late J. G. Robinson.

As the bridal party entered the church, Lohengrin's wedding march was rendered in excellent manner on the pipe organ by Mr. Cecil Carl Forsythe, organist of the church. The young bride, who was led to the marriage altar by her father, was becomingly attired in a handsome gown of cream liberty satin, with panel of rose point lace, wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms, and carrying a magnificent shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white bridal roses. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Janet Wilson, who was exquisitely arrayed in pale yellow silk crepe de chene, trimmed with baby Irish lace with a beautiful hat to match, and carrying a pretty bouquet of yellow daffodils.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. R. E. Stone, of Sault Ste. Marie, and the pleasing, simple, and impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. P. Wilson, L.L.D., of Belleville, uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. P. Wilson, father of the charming young bride.

The pretty ceremony was performed in front of a magnificent bank of various kinds of plants and flowers, the choir loft, pulpit and altar being profusely decorated with the choicest of greenhouse palms, ferns, daffodils, white lilies and plants in bloom. The white ribbons down the spacious aisles of the edifice added to the effect. The church was decorated for the occasion by the official board of the church.

Miss Edith Flavelle rendered in superb manner the beautiful solo, "Oh Love Divine." She was gowned in a smart and pretty dress of pale blue satin with silver trimmings, and a pale blue picture hat to match.

Besides the one hundred and fifty or more guests present at the nuptial event, including the official board of the church, a very large number of Lindsay ladies were present to witness the pleasing ceremony, the gallery of the church being crowded.

Mr. W. E. Reesor, of Lindsay, and Dr. Malcolm Wilson, of Belleville, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

The bridal couple passed out of the church to the strains of Mendelsohn's wedding march, played by Mr. Cecil Carl Forsythe.

After the ceremony the bridal couple and the guest returned to the parsonage, where they were tendered many hearty congratulations, after which the guests were served a dainty collation, the house being very prettily decorated with yellow daffodils.

The luncheon over, the bride donned her travelling suit of dark green broadcloth, with hat to match, and also a beautiful set of mink furs, the gift of the bride's father. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left on the C.P.R. train for New York and Florida, expecting to be absent four or five weeks, after which they will take up residence at 60 Wilson Ave., Parkdale, a spacious and handsome residence fitted up by the groom.

The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful pearl necklace; to the bridesmaid a pretty amethyst ring; to Miss E. Flavelle, a valuable gold bar pin set with a single amethyst; to the groomsman, a set of gold studs set with pearls.

The presents, which were numerous as well as costly, were neatly arranged on two long tables. They attested the high esteem in which the bride and groom are held.

Among the guests present were noticed:

From Belleville—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn, Judge Deroche, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pringle, Mr. Herbert Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holten, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. P. Wilson, Mr. Harold Wilson, Mr. Edward O'Flynn, Mr. William Johnston, Miss Hattie Pringle.

From Napanee—Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Wilson, a brother of Rev. J. P. Wilson, Miss Mary Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Gibbard, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Frolick, and Mrs. J. S. Smith.

From Kingston—Mr. and Mrs. A. Doney

From Toronto—Miss Wilma Rowse and Miss Catharine Rowse, Mr. Austin Lewis, Mr. J. H. Roberts.

From Peterborough—Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cresman, Dr. and Mrs. McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Ackerman, Miss Ackerman

From Tamworth—Mrs. Aylesworth.

From Collingwood—Mrs. Hawkins.

From Parry Sound — Mrs. Armstrong.

From Sault Ste. Marie—Miss Bertha Stone, and Mr. R. E. Stone.

From Whitby — Miss Ryan, Miss Gott.

Several relatives of the contracting parties were unable to be present owing to recent bereavements.

KEARNS—MACBRIEN.

On Tuesday evening, Feb. 22nd, at the George St. Methodist parsonage, by the Rev. E. A. Pearson, Miss Mildred Elizabeth MacBrien was united in marriage to Mr. John James Kearns, of Peterborough. The bride wore a pale blue serge travelling suit with hat to match. After the ceremony the young couple drove to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of, after which the guests present prepared a very enjoyable evening. The young couple are going to reside at 297 Bethune St., Peterborough.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Peterborough People.

Too many Peterborough citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest, and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Booth's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Can you doubt Peterborough evidence.

W. Wormington, of 121 Brock St., Peterborough, Ont., says:

"I had suffered with rheumatism for over three years. I found little or no relief in any of the remedies I tried. I became so stiff and sore that I could scarcely turn in bed, and had to lay off from my work. The urine was highly coloured and filled with a heavy, sand-like sediment, which plainly told the disordered state of the kidneys. I tried Booth's Kidney Pills through an advertisement at McDermid & Jury's Drug Store, and was surprised to see how quickly the urine cleared. The kidneys were soon active and the uric acid went from my system. The rheumatism gradually became less severe and finally left me. I am better than in years previous and could not hesitate to recommend Booth's Kidney Pills.

For, Madam, Flour that's Superfine is Best for You

Hands on hips, with aggressive tilt to upturned nose, she descanted in cooking-school-graduate style on culinary matters in general and the fineness of FIVE ROSES in particular.

Someone with an axe to grind—or coarse flour to sell—had stirred her up against superfine flour.

"But," said we, "the very fineness of FIVE ROSES is but another "good reason for its use."

And this is the way of it, Madam.

Have you ever chopped up one big lump of ice into wee, tiny fragments?

Haven't you noticed, too, how the small little bits melted ever so much faster than the big fellows?

Well, Mistress Housewife, much the same happens when you "set" your dough.

If your flour is of uniform fineness, all the grains small and even, the yeast and water will set much more quickly, and you will get much quicker, easier fermentation.

Your fermenting dough will be more uniform, you see.

No more anxiety as to the outcome in the morning, no more weekly nightmare on bakeday eve.

Isn't that eminently worth while, Mistress Housewife?

• • • •

Due to the selfsame fineness of FIVE ROSES, the texture of all your breadstuffs and cakes and whatnot is ever so much finer, more porous, more yielding, more appetizing.

No streaky loaves, nor coarseness, nor hard doughy lumps, you know.

No unsightly holes, nothing to vex the soul of the prideful cook.

And when eaten, due to this same fineness again, the digestive juices of the family's "innards" act more surely.

Even pie in its 57 varieties is robbed of half its terrors.

• • • •

FIVE ROSES is "superfine" flour—yes, but not so fine as to be "killed" in grinding.

Twenty-one years' experience prevents that.

Feel the "feel" of FIVE ROSES—its liveliness, responsiveness, evenness, strength, breadlife.

It's everything YOU want in flour.

So get what you want, Madam.

Get FIVE ROSES—soon.

CHRONIC ULCERS

Mrs. Jas. Elsworth, 902 Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg, says:—"Four years ago ulcers broke out on my left ankle and spread until from the top of my foot to my knee was one extended sore. One ulcer would be almost healed when a second would appear in a new place and in a remarkably short time a deep hole would be eaten into the flesh. The flesh on my leg turned blue and looked shocking indeed. I started using ointment after ointment, but received little or no benefit. The ulcers would heal for a time and then break out afresh. I was laid up in bed for a long time, absolutely unable to walk. My limb was so painful that I had no rest night after night.

"I consulted five different doctors! Some advised my going into hospital; others said there was no cure for me. After using their ointments and preparations until I was positive they could not cure, I almost gave up in despair.

"It was then Zam-Buk was tried and how I bless the hour I got it! Within a day it had given me some ease, and from that time I went on improving! The sores were so bad that it took some time to heal them, but Zam-Buk healed them all. The last was healed over a year ago and I have never had a moment's trouble since, from any form of ulceration."

Zam-Buk is just as good for eczema, piles, festering sores, scalp sores, children's rashes, cuts, burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores everywhere 50c box, or post free, Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

WESTERN PAPER'S REFERENCE TO LATE MR. BRECKENRIDGE

Was Highly Regarded in the Business With Which He Was Connected and in the Town He Lived In—Sad Circumstances of His Death.

DIED IN WIFE'S ARMS

The Cranbrook Herald refers to the death of the late David Breckenridge, whose demise occurred on Sunday, February 13th. The body was brought to Peterborough and the funeral was held from his old home on Sunday, Feb. 21, to the Little Lake cemetery. The Herald obituary notice is as follows:

News of the sudden death of David Breckenridge came as quite a shock to his many friends last Sunday morning. Mr. Breckenridge had been taken ill last Saturday morning at one of the Crows Nest Pass Lumber Company's camps, at Maus Creek, two miles from Fort Steele. Medical aid was immediately sent for, and Dr. Hugh Watt of Fort Steele, drove out to attend to him. Later in the day Dr. Lees of Cranbrook drove out from town, and upon his advice, it was decided to bring Mr. Breckenridge into the St. Eugene hospital for treatment. He was suffering from a severe attack of acute gastritis. On Sunday morning Mr. Breckenridge, accompanied by his wife and Mr. Arthur Lund, left the camp for Cranbrook. Whilst driving in he was overcome by another severe attack and expired in his wife's arms. The body was conveyed to W. R. Beatty's undertaking parlours, whence it was taken on Tuesday afternoon, under escort of local and Fort Steele masons to the Church of England, where the funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. P. Flewelling, and thence conveyed to the station for removal to Peterborough, Ont., for interment.

The deceased, who was forty-five years old, had been a long resident of East Kootenay, being in the employ of the Crows Nest Pass Lumber Company, of which his brother, John Breckenridge, the well-known railway contractor, was a large shareholder. David Breckenridge came to British Columbia with his brother John, with whom, for some years previously he had been in partnership in the contracting business in London, Ont. He was a native of Peterborough, Ont., and a little more than a year ago was married to Miss Moffatt, of Peterborough, with whom widespread sympathy is expressed in her sudden bereavement.

David Breckenridge held a high position in the regard of both his employers and their employes, with whom his relations were always of the friendliest nature. He was noted throughout the lumber camps for his straightforward, manly dealings with all with whom he came in contact.

Appropriate reference to the sudden demise was made last Sunday evening, at the Presbyterian church, at Wardner, by Rev. R. J. Snowden.

The funeral service in town on Tuesday afternoon was largely attended. From Fort Steele the principal officers of the local Masonic lodge attended in a body, and Worshipful Master R. T. Richardson conducted the ceremony in the Cranbrook lodge room, which was attended by a representative body of Cranbrook Masons. Among the Fort Steele Masons in attendance were the following: D.D.G. M. A. B. Fenwick, W.M. R. T. Richardson, S.W. John Larson, J.W. H. Mathers and Bros. Galbraith and Dr. Watt. The deceased was a member of Fort Steele lodge, having been raised to the sublime degree of a master mason within the past three weeks.

The severe attack of gastritis, which proved fatal, was presumably brought about by the fact that Mr. Breckenridge drove out from camp, early Saturday morning, without breakfast, and, returning about 10 a. m., ate a very hearty breakfast. Within an hour of doing so, he was stricken down and died within twenty-four hours.

The body was taken east on the afternoon train Tuesday last, Mrs. Breckenridge and Mr. John Breckenridge accompanying the remains.

How Americans Are Assisting To Develop Western Canada

Mr. Arthur Hawkes, an Official of the C. N. R., Gives Lecture to Club at University of Chicago—Americans Learn to Appreciate and Love Canada and Ideal Citizens.

GOVERNMENT LENDS AID

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 24.—That the most fateful work in national development on the North American Continent is being done in the prairie provinces of Western Canada was the assertion made here in a lecture to University of Chicago Sociology Club by Arthur Hawkes, a Canadian Northern Railway official, on "The Man with Two Countries."

The importance of that development in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, Mr. Hawkes said, lay in the certain production of a distinct type of people, and in an equally certain effect upon the relations of the three leading English speaking peoples. The potential results in both directions were being tremendously influenced by the advent of a million emigrants from the United States.

To many patriotic Americans it was, said Mr Hawkes, an almost incredible thing that thousands of their fellow countrymen should be taking the oath of allegiance to King Edward. Until they calmly discussed the matter they could not conceive how the American spirit, which was the American people, could, in a country like Canada, becomes just one ingredient among many in the building up of a Canadian nation within the British empire.

"The American who went from Illinois or Iowa, Nebraska or Minnesota," said Mr. Hawkes, "improved his financial position even more than did the earlier settlers in those States; for he went into a virgin country of vast extent and unmeasured fertility, that was served with the appliances of trade and transportation and the amenities of civilization to an extent that was quite unknown to the settler in the Mississippi Valley a generation ago."

Government Aids Settlers.

Mr. Hawkes said the settler found, for instance, provincial governments that were less than five years old running telephone departments that helped groups of farmers to obtain cheap telephones by supplying them with poles in place. The government experimental farms distributed seedling trees and sent men to show the farmer how best to lay out his groves.

Two sections in every township are school lands, and the government assists the people in every township containing ten children to build a school house and pay a teacher. Thanks to the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, law and order precede settlement. There is no unlimited license for a drinker of ardent spirits and lovers of gunplay are kept below parallel 49.

"When an American with very small capital reaches a country like that and in seven years is regularly shipping from 10,000 to 20,000 bushels of wheat to Port Arthur," said Mr. Hawkes, "he finds it easy to understand that if he swears allegiance to the British Crown he is pledging himself not to an oppressive tyranny, but to a government that fundamentally as well as nominally lives to execute the will of the people.

"It is easy for an American to learn that not only in Britain, but in all the Britains beyond the seas, the things for which the American colonies fought were secured for all time to all self-governing subjects.' The liberties of which Old Glory had been to him the worshipped symbol he finds were possessed in noble measure by the new compatriots.

Learns to Love Two Countries.

"Indeed, the American in Canada is like a man who learned that he did not cease to love his mother because he loved his wife. Just as an increasing family means a deepening well of affection for them, so the American in Canada who finds himself to be a lover of two countries instead of one is a broader and deeper man than he could have become in his native State.

"The gain in international good will from the multiplying of communications between the American and Canadian is incalculable and must enormously influence the relations between the republic and the empire as the United States advances more rapidly into the position it is destined to occupy. As the whole is greater than a part, so the English speaking race is more to the world than any section of it."

FEARED PARALYSIS

Mr. P. A. Kruts, Schwartz, Que., writes, "For one year I was a complete nervous wreck, could not rest or sleep, had indigestion and terrible headaches and constantly feared paralysis. Six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food made me well and strong. There is no treatment in the world so good as this for building up the nervous system."

POST CARD COLUMN

Sir,—I notice some of our stores are at present displaying Patrick's Day postcards that are an insult alike to Ireland and her faith. The pig and the caubeen and the shillelagh are about played out now. And the suggestive pictures of half-naked Irish girls being embraced by foolish-looking Irish boys are both morally objectionable and nationally offensive. Canadians of Irish blood and all true citizens of this great land of liberty should rigidly boycott such stuff. If this is the Germanic idea (I notice the cards bear the legend "made in Germany") of Ireland and St. Patrick we should let them see such productions will not sell here in Canada. But why cannot we produce these cards ourselves or if this is impossible, import them from Ireland

Yours, etc.,

The Explanation of those Mysterious Queries that set the town a-talking has centred buying at this store

¶ The Vital Question. What is it? What every day problem worries you most and sets you almost at your wit's end? The Vital Question of how to make both ends meet, the ever widening gulf between income and the cost of living. ¶ There's no denying the skyward course of necessities; carefully compiled statistics covering a wide territory demonstrate incontestably that it takes $9.00 to buy what $6.52 bought in 1900. ¶ What to do? How to economize? Where to save? It's a problem worthy of the master mind of genius. ¶ Here is temporary relief: Now during this event we narrow profits and cut costs down to a basis that allows a presentation of prices like those of the "Good Old Days." ¶ Come yourself and discover what startling low prices obtain. Visit the store to-morrow, "ask the price" on everything and buy only such merchandise as you require. The saving effected will allow you to forget for the time being that all absorbing question of the "cost of living." ¶ Now then "The Vital Question" is, can you possibly afford to neglect such an opportunity?

WOLGAST IS KNOWN AS HUMAN SNAPPING TURTLE

They call Wolgast "The Human Snapping Turtle," because he draws his head in between his shoulders and keeps it there out of danger.

Wolgast is not a foreign born boxer, as many have imagined. He walked to the referee for instructions in Cadillac, Mich., for the first time some years ago.

Wolgast has more than fifty regular fights to his credit, and the longest of which he ever became a part was with Powell, out in California. It lasted twenty rounds and he got the decisionn.

(Kid C. Adolph) Wolgast is his correct name. He was born in Cadillac, Mich., February 8th, 1888, and is 22 years old.

Wolgast's height is 5 feet 4½ inches, and he has fought as low as 122 pounds.

Wolgast's nationality is German-American.

Wolgast started his fighting career in 1903. His first fight was with Kid Moore, and Wolgast won in six rounds.

Wolgast's first knockout was in 1906 when he administered the sleeping powder to Young Nelson in three rounds. The same year Young Nelson came back at Wolgast and trimmed him in four rounds. This fight is the only battle Wolgast lost, and it was in his first year's fighting.

In 1907 Wolgast was determined to show the public that he was made for the fighting game.

Wolgast had no fights in January, of 1907, but he started right in early to fight on February 1st, and he kept it up at the average of a fight every twelve days. Wolgast fought every month, except January and July.

In 1907 some of Wolgast's principal fights were with Buddy Glover, winning on a foul in a six-round encounter. Wolgast again met Glover on May 21st, at Ford du Lac, Winnipeg, by the K. O. route.

In 1908 Wolgast started as early as possible, knocking out Buck Plotell on New Year's Day, in St. Joe., Mo., the battle going five rounds. The new champion kept on fighting twice every month.

In April of 1908 Wolgast thought he would like to take a whack at the top notchers. On April 6 Owen Moran and Wolgast fought six rounds in New York, and no decision was arrived at. Moran had the best of this little mill.

On September 29, 1907, Danny Webster tok the count from Wolgast in eighteen rounds at Los Angeles.

Wolgast and Bob Robinson hooked up in Los Angeles, and no decision was the order of this battle of ten rounds.

Wolgast's last and more important fight in the year of 1908 was with Abe Attell. Again no decision was rendered. This fight was on Feb. 23.

In 1908 Wolgast put the kibosh on Danny by the K. O. route.

Wolgast had 18 fights last year, and of these twelve battles were no-decision affairs.

Had a Pretty Warm Year in 1909.

The principal fight of all his career was with the man Wolgast conquered last night. This was on the 13th of July in Los Angeles. Nelson and Wolgast fought ten rounds to no decision. In this battle Wolgast clearly out-classed the Dane, and gave Wolgast's manager an idea that Nelson had met his superior in the ring, consequently a match was made at forty-five rounds, which was the fight that tok place recently in Richmond.

Wolgast won his last fight in 1909 by beating Lew Powell in twenty rounds at San Francisco on Nov. 29th.

STRATHCONAS WERE ROYALLY ENTERTAINED BY WEST ENDS

Enjoyable Euchre Party Held in West Ends Club Rooms Last Night---City League Players Fraternized in Commendable Manner

The members of the West End Club showed a commendable and sportsmanlike spirit last night in entertaining the players and officers of the Strathconas, City League champions, at the West End club rooms, in the Bank of Commerce building, and the result was a most enjoyable evening. The affair took the form of a euchre party and there was a large attendance ,nearly all the members of the Strathconas being present, with a number of other guests, while the West End Club was represented by a large quota of its members. The West Ends proved ideal hosts and saw that every one had a most enjoyable time.

The tastefully furnished and cosy club rooms were appropriately decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting, the red and white of the Strathconas being prominently displayed in the colour scheme—a tribute that was appreciated by the Commissioners.

The euchre contest was productive of much amusement and fun reigned supreme round the tables as the game progressed. The winner was Douglas Robinson, of the West End Club, while Mr. Charlie Ray, Captain of the Straths, won the "booby" prize, the award in each case being a box of cigars.

At the conclusion of the game an impromptu programme was run off with Messrs. Will O'Brien and Harry Theobald presiding at the piano. Mr. Will Milburn, of the West Ends, rendered a number of Harry Lauder's song hits, including "The Safest of the Family," "Fou the Noo," and "Stop Your Tickling, Jock," in a manner that brought down the house, and the gathering sang a number of popular song successes with a vim that was refreshing to say the least.

With Mr. Jos. Sharpe, president of the West End Club, acting as chairman a number of impromptu speeches were given.

Mr. C. G. Graham, president of the City Hockey League, congratulated both teams on the fine showing they had made in the City League this season, and commended the West Ends upon their good judgment in forming a club, a movement with which he was heartily in spirit. He believed more of such clubs should be formed in Peterborough as they would help to develop the young men athletically and in other ways.

Messrs. Charlie Ray, Leo. Derocher and F. D. Craig, on behalf of the Strathconas, thanked the West Ends for their hospitality and kindness in arranging such an enjoyable affair in their honour, and Mr. Harry Theobald voiced the feelings of the press. Towards the close of the evening refreshments were served by the committee, after which the evening was brought to a close by the Strathconas singing "They are Jolly Good Fellows," and giving three cheers for the West Ends.

The affair was in charge of the Social Committee of the West Ends, comprising Messrs. Geo. Hooey, Howard Kirn, Claude Sherwood and Russell Robertson, who are to be congratulated upon the success of their efforts.

The Strathcona contingent consisted of Messrs. Charlie Ray, Leo Derocher, Allan Campbell, Hugh Burritt, P. A. Weatherstone, Herbert McMillan, Will Pratt, Chas. Curtis, Bert Parnell, W. J. Metheral, and F. D. Craig, while among the others present in addition to the West End members were Messrs. C. G. Graham, president of the City League, Will O'Brien, Secretary of the T. A. S. Club, and Harry Theobald, of the Examiner.

"KATHARINE HALE" WILL LECTURE TO-MORROW NIGHT

To-morrow evening, at eight o'clock, Miss A. B. Warnock ("Katharine Hale" of the Mail and Empire), will deliver a lecture in the Assembly Hall of the Normal School on "Canadian Literature."

Of this lecture most favourable comments have been made by different magazines and newspapers, some of which are as follows:

The Globe says:

"Miss Warnock works for the upbuilding of National Art in the fabric of our growing nationhood, and shows an intimate first-hand knowledge of her subject. In the intrests of Canadian literature and art it is hoped that she will be given many opportunities of appearing before Canadian audiences."

"The Lyceum" of London, England says:

• • • "Then followed a wonderful picture of early Quebec, with its striking contrasts; the little huddled houses, within which might be heard the click of high French heels, while without lay the forest, the glow of the camp fires, the ambuscade of Red Indians, with their poisoned arrows. The speaker went on to trace the history of Canadian literature, which took birth amid such inspiring elements, and concluded with an effective recital of Robert Service and the Cremation of Sam McGee."

Miss. Jean Graham, in the Home Journal, says:

"Miss Warnock, known to Mail & Empire readers as 'Katharine Hale,' gave a most interesting recital some time ago on 'Canadian Literature,' in which she dealt in a masterly way with its history, progress, and present position. How proud we were to be Canadians, when in this glorious company of men and women of noble mind!"

To this lecture the public is invited and there is no doubt a treat is in store for those who attend.

THEY ALL ELOPE

It is a Peculiarity of the McCook Family.

Pittsburg, Feb. 24.—"I have advised my remaining son, Hansen, who is now 18, to elope as speedily as possible, and complete the family record for elopement."

This was the way in which Mrs. Lucy McCook, a widow, responded to the news that her eldest son, Sheldon, had eloped with pretty Ina Ayers, the 17-year-old daughter of Archibald C. Ayers, of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. The young couple were married in Wheeling.

A little less than two years ago Mrs. McCook's daughter Bessie eloped with Reed Knox, the son of Secretary of State Philander C. Knox. Their married life has been very happy.

Mrs. McCook declared that elopement must be hereditary with her children. She confessed that she eloped with the late Mr. McCook when she was 16, and that she was never sorry for it.

DEBATE ON NAVAL BILL

In Debate on Naval Bill Conservative Members Says Anti-British Feeling Exists In Quebec — Counsel for N. T. R. Inquiry Will Be Appointed by the Government—Eight-Hour-Day Bill Again.

Ottawa, Feb. 24.—Dr. Edwards, Conservative member for Frontenac, resumed the naval debate yesterday with a fierce onslaught upon the leading French-Canadian politicians, charging them with preaching sedition and treason.

He accused Sir Wilfrid Laurier of plotting for the disintregation of the British Empire. Never in the history of the Empire had a single statesman occupied such a position, he said. He described the Premier as "the champion lightning change political artist of the continent of North America." In Quebec, he said: "Not a ship, not a gun." In Toronto his statement was: "We might help if England was menaced."

He had been somewhat amused at the efforts of Ralph Smith to reconcile the positive and negative statements of his leaders. Such efforts would give a snake lumbago. The Premier at the present time was like Mohamet's spirit, hanging between heaven and hell, and fit for neither place.

Dr. Edwards proceeded to discuss the attitude of several of the French-Canadian and some English political leaders towards the Empire. Time and again, he said, it had been impressed upon them that there was an anti-imperial sentiment in Quebec which had to be overcome when any national question was raised. Manitoba had been told that she must remain the postage stamp province of Canada until she was willing to bow the knee to Quebec.

The people of Quebec must remember that this country possessed people of English, Scottish, Irish and Welsh origin. The uppermost thought in the minds of the Government always was, "What will Quebec say?" Other provinces could be fooled as usual.

The Conservatives tried to make capital out of the Lumsden enquiry yesterday.

Victor Geoffrion, the chairman, moved that the report of the committee that counsel should be employed to represent the committee during the investigation be adopted.

Houghton Lennox moved, in amendment, that "the members of the Opposition upon the said committee shall have the right to select the counsel so to be appointed, and that such counsel shall be instructed to protect the interests of the people of Canada in the said investigation."

Mr. Lennox pointed out that the commissioners had appointed R. C. Smith, K.C., to represent them, and through them the Government. The commissioners were responsible for the engineers, and therefore Mr. Smith was representing one side, and one side only.

The committee had come to the conclusion to have counsel to represent the public and the public alone. What the Opposition wanted to know was whether this was a bona fide movement on behalf of the people, or whether it was simply a colorable arrangement to have additional counsel appointed on behalf of the Government. He considered it only another gold brick. He desired that the Conservative members of the committee should have the selection of the counsel.

A. H. Clarke (South Essex) said he was very much surprised at the amendment. It was a reflection upon the committee, that they were not competent to appoint a counsel. The majority should rule.

Samuel Barker (East Hamilton) said they wanted this thing probed. They had experience on previous occasions of the stifling of enquiries. Mr. Smith had stated that he represented the people, but this was ridiculous. Nobody doubted the intention of the majority of the committee.

On a vote being taken the result was as follows: Government 100, Opposition 67; Government majority 33.

When the Parliamentary committee enquiring into the charges met, T. W. Crothers resumed the opposition of the Conservative members to proceeding without representation by counsel. He pointed out that R. C. Smith, K.C., of Montreal, was actually counsel for the defence, inasmuch as the commission were responsible for the appointment of the accused engineers, and declared that Smith's business as counsel for the commission would be to suppress evidence.

This the Montreal lawyer vigorously denied, but E. M. MacDonald, M.P. for Pictou, seeing no other way, produced a motion throwing the responsibility in the matter of appointing prosecuting counsel upon the House.

In the meantime summonses are being sent out for the accused engineers, and the enquiry is already promising serious results. The proceedings are being watched by S. N. Parent and the other commissioners, Parent sitting close to R. C. Smith. Gordon Grant, Lumsden's successor as engineer, is also there. Every member of the committee is a lawyer, the legal pick of the House, and the battle so far has been one for position, the with the result so far a Conservative victory.

On being asked by the chairman for a list of the engineers in whom he had lost confidence, Mr. Lumsden gave these names: E. Bourgeois, J. B Phillips, A. P. Miller, W. W. Bell, John J. McKeough, George Shearn.

These were district or resident engineers along various mileage sections D and F. This was but a partial list however.

The Verville eight-hour-day bill was before the special committee yesterday, when Hon. Mackenzie King pointed out that a reduction in hours from 10 to 8, if accompanied by a reduction in wages, might result in strikes.

Victor Dubreuil, one of the Labor Department fair wage officers, thought that the bill would improve conditions, especially for cement workers, who labor 12 to 15 hours a day. He believed that organized labor would approve the shorter day, even if accompanied by a reduction in wages, but the "uneducated, unorganized work people might not favor it."

McNevin, also of the Department, said the eight-hour day had worked well in British Columbia, where in the smelters, the reduction from 12 to eight hours did not affect the wages.

SEIZED BEER ENOUGH TO FLOAT A CRUISER

Toronto, Feb. 24.—A strenuous battle between the law and the dispensers of booze is being raged, according to reports received by the provincial police yesterday.

Angus Taylor of Blind River became seized with the idea that the presence of the thirty "restaurants" in a town of 2,000 inhabitants portended something more than a desire to cater to the legitimate needs of the hungry Blind Rivermen. Consequently he sent a wire to Inspector James Grigg of Bruce Mines, and on Tuesday morning the two paid an unceremonious visit to fourteen of them. Their apparent neglect of the others is accounted for by an innate modesty of the proprietors, who found the climate elsewhere more suited to their constitution and shut up shop.

The officers seized beer enough to float a Dreadnought, ten bottles of port wine and a carload of hard cider. Eight barrels of beer were taken from one place.

In the recorder's court, Munro gave evidence in the case is generally the result of a cold caused by exposure to wet and inclement weather and may be recognized by a tightness across the chest, sharp pains and a difficulty in breathing, a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color coming from the bronchial tubes when coughing, especially the first thing in the morning. Cure the first symptoms of bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

Bronchitis Cured.

Miss Martha Bourget, Little Pabos, Que., writes: "Last spring I was very poorly, had a bad cough, sick headache, could not sleep, and was tired all the time. I consulted two doctors and both told me I had bronchitis, and advised me to give up teaching. I tried almost everything but none of the medicines gave me any relief. One of my friends advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I had scarcely taken the first bottle when I began to get better and when I had taken the fourth bottle I felt as well as ever, my cough had left me and I could sleep well."

"Dr. Wood's" is the original Norway Pine Syrup. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SPORTING NEWS

Ladies Enjoy Curling And Take Great Interest In Game

The good old game of curling is beginning to find among its most ardent supporters an increasing number of ladies in this city, who, in every game, are showing to better advantage and are really becoming classy performers. The members of the curling club graciously extended to the ladies the use of the rink and the stones, and almost every morning a rink or two is honoured by the presence of the gentler sex. A few mornings ago an Examiner reporter stopped for a moment to watch the shots at one end. A lady, wearing a neatly fitting Persian lamb coat, hat of brown fur, and grey mittens, took up her position like a veteran. She carefully slid the stone up and down, preparing for her shot, and, after determining where she wanted it to go it was despatched out over the icy surface. It proved a splendid shot, and the feminine hurrahs that greeted it re-echoed through the otherwise silent and vault-like rink. The ladies appreciate the opportunity of curling. Their long experience at that boudoir pastime might be expected to be of service to them, but while in one sense it is their forte, in another it is not, but they are learning the ice game quickly. It might also be expected that the ladies would go to the head of the class for proficiency in sweeping, but such is not the case. The ladies certainly know the fine art of sweeping, but there are two essentials in which up to the present they have been found wanting. One is to shout SWEEP! SW-EE-EP!" so loudly that a napping servant girl in a house five blocks away will jump as if it were the voice of the "missis" from the top of the stairs. However, the ladies are doing very well, and, as their ability increases their enthusiasm keeps pace. It has been hinted that it is a toss-up as to whether Mr. Robert Neill's or Mr. J. H. Ferguson's intonations of 'sweep" is the favourite, but it is believed that Skip Neill is the model in this regard. Another little defect which is being gradually overcome is in the sweeping department. It is found rather difficult to slide along backwards and sweep at the same time. It is a double action, and the Cubanola glide is the really difficult part to the ladies. However, as stated above, they are adepts in the true sense of the word, and can even go out and bring a stone that looks good through the circles and out at the rear, spoiling the shot. The morning hour, about eleven o'clock, is most suitable for the ladies, as they are not embarrassed by an audience. Mr. Angus McIntosh is for the most part the sole spectator, and then it is only when he is called upon to explain how such and such a shot can be made, or to explain some other technicality of the game. Angus, as a tutor, has been very successful, and is as pleased as the ladies with their adaptability to the game.

WHAT THEY SAID BEFORE THE BATTLE

(By Battling Nelson.)

"Punchers like Joe Gans, Herrera, Britt, Corbett, Hyland and Canole could not hurt me with the best they had in their entire stock in trade. Wolgast is not to be compared with any of this group. Is it reasonable, then, to believe that I am worrying about this battle? I cordially hate Wolgast and am going to give him a whipping that will eliminate him forever as a prize ring factor. He will be yelling for mercy before the 15th round, and I'll stop him inside of 18. I am still the same Nelson, as far as stamina is concerned, and Wolgast might as well pound the Rock of Gibraltar as waste his punches on me. And to beat that, he cannot punch hard enough to dislodge my collar buttons."

(By Ad. Wolgast.)

"On the evening of February 22 there will be a new world's lightweight champion. History will repeat itself, and Nelson has reached his limit. Even at his best, he was never good enough to whip me, and I think I could have stopped him as he was, four years ago, as easily as I can stop him now.

"I fought Nelson before and know how to handle him. I know his present weak point and am going to pound him on that one point until he collapses. The dislike he has for me is not lost, as I do not like him, and will take great pleasure in whipping him to within an inch of his life. I sincerely believe that I will whip him inside of 18 rounds, and win cleanly on a knock-out."

Ottawa Won Out From Shamrocks

Scored Five Goals in Last Five Minutes, After Being Behind All Night.

Montreal, Feb. 23.—After being behind for three-quarters of the game this evening Ottawa won from the Shamrocks by a score of 9 to 6. While it was by no means a good game, the Shamrocks early took the lead in a fairly lively interchange and from the latter part of the first half they kept ahead until near the close of the game. Then, with six minutes to play, the Irishmen blew up and allowed the Ottawa team to pile up five goals within the last five minutes.

The game throughout was far below regular championship form, the work of the Ottawa team being poor until the closing minutes of the match. Although the Shamrocks played three intermediates, they put up a fairly good game. The Ottawas, however, had too much at stake, as, had they lost, it would have put them out of the running for the championship, and in the latter part of the game they showed much more determination than the Shamrocks. Kerr made his reappearance with the Ottawas after an absence of several weaks owing to illness. He tried to put up his usual game, but was clearly in no shape to go through a hard contest. The line-up:

Referee, Geo. Cameron; assistant, Desse Brown.

Renfrew Team Looks Dangerous

All-Stars Conceded to Have a Chance for the Championship

Ottawa, Feb. 24. — The Renfrew hockey team's two wins in the Silver Country has put an altogether different complexion on the National Hockey Association race. Wanderers and Ottawa appeared to have the laurels between them, but Renfrew now looms up as a very dangerous rival to Ottawa. Wanderers are now equal with Ottawa, but as they have yet to play in Ottawa and Renfrew the chances are that they will lose both games and thus drop out of the running, leaving Renfrew and Ottawa to fight it out. Should Renfrew win their remaining games, which appears likely, and Ottawas lose at Renfrew only, Renfrew and Ottawa will be tied. The marvellous improvement shown by the Renfrews lately and the injury to Bruce Stuart, coupled with the poor form displayed by Ottawas against Wanderers, leads many to believe that Renfrew will at last succeed in landing the cup.

Renfrew and Wanderers meet at Renfrew Friday night. Russell Bowie and Duncan Campbell will be the officials.

KINGSTON WON FROM SIMCOE'S "A" TEAM

Have a Lead of Three Goals in the Semi-Finals.

Kinston, Feb. 23.—Frontenacs won the first game of the round with Toronto Simcoe A team in the junior O. H. A. semi-finals this evening by five goals to two and go to Toronto on Friday with a lead of three goals which they feel confident Simcoes cannot overhaul. Simcoe supporters offered even money that Frontenacs would not win here by four goals. The contest was witnessed by 1,500 people.

The first half resulted in a tie, each team scoring one goal. Both teams played individual hockey in this half and their shooting was bad. In the second half there was more combination on each side, but the Frontenacs proved a little the better of their opponents and managed to poke in four goals to Simcoes one. Hunt and Millan did the scoring for Frontenacs, and Webster was responsible for both Simcoe's goals. McGiffin, Simcoe's cover-point, was penalized no less than seven times and spent nineteen minutes off the ice. Simcoes penalty time amounted to thirty-five minutes and Frontenacs to fourteen. The teams were:

Referee—N. Steacy, Kingston.

Normalites Put It On Pill Pounders

Embryo Pedagogues Have Some Team—Administered a Whitewash, 4-0, to the Death Dealers —Supper at Hooper's Afterwards.

Last evening the Normalites journeyed to the Auditorium in full strength in response to a bombastic challenge issued by the Pill-pounders and trimmed that aggregation to a standstill, putting on a generous coating of the whitewash. The H. S. bunch, recognizing the strength of their opponents, patched up their team for the occasion. The Collegians were attended by a strong body of rooters, who did yeomanlike service for the victors. The result of the game was never in doubt. The line up for the College was:

After the game the students were entertained by Mr. Keyes, who is ever popular with the boys, to an oyster supper at Hooper's, which mine host served in fine style and at which Capt. Silla presided. After the inner man had been satisfied a social hour was spent the usual toasts drunk, appropriate and witty speeches being made by the Principal, Mr. Walker, Mr. Keyes and Messrs. McDermid, Graham, Gummow, Davidson, Staples and Montgomery. The national anthem brought the festive occasion to a close.

BATTLING NELSON IS NOT YET A DEAD ONE

Made a Great Showing and is Not Downhearted—Wolgast Has No Definite Plans.

San Francisco, Feb. 24.—The lightweight battle at Richmond on Tuesday was the chief topic of conversation among sporting men. The name oftenest on the tongue of fight followers is, strangely enough, not that of the new champion, Wolgast, but that of Nelson, whose game struggle against defeat was the feature of the contest.

The former champion and his manager had expected to leave this morning for Chicago, but their departure will be postponed until Nelson learns the status of his theatrical engagements. The attendance at the fight is estimated at between 13,000 and 15,000. The total receipts were $37,750, which leaves a good margin for the promoters, as it was estimated that the fight cost them $20,000. Nelson was guaranteed $12,000, win, lose or draw, with $1,000 for expenses. Wolgast received $3,750 for his end. The moving pictures will prove valuable. Nelson bought a 35 per cent. interest in them for $750.

Nelson gives his conqueror credit for his victory, but maintains that he himself trained too long and was down to weight too soon. It was the impression of many that Nelson did not show his usual speed and accuracy. The former champion would not criticize the action of Referee Smith in stopping the fight, but declared that he could have lasted until the end, and was not without hope that he might have landed a knock-out punch.

Wolgast has not made any definite plans, but intimated that he would take a long rest before he re-enters the ring. He declared that he purposely played a waiting game, as he desired to beat Nelson by adopting his adversary's favourite plan of slowly battering down his opponent.

Nelson was as frisky as a boy today. When a report that his condition was serious was telephoned to him at the baths he said: "I'm the liveliest dead man you ever saw; feeling first-rate."

Had Given Up All Hope of Living.

Heart Trouble Cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Andrew Savoy, Grattan's, N.B., writes:—"In the year 1905, I was taken sick and did not think I could live any length of time. My trouble was with my heart and people told me that nothing could be done for a case like mine. I consulted the very best doctors, but they could do me no good. For seven weeks I could hardly cross the floor, I had no pain, but was so weak nobody in the world can believe how I felt. I had given up all hopes of living and had given my little girl to my sister-in-law.

"One day a friend came to see me, and calling me by name, said, 'Lizzie, if I were you I would try a dose of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills as they are good for heart trouble.' My husband got me a box, but for two days I was not feeling any better, but on the fourth day my husband said, 'I believe those pills are doing you good.' I was able to say, 'Yes, I feel a good deal better this morning.' He said, 'Well, I will get you another box right away.' I took two boxes and three doses out of the third one, and I was perfectly well and have not been sick since then.

"I will never be without them in my home for God knows if it had not been for Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I would not have been alive now."

Price, 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

309,643 PEOPLE SEE FOOTBALL

Evidence by Figures That Association Game Has Great Hold on British Public.

London, Eng., Feb. 21.—That Association football as great a hold on the British sporting public as ever was evidenced by the big crowds which attended the last Saturday's games in connection with the second round of the English Cup competition. In all sixteen matches were played, and they attracted an aggregate attendance of 309,643 which yielded the splendid average of 19,352 for each fixture. The Aston Villa versus Derby County tie was the biggest attraction, the number of people who witnessed the Villians' splendid victory totalling 45,000. This was 13,235 in excess of the total present at the meeting of the London teams, Chelsea and Tottenham Hotspur, but the receipts at the last mentioned game exceeded those at Birmingham by £562.

Taking the second round as a whole there were no exceptionally sensational games, yet the competition produced several curious results. Thus, no fewer than nine of the sixteen home clubs failed to gain winning brackets, while six of them lost to the visiting team. Lancashire has still three representatives in the national competition in Everton, Blackburn Rovers and Manchester City. At the same time the Palatine dropped two possible candidates in Burnley and Bury. The defeat of the last named club by Leicester Fosse was a severe blow for the Gigg Lane contingent, but they will now be able to pay undivided attention to the responsibilities of the league.

The King's Daughters will hold a Sale of Home-made Cakes, etc., in W. H. Hamilton's Store, Simcoe Street, on Saturday, February 26th. 3d42

LEAGUE GAMES TO-NIGHT

There promises to be a big crowd at the Church League games to-night at the Auditorium Rink as the championship is at stake. George St. and St. Andrew's clash in the first game and a win for the Presbyterians means the championship for the second time. On the other hand should George St. win they will have a chance to tie the Saints and as the Methodists will have their strongest line-up of the season on, it will be some game. The George St. aggregation say they will make the champions travel faster than they have at any time this season to hold them out. The last time the two clubs met the result was a tie, each scoring six goals and the Methodists were shy a couple of their stalwarts on that occasion. Mich. Quigley, of the T.A.S. team, will in all probability handle the game. The second game of the double header should also be interesting, as it brings together Knox Church and All Saints' who also tied the last time out.

FIRST-HAND DATA OF THE IRVING FAMILY

From the Distinguished English Star, Second Son of Sir Henry, of Whose Career He Writes.

Sir Henry Irving, the Father.

On Tuesday evening, March 1, Lawrence Irving, second son of the late Sir Henry Irving, the distinguished English actor, will head a strong company at the Grand theatre in the presentation of Eugene Brieux's great comedy, "The Affinity." This will be one of the notable engagements for the Grand in the theatrical line. It is decidedly unusual to have an actor of the ability of Mr. Irving appear upon the local stage. Some facts in regard to this eminent personage will be of interest. Mr. Irving himself tells the story as follows:

"My father, John Henry Broadribb, known on the stage as Henry Irving, was born at the village of Kenton, Mandeville, in Somersetshire, one of the most unpretending little villages in the quietest part of rural England. He was buried in Westminster Abbey, having been the first actor to receive the honour of knighthood. His father was an easy-going man of convivial habits, possessing none of the traits that distinguished my father's character and brought him to the forefront of his calling. These seem to have belonged to the family of my grandmother, a Miss Behenna, a Cornishwoman, the Cornish having many characteristics that mark them off from the rest of the Englishmen.

Mr. Lawrence Irving, the Son.

Cornwall Childhood.

"Among the romantic scenes of Cornwall, teeming with legends of King Arthur, my father spent the early years of his life, being brought up by Mr. Penberthy, his uncle, in a very austere and strictly religious fashion. At about the age of 15 he went to London, entered the office of a publisher named Thacker Spinket, and when he was 18 he made his first appearance on the stage in Sunderland. For about 12 years from that time he led the arduous and often precarious life of a provincial actor, playing every kind of part from a malevolent fairy to Hamlet, being perpetually praised in a book of early press cuttings, which I highly value 'for his make-up, his knowledge of his words and his gentlemanly bearing.' The bearing was certainly innate to him; it was afterwards called 'his distinction.' He has told me how he attained the close knowledge of his works by sitting up till daylight with a wet towel around his head. Actors do not work so now; and remember that twenty-five dollars was what my father received when he made his first striking London success in Digby Grant.

Married Miss O'Callaghan.

"In 1869, two years before his sudden leap into prominence in 'The Bells,' my father married Miss Florence O'Callaghan, daughter of General Daniel O'Callaghan, of the Indian army. The name will leave no question as to the nationality. General O'Callaghan was stationed at Meerut when the Indian mutiny broke out, nd but for the faithfulness of a native servant, who succeeded in warning him not to leave the house in uniform, he would have fallen on that fatal Sunday. He was at the siege of Delhi, from which he brought home a goodly supply of loot. He was also through the China campaign, where the emperor's palace at Pekin contributed some more loot.

A Strong Home Ruler.

"If he served the English government his brother, John Cornelius O'Callaghan made amends to the national Irish spirit by attacking it. He wrote two works famous in their own country, 'The Green Book' and 'The History of the Irish Brigades in the Service of France and Spain.' His picture now hangs in the National Irish portrait gallery at Dublin. I do not know whether it is his spirit working in me, but I have always been a strong Home Ruler.

"My elder brother, H. B. Irving, was born on August 5, 1870. I was born 16 months later. We spent all our youth and boyhood together, going together to Marlborough college, where we spent six years, chiefly memorable to me for my having won the school history prize, as my brother had done the year before, and by my having during the winter terms a regular allowance of 20 chilblains, one on each finger, one on each toe.

Educated for a Diplomat.

"When I was 16, H. B., 17, we separated. H. B. was to go to the Bar and I was to enter the diplomatic service. He went to New College, Oxford. I spent a year in Paris, living in a French professor's family, and attended the classes at the College Rollin, one of the biggest Paris municipal colleges. From there I went to Russia and passed three years, three of the most interesting years of my life. There and then the hankering for the stage took firm hold of me. It was in St. Petersburg, I made my first public performance, playing David Gerrick (you cannot expect a beginner to be modest) for the poor pupils of the St. Petersburg Conservatory of Music. This performance brought me the written thanks and a personal interview with the great Rubinstein. Then I came home, now some 16 years ago, and commenced my career as an actor in F. R. Benson's company, playing all manner of parts, writing plays, translating plays from the French and the Russian (so that my foreign training was not wasted entirely) ever since, and these are the occupations I suppose I shall follow as long as the public will allow me.

Lawrence Irving's Play.

"When I had been upon the stage about eight years, within 24 hours of reading it, my father decided to put on my play, 'Peter the Great,' and that was how I came for many years to be both an actor and stage manager. To be associated with my father's work in 'Robespierre' and others I was able to relieve my father of much of the preliminary labour of placing the plays upon the stage. Then I had the advantage of watching the masterly strokes with which he would modify and supplement what I had roughed out. And acting as envoy between my father and the other great master of stage management, Victorien Sardou. I certainly had opportunities of watching and learning that do not fall to the lot of many. I hope some day to have the chance of attempting something of wide stage managerial scope in the United States. Brieux's plays do not demand the large brush, attention to minute detail is what they call for.

Irving's Two Sons.

"And there we are—my brother is now manager of the Queen's theatre in London, making a foremost position for himself as an actor. I, starring here under the Shuberts with my wife, and most contented, histrionically and domestically.

"I have the pleasure of playing plays that are not judged at the box office, but at the fundamental test of human nature. I do not care to mouth out florid or high flown statements; I like to strive to impersonate characters that are true to life, whether in strength or weakness, in viciousness or in goodness. But I also believe in no play that does not ultimately tend to show that 'the way of the transgressor is hard', at any rate in the long run, for that is the basis of all truth.

Clever Mabel Hackney.

"I am greatly interested in the talent of my wife; she can do such various and such opposite things. She can play a greedy, scolding, exacting unmoral little animal life like Charlotte in "The Affinity," or she can touch the deepest chords of pathos, as in Pinero's 'Thunderbolt.' But this may be accounted for by a mixed strain in her blood, for on one side she claims to be descended from the heroic king of Scotland (Robert Bruce), but is at any rate certain that another ancestor, Captain Peter Hackney, called Black Peter, was hanged for highway robbery at York in 1753."

RECEIPTS MIXED WITH EXPENDITURE

In the report of the semi-annual meeting of the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Society in Tuesday's issue an error occurred which might not be understood by some of the members. In the financial statement the receipts appeared under expenditure and the expenditures were under receipts. The statement is reprinted as it should have read, as follows:

NOTED YOUNG LADY GUEST OF HONOUR

At Afternoon Tea at Home of Miss Strickland, Charles Street, East City

A very enjoyable afternoon tea was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Strickland, Charles street, East City, the guest of honour being Miss Palgrave Turner, of London, England, granddaughter of Mrs. Morgan, who resides with Miss Strickland. Mrs. Turner, mother of the young lady, has been visiting here for the past four weeks.

Miss Palgrave Turner is one of England's foremost singers, possessing a beautiful contralto voice. She has sung before the Royal family, and for the past few weeks has been on a concert tour of Canada and the United States, with Madame Liza Lehmann, who recently appeared at Massey Hall.

Miss Turner was born in Ashburnham, but left here when a little girl for the Old Country, where she studied under the best tutors in the old land. Miss Turner delighted a large number of ladies and gentlemen yesterday by giving a most pleasing recital.

Mrs. and Miss Turner leave to-morrow for New York, from where they sail for England. Miss Turner expects to return to Canada on a concert tour next October, when she will likely visit Peterborough.

BOTH LEGS BROKEN BY FALLING TREE

Norman Payne of Dummer Was Seriously Injured Yesterday ---Caught Beneath Tree and Was One Hour and a Half in the Woods Before He Could be Removed to His Home.

Special to The Examiner.

Warsaw, Feb. 25.—Norman Payne, son of Mr. Nathan Payne, of Dummer, was the victim of a most painful accident yesterday, by which he sustained a fracture of both limbs below the knee. With his brother he was engaged in felling trees, near his home, when one tree in falling lodged in the branches of another. It was necessary to secure a team of horses for the purpose of dislodging the tree, and while engaged in the work the tree suddenly loosened and fell upon the unfortunate young man. When he was picked up it was found that both legs were fractured between the knee and ankle. The right limb was badly splintered, while there was a compound fracture of the left. He was an hour and one-half in the woods before he could be removed to his home, where Dr. Munro of Warsaw, attended to his painful injuries. The accident is a serious one, but Mr. Payne is resting as easily to-day as could be expected under the circumstances. His home is three miles from this village.

BACKBONE OF PHILADELPHIA STREET CAR STRIKE BROKEN

Two Hundred Men Known for Fearlessness Achieve What Over 3000 Police Failed to Accomplish--Believe the Worst is Now Over.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 25. — With the rioters of this city apparently completely cowed by the "Shoot to Kill" constabulary, the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company to-day began its campaign to crush absolutely without hope of recovery the street car employes union. The Amalgamated Association of Street Car Railway Employes recognizes the aim of the corporation and is straining every effort for a fight to the finish. As a result a general strike of Union Labour in Philadelphia has been called and only the time for the walking out of 100,000 or more men remains to be settled.

Philadelphia, Feb. 25.—The State police, 204 seasoned fighters, under Capt. Groome, secured in a few hours yesterday what the police of the city 3,400 men, were not able to bring about in five days, reasonable order. The troopers reached the city over the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads, between 1 o'clock and half-past seven this morning.

At 11 o'clock the four troops massed at Broad Street and Lehigh Avenue, having gone to the different stables for their horses directly after eating breakfast. Each troop had a following crowd as the horsemen slowly rode to the meeting point. From each side dangled a pair of steel handcuffs, which clanked threateningly against the handles of the hickory riot sticks. Some of the sergeants had chains, with gangs of handcuffs upon them.

Were Ready to Shoot.

One group of boys, men and girls who remained on the steps of the library at 6th Street and Lehigh Avenue, after they had been told to move on, were scattered by one of the troopers riding up the steps and prodding the lingering men with his club.

The first demonstration against the troopers occurred at Fifth Street and Columbia Avenue, where workers in the Shelp Manufacturing Company's mill threw bits of wood, orange peel and other luncheon refuse at the troopers. They jeered, but the troopers paid no attention until the storm of missiles from mill windows became too constant to be pleasant.

When someone on the sidewalk threw a brick at a passing Sixth Street car, a squad of twelve troopers in the block between Fifth and Sixth Streets lined up at the command of the sergeant, and drew their revolvers. Taking aim at the offenders in the mill windows, and, covering the crowds on the sidewalks, the troopers awaited the order to fire. The workers scattered in mad haste.

Ran Over 1,000 Cars.

Owing to the presence of the State constabulary the Transit Company had in operation in the busiest hours of the day and evening upwards of 1,000 cars, nearly a third more than they had in operation on any previous day of the strike. It was noticeable also that the cars were much better patronized. Hitherto people had hesitated to patronize the lines where rioting had been common. To-day nearly all the cars were crowded.

Backbone of Strike Broken.

The Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company is confident that the backbone of the strike is broken. There was a general impression early to-night that the company would agree to arbitrate all differences, save only the question of re-engaging the Amalgamated Union, but the company let it become known at 10 p.m. that it was standing pat, and thoroughly satisfied with its improved position.

There is only one positive feature in the situation — that the Transit Company intends to smash the Amalgamated Union once for all. If, in the desperate nature of their case, they call on the allied trade unions to strike in sympathy and make a general fight of it, even more serious trouble is likely to follow, because in that event the National Guard, to the number of 10,000 will probably be called in to protect the citizens.

LEGISLATURE IS STRONGLY AGAINST BONUS BY-LAWS

Mr. Bradburn's Bill Was Thrown Out Yesterday After Being Scored Severely by Several Speakers.

TWO-THIRDS OF TOTAL

Toronto, Feb. 25.—The Legislature set its foot down firmly on municipal bonus by-laws at its session yesterday afternoon. The discussion was precipitated by a bill of Mr. T. E. Bradburn of Peterborough, proposing to amend the municipal act by changing the proportion of the municipal vote necessary to enact in bonus by-laws from two-thirds of those entitled to vote to two-thirds of those who actually voted.

Checker Board Legislation.

"There is too much industrial checker board legislation being foisted on this House as it is," was the comment of Mr. W. F. Nickle (Kingston) Proceeding, he severely scored proposals to exempt from school taxation. "The child is an asset of the State. The child belongs to the people as well as to the parents," he declared.

Mr. G. H. Ferguson (Grenville) concurred. It was time, in his opinion, for the Legislature to take a strong stand.

Hon. Mr. Lucas suggested the withdrawal of the bill. The view of the House was undoubtedly hostile towards it.

A Question of Majority.

Municipalities should not have absolute power to bonus, according to Sir James Whitney. It was a fine academic axiom that a man could do what he pleased with his property if it involved no unlawful act, "but," added the Premier, "the public welfare demands a practically unanimous vote in cases of this kind." He had been interested to note the unanimity of approval of the requirement of a two-thirds majority. "Had it been three-fifths, however," he added with a smile, "as in the license law, I wonder what would have been said."

The Premier expressed the hope that the Private Bills committee would be on its guard against the constantly recurring special case no matter what the circumstances might be. "My experience is," he observed, "that ninety-nine out of every hundred of them shouldn't be touched with a pair of tongs."

PORT ARTHUR CONSIDERS GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

"There is considerable thought being given to the question of the Government of cities and towns by elected aldermen. An agitation for the management is taking place so that the city may be placed in the hands of a commission. It is believed that the city would have more permanent and lasting work done if controlled by a commission instead of by councillors."

The following is a despatch from Port Arthur and it shows that Port Arthur is taking steps in this matter:

Port Arthur, Feb. 22.—The agitation for the government of this city by a commission is taking definite form, and a deputation consisting of the mayor, Ald. King and Rutledge is being sent to Toronto within the next few days to interview the government and to press for necessary legislation. Should the act be passed a plebiscite will be taken during the summer to enable the new system to be inaugurated at the beginning of next year, provided the declaration of the ratepayers be favourable.

FAIR TAXATION.

Fairness and equity should be the basis of all taxation, direct or indirect. Taxation should be so imposed that no citizen shall be placed at a disadvantage as respects another. The present system of taxation is unjust in that it penalizes progressiveness and enterprise. A man has a house and grounds upon which he is charged a certain tax. He improves this appearance and that of his property without improving the habitability by making outside improvements, such as painting his house, building new fences, etc. At once he does this, he is subjected to a fine at the caprice of the assessor, in the form of an addition to his tax bill. He is punished for his enterprise and public spirit, for the improvements he has made and in the interests of the public the addition to the sum total of beauty and attractiveness of the village, town or city in which he lives. The improved appearance of his property adds to the enjoyment of the public, who see the improvements. On the other hand the owner of a vacant lot is rewarded for his lack of enterprise. He neglects to build, to make improvements; he allows weeds and thistles to deform his property which gains in value by the enterprise of those who build in the vicinity, and he is rewarded by having his taxes kept stationary, while those of his enterprising neighbours who build are increased.

A bill is now before the Ontario Legislature providing, if it is passed, a measure of relief for this palpable condition of injustice. The bill is to give municipalities the power, if they see fit, to tax improvement values, including business assessments, supplies, etc., at a lower rate than land values. The Toronto Star thus deals with this proposal for a necessary reform, as follows:

Two hundred and seventy municipalities, including Toronto, Ottawa and five other cities have petitioned the Ontario Legislature so to amend the Assessment Act that municipalities may tax improvement values at a lower rate than land values, the difference in the rates, in every case, to be determined by the municipality.

This proposition seems quite in accord with modern thought, if not with modern practice. It takes no orator to convince the average citizen that there is something radically wrong with a system which "rewards" a man for improving his property by piling heavier taxes on him, while the speculator who is holding vacant lots for higher prices prices is let off with nominal taxation. The remedy proposed by the amendment may not be perfect, but it would open the way for a gradual change; gradual, since the difference in the rate for land and improvement values could be widened from year to year; and, because gradual, safe.

The provision for leaving the experiment optional with the municipalities would make the change still more gradual. It is true that it would lead to a certain lack of uniformity, but probably the diverse methods and opinions of assessors would not result in uniformity under the present or any system.

The Assessment Committee of the Legislature, however, look upon this objection as fatal to the desired amendment, thinking "that any such proposal would not be advisable, believeing that the same principle of assessment should apply generally throughout the province, and should not be left to the will of each municipality.

It is to be hoped that the Government will adopt an amendment closely akin to the one proposed, even if they refuse to accept it in its entirety. Obviously land values are not created by the owner, but by the growth of the district, and other extraneous causes. That he should be as highly taxed for improvements which he makes himself as for the increased land value with which he has nothing to do, seems unnatural and unfair. Germany is awake to this fact, and Australia is finding land tax a success.

The British budget contains a provision that 20 per cent. of the increment of land values as disclosed in sales from time to time shall go to the State. With other countries moving in this direction it is time that Ontario were remedying the inequality which the act at present not only sanctions but commands.

The petitions of two hundred and seventy municipalities should carry some weight with the Premier, but the merits of the case should carry more. It is one which does not need petitions to commend, it to the serious consideration of legislators.

GOOD ROADS.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Good Roads' Association which will be held in Toronto on March 2, 3 and 4 is a gathering that is of the supremest importance to every municipality of the province and the city, town, village or township that realizes the truth of this fact and is represented will hardly fail to derive instruction of a nature that will show itself in better highways. The programme arranged is one of the most complete that the Association has ever offered its members, the list of speakers extends from all parts of Ontario, while New England will send representatives in the person of Mr. Harold Parker, of Boston, Mass., chairman of the State Highway Commission ,and Mr. F. N. Godfrey, Olean, N.Y., master of the New York State Grange.

The subjects to be taken up cover every known problem in the making and care of highways and municipalities should not fail to be represented.

Efforts Made to Terminate the Glace Bay Strike.

Special to the Examiner.

Glace Bay, N.S., Feb. 25.—At a meeting held yesterday, all the clergy of the town discussed the strike situation with a view to settling the trouble. It is reported that they were of unanimous opinion that the men should be advised to return to work. General manager Butler and Assitant, Mr. McDougall, were present. Another meeting is being held to-day by clergymen, which representatives of the striking miners will attend.

IMPORTANT DECISION

His Honour Gives Judgment in an Interesting Case.

An important decision was given lately by His Honour Judge Huycke in a suit in the Division Court brought by Mr. N. T. de Laplante against the Corporation of the City of Peterborough.

The case arose out of a sewer connection made to Mr. de Laplante's new house on Lock street by the City authorities. In the city on most streets on which a sewer is built he same is not in the middle of the roadway. In this case it was only 16 feet from the line fence of Mr. de Laplante's property. A city by-law enacts that those for whom sewer connection is made to their property shall pay for same an amount equal to the cost of constructing a sewer from the middle of the street to the line fence and not merely the cost of connection actually made. Opposite the connection in question is Crescent street and the Little Lake shore where there are no water lots. Mr. de Laplant ewas charged for the connection as if made from the middle of a 66 foot street. Lock streeet at this point being only 55 or 58 feet wde, Mr. de Laplante refused to pay for more than 16 feet actually put in contending that the narrowness of the street did not entitle the city to charge as for a 66 foot street, and moreover that the connection in question being opposite another street and he Lake shore, where no houses could be built the city had no right to charge for more work than was actually done. The city insisted on charging for 33 feet. To have the question settled as to the right of the city under above circumstances, Mr. de Laplante brought action against the Corporation. His Honour Judge Huycke upheld Mr. de Laplante in his contention and gave judgment against the Corporation, holding that the city had no right to charge for more than 16 feet actually put in.

MUST GO TO PRISON.

Violet Gordon Charlesworth and Her Mother to Pay for Crime.

London, Feb. 25.—In the Derby Assize Court yesterday, Violent Gordon Charlesworth and her mother were each sentenced to five years penal servitude for obtaining money under false pretences and for fraudulently representing that the young woman was an heiress to a great estate.

The judge, in passing sentence, referred to Violet's remarkable ingenuity, which, he said, properly applied, might have won for her an honorable, if not distinguished career.

Both prisoners collapsed in the dock on hearing the sentence.

Violet Gordon Charlesworth disappeared last February after a meteoric career in high finance, in the course of which, on the strength of a mythical fortune of $2,500,000, she borrowed many thousands of dollars, one brokerage firm alone admitting that she owed it $50,000.

She was importuned by her creditors, and then the report was spread that she had been killed while automobiling in the neighborhood of Penmaen Mawr, Wales. Investigation proved this to be untrue, and ten days later she was arrested with her mother at Oban, Scotland.

One of the most remarkable features of the girl's career is that she is the daughter of a mechanic, possesses only a limited education and had had absolutely no worldly experience prior to her excursions into high finance.

Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it.

Husband Struck Lawyer.

Windsor, Feb. 25.—In an effort to prevent Mrs. Bessie Knott, his pretty young wife, from again going on the stand and testifying in behalf of Dr. George A. Fritch, being tried for murder, Frank Knott, a slight young fellow of 24, sprang at Attorney F. T. Lodge and planted a blow on the lawyer's chest, just after the session in Judge Phelan's court opened yesterday.

The incident occurred in the corridor, just outside the court room. The young woman was talking to the attorney when her husband approached. Lodge pulled Mrs. Knott aside and made an attempt to talk to her.

"Now, let's not have a scene here," Lodge exclaimed.

"We'll have one pretty soon," Knott retorted, as he sprang at Lodge and struck him.

Detectives seized Knott and held him while Mrs. Knott was led into the court room by the defendant's counsel.

Mrs. Knott declares she was in the Fritch house during the afternoon the murder of Mabel Millman is alleged to have occurred, and swears she saw no signs of the tragedy. Her husband declares her testimony was "framed up."

NO HOSPITAL FOR HIM

SAVED JUST IN TIME

Mr. Lewis MacPherson, of Dunvegan Inverness County, Cape Breton, had been suffering tortures from his Kidneys and Bladder, which were terribly inflamed. Finally, his doctor could do nothing more for him and advised him to go to the hospital.

A neighbor, who had used Gin Pills—but read Mr. MacPherson's letter.

"It affords me more than ordinary pleasure to convery, not only to yourselves but also to all sufferers from Kidney and Urinary Troubles, the instant and complete cure that Gin Pills effected in my case.

"I suffered untold misery even when under treatment from the best doctors for over ten months, and nothing seemed to do me any good or relieve my painful condition. My trouble was Inflammation of Kidneys and Bladder.

"I finally determined to take my doctor's advice and go to the Victoria Hospital at Halifax, for treatment. Two days, however, before my intending departure for the hospital, a neighbor called and, happening to have a Gin Pill in his pocket, insisted on my taking it. I did so and six hours after taking it, the results and benefits I derived were simply nothing more or less than miraculous. Instead of going to the Hospital, I sent for a box of Gin Pills with the result that I am a cured man. I recommend Gin Pills to every one suffering from Kidney Trouble."

LEWIS MacPHERSON.

It is just as we say, you see—Gin Pills do cure Kidney and Bladder Troubles when all else fails. Take them on our positive guarantee of relief or your money back. 35

C.N.R. Hugs G.T.R. Line.

Montreal, Feb. 25.—Jack Stewart of the contracting firm of Foley, Larken and Stewart, left last night for the west, and although he would express no opinion, it is expected that this firm will get the contract for the gap extending from the top of the summit westward 400 miles, where the same firm's contract of 245 miles, running up from Prince Rupert, is met with.

To date 5,000 men are engaged on the section of 320 miles west of Edmonton, and on the 245 coming eastward from the Pacific, and a great many more will be put on during the coming summer.

The manager states that 1912 will see the road open for traffic through the mountains, and enough is now known as to the situation through the pass, a distance of 60 miles, to justify Mr. Stewart saying that there is room for 20 sets of rails.

The most surprising part of his statement is, however, to the effect that Mackenzie and Mann's survey and absolute location fairly hugs the Grand Trunk Pacific from Edmonton westward, a distance of 350 miles. The two lines will be practically in sight of each other for all this distance.

Grieving, Shot Himself.

Galt, Feb. 25.—A tragedy was enacted at the Iroquois Hotel at six o'clock last night, when John Forrest, foreman at the Allan Hill Edge Tool Works, took his own life. He went to his room and, summoning the hotel porter, gave him a dollar to deliver two notes, one to the hotel proprietor, the other to his employer. A few minutes later he shot himself.

The notes were, in effect, that he grieved for his wife, who, it seems, a year ago suicided in the old land in a fit of temporary insanity. Forrest, who was 31 years old, had been here only two weeks. He was a sober, industrious and skilled mechanic.

Toronto Brakeman Injured.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—A young man named Spring of Toronto, brakeman on a through freight, is lying at the hospital in a serious condition. He fell off a freight car and was shoved along the rails by the brakebeam. He had several ribs broken.

Death Stops Arbitration.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 25.—The special meeting of the arbitration board of the National Electrical Workers' Union was brought to a sudden halt when Attorney B. C. Starr, counsel for the board, dropped dead. The meeting was indefinitely postponed.

Ice Kills Wheat.

Chatham, Feb. 25.—Reports from the surrounding country that have reached this city indicate that the most of the fall wheat in the county has been killed by ice.

In some localities there are some good fields of wheat, but in the majority of cases there will be no wheat crop this year.

The heavy snows, followed by rain, which has melted the snow, and then sudden spells of freezing weather, have caused ice to form in the fields, with the result that the wheat is smothered.

The snow does not harm the wheat, but rather helps it. The ice, however, is a different proposition.

The farmers report that owing to the extended winter and the immense amount of water which will come off the lands as soon as the spring season opens, there will be a heavy freshet this year. The farms along low-lying lands west of the city will undoubtedly all be flooded and the damage will be great unless the Government takes action in sending an icebreaker up the river as soon as the thaw comes.

Carries Hatred to the Grave.

New York, Feb. 25.—Clad in a light silk robe as near like her wedding dress as she could arrange for in the short hour before her death, with her waxy white hands folded and minus the wedding ring that through all her troubles she had stuck to, the body of Mrs. May Jenks, Brooklyn, lies amid a profusion of flowers waiting for the funeral.

"Dead of a broken heart," her daughter said Wednesday night, "and the notice that I sent to the papers read 'The unbeloved wife of Thomas Jenks,' at her own request."

The Jenks couple were married in England, the bride being then fifteen years of age. They have lived in America for twenty-nine years.

Fifteen Injured In Incendiary Fire.

New York, Feb. 25.—In a fire of incendiary origin in a Carick street tenement yesterday, 15 persons were burned or injured, two so seriously that they will probably die.

While Fireman James Donovan was carrying William Burns down a ladder, the ladder broke and both men fell to the ground and were seriously injured.

Mrs. Anna Quinn received probably fatal burns in trying to rescue Richard Tarbut, a boarder. She had escaped to the roof, but made her way back to the house.

Electricians' Lamp Causes Fire.

Montreal, Feb. 25.—A fire in the premises of the Montreal Cotton & Wool-waste Co. at noon yesterday did damage of $15,000.

An electrician was making some changes to the wiring of the building and a lamp exploded, causing the man considerable injury as well as setting fire to the place.

Rev. David Hicks In Michigan.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 25.—Rev. David Hicks, former pastor of the Methodist Church at Gesto, who left suddenly and whose affairs are being investigated by a committee of three preachers from Windsor district, is now located in Corunna, Mich., where he is installed as pastor of the local Methodist Church.

Old Woman Assaulted Young Woman.

Kingston, Feb. 25.—Miss Elizabeth Tozer, over 60 years of age, was fined for assaulting Mrs. Florence Brothers, a young married woman. She grabbed hold of her on the street and choked her because she slapped her niece in the face. Mrs. Brothers had already been fined for her act.

Four-Year Term for "Crime-Glorifier."

Paris, Feb. 25.—Gustave Pery, the anti-military agitator, editor of the revolutionary organ, Guerre Sociale, was yesterday sentenced to four years imprisonment for inciting to murder and glorifying crime in an article praising the Apache who killed a policeman last month.

Bridge Whist Is Immune.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 25.—A proposal by Hawthornthwaite, the Socialist and opposition leader, to have bridge whist included with stud poker, black jack and other games prescribed or licensed premises, met defeat in the Legislature.

Detective Sent to Jail.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—James M. Young, an employe of the International Detective Agency, was fined $200 or three months in jail yesterday, for operating without a license. He was unable to pay and went to jail.

The police are looking for Charles P. Gerrish, manager of the agency, who left town a few days ago with, it is said, several hundred dollars belonging to local business men, for whom he had done collecting.

King's Horror of Gambling.

London, Feb. 25.—Rev. Montague Fowler lecturing on the subject of "Racing and Gambling," quoted from a letter written by the King, "I have a horror," the letter ran, "of gambling, and shall always do my utmost to discourage others, who have an inclination for it, as the spirit of gambling is like intemperance—one of the greatest evils that can afflict a country."

Train and Trolley Collide.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—John Lawler, street car conductor, was instantly killed, Motorman John Corcoran was probably fatally injured and 15 passengers were severely hurt here yesterday in a collision between a street car and a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger train.

Lumberman Killed.

North Bay, Feb. 25.—Wilfrid Tario, aged 20, was almost instantly killed at a lumber camp near Jocko on the T. & N. O. Railway, by being struck by a log on the rollway. His head was crushed.

Had Weak Kidney For Two Years.

Doctor Failed to Help. Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

Mr. Edmund Assels, New Carlisle, Que., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know of the great cure I have obtained by using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for two years. I tried a doctor, but he failed to help me. I read in the B.B.B. Almanac about Doan's Kidney Pills, and began using them, and after the first box began to feel better. I only used four boxes and they completely cured me. I am very thankful to have found so speedy a cure, and would advise everyone suffering from kidney disease to try them."

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some kind of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backache, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored, scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or suppressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto.

In writing specify "Doan's."

Durham, N.C., Feb. 25.—Within the next few weeks a hosiery mill built by negro labor with negro capital, and which will be operated entirely by negro labor, will open for business here, with a capitalization of $50,000.

Most of the capital has been supplied by John Merrick, a negro, who began life as a barber, and B. B. Fitzgerald, reputed to be the richest negro in South Carolina. He began life making bricks.

The factory was designed by a negro architect, and all the work on it was done by negroes. The building is owned by a negro insurance company, and the operating company will be composed largely of the same men.

Hon. Robert Rogers' Denials.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 25.—Hon. Robert Rogers gave emphatic denial in the Legislature yesterday on a question of privilege to the statement in a letter of Hon. Dr. Montague to the Union Trust Co., produced in the Foster libel case in Toronto, that he had received payment for a portion of Manitoba lands. He said:

"Several years ago Hon. Dr. Montague asked me to join a private land syndicate which he was organizing. I decline to do so, and I may say that I am declining similar invitations almost every day of my life."

He said that several years later the offer was repeated, and again refused.

Joe Martin a Mutineer.

London, Feb. 25.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Writing to The Times re Mr. Asquith's pledge in his Albert Hall speech as to compelling the Lords to give legislation, Joe Martin, M.P., expresses the opinion that Mr. Asquith and the Government have repudiated the pledge and every Liberal member who was elected is released from allegiance.

"Mr. Asquith has colleagues, and they should now act in a way to stop the Liberal party right with their supporters in the country, and for this purpose it may seem to be necessary to repudiate our present party leader," continues Mr. Martin.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH GIRL WINS FAME FOR HERSELF

Miss Zoe Kincaid, Daughter of Dr. Kincaid, Starts a Magazine of Japan, the Most Ambitious Effort Ever Made in the Orient.

SURE OF SUCCESS

The following from the Seattle Daily Times will be read with interest here as it refers to Miss Kincaid, daughter of Dr. Kincaid, formerly of Peterborough:

Pioneering in the newest of literary fields and overcoming the many discouraging obstacles that had meant failure for all who had ventured such an undertaking before that time, Zoe Kincaid, a well-known Seattle young woman, has succeeded in founding a great magazine of Japan—a publication that easily outranks the most pretentious of any ever issued in the Orient. Copies of the first number, that for February, received by a number of the young editor's friends here, have excited admiring interest, and deservingly, as the publication immediately jumps to a rank of solitary distinction in the international magazine field. It is not only an important work, being virtually the organ of Nipponese progress, but it also is unique in many ways.

Miss Kincaid, who is well known here for articles she wrote for local newspapers and because of her success as an educator had not considered the idea of entering magazine work when she first went to Tokyo. She went to Japan to accept a chair in the Meigi University at Tokyo, to teach English. This work led her to take a broad interest in Japan's aims for progress, and her activities soon won for her general recognition. Miss Kincaid was made a member of the Asiatic Society for Oriental Research and also was elected to membership in the International Press Association of Japan.

Saw Urgent Need of Magazine.

In her investigation Miss Kincaid saw the urgent need of a general publication that would be instantly recognized wherever read as an authoritative and representative magazine of Japan. This meant that it must be published in the English language, but that at the same time it should be unmistakably coloured by the manners of thought, the ideals and ways of the people it was to represent.

How nearly Miss Kincaid realized her high ambitions can be judged by the initial number of the magazine. It is a book of 118 pages, with an art cover in three colours. The name is "The Japan Magazine." The contents are diversified to an extent few publications ever have equalled. For instance, on one page will be found a poem by Her Majesty, the Empress of Japan, and a little further on there is a contribution by Hallie Erminie Rives (now Mrs. Post Wheeler), the celebrated novelist. Other contributors are Marquis Inouye, Count Okuma, Arthur Lloyd, Ernest W. Clement, M. Kirby, J. R. Kennedy, Madame Y. Ozaki, and Austin W. Medley. Others, doubtless recognized authorities of the capital are represented by special papers on art and customs of the people.

The art department of the magazine is one of its strongest features. Japanese artists with knowledge of European as well as Japanese technique, have provided illustrations that are a wide departure from what has come to be recognized as the fantastic art of the country, but while they are attractive, true Japanese feeling has been preserved, and they are distinctly Oriental.

Among the subjects that will be treated at the convention by Ontario Road Engineers will be "Improvement of Old Gravel Roads," "Roadmaking Machinery," "Raising Funds for Road Construction," "Cost Data of Road Building," "Relation of Cities to Good Roads," "Township Road Systems," and many others.

TO ACT AS CHIEF

Chief Howard Will Recommend Two Local Men for Brockville.

Brockville has decided to re-arrange its fire brigade and to substitute a paid department for the present volunteer system. With this in view they have written Chief Howard, head of the local fire department and have asked him to recommend a man to act as chief of the new brigade. Chief Howard has decided to recommend Asst-Chief Geo. Grange and Foreman McBride of the local department, either of which he feels is quite equal to the task of taking charge of the Brockville brigade.

FIREMEN TO HAVE MORE TIME TO GO TO CHURCH

True to his promise made to Mayor Morrow, Chief Howard of the Fire Department, has rearranged his schedule at the fire hall so that the men will have more opportunity to attend church than they have had heretofore. When Chief Howard asked for an increase in his staff, Mayor Morrow went into the matter of the hours the men have to work, with him, and expressed himself as being far from satisfied with the arrangements made to allow the men to attend church on Sundays.

Chief Howard pleaded that it was impossible with the staff he had at that time to permit any more time off than the men were getting, but committed himself to make an improvement should the force be increased. Now, two men have been added to the strength of the department, and Chief Howard has proved himself as good as his word by re-arranging the schedule so that the firemen will be able to attend divine worship every third Sunday instead of every fourth Sunday as has been the case heretofore.

The new arrangement comes into force on Sunday next.

THE VALUE OF A WOOD LOT TO A FARM POINTED OUT

Mr. Wm. F. Payne of Hall's Glen in an Interesting Article in "Farm and Dairy" Shows Its Importance.

A SPLENDID RESUME

(By Wm. F. Payne, Hall's Glen, Peterborough, Ont.)

The value of any farm is greatly increased by having a woodlot large enough to furnish a permanent supply of fuel and timber for use on the farm. About 25 per cent. of the farm in timber would furnish such a supply and when the timber is matured there would be quite a surplus to dispose of and contribute to the revenue of the farm. In the case of maple bush the sugar and syrup that may be manufactured from it, adds still more to the revenue. On our own woodlot, which contains about 25 acres on a farm of about 95 acres, we have a constant supply of firewood, and also plenty of timber for building purposes, and some to sell besides, each year and by protecting the young growth and weeding out the crooked and leaning and mature and dead trees, the quality of the timber will gradually improve so long as one sells only what he doesn't need for his own use.

The varieties of trees represented naturally in my woodlot are: Cedar, hemlock, spruce, pine, basswood, soft maple, sugar maple, beech, ironwood, black birch, white birch, black ash, white ash, tamarac, balsam, grey elm and American elm.

The growth of timber annually is considerable; the larger the tree the faster it makes timber till it reaches maturity; so the wastefulness of thinning out the saplings from among the larger trees more than is necessary for firewood is apparent, since a tree sometimes adds from two-thirds of an inch to one inch to its diameter in one season.

Then the woodlot is further useful in that it adds humidity to the air. A tree in hot weather gives off a large amount of moisture through its leaves, and plant life in the fields will thrive better in a moist atmosphere. Where there is a shelter belt of timber it prevents the soil from drying out as rapidly in dry weather, as the greater the velocity of the wind in passing over a field the quicker it will dry out and so hinder the growth of the crops. It also helps to prevent the snow in winter from blowing off the fall wheat and clover fields and so affords them better protection. In cold weather it prevents so great a loss of heat from the buildings when they are protected by shelter belts of trees.

A woodlot also shelters and furnishes a nesting place for many birds that are so valuable in the fields and orchards. It also adds beauty to the landscape; and what is more refreshing and beautiful than the trees in leafy June or the varied colours of the trees in October?

On my own farm I have a hedge of evergreens on the west side of the orchard. Along the central lane through the farm the cedars are extending on each side from the woodlot on the west to the concession line on the east side of the farm. These, in time, will probably make a continuous avenue and windbrake. Besides, there are many trees in the fences over the cleared part of the farm, affording shade to the stock in hot weather.

If one would have a permanent woodlot he must fence it and keep the stock out, as cattle eat the little seedlings of deciduous trees and injure the roots of the large trees by treading on them. Cattle and fire are two of the worst enemies of the woodlot. I would suggest as helps toward improvement in the woodlots on farms that the "Report of the Department of Forestry for Ontario" be distributed through the "Farmers' Institutes," as in this way a greater interest in Farm Forestry and also in National Forestry would be created. Also that woodlots up to a certain percentage on each farm in well settled districts, under certain conditions, be exempt from taxation.

Do farmers eat the proper sort of food?

The farmer of today buys a much larger proportion of the food that goes on the table than he did ten years ago. It's a good thing that this is so because he has a great variety to select from.

He should, however, use great care in selecting for the best results in health and strength.

The widespread tendency in the city to increase the amount of Quaker Oats eaten is due very largely to the recent demonstrations by scientific men that the Quaker Oats fed man is the man with greatest physical endurance and greatest mental vigor.

Farmers should give this subject careful thought and should increase the quantity of Quaker Oats eaten by themselves, their children and the farm hands. 57

ABLE ADDRESS BY JUDGE HUYCKE BEFORE THE CANADIAN CLUB

"Ideas and Ideals in Our Jurisprudence" Was the Subject—Second Dinner of the Year Last Evening at the Hotel National.

AN ELOQUENT SPEAKER

"Ideas, and Ideals in Our Jurisprudence" was the subject of a most interesting and instructive address delivered last evening by His Honour Judge Huycke before a large number of the members of the Canadian Club, at their second dinner of the year at the Hotel National. Information regarding the origin and history of the law courts existing today was imparted in such a thoroughly pleasing manner that the address could not fail to be a delight as well as one of great instruction to those present. Judge Huycke is an eloquent speaker and by his remarkable brilliancy of speech greatly impresses his hearers. In the course of his remarks, His Honour pointed out that while patriotism was a splendid characteristic to possess there were other ideals dominant in the minds of Englishhmen that were worthy of following. These were fair play, honour, honesty, justice and liberty.

Over one hundred members of the club attended the dinner which as usual was up to the high standard that is always provided by Mine Host Denison. The President Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was in the chair. He explained that it had been the intention of the club to have had Mr. George Tate Blackstock, K.C., deliver the address but owing to bereavement in the family he was unable to be present. Judge Huycke, on two days' notice, had very kindly consented to fill the vacancy, and enabled the club to hold their meeting. The chairman then called upon the speaker of the evening.

The Address.

His Honour Judge Huycke's splendid address was prefaced by a few words, in which he expressed his appreciation of the kind words of the president. He was glad to come and take the place of an old friend in whose bereavement he was sure they all sympathised.

One aim of the club, he said, was to be patriotic. They were all proud to be members and their chief object was to develop Canadian thought. Patriotism was a grand word. The love of one's country was greatly to be admired. But, the speaker stated, patriotism was too often connected with militarism. Everyone remembered with pride the struggles, the battles and the hardships of their forefathers. But worse than war was the loss of self respect. The speaker referred to a statement made by Lord Rosebery in which that gentleman said: "Outside of the church, the British Empire was the greatest force for doing good." Patriotism was not altogether militarism. The highest ideal was not to be achieved in militarism. In the days of Greece, Sparta was pre-eminent in its victories of war. To-day it was gone. Peace too had its victories. Athens produced many orators, statesmen and poets. True chivalry was exemplified in England from the time of Arthur down. True chivalry was a grand characteristic, but there were other ideas and ideals in British life that Canadians would do well to take to themselves. Fair play, honour, honesty, justice and liberty had been the ideals of Englishmen for the past one thousand years, and these have been nurtured and encouraged by their laws.

Canadian law was largely British law. Britain had showed her wisdom in making British criminal law, the law of Quebec and in allowing French civil law to exist. His Honour Judge Huycke referred to the origin of British common law and British statute law. The common laws were the customs of the people, and because they were the wishes of the people they were successful. In the early days, the king settled all disputes and that was how the term court originated. The people came to his house with their troubles. As the duties became too onerous, assistants were appointed and that was the beginning of judges.

His Honour Judge Huycke, continuing, spoke of the origin of the King's Bench Court, the Court of the Exchequer, and the Coutr of Chancery. As time went on the common law being the customs of the people, it was found that they weren't adaptable to all cases. Then came the appointment of the Lord Chancellor, the keeper of the King's conscience. When lawyers had a case before the court they endeavoured to find a precedent and where there was none the judge decided it. The methods of hearing cases and the procedure of the coutrs to-day were very much the same as one thousand years ago. One o fthe triumphs of the British courts was the absolute independence. There was nothing, too, that wasn't done in public. Witnesses were heard and judgment given in publi copen court. The jury was of Saxon origin and was first more in the nature of witnesses rather than the triers of cases. The opinion of those who have made it a study is that there is no system that protected innocence, unjustly charged, like that of a jury. The speaker remarked that there was a freedom in Great Britain and Canada that could not be equalled in other countries. He also spoke of the fact that people of other lands brought their property to England because there they knew it was safe.

The highest object of all jurisprudence was the liberty of subjects. There must be liberty of thought and liberty of speech. Canadians had a great inheritance and it should have the effect of developing those principles of honour and honesty. People had no right to think unkindly of others because they weren't of the same religious denomination or held the same views. It was not only wealth that made a country great, but the character of its people. "Let us build our country well and strong," he remarked, "and let us bear in mind the good, only as a preliminary to better things."

A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speaker, it being moved by Dr. Cameron and seconded by Principal Walker of the Normal School. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing o al anthem.

57th Band at Street Railway Rink To-night.

LAURENCE IRVING

—AND—

MABEL HACKNEY

IN "THE AFFINITY."

"The Affinity," with Mr. Laurence Irving and Miss Mabel Hackney, will be the offering at the Grand Opera House next Tuesday, March 1st, coming direct from the Comedy Theatre in New York.

The story is that of a professor of natural history, who, for five years, has lived with, as they say in France, a "little friend." It finally develops that they have no love for one another, and after a violent quarrel they separate, the girl believing all the time that he will call her back. A day elapses, and, as the word has not come from her lover, she writes all her friends that she is going to throw herself into the river. Even this does not move the man, and a few minutes after the appointed hour a fisherman brings the body of the girl back to the flat of the professor. Fortunately, she is merely drenched, besides this no harm having been done. Even the spectacle of his little friend, wet and bedraggled, does not move his heart, and it is only after he has endured the scourging of the neighbours who are present, of course, to make things comfortable for the little girl, that he gives in. The author has written with an usparing hand, thus adding to his long list of plays, unknown unfortunately to American audiences, one which should do much to popularize him with American theatre-goers.

Mr. Irving and Miss Hackney's supporting company is an excellent one, composed of Orlando Daly, Charles W. Butler, J. Hoker Wright, Alfred Cahill, Isabel Lee, Pauline Whitson, and Margaret Weston.

MR. AND MRS. L. F. CLARRY TENDERED A FAREWELL

By the Congregation of Methodist Church, Hastings.

Hastings Star.

On Friday evening of last week the members of the congregation of the Methodist church met in the basement of the church to tender a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Clarry who are leaving Hastings to make their home in the West.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Clarry have for a number of years been prominent workers in the congregation as well as the choir and musical part of the service, and will leave a vacancy that will be hard to fill. After a very fine programme had been completed, Mrs. A. P. Parsons read a very suitably worded address, and Miss Annie Jamieson made the presentation to Mrs. Clarry of a number of pieces of fine cut glass, and Mr. E. W. Valleau made the presentation to Mr. Clarry of a gold-headed cane. Miss Helen was also the recipient of a gold bracelet.

After Mr. Clarry had expressed his appreciation of the good will of his fellow workers, a delightful luncheon was served by the ladies of the congregation.

THE PAINS OF THE AGED

Are usually due to the tendency of the kidneys to wear out as age advances, giving rise to the accumulation of poisons in the blood and causing backache, lumbago, aching limbs and rheumatism. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly prized by aged people because they can be relied upon to invigorate the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and so remove the cause of pains and aches.

WARNING!

Since the discovery in England and the introduction into Canada of SALVIA, the Great Hair Grower, and on account of the phenomenal sale it has had, others have tried to imitate SALVIA. Beware and make certain you get the original. Every bottle bears the same, "SALVIA" (Latin for sage).

The results obtained from using SALVIA are remarkable. Falling hair is at once fastened to the scalp; new life springs up from the roots, and the growth of the hair is amazing. Dead hairs are restored to their natural colour. The Dandruff germ is destroyed. Every bottle has a written guarantee. McDermid & Jury always keep a stock of SALVIA on hand. Try a bottle and watch your hair grow. SALVIA is the only preparation, as far as we know, that is sold with a guarantee. A large bottle for 50c.

DIVISION IS TAKEN

Redmond's and O'Brien's Followers Abstained From Voting on Austen Chamberlain's Protectionist Amendment to Speech From Throne as Did Three Liberals —Insurgents Were Quiet.

London, Feb. 25.—The first trial of strength in the new Parliament occurred last night at a crowded session of the House of Commons, when Austen Chamberlain's fiscal amendment was rejected by a vote of 285 to 254. Chamberlain's amendment was a plea for a fiscal system that should afford first a preference to home productions, so as to give employment to the people, and second, a preference to British productions over-seas to the end that the Empire might be more closely consolidated.

Speeches were made by Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition; Chancellor Lloyd-George, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Education; A. Bonar Law and others, none of which, however, gave any new aspect to the fiscal controversy.

Although victorious only by the narrow majority of 31, the Government may regard the result as very satisfactory, inasmuch as there was no cross-voting and no evidence of any intention on the part of any of the groups in the coalition to overthrow the Ministry. All the Nationalists, the O'Brienites, as well as the Redmondites, abstained from voting. The Laborites voted with the Government, and three Liberals, Hillaire Belloc, Horatio W. Bottomley and J. C. Wedgwood abstained.

The Premier, having given notice that he would move on Monday that Government business would take precedence over all other business until March 24, the House adjourned.

USUALLY ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION

Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gas and All Stomach Distress Vanishes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure Indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal—interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different — you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

Stand by "MacKay."

Toronto, Feb. 25.—There will be a provincial Liberal convention in June to formulate a policy; and,

There will be no change in the federal leadership in the Legislature—at least, not yet awhile.

The Toronto leaders of Liberalism had decided that both of these things would occur, but before pulling them off they arranged to have the men from the country districts brought to Toronto and regularly informed of the decision of the central committee.

Yesterday there came to town half a hundred Liberals from almost every district of the province.

The features of the gathering was the enthusiastic reception that was accorded Leader MacKay by the men from the back counties, indicating clearly that he has not lost his grip on his followers.

PRICE WAS A FAIR ONE

Practical Easterner Says $5,000 Was a Fair Price For the Wharf—Mr. Crocket Works Hard to Unearth More Trouble — The Lumsden Committee Will Agree on the Appointment of Lawyers.

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—All yesterday, Andrew Loggie, of A. & R. Loggie, a well-known New Brunswick firm, was on the witness stand in the public accounts committee. He proved an able witness. His was the firm which offered $5,500 to the Government for the sawdust wharf at Richibucto, which had been purchased from one Murray for $5,000, who had got it for $700.

In spite of the persistent efforts of Mr. Crocket, the witness did not allow himself to be cornered often. Only once did he commit himself seriously.

He described O'Leary's wharf as worth $8,000, in order to show that $5,500 was a fair price for the Saw dust wharf. However, a telegram his firm sent to Mr. Carvell was produced, which asked the member for Carleton to purchase, if possible, O'Leary's wharf for $2,000, but not to go beyond $2,500. This telegram, Loggie explained, was sent when he learned that Mr. O'Leary had valued his wharf to the public accounts committee at $2,000. However, he admitted to Mr. Crocket that he had purchased a lot with a waterfront of 41 feet, with a licensed hotel upon it, for $1,000. Another lot he had got for $200, thus showing the value of property in Richibucto.

Mr. Carvell presented a paper signed by thirty residents of Richibucto, declaring the value of property in the town. Mr. Crocket, however, pointed out that this was not sworn evidence, and the chairman disallowed it.

Some dredging work was revealed. It seems that Mr. Roggie started dredging at Bathurst, on Oct. 6 1908, though it was not until Oct. 14 that he received a telegram from Hon. Wm. Pugsley, telling him to begin the work.

Another case was at Loggieville, A. & R. Loggie sent an account to the Public Works Department for dredging there during May and June, 1909, but the firm received no authorization to do the work until June 22. There was no inspector and no check was kept. There was nothing to go upon but the declaration of the captain of the dredge.

The Loggie dredge, and then a Government dredge had dredged a strip in front of the Dalhousie Lumber Co.'s wharf.

When Mr. Crocket brought this out, Mr. Carvell remarked: "I know what your after. Your after the Minister of Public Works, because he's got a little money in that company."

Mr. Crocket: "We are not here to vote public money for the dredging of private property."

The Lumsden investigation committee met yesterday afternoon and agreed to make an effort to appoint an investigating counsel on behalf of the public who would be agreeable to both parties.

The discussion which led up to this amicable arrangement was bitter. However, the opposition gained another important victory in securing this concession.

It was finally agreed that Messrs. Macdonald and Barker should endeavor to agree upon a counsel and report to the committee on Tuesday, March 8.

BILLS WERE WITHDRAWN

Premier Whitney Frowns on Special Legislation Which Will Have the Effect of Lowering the School Taxes In Order to Bonus Companies — Mr. McNaught Introduces New Bread Measure.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Features of yesterday's session of the Legislature were the introduction of a new bread bill by W. H. McNaught, father of the present legislation on the subject, and the ruthless slaughter of a number of bills on their second reading. In the latter connection Sir James Whitney deplored the tendency of members rushing in with remedies for individual cases, in which no doubt hardship existed, but the proposed remedies for which carried the possibility of consequences far-reaching beyond any power of prediction. That was the way to make trouble for the future.

All of the bills complained of were withdrawn. Some died without even a feeble kick of protest. The one which occasioned the most discussion was Mr. Bradburn's bill to amend the municipal act, which proposed to change the basis of calculation in the voting on municipal bonus by-laws from that of the total number of persons entitled to vote to the actual number voting on the same.

W. F. Nickle (Kingston) pointed out that a practice had grown up, owing to the difficulty of passing bonus by-laws under present conditions, of the municipalities seeking special legislation. The practice was growing in the private bills committee of enacting from time to time what, to quote the expression of the Premier, was practically "industrial checkerboard legislation." It was time to take a stand and make a protest.

"The child," he declared in regard to the application to fix the school assessment on new industries, "is not the asset of the municipality alone; it is the asset of the state. Steps should be taken to prevent in every case the granting of a fixed assessment for a term of years which will have the effect of lowering the school rates."

H. G. Ferguson (Grenville) said the time had come for something to be done to stop the unhealthy rivalry created by bonusing.

Hon. J. B. Lucas stated that the private bills committee would not allow, even with the unanimous vote of the people of a municipality, a fixed rate as far as school taxes were concerned.

Sir James Whitney observed that the municipalities which came with these requests invariably claimed special circumstances.

"In ninety-nine instances out of one hundred," he declared, "these are the very cases which should not be touched with a pair of tongs."

The optional vaccination bill of H. P. Innes (North Norfolk) was pronounced by Hon. J. B. Lucas to be a "backward step." It promptly took the hint, stepped backward, lay down and died gracefully.

Three bills amending the public and high school acts retired under the frown of Hon. Dr. Pyne.

Mr. Jessop's bill to regulate the purchase, sale and transfer of stocks of goods in bulk to allow the purchaser to demand a sworn declaration of the liabilities of the vendor. If this were not furnished, the sale was to be deemed fraudulent and void as against creditors. The purchaser was to be required to pay the purchase money over to a trust company or assignee.

Hon. J. B. Lucas said that the disturbance to business would be serious and would more than outweigh any advantage to be gained by the bill. It was withdrawn.

Herbert Lennox (North York) carried the second readings of his bills to amend the act for the improvement of public highways and to amend the municipal act. The latter gives power to the municipalities to borrow money to carry out improvements ordered by the Dominion Railway Board.

Messrs. Charters, Mayberry, Proudfoot, Brewster, Eilber, Ferguson (Grenville) and Hon. J. B. Lucas were appointed a special committee to consider Mr. Charters' telephone bill.
